TORONTO, May 23 (C.P.). — Hogs made their second gain of the week by gaining 10 cents on the Toronto livestock market this afternoon to sell 25c higher for the week. Drops in cattle and sheep, however, offset the gain, the former losing 10 to 15 cents on all grades and the latter 50 cents. Calves were unchanged, while lambs sold steady.

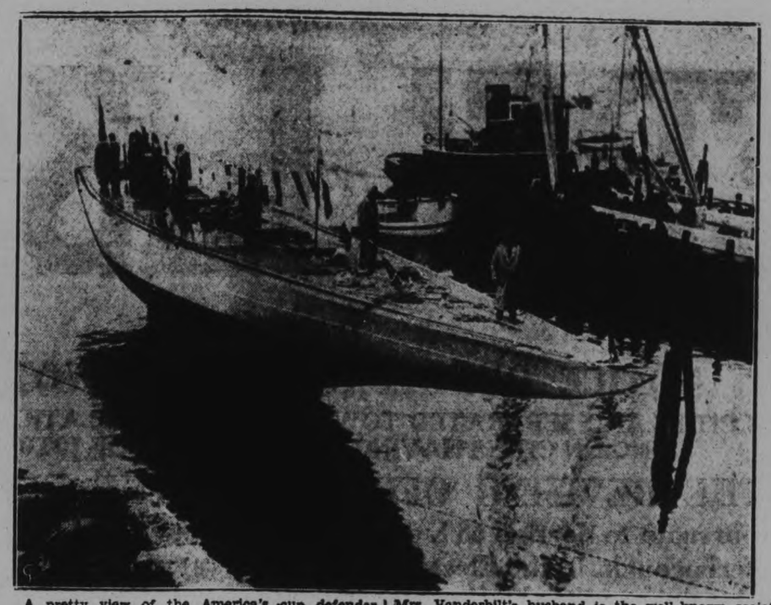
Launch "Rainbow" Defender Of The America's Cup



A pretty view of the America's cup defender, the yacht "Rainbow", as she slid down the ways of the Herreshoff ship yard at Bristol, Rhode Island, after being christened by Mrs. Harold S. Vanderbilt. Mrs. Vanderbilt's husband is the well-known society sportsman who heads the syndicate which built the craft in response to the challenge thrown down by T. O. M. Sopwith the British sportsman, who built "Endeavour" to challenger for the historic cup.

Foreign Comment On Silver Plan

(By the Canadian Press)

Word capitals turned a speculative eye today upon President Roosevelt's proposal to the United States Congress for a bimetallic basis for currency. High lights of the foreign comment follow.

LONDON—The Post said "Events alone can show whether the whole project is anything more than a destroying manoeuvre to put silver on the shelf."

THE TIMES — "It is extremely doubtful how far prices will be affected by manipulating the metallic content of the currency unit."

ROME—How the new American metallic standard might affect war debt payments interested Italy. It was said that if Italy could save money by paying in silver she would do so. In any event, however, only a 10 percent token payment is planned June 15.

PARIS—"Silver," said a government spokesman, "is political rather than a financial question. France is not interested." The spokesman said the move would have no effect on the war debts question.

BERLIN—Official comment was withheld. The Lokal Anzeiger, commenting on the president's suggestion of an international bimetallic standard, expressed doubt that an agreement to use both silver and gold could be reached. The Allgemeine Zeitung observed:

"The practical effects cannot be judged before it is known how far the president will utilize his authorities."

MEXICO, D.F. — The Mexican silver market showed no definite reaction to the Roosevelt message. The opinion was expressed that traders were awaiting definite legislation at Washington.

SHIP OFFICIAL OBJECTS TO PAYING 2 WIRELESS MEN ON EACH CRAFT

Point Arises on New Bill Aiming to Increase Great Lake Safety.

CONTENTIOUS CLAUSE.

OTTAWA, May 23 (C.P.).—Safety of life on the Great Lakes was the chief concern of the Senate Committee on Banking and Commerce to-day, in considering the voluminous shipping bill introduced by Senator Arthur Meighen.

The bill provides for two wireless operators as well as radio equipment aboard freighters on the Great Lakes. Passenger ships now carry the operators, the freighters have the wireless, but no operators. The law provides that members of the crew other than operators shall not operate the wireless.

Wireless telephones will be installed on all lake freighters in the near future, stated R. Brock Thomson, Montreal, secretary of the Canada Steamship Lines, who objected to the provision of two wireless operators on each freighter. "We have the equipment on all our ships, have had it for 20 years," said Mr. Thomson, "but we object to paying two operators $140 a month for doing nothing."

The provision will be further considered to-day.

Canada Steamships made representations to the Senate Committee for changes in 26 sections of the bill's 660 sections. The bill is the most voluminous pieces of legislation to be intrduced during the present session. The representations dealt mainly with separate provisions for ships on inland waters as distinct from ocean and coastal navigation.

Separate Garnet Plan Is Approved

OTTAWA, May 23 (C.P.).— English co-operative societies, importing and milling Canadian wheat, went on record yesterday before the Common Agriculture Committee, as definitely favoring a separate grade for Garnet wheat. The English co-operatives were represented by their Canadian buyer, R. T. Jackson, of Montreal.

Although on the stand over an hour and giving the committee considerable details as to the co-operatives purchasing methods in Canada, Mr. Jackson was unable to elaborate on the co-operatives' attitude toward Garnet. He was not in a position to define how the co-operatives arrived at their conclusions or the reasons for their attitude, but this attitude was stated emphatically.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, May 23 (C.P.). — Stocks moved quietly lower to-day, influenced by selling in steel shares and others. Silver issues eased with the general market. American Telephone sagged more than 2 points in the late dealings. Bethlehem yielded almost as much. U.S. Steel, Chrysler, and U.S. Smelting lost a point or more each.

Transfers approximated 750,000 shares.

competitors would be permitted.

The general picture painted by the Toronto manufacturer doubtless would have brought oratorical fire on his head a few years ago by the trust-busters and those opposed to combines. But the committee today did not seem to be amazed by his proposals, apparently taking everything in stride.

Cash Bonds Posted

Cash bonds ranging from $10,000 to $75,000 are posted by members of the Rubber Association of Canada as guarantees they will maintain prices and adhere to business ethics, the Parliamentary Mass Buying Committee was told to-day. Eight rubber footwear manufacturers, all from Ontario, form the association.

Officials of the association told the committee that distributors of footwear secured discounts ranging from twelve to six per cent, based on volume and other considerations. The association set the discounts and each member observed them, fearing his bond would be taken if he failed.

PROBE SAVES $100,000

TORONTO, May 23 (CP)—Investigation instituted five weeks ago into receipt of civic relief will save the City of Toronto approximately $100,000 department officials estimated to-day.

In a statement issued to-day the Department of Civic Relief showed 972 families had been cut off the lists as undeserving of relief, while 729 others were reduced to partial relief. Total number on relief at week ending May 19 were 23,996, the statement showed.

SILVERS LOSE LIGHT SELLING

Toronto Market Accepts New Yorks Interpretation of U. S. Silver Legislation.

GOLDS ALSO DECLINE.

TORONTO, May 23.—(CP)—Mining share moved aimlessly today, following the New York market down a short distance in the morning session and firming moderately in the afternoon. Narrow recessions were general at the close. Accepting New York's interpretation of the U. S. silver legislation, the white metal group lost ground but selling was in small proportions. Losses up to 50 cents were registered in the gold and base metal shares for the day.

Noranda came in for good buying in the morning but fell back with the general market around noon. The close at 42.50 was off 35 cents net. Base Metals Corporation, Hudson Bay, Sudbury Basin and Sherritt Gordon all finished down in small amounts.

Price variations in the senior gold group were insignificant at the close, early recessions having been almost entirely recovered. Wright Hargreaves and Hollinger were off about 15 cents each, McIntyre 10 and pioneer and Lake Shore about 50 cents each.

NEW YORK, May 23.— Leaving out of account the special interest of those who have been carrying speculative position in silver, the proposed legislation is fundamentally of inflationary character. The silver bloc ants speedy action and it should not be overlooked that the Presidents message continues a resurrection of the familiar phrase "stabilizing the purchasing and debt paying power of our money on a more equitable level" and one gathers from the President's message of yesterday that he still considers dollar manipulation the route to a dollar of increased debt paying power. This is inflationary. Although the snap judgment of the stock market was that the silver bill was disappointing and stock were to be sold, the broad underlying tenor of the message should be given more than momentary thought, and I regard the message as fundamentally inflationary. For my part there is enough prospect of inflation in the indefinite future to warrant considering some stocks as in a buying area on this setback. There are five stocks to which we shall give be as follows: American Smelt. attention and our buying areas will 37⅛-38⅛; Atlantic Ref. 23⅛-24⅛; Cerro De Pasco 32½-33½; Phillips Pete 16½ to 17½ and Schealey 25⅛ to 26½.

TORY MANIFESTO PARTLY STOLEN

the rates of interest from five and one half percent to five percent on loans from the agricultural development board. Long ago we promised to reduce these rates and all other interest rates.

Interest Rates

"If Henry had been consistent in regard to this promise he would have started reducing the rates on government loans, but instead he took good care to issue a $40,000,000 loan recently in such a way he has set a rate of interest far in excess of current rates, as is evidenced in the present price of bonds.

"Henry has another humorous dying pledge in the manifesto. The definite proposal to the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission to study the possibility of a zoning system with a view to reducing the spread in cost of service between rural, urban, town and city consumers.

"Again Mr. Henry is stealing out of our bag. I have said repeatedly there is too much difference between city and rural rates. I have said the greatest potential market for the Hydro is the country and we are going to extend the rural service. I repeatedly have criticized the 20 years contract system enforced by the Hydro on rural users, and, at last, the government promised to reduce it to a five-year contract that could be broken by a one year notice. We will do away even with the five year compulsory contract for rural users. They should be on the same footing as city customers.

Not Consistent

"Mr. Henry is not consistent and he can't fool the people with these last a la Bennett promises before an election. In fact, he is becoming promiser even than Bennett. He and his party has had complete and autocratic control of Ontario for 10 years and if he had been in earnest he would have done all these things he now promises long ago, and not have left them till the eve of an election. His government is going to be judged by the people of Ontario by his performances in the legislature during the past years, not on his pledges on the brink of an election."

CASTLE BOMBED

VIENNA, May 23 (AP)—A bomb exploded to-day in the courtyard of Staruemberg Castle in Waxenberg, Upper Austria, home of Prince Ernst Von Starhemberg, Vice-Chancellor of Austria and leader of the Fascist Heimwehr.

The chapel of the castle was damaged severely and many of the windows of the castle itself were shattered.

Authorities said they suspected Nazis of setting off the bomb.

CRIME CAREER

Bonnie Parker was charged by officers with participation in most of Barrow's later crimes. Officers said she was as quick on the trigger as her associate and was just as elusive.

In the wrecked car, officers found three army rifles, two sawed-off shotguns, a machine-gun, a dozen pistols and large quantities of ammunition.

Wanted For Dozen Killings.

DALLAS, Tex., May 23.—(AP). — Clyde Champion Barrow, the south-west's number one public enemy, was sought in connection with at least a dozen killings throughout the south-west, on several of which he faced formal charges of murder.

His police record dates from 1926, when he was arrested in Dallas for automobile theft. In 1930, still known as a minor hoodlum, he was sentenced to the Texas penitentiary for 14 years on burgary and theft charges.

Early in 1932 Barrow was granted a general parole by Gov. Ross Sterling, shortly thereafter embarking on his spectacular career of armed robbery and ferorrism.

Bonnie Parker, Barrow's companion on many of his forays, was charged by officers with active participation in the gun play. She was believed to have been with Claude and his brother, Marvin, when a posse cornered the gang near Dexter, Iowa, July 24, 1933. Clyde and Bonnie eluded officers, but Marvin was fatally wounded.

SPLENDID FINANCIAL REPORT READ AT Y.W.C.A. ANNUAL MEET

Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe Congratulates Officers and Members on Successful Year.

WORK REVIEWED.

Tuesday night marked the close of another successful year for the Y.W.C.A., when they held their annual meeting in the Green Room, with a splendid representation of officers, members and interested friends.

The president, Mrs. E. E. Harvey, presided, and in a few gracious words welcomed the guests, speaking of the importance of Faith in this great enterprise, the Y.W.C.A., of which Christ is the pivot and central figure.

The business session was one of great interest since it told of the year's activities, both in encouragements and discouragements, but withal a year of which every one connected may be justly proud.

Financial Report

An enlightening report of the finances was presented by Miss E. Morrow, which was of much interest, as the following shows:

The total receipts from the Residence Department amounted to $11,723.26, while the expenditures were $11,718.48. From the Public Department, the sum of $6,451.10 was realized, with an output of $6,426.04, which, with the balance from the Residence, makes the Association balance, $17.31.

The Camp derived a total of $2,573.59, which included the balance from 1933 of $947.27 from the special fund.

The Camp expenses in round numbers were $2,126.10, with a balance for the special fund of $448.40.

This report was unanimously accepted.

Mrs. R. Turner, on behalf of the Nominating Committee, submitted the following names for the Board of Directors for 1934-5:

Mrs. E. E. Harvey, Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner, Mrs. R. Hartsone, Mrs. H. C. Sootheran, Mrs. W. D. Scott, Miss M. Hamilton, Miss E. Morrow, Mrs. R. H. Turner, Mrs. G. MacDonald, Mrs. W. R. Widdess, Miss McVannell, Mrs. F. H. Drummond, Mrs. N .D. Buchanan, Mrs. A. A. Moir, Mrs. E. G. Porter, Miss A. Wood, Mrs. H. Wightman, Mrs. H. M. Yelland, Mrs. R. J. Kidd, Mrs. T. N. Greer, Mrs. B. Shortley, Mrs. V. Eastwood, Mrs. R. J. LeClair, Mrs. G. Boucher, Mrs. R. H. Parsons, Mrs. F. M. Somerville, Mrs. F. D. Kerr, Mrs. T. A. Mackay, Miss L. Davidson, Mrs. C. V. McLean. This report was adopted on motion of Mrs. Turner, seconded by Mrs. R. Neill.

Interspersing the reports a delightful musical program was enjoyed; Miss Jessie Pattison contributing a group of vocal numbers, including "Carmina," "Bird Songs at Eventide," and as a recall, "Love's Old Sweet Song," with Mrs. Foster accompanying at the piano.

Superintendent's Report

In her three-minute report, as Superintendent of Residence, Mrs. E. Morrison could give but the highlights of the doing of a busy year.

The slightly reduced income of the past year was accounted for by the smaller number of students, larger coal bills and a small reduction in the weekly board rate; yet they were able to close the year with all bills paid, and a small credit balance.

During the year comfortable accommodation was given to 420 transient and 120 permanent boarders. At present seven teachers, eleven Normal students, twenty-three business girls, five other ladies, six of the domestic staff, one secretary, and the superintendent, a total of fifty-four persons, are in residence. Besides these, free lodging and meals have been given to a large number of unemployed women and girls.

The social life includes a High Tea in June, with dinners for many special occasions.

Mrs. Morrison stressed the home atmosphere of the "Y," and expressed her appreciation to the members of the Board for their kindness and support.

Health Department

In a concise and very interesting report, Miss Littlefield gave what was a seeming impossibility, a resume of the entire Health Department in a limit of three minutes.

The Swimming Pool season opened in May, 1933, and 200 pupils were taught to swim. A special feature were the life-saving classes, which includes twenty-seven pupils who successfully passed the hard tests in examination. Aquatic competitions held weekly included the Public Schools, which were represented this year. The Swimming Department had a very good season, with many special affairs which added to the department finances.

Referring to the "Gym." which opened in October, with a fall rally, Miss Littlefield said there were seven Senior and Junior Gym classes, and six Senior and Junior Dancing classes conducted weekly.

Basketball is a popular indoor sport which more than holds its own in the realm of athletic competition. The new year saw ten teams enter the Y.W.C.A. Girls' City Basketball League. Weekly games were held during the season, the league terminating in a large basketoall banquet in April, when 110 members of teams, coaches and officials enjoyed the fun and the presentation of trophies.

Special features of the year were the seasonal parties, the members "Y" bazaar, the Gym campaign (which brought in 57 new members) and Health Week, when medical men and nurses conducted health talks daily, and the recent Gym. Pageant was mentioned as last but not least, when 400 girls of all types and ages took part. The Physical Director felt well repaid for all her work when she realized how thoroughly both audience and performers enjoyed the fine display.

Miss Littlefield said that best of all was the wonderful co-operation shown by the board and committees, parents and friends which made this annual pageant so great a success. She closed by saying that the years' work had been successful both financially and in every other way, especially in the splendid sportsmanship displayed by all Gym. members.

General Secretary's Report

In introducing her very excellent and comprehensive report, Miss Leta Brownscombe, General Secretary, declared that, in every department of "Y" work there is opportunity for promoting their Christian purpose. The Religious Work Department sponsored a series of Sunday evening song services and in co-operation with the Christian Education Council a Leadership Training Course. World Fellowship Week is also observed, and a Girls' Conference held in the fall.

Classes in Education with an aggregate attendance of 2,385, comprised Home Nursing and Nutrition Courses, Story Telling, Singing Lassons, St. John Ambulance Home Nursing, Junior Cooking Class and Junior Story Hour. Besides these, five regular clubs met weekly including "The Jolly Rovers," "The Old Country Club," the Wohelo Club, The Everbright and Sunshine clubs.

Four badminton clubs of fifty-four members enjoyed this form of recreation, while both club and gym. girls join in the Outdoor Club programs from June to October. The aggregate club attendance is 4,744.

Camp Inglestane, with its splendid staff delightful location, comfortable accommodation and attractive camp program, provided a wonderful holiday for 145 girls. In connection with this, a Camp Shower is held in May and a Campers' Reunion in October.

The Y.W.C.A. Employment Bureau registered during the year 462, with an average of 30 calls a day, totalling 10,120, with 156 requests for household workers.

This association also does splendid work through affiliation with numerous organizations, some of which meet at the "Y." Social events claim a large share in the calendar of activities with an aggregate attendance of 2,100.

In the immigration and travellers' aid work, many interesting stories could be told, proving the great value of this service.

Posters, dodgers, folders, newspaper ads., window displays, visits to factories, and talks to organizations make known the activities of the Y.W.C.A.

In closing, the Secretary expressed sincere thanks to those who had assisted the association by gifts of money, time, service, leadership, friendship and prayers.

Special Speaker

The guest speaker, Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe congratulated the officers and members of the Y.W.C.A. upon its year of success. While it has been an especially trying year, he declared that success is not determined by a financial standard. Any work judged by such a standard is not a success. Many people who have been considered a great success have in reality been failures and some of those who are known as failures to the world have been its greatest successes.

Love is the basis upon which true success is built and "love makes friends". Clement of Alexandria quotes Jesus as saying "Make a Friend" and upon this quotation Mr. Sutcliffe based his inspiring message.

Jesus said a great many things about friends — "that a man lay down his life for a friend" and "Ye are my friends if ye keep my commandments." Jesus needed friends as he implied in his words "Will ye not watch with me for an hour?" He could have endured Gethsemane alone but He wanted his friends with Him. He chose twelve disciples and out of the twelve he chose three as His especial friends, Peter, John and James. These three could not help Jesus, but it was good just to know they were there. And so it is with us, even when no word is spoken we are helped just to know a friend is near.

It is a wonderful thing to have a friend—but a greater thing to be a friend and the only way to make a friend is to be one. Because the Y. W. C. A. has been a friend to so many people—is the reason it has so many friends today. It is the idea to which they are living up in a splendid and practical way. It is the whole purpose of the Y.W.C. A. to be a friend to any one and to every one. As a last word, Mr. Sutcliffe urged them to "keep right on making friends."

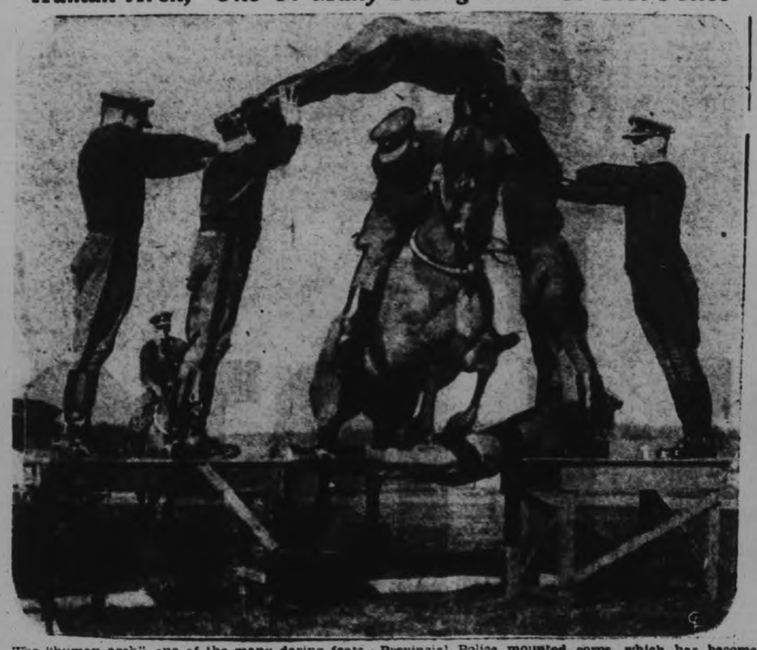
In the words of an eminent divine "Count no service too exacting which gives you a friend. Which assures you that when your time comes to be alone you will not be alone", he concluded his helpful message.

During the service of refreshments, a program, demonstration of Y training was held in gymnasium and swimming pool, where senior stunts and life-saving classes gave a fine exhibition. In the gym, pageant numbers delighted the audience and included the following:

'Witches Tap Dance', Marion Juby, Isabel Malane, Ruby Revere, Isabel Reid, Edna Morrow, Marion Irvine and Reta Sproule; Fairies — F. Trebilcock, M. McPherson, D. Boyle; Night—K. Armstrong, J. Pattison, I. Biddle, Mrs. P. Forbes, Mrs. B. Willis, A. Gore, M. Wood, E. Morrow and I. Reid; Wood-peckers Tap Dance—Irma Beatty, K. Thackeray, T. Schiarizza, G. Fisher, D. Byers; Club Swinging and German gymnastic—Leon Magee. Vera Purvis, Jean Dawson, Sadie Levine, E. Lynch, R. Puddick; G. Vinette, E. Bradley, M. Wood, I. Robinson, M. Burns, D. Seabrooke, K. Ashmore, M. Pearson; Single Sticks—Marion Dundas, Agnes Sands, Ethel Allen, Irma Allen, Laura Harrison, Ena Batley, Myra Wilson and Isobel Malane.

In the hall, tea was dispensed from a table, lovely in a filet lace cloth and centred with a large basket of spring flowers. The tall candles carrying out the color scheme of pink and white. Tea was poured by Mrs. E. E. Harvey and Mrs. T. Barrie, and a host of willing assistants aided in the service of refreshments to the many guests who arranged themselves in cosy groups in the library and green room.

"Human Arch," One Of Many Daring Feats Of B.C. Police



The "human arch", one of the many daring feats that are performed by the crack A Division of the B.C. Provincial Police mounted corps, which has become known as the "Equestrian Circus."

MAGGOTS SUCCESSFULLY USED IN OPERATIONS FOR GANGRENE

fined to other parts of the body, but not to the lung.

Dr. Robert Kaufmann, young Paris surgeon, the doctor who has turned blowfly larvae to work in a patients' lung, explained that in the patient now under treatment the left lung was eaten away by gangrene and that it was necessary to operate. A great cavity wasopened in the patient's back, the shoulder blade was lifted away, as were sections of three ribs, and the diseased lung was laid bare.

Place Larvae in Wound

At the bottom of the cavity the heart could be seen beating, and over it crawled without injury—no more than a tickling sensation—the larvae, 2,000 of them, eating away the rotted tissue, not touching the sound tissue, thus avoiding bleeding. To lift away the rotted flesh with surgical tools would be most painful and good tissue would be touched, Dr. Kaufmann said, so he placed 2,000 larvae into the wound and they went to work. This operation was repeated several times, and radiographs showed that much of the gangrenous tissue had disappeared.

Only the larvae of the blowfly, which is common in many countries, particularly the United States and Mexico, can be used for such operations, for the larvae of other flies attack the sound tissue. It was for that reason that doctors considered that a "worm - infected" wound meant certain death until Dr. Baer, treating gangrenous cases during the world war, noticed that a man whose wound was covered with "worms" was getting better.

He began experiments and discovered that the blowfly maggot attacked only the rotted tissue. This is because, having no teeth, it is obliged to emit a gastric juice that predigests the tissue this gaustric juice does not touch the sound tissue.

Wound Made Progress

To Dr. Grumpt professor of parasitology in the Paris facute de medicine, goes the credit of introducing the use of the maggots into France after long experiments in Mexico with Dr. Augustin Cruz y Cells and study in New York. He said that the blowfly maggots were raised in Paris at the faculte de medicine, and this part of the work had been entrusted to his assistant, Dr. Maurice, who supplied the maggots for Dr. Kauffmann's operation.

Dr. Kaufmann made no predictions that theoperation on this man would save his life, because his was a particularly severe attack. He said however, the wound had made great progress.

He noted particularly that the use of the maggots was not painful, as the patient complained only of a tickling sensation unless the maggots grew too large as at the end of four days they have reached the length of a centimeter and a quarter, and are two millimeters in thickness.

The useof maggots for a dressing—for such is their purpose—is good also because they can be lifted away without pain to the patient. They can be washed away with a compress or, if need be, with pincers.

Sometimes they do not penetrate far enough, though always they go into regions where no lancet could be used without bringing death, so he chases them into far recesses of the lungs by turning light upon them. They don't like light—though they must have air to do their work — so when the light comes they scurry away.

Dr. Kaufmann said he had used maggots for about ten other operations on gangrened portions of the body. The most interesting was their use in healing a wound after five amputations of a leg. This operation was performed by Dr. Kaufmann on an aged colleague, and death would have been certain if the maggots had not closed the wound, or rather eaten away the tissue.

Judgment Reserved In Lindsay Appeal

OTTAWA, May 23 (CP)—Judgment was reserved to-day by the Supreme Court of Canada in the appeal of Arthur T. Claxton and his wife, of Lindsay, Ont., from the Judgment of the Court of Appeal of Ontario, which upheld Mr. Justice Fisher in dismissing their claim for damages against Robt. Grandy, also of Lindsay, Ont. The jury which heard the trial found the accident unavoidable and due to the icy condition of the road. It held neither party negligent. Some $4,000 damages for doctors' bills, hospital bills and car repairs - is claimed by the Claxtons and in their appeal to-day they sought to prove that the jury's finding was perverse and that they ought to have held Grandy negligent.

FIRE CHIEF AND 19 OTHERS HURT IN HAMILTON BLAST

A store in the heart of Hamilton, within a stone's throw of the city hall, was reduced to a tangled mass of wreckage, Fire Chief Robert Aitchison was severely burned and 18 others, including Firemen C. Dynes were injured when an illuminating gas explosion occurred in the store, showering broken glass and debris over onlookers. Many had narrow escapes from serious injury. The fire chief was investigating a reported gas leak in the store, when a minor explosion warned employees to leave. The chief was alone in the gas-filled store when the second blast threw him across the store and knocked him unconscious. (1) is a photograph of the store taken immediately after the second explosion, showing the effects of the blast. (2) Fire Chief Aitchison, who is in hospital with serious burns and many cuts.

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S POLICE DO AMAZING FEATS OF SKILL

Province Mighty Proud of its Mounted Police Force.

By PERCY C. RICHARDS
Central Press Canadian Correspondent

VICTORIA, B.C., May 23.—The Great War had its Flying Circus, but British Columbia has its Equestrian Circus, and is mighty proud of it. The feats it does outrivals anything under the big top, and in daring equals the exploits of the famous aviation corps.

The Equestrian Circus is the mounted squad of A. Division, British Columbia Provincial Police, which this year is celebrating the seventy-sixth anniversary of its founding. It is an organization that is even older than the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and because of its traditions the officers to-day take the keenest pride in developing a high state of efficiency. That is why A. Division's mounted squad is the "crack" troop of the entire Provincial force, and has earned the sobriquet of "Equestrian Circus."

The mounted squad has learned to do many daring stunts, which this spring has thrilled thousands at the annual horse shows in Victoria and on Vancouver Island.

Probably their most daring stunt is the "human arch." Six of the officers form the arch. Two tables are placed about five feet apart. One officer's body spans the intervening space. Two other officers stand on each table. Another bridges the top gap by suspending his body from the shoulders of two of his colleagues standing on the table. Two other policemen brace the arch. Then a group of mounted officers jump over the "human fence" and under the "human arch." Only inches separate the horses' bodies and hoofs from the men as they make the jump. Since this stunt has been developed there has been only one accident during the many demonstrations they have given.

Another of their dangerous feats is to jump over moving bars and stretchers. In this one a log is suspended by rope between two horses, which are walked around the performing ring. As they move, and as the log swings, three riders, in single formation, jump over the moving bar. Three times they repeat the performance. The last time this is done, the third rider falls from his horse purposely. Stretcher bearers hurry out and pick him up. As they carry him out of the ring, the two remaining mounts jump over the stretcher without their hoofs even flicking the man's clothing.

France plans to reduce salaries of government employees.

3,000 N. York Bakers Return Blue Eagles

BFFALO, N.Y., May 23 (A.P.).—Blue Eagles of nearly 3,000 New York State bakers were flying back to Washington to-day because the United States Government "has failed to carry out its part of the bakers' code."

Decision to relinquish the NRA symbol followed adopting last night by the New York State Association of Retail Bakers of a resolution charging the American Federation of Labor with discouraging the Government's approval of the code. The association has been in convention here.

The resolution asserted the federation publicly announced that the small handcraft baker is doomed "and ought to be doomed," a statement it charged was a violation of the NRA.

HILLS OF LIFE MUST BE FACED BY ALL TO LIVE

Most Successful Mother and Daughter Banquet Held at Murray Street.

MISS TROTTER SPEAKS.

Journey Through Life is Described by Speaker as Series of Hills.

Speaking on the "hills of life," the obstacles that rear themselves in the way of attainment during our earthly pilgrimage, Miss Marjorie Trotter, B.A., who is the principal at Moulton Ladies' College, Toronto, gave a very pleasing and inspirational talk to the guests assembled last evening in the Sunday School rooms of Murray Street Baptist Church, on the occasion of the Mother and Daughter banquet tendered the ladies in the church, and representatives of the Gilmour Memorial and Park Street Baptist Churches.

The occasion was memorable owing to the fact that more people attended than were expected, but arrangements were made speedily and satisfactorily, and nearly one hundred and seventy-five guests sat down to a delicious repast of home cooking at tables criss-crossed with gay slender streamers of pale blue and orange, and decorated with silver baskets of tulips and feathery apple blossoms and bright yellow marsh marigolds in low glass bowls, while tall blue tapers in silver candlesticks added to the general decorative effect.

Miss Trotter, who is probably the first principal at Moulton College to speak in this city, and who made a splendid impression with her friendly, entertaining talk and her pleasing personality, is the daughter of a former pastor at Murray Street Church.

"The Hills of Life," as outlined in her address, were prefaced by the remark that existence is not a garden, nor an open door, nor a pleasant level plain, but a matter of hills to climb.

The first was the "Hill of Appreciation," the one in whose ascent the climber learns to appreciate the beauties of life, the quality which makes one girl get the most out of school life, for instance, while her companion finds only drudgery.

The "Hill of Monotony, or Hard Work," must be climbed by all, for "every day we must face hard tasks, if we are going to be able in the long run to do the things we want to do."

"Be Yourself."

Then comes the "Hill of Nonconformity," "or, in other words, of being yourself. How many women and girls spend most of their lives and all their energy in trying to keep up with the Joneses, instead of setting their own standards, choosing their own interests and finding their own amusements, and enjoying them too, regardless of whether everyone else around is doing something entirely different."

"But, in climbing this hill, we must take care to not become prigs or snobs. We must learn also to climb the 'Hill of Understanding,' and strive to comprehend the difficulties that beset the lives of others.

"The spirit of war between nations is furthered because those nations will not try to understand each other's differences and so it is in every relation of life and living.

"And then comes the 'Hill of the Lord,' or the hill of worship, which each and all of us should climb every day."

Miss Trotter, who concluded her address with quoting the well-known lines that finish with: "To every man there openeth a high way and a low; and every man decideth the way his soul shall go," included in her illustrative references, during her discourse on the "Hill of Appreciation," an allusion to a woman who, unable to find time at night, after her housekeeping labors were finished for the day, for the good reading that her soul craved, managed to get in an hour of such reading early every morning and continued for years to do so, so that her life might be full and rich.

Appreciation of the address was voiced very pleasingly by Mrs. Bert Jackson, Mrs. L. J. Pettit, leader of the Willing Teens Class, and teacher of the Ever-Ready Girls, both of whom had much to do with the management and success of the banquet, added a word of appreciation, referring to the splendid work carried on by Miss Trotter at Moulton College and reminding the girls of the recent words of a Beauty Specialist who said that the surest way in which to secure beauty is to cultivate beautiful thoughts.

Appreciation from Gilmour Memorial Church members was voiced by Mrs. R. D. Wright, while Mrs. G. K. Tyler spoke for the guests from Park Street Church.

Love Is The Key.

The Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, who acted as song leader for community singing, also spoke briefly, welcoming the guests. Taking as a theme for his miniature sermon, the words uttered by Othello, when, after repulsing Desdemona on account of the jealous fury racing in his soul, he watched her leave him, and murmured despairingly: "But I do love thee, and when I love thee not, chaos comes again," the reverend speaker asked: "Is that not true also of all things connected with Christ's Kingdom?

"When we cease to love Christ, then come disorder, chaos and confusion. Ladies and girls, keep that thought ever before you. My prayer for you all to-night is, that the love of Christ may become sweeter in your hearts as the years roll by."

Miss Josephine Carson, president of the Willing Teens and chairman of the evening, outlined briefly the work carried on by her organization, which has the two-fold aim of Christian character and leadership.

The different speakers united in praise of the splendid endeavors carried out by Mrs. L. J. Pettit and the manner in which her assistance and encouragement acts as an inspiration and guide to the girls in her classes. To her, said Miss Carson, the girl members owed not only tuition in the aims and objects of their associations, but also a nearer view and love of the Divine Master and His purposes.

To Miss Shirley Pettit fell the task of introducing, in a few well-chosen sentences, the guest of the evening, while the Rev. R. D. Wright of Gilmour Memorial Church asked the blessing and pronounced the benediction.

Appreciation to all who had assisted in any manner, including a number of young men of the congregation who waited on the tables, was voiced by Miss Marion Wray.

A pleasing musical program was provided by the singing of "Sweet Forget-me-Not," by a quartette of lady singers: the Misses Phyllis Rome, Margaret Eastwood, Freda Gray and Marjorie Stenton, with accompaniments played by Arthur Collison, also a piano solo, "Alice, Where Art Thou?" by Miss Pearl Smith, who acted as accompanist for the community singing.

Special guests of the evening included the Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Sutcliffe, the Rev. and Mrs. R. D. Wright, Mrs. G. K. Tyler of the Park Street Baptist Church, and Mrs. B. Jackson, president of the Women's Missionary Society.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., May 23.—Although she is anxious to continue her screen career, Virginia Pine would give it up if George Raft said the word.

George Raft

The Chicago heiress admits this, but added that she doesn't believe Raft would ask her to make the sacrifice.

"I'm sure he would leave that up to me," declared the pretty blonde girl, who has captured the star's attentions to the exclusion of all other Hollywood beautics.

"Of course, it's too early yet for me to talk much about a screen career," said Virginia. "But if I am lucky enough to make a hit, I certainly want to go through with it."

THE RAFT-PINE marriage may not take place as soon as the film colony expects. Latest rumor reports a hitch in settlement negotiations between George and his wife in the east. Unless some compromise can be effected the divorce may be months in the offing.

I DIDN'T BELIEVE it either at first but Mae West actually is trying to get the War Department to let her have an army bomber to fly east to the Carnera-Baer fight on June 14. The star's advisers have been cold on making the trip for fear of gangland reprisals. It was Mae herself who finally put it up to them about the army bomber. They thought the idea was fine and now all Mae has to do is to get one. She is offering to pay all expenses of the plane and, if the government consents, will carry her bodyguards on the trip.

"MEN IN WHITE", new M-G-M production, now playing at the Capitol Theatre, brings a new and highly welcomed screen team to grateful audiences. Clark Gable and Myrna Loy set a new high for this season in fine dramatic teamwork, and promise to give the Dressler-Beery and other popular combinations some sprightly competition.

"Men in White" is a hospital story, the finest of its kind you are ever apt to see.

The supporting cast of "Men in White" is exceptionally brilliant. Jean Hersholt, Otto Kruger, C. Henry Gordon, Russell Hardie, Wallace Ford, Henry B. Walthall and others of note—all add to the dramatic workmanship of this excellent film.

WHEN FRANK ("Bring 'Em Back Alive") Buck and Gene Austin performed for the "Hollywood on the Air" radio broadcast the other evening, it was a long-deferred reunion. The pair were boyhood friends in Gainesville, Texas, but hadn't met in 20 years. Buck left the little Texas town to become one of the best known authorities on wild animals and Austin followed the crooning route to international popularity.

ARRIVING IN Hollywood to design gowns for Fox productions, Renee Hubert, Parisian style expert makes the provocative observation:

"Hollywood has the most beautiful women in the world, but the English society woman today is more smartly groomed than either her continental or American sisters."

Joan Crawford slipped into town Saturday night to give a small dinner party attended by Franchot Tone, the Clark Gables Lynn Riggs and Jerry Asher to celebrate her final decree of divorce. She still denies that Tone will be her next husband and, anyway, the young actor is busy for the moment playing opposite Jean Harlow in "100 Percent Pure."

Interesting that Joan and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., exchanged cables on the day of their final decree.

STRIKE IS ENDED IN MINNEAPOLIS

Truck Drivers Reach Agreement After Week of Furious Skirmishes.

STEEL MILLS UNEASY.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—The violence-punctuated strike of Minneapolis truck drivers, to which one death and scores of lesser casualties are charged, was ordered ended today.

Terms of settlement came from the regional labor advisory board following a bloody clash between strikers and police. C. Arthur Lyman, vice president and general manager of the American Ball Company, suffered a fractured skull which caused his death. He was assisting police. Twenty police were injured.

The regional board presented its decision, mandatory unless overruled by the United States Labor Board, to representatives of both sides last night shortly after declaration of a truce at a conference called by Governor Floyd B. Olson.

Leaders of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers disclosed they were considering a strike that woud affect more than 100 steel mills. The association, claiming 100,000 members has been refused recognition by several large companies.

Longshoremen on the Pacific coast were reported by Jesse Bridges chairman of the San Francisco strike committee, to have rejected a settement proposed by President Roosevelt"s mediation board. J. J. Finnegan member of the Longshoremen's district executive committee said no action had been taken. The strikers number 25,000.

At Toledo, O., the Electric Auto-Lite Company asked National Guard protection following a riot in which employes, strikers and police were injured.

At Buffalo, N. Y., 2,100 workers of the Curtis Aeroplane and Motor Corporation, Inc., and the Consolidated Aircraft Corporation ended a two-month strike.

Dainty refreshments were served at midnight by the members of the ball team, and dancing continued until 2 a.m. Manager Charlie Young was much pleased by the goodly profit realized for the ball team funds.

Youth, Girl Beaten Nearly To Death

FREDERICKSBURG, Va.—Only a few incoherent words uttered by a youth in a semi-conscious condition guided officers yesterday in seeking the identity of assailants who brutally attacked and left unconscious in a trench Milton Brown, 21, and his young girl companion Fannie Kurz.

Discovered yesterday afternoon physicians said both were suffering from compound fracture of the skull and that there was little hope for recovery.

MANY CRIPPLED CHILDREN SAVED

Advances Made by Science in Artificial Respiration Methods Prove Boon.

ANNUAL CONVENTION.

MONTREAL, May 23 (C.P.)—A large percentage of deaths caused by respiratory failure in infantile paralysis cases has been prevented in the past few years by recent developments in the scientific application of artificial respiration. An insight into the advance made by science in artificial respiration methods was given last night by Dr. H. S. Mitchell, medical superintendent of the Montreal Children's Memorial Hospital, addressing doctors attending the annual convention of the International Society for Crippled Children.

Dr. Mitchell described a machine built at the hospital during the infantile paralysis epidemic in 1929 which aided considerably the battle against the disease. The machine consisted of an airtight box into which all the patient's body but his head could be placed, then continual suction is applied to the body inside the box causing the patient's chest to expand and contract, and drawing air into the lungs.

Dr. Louis Lamy, surgeon of Foch Hospital, Paris, gave a historical sketch of the attitude of various peoples toward crippled and abandoned children and Judge Raymond J. Knoepell, president of the New York State Association for crippled children, told of the work accomplished by service clubs in promoting the welfare of crippled children.

UNITS ATTEND DIVINE SERVICE

Veterans, Grove and School Cadets Take Part in St. John's Church Service.

Rev. Mr. Creighton Speaks.

LAKEFIELD, May 23 (Examiner Correspondence).—Like an echo of wartime was the chuch parade on Sunday morning, when the Veterans, Grove and High School Cadets paraded to St. John's Church, which was filled to its utmost capacity. It was a parade of youth and was impressive to all who witnessed it. As an old song says: "English, Irish, Scotch and Welsh Were There in All That Throng," we may add French, Italian and one little Chinese boy marching like a veteran, all Canadians and very happy in having citizenship in our great free land. The Veterans, representing many units and few who are not carrying marks of their service.

The procession was headed by Thomas Cunningham, sergeant-at-arms of the Legion, carrying the flag; then the Legionaires headed by their president, K. A. Mackenzie; then The Grove bugle band and The Grove Cadets wearing their khaki uniforms, red berets, green stockings with red tops, and The Grove colors in the colors of red and green. Edward Wood, captain of The Grove Corps led; then the High School Cadet Corps with their neat khaki, and the High School colors, black and gold. Hugh Morrison, captain of the High School Cadets, led his corps.

The choir was filled with boys of The Grove, who led the big congregation in the singing of familiar hymns of suitable character. Mr. E. de C. Fletcher was at the organ.

The rector of the parish, Rev. Walter Creighton, M.A., officiated, with Rev. A. W. Mackenzie, D.D., M.A., Headmaster of The Grove, assisting.

Rev. Mr. Creighton preached an appropriate sermon, welcoming the three units represented and strongly advocating the value of Cadet corps, not necessarily from the military standpoint but as valuable in the line of discipline, personal cleanliness and neatness and probably more than all in their co-operative sense. We hear much against war and its evils and none of us want to see a renewal of hostilities, but there are times when war is not wrong; when it is a protest against that which is wrong or the oppressive of the weak by strong nations. It is not wrong to fight to defend one's home, one's family or a cause which is right. War in the old days was the sport of the time and the actual casualties were not so heavy, but in the last war, organization and armaments had reached a peak and the result was a war of destruction waged by one set of nations purely as a war of aggression. Life is a conflict in which we all bear a part and the value of team work or co-operation is a lesson which we all can learn, as more can be accomplished and done better in this way than can possibly be done by individual effort. A strong effort by all will carry the world out of the slough of despond, will help the weak, and will make the community a better place to live in under God's laws.

The lesson was read by a member of the Grove Cadet Corps and the offertory was taken by two of The Grove Cadets.

Following the service the parade formed up and marched to the Town Hall, where they disbanded.

This annual church parade has for some years been held on the Sunday nearest Empire Day, and is really a boys' service.

SAINTS TAKE INITIAL GAME

Trim Aces 23-13 in Opening Game of Campbellford League.

THREE HOME RUNS.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 23 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Opening the Campbellford softball season last evening, the Saints captured the first win of the town league, when they clashed with and overcame the Aces with a 23-13 count, in a game that was featured by many errors, which counted in part for the high scores, and which was caused by a very strong wind.

Staged on the High School grounds, a very large crowd of fans lined the rails to see the first clash of the season, and got the accustomed thrill from the game, which always goes with a game in the town league. Three home runs featured the play; Paul O'Sullivan and Angus Robertson for the Aces bringing home one each, while Peeling for the Saints knocked his usual rounder.

Both Danny Flint for the Saints and Doug Maybee for the Aces pitched good ball, many of the runs being accounted for by loose field play and the vagaries of the weather. The Saints, however, held the balance of play from the word go, netting a four and eight run margin in the first two innings, which the Aces were unable to top.

festo carried promises of relief to the farmer through reduction in the interest rate from 5½ to 5 per cent. on loans from the Agricultural Development Board and also announced the administration would assume 90 per cent. of the cost of construction and maintenance of highways if returned to power, the counties to bear only 10 per cent. compared to the 20 per cent. they now carry.

A land settlement scheme in the North with bonuses to old and new settlers who cleared and ploughed virgin land also was announced in the manifesto.

No Entanglements.

HAMILTON, May 23.— (C.P.)—Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader, to-day was en route to Sharbot Lake and Cataraqui, leaving a promise with Hamilton electors that if his party is placed in power cabinet members will be free of all entanglements. His cabinet ministers, the Liberal leader said, woult not be connected with financial corporations.

They would be divorced, he said, from such affiliations before they assumed office. He charged the present government members could not claim such positions when he addressed a large Liberal rally here last night.

The Conservative Administration, he said, had permitted Premier George S. Henry, and even Hon. Charles McCrea, "most honest and efficient of the ministers,' to hold stock in a firm with which the Hydro Commission negotiated a purchase.

Mr. Hepburn attacked the government for "reckless expenditure" of public money. The purchase of the Dominion Power and Transportation Corporation for $22,000,000 was criticized by the Liberal leader, who said it was not worth $8,000,000.

The beer and wine question will be removed from politics if a Liberal government gains power, he added.

"As soon as we are in power we'll proclaim the bill and taht will be the end of it as a political issue," Mr. Hepburn said. The Liberal leader claimed five or six Conservative candidates had announced themselves as independent of the leadership of Premier Henry.

He mentioned the programme of President Roosevelt of the United States and maintained that with a little "common sense" Canada also could accomplish the same things. He attacked highway costs of the government and taxation implemented by the Henry Administration.

YOUNG PEOPLE JOINT MEETING

Three Campbellford Organizations Hold Jolly Evening in Parish Hall.

FINE PROGRAM.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 23. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Good felloship and a fine spirit of co-operation prevailed on Monday evening, when three of the Campmeet for a joint meeting in the Parish Hall, the attendance being over one hundred and twenty. The Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and the Young People's League of St. John's United Church, were joint guests of the A.Y.P.A. of Christ Church, and on behalf of that organization were delightfully welcomed by Franklin Linton, president of the A.Y.P.A.

The two guest associations were responsible for the program, which excelled in its excellency, the pastors of the churches, Rev. J. C. Robinson of St. Andrew's, the Rev. H. P. L. Seymour of St. John's, and the Rev. T. H. Floyd of Christ Church, all delivering brief addresses. Following the program a delightful lunch was served by the host organization. Accompanists for the evening were Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. C. W. Turner and Albert Hazell.

The first half of the program was provided by the St. Andrew's organization, with the president, Mrs. F. F. Long, in the chair. This was: Reading, Aylmer Haig; instrumental, LaBrash trio; reading, Mrs. Percy Locke; instrumental, Jerrine Barnum and Mrs. Kirkpatrick; reading, Miss Rosina Clarke; vocal solo with guitar accompaniment, Duffy Jones; vocal solo, Miss Mae Bell; instrumental, Jerrine Barnum and Mrs. Kirkpatrick.

N. ZEALAND GIRL SETS AIR MARK

Flies From England in 15 Days and 23 Hours—Her Third Attempt.

BEATS AMY MOLLISON.

PORT DARWIN, North Australia, May 23.—(AP)—Jean Batten, 24-year-old New Zealand girl flier, reached this city today after a solo flight from England on which she set a new women's record for the distance.

Miss Batten made the long, hazardous air jaunt in 15 days, 23 hours and 25 minutes, eclipsing the former woman's mark of 19½ days held by Amy Johnson, wife of Capt. James A. Mollison, British flier.

Miss Johnson completed her flight and set the old record on May 24, 1930.

The New Zealand girl arrived at Port Darwin to the accompaniment of a tumultuous welcome at 3 p.m. local time, 1:30 a.m. E.S.T.

Miss Batten was making her third attempt at the flight when she soared away from Lympne, England, on May 8.

Her first effort was in April 1933. Then her machine broke down beyond repair at Karachi, India. Last month, trying again, she crashed in Rome. She sustained severe face lacerations and several stitches were taken in her lip.

Nevertheless, as soon as her plane could be repaired, she flew back to England and began preparations for the third try which has proved successful.

The plane in which Miss Batten set her record is an ordinary standard wooden Moth built nearly five years ago.

The young woman went to England a few years ago to study music, but Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith's Pacific flight inspired the ambition to fly. Forthwith, she sold her piano to help pay for her flying lesson.

THIRD CANDIDATE ENTERS CONTEST

you know you have got the right candidate."

Captain Elmore Philpott.

Accompanying Dr. Cotton last night was Captain Elmore Philpott of Toronto, whose address elaborated Dr. Cotton's brief review of the C.C.F. provincial platform published yesterday. The candidate remarked that she would have the next three weeks to meet and speak to the electors on the policies for which she sought their support.

Captain Philpott's main theme was bound up in his assertion that the capitalistic system was already doomed, and around that subject he wove an impartial criticism of both the Conservative and Liberal parties, supplementing Dr. Cotton's reference to the Communist party as an element that was foreign to Canadian needs and thought.

Opportunity For Women.

"Only in the C.C.F. do women get a square deal," said Capt. Philpott in reference to the fact that the Durham candidate is a woman. "I predict that as the first woman to hold a seat in the Dominion Parliament is a member of the C.C.F., so will the first lady in the Ontario Legislature also be a member of the C.C.F.

Women have had the vote since the war, but none of them has succeeded in crashing the gates of Queen's Park. The two old parties have had their nominations, but they can think up one thousand and one reasons why the women should not receive a nomination. And that's one reason why we are in our present mess."

Referring to the popular phrase of election periods, "it's time for a change," Captain Philpott said that the Grits meant by a change throwing Henry out and putting Hepburn in. If the situation were reversed the Tories would mean throwing Hepburn out and putting Henry in.

"Just like a dog chasing his own tail. The C.C.F. believes it is time for a change of system. When you see the spectre of children half starving in a land of plenty surely that is one reason why we need a new system. The C.C.F. doesn't trim nor temporize. It stands for the complete elimination of the system we know as capitalism."

Captain Philpott expressed the opinion that the prospects in the near future of the manufacturing industry were worse rather than better. The capitalistic system was morally bankrupt, he declared, and quoted the revelations recently brought out by the Stevens Committee at Ottawa as proof of his statement that should convince every Canadian.

Money Rights First.

In 1914 the press and pulpits of the country were telling the men of Canada that their King and Country needed them, but no one told the millionaires that their King and Country needed their dollar bills. And when military conscription was applied "we said to the young men we need your bodies, but we didn't say to a single profiteer who made tens of millions out of human misery and slaughter 'your King and country need your dollar bills.'

In the war money rights always came before human rights, and in the depression we have seen the same thing. If there is one thing the C.C.F. stands for it is right here—to place human rights before money rights."

Capt. Philpott said that Premier Bennett's promises of a job for every Canadian could have been fulfilled. There would be plenty of jobs found if men had to go and kill somebody.

The Stevens Probe

"The Hon. Mr. Stevens deserves a great deal of credit for bringing about the investigation at Ottawa that has exposed the truth about some of our big industries. The truth is out, and it was said long ago the truth will make you free. Nothing is truer than that, and the Canadian people can see for themselves that the capitalistic system is morally bankrupt. Not one of these great businesses can afford to have their methods exposed to the public gaze; and we have had the coal, and we have had the coal and the milk and the tobacco and other industries passing before the public leaving a slimy trail like some prehistoric dragon.

Last week we saw the Imperial Tobacco Company subjecting our farmers in western Ontario to conditions worse than the old slave days in the south; the big company that imported unscrupulous buyers worse even than Simon Legree. If a boy stole a few cans of beans here in Port Hope it wouldn't be long until he was off to jail, but in this investigation at Ottawa we see these highly paid fellows exposing their offences in public, strutting about like cocks of the walk, and going Scot free.

Built On Theft.

The capitalistic system is built on theft, and until you realize that you can never take the first step to free yourselves from that slavery."

Captain Philpott quoted a paragraph from a article by Garet Garrett in the Saturday Evening Post of May 19 which he said admitted the central idea of the social theory. In effect it affirmed that surplus value was that part which the wage earner did not receive. It was true that labor did not receive the full value of what it produced. Capital claimed it, and it was called profit. And profit, therefore, was that part of production for which no return was made in the form of goods and services.

Capitalism was economically insane, Capt. Philpott continued, because, for example, it permitted people to go hungry in a land of plenty.

"It permits my wife to wear last year's hats with a world full of hat factories that can't sell the hats they are making this year."

He recalled the World Economic Conference in London last year, and said that it was finally forced back on the plan of distribution by destruction, by which wheat, pork, cotton and coffee were destroyed as a means of disposing of huge quantities of their surpluses.

Alleges Party Funds.

Capitalism caused political prostitution, he charged. "I don't care whether you are a Grit or a Tory, you are under one system. The real government is where the money power rests, and in this country the money power is in St. James Street, Montreal. It is still true that the man who pays the piper calls the tune. The old parties think they can't survive without contributions from the big corporations. So we have had things like the Beauharnois, the breweries and the textile companies. My experience is that business men are all alike, and if he put up one million dollars he expects a million dollars in value back. When they put millions of dollars, they make themselves paymasters of those parties; and the paymaster is still the boss."

The C.C.F. planned to make the most efficient use of the natural resources, including human resources, and a fair division of the total annual income. One of the means was the socialization of the banking and financial system which was described as the citadel of capitalism.

"We propose the eventual socialization of all industries and services essential to a properly planned state, things like milk and fuel and gasoline; even George Henry's milk company. We propose a coast to coast industrial code that will apply to all industries, and to that end we would amend the British North America Act that will apply to Quebec and the maritimes."

Economic security for all workers, was also part of the C.C.F. program, Captain Philpott concluded. This included security against unemployment and sickness, and the protection against these perils should be provided for by all, by a system of taxation which would apply to those who were most able to bear it.

"With bread lines forming, the Henry government is insulting the intelligence of the Ontario electorate by offering beer. And as far as I can see, the Liberals have no policy except the slogan: 'Don't vote for the Conservatives—they are corrupt. Vote for us.' With the rumbles of the Beauharnois scandal still to be heard I do not think we can depend on either of those parties. That is why we have come forward. If you reject the candidate of the C.C.F. party you are rejecting the only party in Canada which offers a solution."

This was Dr. Cotton's challenge as she made her preliminary appeal to the voters for election. She declared that she is not offering herself personally to the voters but offering a program. The C.C.F. pledges are not personal pledges but party pledges which the party intends to keep, she said.

Answering opponents who have criticized the C.C.F. for bringing on a three-cornered election battle, Dr. Cotton said, "There is no liberalism in Liberalism or there would be no need for a new party. And it is not a three-party fight. It is the C.C.F. against the two old parties. The two old line parties are one and the same thing. They stand for the same old pledges and promises and will continue the same rotten government we have had in the past."

A Challenge

"The C.C.F. is not going to grovel for votes. We are above grovelling and we are not putting any grovelling candidates in the field. We are looking for a new class of voters in Canada and we are finding them." Declaring that the regime of the Henry goverment has been a failure and that neither of the old parties have definite policies for the future, she challenged them to come out in Durham and present their policies for comparison with hers.

Dr. Cotton reviewed the Ontario election platform of the C.C.F. as announced in Toronto by the chairman of the executive yesterday.

The Stevens probe has indicated the necessity of state control in the distribution of the prime necessities of life as well as control in a number of other fields, she commented. In regard to the plank promising the abolition of direct relief, she argued that if in time of war the country has no difficulty giving employment to its men and should take similar drastic measures to see that they have work in peace time. The plank calling for the drastic revision of the Old Age Pension legislation is in answer to the changing needs of the economic system. With a surplus of labor available, the present-day manufacturer is using men under forty years of age, she said. "What is the man out of work at forty to do? Tighten his belt and wait until he is seventy?"

Free Speech

"We believe the Communist has a right to express himself," Dr. Cotton asserted in referring to the C.C.F. demand for free speech, assembly and association for all. "Let the Communists come out of their cellars and we'll see how few of them there are."

Dealing with the C.C.F. proposal to help the farmer with mortgage loans and the extension of co-operative institutions for the purchase of farmers' need and the processing and marketing of farm products, the candidate claimed that the idea for the Federal government's Marketing Act was stolen from the C.C.F. program. "We may not be in control but we are having a tremendous impact on those stodgy old politicians."

ised. The Government proposes to reduce the rate from 5½ to 5 per cent which, it is estimated, would mean an annual saving to the farmer of $270,000.

The Government also announced its intention to amend the Mothers' Allowance Act if it was re-elected. Under the amendments a widow with one child would be cared for. This would result in an additional annual expenditure of $1,200,000; $750,000 borne by the Government and the remainder by the municipalities. It would add 5,000 beneficiaries to the present list.

The manifesto also contained the proposal that the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission study the possibility of a zoning system with a view to reducing the spread in cost of service between rural, urban, town and city consumers.

Minimum Wage for Men

A minimum wage for men is favored by the Administration which plans to "take the necessary steps immediately to confer with the Province of Quebec and the Federal authorities as to the best way to carry this out." Although no official intimation was forthcoming it is believed the Government already had discussed this question with the Quebec authorities.

"The Province of Ontario," the manifesto said, "should not be placed in a position where business is lost on account of advanced social legislation which does not obtain in other provinces."

Cabinet Ministers, in addresses, had previously mentioned the minimum wage for men, but maintained Ontario could not inaugurate such a scheme until neighboring provinces had fallen in line, as industries might move to these provinces from Ontario to escape the regulations.

Jobless Insurance

Unemployment insurance was referred to in the Government announcement which stated the Henry administration was ready to co-operate with the Dominion authorities in providing this protection for the workless. The manifesto added that unemployment insurance "must be by Federal statute worked out in co-operation with the provinces."

A review of the Government's road program was contained in the manifesto, which declared this sphere of the Administration's activities had helped greatly in relieving unemployment.

Work on the trans-Canada Highway in the north country and the Government's pledge to continue its support of the mining industry appeared in the manifesto.

NAPANEE CRASH LAID TO DRIVER BY INQUEST JURY

Car Swerved Over Highway For Mile Says Eye Witness.

CONFLICTING EVIDENCE.

Girl, One of Party, Admits All Four Boys Had Drink of Beer.

ODESSA, Ont., May 23 (C.P) — Death of Vincent Kilgannan and Jack McGibbon in a motor crash near Napanee two weeks ago, was attributed by a coroner's jury to "negligence of the driver." Evidence given at the hearing last night was conflicting, and Coroner Dr. D. T. M. Galbraith commented on the fact in his address to the jury.

Alex Stevenson of Toronto, an eye-witness to the collision between the heavy transport truck and the light touring car in which Kilgannon and McGibbon were driving with two other youths and two girls said he had followed the car for a mile and a half along the highway and had been afraid to pass it because of its erratic course. The touring car, he said, was swerving from side to side, and he had kept fully 100 feet behind because of the uncertain course.

Stopped for Beer

Miss Vivian Clarke, driving in the car with the party, said they had stopped on a side road and the boys had "some beer." The beer, she said, was in the front seat and she had not seen it until the car stopped.

McGibbon, George Powley and Oscar Heath "split" two bottles after the stop was made, witness said, but neither girl had taken a drink. McGibbon told here there were seven bottles in the car, she said.

"I was told the beer was consumed in a cafe and each of the four boys had a drink," she said.

Summons Sought Against Committee

LONDON, May 23 (C.P. Cable)—Application of A. P. Herbert, celebrated contributor to punch, for a summons against the kitchen committee of the House of Commons for illegal sale of liquors, was adjourned at Bow Street Police Station yesterday.

Sir Rollo Campbell, Chief Magistrate, said he would like to hear counsel on the question of whether the members of the committee were not protected by privileges of the House and whether the court had jurisdiction in respect to acts of members of the House of Commons, done with approval and authority of the House.

This was in reference to the likelihood that in law, the House of Commons precincts may be protected by royal privilege, Westminster being technically a royal palace.

DENTAL DISORDERS MAINLY IGNORANCE

Poverty Found Not to Blame for Great Percentage of Dental Trouble.

TORONTO, May 23.—Dr. Herman N. Bundesen president of the Chicago Board of Health, addressing the Ontario Dental Convention yesterday, said that a survey in Chicago had disclosed the fact that 80 to 90 per cent of the people had dental disorders, not through poverty, but through ignorance, and there was a tooth brush in almost every home.

The tooth brush and paste were essentials, but science had unearthed the knowledge that deficiency in nutritions, too much of some foods, glanduar disturbances, lowered metabolism, bacterial infections and under exposure to sunlight, were to be numbered among the causes of such dental disorders.

The food necessary to good teeth in children, he said, were calcium as obtained from milk and its products, cereals, eggs, prunes, vegetables and fruits; phosphorus from milk, eggs, cheese, prunes, beans, meat and full grain bread; Vitamin D which enables the body to absorb calcium and phosphorus, to be had in cod liver oil and halibut oil; Vitamin A contained in milk and its products, cod liver oil and spinach; and Vitamin C essential to healthy gums could be given through oranges, lemons, grapefruit and tomatoes.

Victim Suffers Attack in Galapagos Islands During World Cruise.

(By A. V. McGeachy—A.P. Foreign Staff).

BALBOA, C.Z., May 23 (A.P.).—A United States destroyer steamed full speed ahead to-day and two big seaplanes were tuned up to follow in a dramatic race by sea and air to save the life of William Albert Robinson, believed dying in his little honeymoon ketch Svaap far out in the Pacific.

The destination of the ship and planes, carrying physicians and medical supplies, is Tagus Cove in the Galapagos Islands—1,000 miles from Panama—a lonely, sun-baked spot which once was the haunt of pirates.

The race with death was ordered after Robinson's socially prominent Chicago bride, Florence Crane Robinson, had flagged the fishing trawler Santa Cruz and had its skipper inform the naval station at Balboa that her husband was stricken Sunday with acute appendicitis.

Seven officers, including medical men, were assigned to the seaplanes. While orders were issued for them to take off early to-day, the destroyer Hale was ordered to move through the Canal from the Atlantic at fullspeed to carry reserve fuel for the planes. It will be necessary for them to refuel en route.

The Hale cleared the Canal shortly before 10 o'clock last night.

4,200-Mile Cruise

Robinson and his bride, heiress of the late Richard T. Crane, multi-millionaire Chicago manufacturer, left the east coast last June, planning a 4,200-mile honeymoon voyage in the Svaap.

The 32-foot Svaap carried no radio apparatus and there were no medical supplies suited to the needs of her husband's illness.

Pending the arrivaly of the medical assistance, physicians of the United States Receiving Hospital at Los Angeles advised Mrs. Robinson by Radio to use ice packs in combatting her husband's attack. She obtained ice from the refrigerator compartments of the fishing trawler, which stood by. He was reported worse to-day.

James Stevenson Park Will Give City Ideal Tourist Camp—200 Trees Planted

Improvements effected at James Stevenson Park by the Parks Committee of the City Council, promise to provide the city with a prospective site for one of the most ideal tourist camps in the province.

Probably no improvement made by the Parks Committee in recent years, has been so extensive or productive of such beautifying change. This morning under supervision of Alderman Walter Stocker, planting of fifty 8-foot Norway Maple trees was completed at the park, and in the course of time will have grown to stately proportions so as to throw a welcome shade over the wide swath of greensward, seeding of which has been recently finished.

With the planting of fifty maple trees at the park this morning, according to Alderman Stocker the total number of maples planted by the parks committee in various sections of the city this year now totals 200.

The site of the addition to James Stevenson Park is on the ground formerly occupied by the old brewery that was bought by the city and torn down. Ideally located on the banks of the Otonabee River, and combining baseball and softball diamonds, with adequate car parking space and sanitary conveniences, the completed addition to the park is the partial fulfillment of a dream long cherished by the majority of the city fathers, past and present and the chairman of the parks committee in particular.

The dream will not be fully realized until the lawns, shrubbery, trees, and flowers have begun to flourish, and that will possibly be some years hence. But even now the city can look with pride to the changes that have been made, and can anticipate the asset that the park will be in its contribution to the preservation of Peterborough's fair name as the "city beautiful."

It is just possible that some day, that section of the park bordering on the banks of the river near the Hunter street bridge, may become the city's tourist camp site. It would appear to be an ideal location with its ample shade trees, its bathing facilities, and lavatory and automobile accomodation. That is another dream which Alderman Stocker is cherishing—but it is amazing to reflect how the city fathers have a habit of seeing their dreams come true.

SAY SINGER MILLIONAIRESS GAVE WEALTH TO SERVANTS

Aged Woman Believed in Eternal Youth, Witnesses Claim

CONTESTING WILL

London. — Representatives of the surrogate court of New York, sitting behind locked doors of a room in Bush House, Aldwych, taking evidence on commission, heard extraordinary stories on which depend the fate of the £2,500,000 fortune of the Singer millionairess, Mrs. Florence Adelaid Pratt.

The evidence of some of the witnesses was to the effect that Mrs. Pratt hired assassins to attack Major Stanley Williams, who was found stabbed outside his hotel at St. Juan les Pins on December 14, 1925, but subsequently recovered from his wounds; made six wills in eight years, leaving £1,000,000 to a chauffeur; £1,000,000 to a retired detective who was her personal bodyguard; £750,000 to a Paris dressmaker; and £250,000 to a corsetiere, the wife of a famous chef; treated he servants as equals and made them presents of thousands of pounds, and, although aged, lived in the delusion that she remained eternally young and beautiful.

Mrs. Pratt died at the Ritz Hotel, London, in October, 1932. The mysteries of her life and the intricacies of her wills are not yet solved.

Battle of Courts

Every known plea to contest the will hase ben made. The legal battle will be fought in the New York probate court this month.

Mrs. Margaret Alexander of Grosvenor Square, London, herself a Singer millionairess, has consented to contest the validity of the last will of her sister, Mrs. Pratt.

The last of Mrs. Pratt's wills was made in London on August 21, 1931. Mrs. Alexander seeks to have this will declared void and to establish a will of 1925, under which the principal beneficiaries are relatives now living in England.

It is alleged that in 1931 Mrs. Pratt was mentally incompetent. The Guaranty Trust Company of New York, executors of the estate, reply that Mrs. Pratt was a most brilliant woman, and that she was able and active until the time of her death.

A number of relatives from England and others, including the chauffeur, the detective, the dressmaker, and the corsetiere, who were astonished to hear that they figured in the will for vast sums, are expected to attend the hearing of the suit in New York.

Mrs. Florence Pratt, a wealthy and romantic figure, joined the surviving members of the Singer family in London society nearly ten years ago. She was the daughter of the late Isaac Singer, founder of the sewing-machine millions.

The story of her six wills begins in 1924. Early testaments bequeathed her vast fortune to relatives and friends.

The alleged attack on Major Williams occurred in the early years of Mrs. Pratt's residence in Europe. The assailants escaped and were never traced. Major Williams has since died.

Bequests of millions to servants were made at varying dates between 1924 and 1932.

The £1,000,000 legacies to the chauffeur and the detective appeared to have been revoked by later wills, but these servants remain as beneficiaries in the last will of 1931.

In this will, which is now the subject of litigation, the detective is left £5,000 a year for life; a Paris dressmaker's manageress receives £750,000; the corsetiere gets £250,000; and a Paris dressmaker's assistant £150,000. Other friends and servants are bequeathed fortunes.

WIFE CLAIMS SHE SHOT HUSBAND AT HIS WISH

Gave Revolver to Wife, Who Fired Inadvertently, Is Story

Stockholm.—A young wife who shot dead her 30-year-old husband at his own request after an eight-hour talk—this is the story contained in the confession alleged to have been made to the police by Mrs. Brita Ekdahl, the wife of a former naval officer.

The first news that a tragedy had occurred at Lieutenant Ekdahl's villa at Djurgarden (a popular Stockholm island resort) came when Mrs. Ekdahl telephoned at midnight to the police.

"I have shot my husband," she said.

She then told the police (according to the alleged confession) that after her husband had left the navy she lost her affection for him. They separated, and he agreed to a divorce.

She says she went to her husband's house and tried to persuade him to withdraw the accusation against the other man.

"Now I have nothing to live for!" he cried, "you might as well shoot me."

He gave her the revolver, and she was so distressed (she says) that she fired without knowing what she was doing.

CENTENARIAN ENJOYS LIFE

London.—Meet the centenarian with the school-girl complexion — Mrs. Sarah Guy, of Freegrove Rd., Holloway, who celebrated her 103rd birthday recently.

In addition to possessing a creamy complexion which many a young girl might envy, Mrs. Guy is unlike the majority of her generation.

She likes the modern girl. She does not object to lipstick, rouge, powder, silk stockings, long skirts, short skirts, or even shorts for sports. She reads a minimum of six novels a week. She walks up and downstairs by herself. She retains her passion for whist. And she has no formula for old age. "I go to bed late and get up early—I like it," she says.

TO CYCLE 15,000 MILES

London. — Two young men on a tandem cycle arrived in London recently. They are riding 15,000 miles from Birmingham to Capetown and back.

Some time in June or July, Leonard Gordon Murray, of Brighton, and Denis O'Neill, a Canadian, long-distance cycle record breakers, hope to reach the Cape.

TEN 'BOB' GIVES SCOT 2,500 MILES' SCENERY

Living in Trains Cheaper Than House Rent, Thinks Peer

London. — A Scotsman holds the records for cheap rail travel—2,500 miles for ten shillings!

If you buy a ten shilling holiday contract ticket on the L.M.S. you can go where you like and when you like within a certain area every day and night for a week.

Cecil Furst of Bedford Place, Joppa, Midlothian, bought a ticket last year and set up a new record by covering 2,501½ miles in a week for 10s. He beat his own record for 1932, which was 1,034 miles.

He travelled at the rate of about 20 miles for a penny!

"This kind of travel," said Sir Josiah Stamp, chairman of the L.M.S., at the annual meeting, "will make house rents superfluous. People will be able to live in trains much more cheaply than in houses."

SAILORS' INGENUITY CHEATS RAGING SEA

Fight Way From Sinking Ship, Climb and Descend Cliff to Safety

Cardigan.—Four men saved their lives by leaping from a steamer struggling through a boiling sea, and climbing the two-hundred-foot cliffs of a tiny uninhabited island. They were the skeleton crew of the old Bibby liner Herefordshire.

For years the ship was lying idle in the River Dart. Then she was sold to be broken up. She set out for the Clyde in tow of two tugs. The seas became heavy and she put into Falmouth. She left. Storms battered her every day. The tugs could make only slow progress.

Then the rope parted and the old liner drifted helpless in the Irish Sea. She struck the rocks of Cardigan Island, a rugged spot of only thirty-five acres off the Cardiganshire coast.

Heavy seas battered her, and in twenty minutes she was holed on both sides. The foremast fell with a crash. The ship took a heavy list.

The four men realized that they were in grave danger. They made a bid for their lives. Lashing themselves together with a long rope, they jumped into the wild sea.

Eventually they got ashore — and found themselves at the foot of the island's 200-foot cliffs.

Up they went. There was little foothold, but two of the men, who are riggers by trade and accustomed to climbing, helped their comrades at the worst places.

The gale tore at them as they reached exposed spots, and finally they arrived at the top and crossed to the landward side of the island. There they climbed down the cliff again.

A breeches buoy crew had been waiting on the mainland for hours, and they fired a rope across. A few minutes later the men were hauled over the rocks and through the sea to safety.

PURCHASE RENEWS HOPE

London.—The Queen's purchase of an unusual piece of leather work shown at the exhibition of the Royal Amateur Art Society at Portman House has given hope to an ex-army officer who is out of work.

The exhibit is a leather paperweight—a model of a greyhound. Its maker is Capt. H. E. Jackman, M.C., of Battersea Bridge Rd., who had a fine war record but has been reduced to dependence on public assistance. "It is the first piece of good news I have heard for weeks," he said. "It has given me hope."

SPANISH ROYALTY TAKE CUBAN GIRL INTO MIDST

Court Rules However Forbid Official Recognition of Son's Marriage

Paris. — A small hotel in Paris has recently been the scene of the first dramatic meeting between Queen Victoria of Spain and the beautiful Cuban girl for whom the Prince of the Asturias sacrificed his rights to the Spanish throne so that he might marry her.

This meeting was brought about as a result of the illness of the prince who, as the Count of Cavadonga, has been living here with his pretty, vivacious wife.

All Europe was thrilled last June by the news of the romantic marriage in Lausanne of this happy couple.

The Spanish royal family, in law, however, could not officially acknowledge this marriage, and for some time King Alfonso, for private family reasons, was much incensed at his son's insistence on the love-match with his commoner bride.

The fact that the prince was taken ill with influenza and that his wife has also been in delicate health swept aside all other considerations and led to the family meeting in Paris.

Queen Victoria, when she visited the prince's bedside at the hotel, found her daughter-in-law devotedly attending him.

Since that first meeting not only Queen Victoria but King Alfonso as well have visited the young couple.

On each occasion she has been most affectionate towards her daughter-in-law, brushing aside court conventions.

It is stated in Spanish court circles, however, that the visits are entirely private and do not in any way constitute a reversal of the decision taken by King Alfonso that he cannot recognize the marriage nor officially receive the Countess of Cavadonga, even though he may be pleased to see her.

FORETOLD OWN DEATH

London. — Three months after he had announced from the pulpit of his church—St. Anne's, Soho—that he was going to die, the Rev. Basil Bourchier, one of London's most famous preachers, died in a Cambridge nursing home. He was 53.

During his farewell sermon at St. Anne's, Soho, he said: "I am passing into the shadow of death. I cannot stay with you long. I have no fear."

BOY TOLD MAN'S LIFE WORTH MANY FIRES

Lad Swerves Truck to Pavement, Driving to Blaze

Peterborough. — A fire bell clanged its alarm in the quiet streets of this cathedral town.

Only two members of the local volunteer fire brigade answered the call. One of them was Allen Frederick Foote, of Cowgate, a boy of seventeen.

Neither Foote nor his fellow possessed a driving license. Neither had ever driven any motor-vehicle. Foote succeeded in starting the engine. He sprang into the driving seat. For a few roads, all went well, but he had to negotiate a narrow turning off the main street.

On one side stood a stationary motor car. On the other side stood a horse and trolley. Approaching them both was a small motor car.

Foote stamped on the brakes and swerved—in vain.

The fire engine mounted the pavement and struck the stationary motor car.

These facts came when Foote was charged with driving without a license; without a third party insurance policy; without due care and attention.

The chairman of the magistrates, Brig.-General W. Strong, said that Foote might have been on trial for manslaughter, and a man's life was worth all the fires in Peterborough.

Foote was fined ten shillings on each of the three charges and ten shillings costs.

CRIPPLE DEFIES ROBBERS

Witton Park, Co. Durham—A crippled woman of 73 defied three masked men, who entered her house.

They stole £15, two gold watches, and a quantity of jewelry while she looked helplessly on, but they had to force open the chest of drawers.

She had refused to tell them where the keys were. The woman, Mrs. Garthwaite, lives at Bent St. She was sleeping in a chair in the kitchen when the men broke in.

ANTIQUES SCARCE

London.—There is a world shortage of antiques. The reason is breakages. A prominent London dealer said that he could not obtain a set of Chippendale chairs at any price.

BROTHERS SWAP FAMILIES DOMESTIC QUARRELS END

"Fair Deal" Makes Happy Neighbors of Husbands and Wives

MEN AT SAME JOB

Chesterfield.—Two husbands (step-brothers) who exchanged wives and families are living in complete harmony side by side at Spring Wood, Calow, near here.

They are Ernest Street, age 35, and Cecil Lowder, age 34, both miners, who work at the same colliery.

Cecil Lowder lives in a converted omnibus. His brother occupies a caravan not a dozen yards away.

An interviewer learned that before the brothers exchanged wives and families about three years ago, bickerings and quarrels were an everyday occurrence.

Since the exchange peace and harmony have prevailed. Both the men and their wives spoke enthusiastically of the exchange.

"None of us has had a single row since we swapped over," Cecil said.

The men had each young families, two sons and a daughter, and these were included in the exchange.

"It was a fair deal," said Ernest. "I took Cecil's kids—Rupert, Colin and Chrys—and he took mine—Jim, Teddy and Annie."

The children play and go to school together. There is no animosity or heart-burning among the parents over the affair.

Cecil was found helping Ernest to mend his wireless set. As he worked, Mrs. Sarah Street popped her head in the door, nodded pleasantly to her ex-husband and borrowed a saucepan from Mrs. Annie Lowder.

The women are quite satisfied with the exchange. "He's all right as a neighbor," said Mrs. Street, nodding towards her ex-husband, "but I couldn't stand him as a husband."

Mrs. Lowder, however, affirmed that she had got a bargain in him. "We both married the wrong men, and when we found it out we changed over," she said simply. The men, too, were philosophic. "You can take it from me that I've got no grouse," grinned Ernest. Cecil nodded grave approval.

RAGING SEA SENDS MESSAGE OF DEATH

Girl's Picture Washed Ashore Proves Fiance Is Lost

Wick.—A photograph of a Scots girl, washed up among wreckage at this fishery town, meant to the girl herself that she would never see her fiance again. They were to have been married in three weeks' time.

The bride-to-be, Peggy Henderson, was in the crowd watching a little fishing vessel being pounded to pieces in trying to enter the harbor. She refused to believe—until it was proved to her—that the vessel was that carrying her fiance. He was Jacob Jacobsen, a young Swede. They had met at Grimsby last summer.

In the storm Jacob's vessel, the Metha, attempted to seek shelter in Wick harbor. A second boat was following the Metha in a bid for safety. Suddenly one of the boats vanished.

Peggy hoped against hope that it was not her lover's boat, until a boom bearing the name "Metha" was washed ashore. She screamed, and then fainted.

And next day came the final proof of tragedy—the photograph. It was given to Peggy. She gazed into space and said nothing.

Four men perished with the Metha; there are no survivors.

DANGER LURKS IN RUBBISH

OLD 'ROPING' CUSTOM CANCELS HONEYMOON

Bride Falls, Dislocating Shoulder—Taken to Hospital

Watchet.—The west-country custom of roping the path against newly-married couples with the object of levying tribute had disastrous consequences for a bride here.

Sergeant F. W. Hill, R.A., and Miss Irene Hardin were descending the steps from the Baptist church when some children held them up in time-honored fashion.

The bridegroom released his hold of the bride to acknowledge the custom, when she slipped and fell, dislocating her right shoulder.

No doctor was available, and she was taken in her wedding dress to hospital, where her shoulder was reset.

She was able to attend the wedding breakfast, but the arrangements for the honeymoon in London were cancelled.

FAMED 1928 MYSTERY RECALLED BY SUICIDE

Witness in Rougier Death Puzzle Takes Poison on Village Street

Combe Martin.—"William Knight," of Latimer, Chesham, Bucks, who died suddenly in the streets of this little Devon village, has been revealed as William Knight Lerwill, the witness in the famous Rougier case of 1928. He was identified by his seventy-year-old uncle, Walter Lerwill.

He went to Combe Martin first a week before his death. He called on his uncle. It was the first time he had seen his relative for twelve years.

On the day of his death Lerwill went to a house in Combe Martin owned by his brother, Tom Lerwill, who lives at Chesham, a house rented by a Miss Kearney.

He told Miss Kearney that he was Tom Lerwill; that his motor-car had broken down; and that he had run out of cash.

With her cheque for £3 in his pocket he walked down the village street, met the village policeman, chatted with him in friendly fashion.

Then he suddenly ran away—put a bottle—later found to have contained prussic acid—to his lips, and dropped down dead.

The "Rougier case" provided a sensational story. Hilary Rougier was a retired Guernsey farmer, aged seventy-seven, reputedly wealthy. He died in 1928, but his estate realized only £79.

He was certified to have died from cerebal hemorrhage, senile decay and coma. Inquiries made by his relatives led to his body being exhumed two years later, and at the inquest the jury found that the cause of death was "morphine poisoning not self-administered."

Remarkable evidence was given. Rougier had lodged with Lerwill at various addresses, and it was in his house at Knaphill, near Woking, that the old man died. The inquest was followed by extensive police inquiries, but the mystery of Mr. Rougier's death was never solved.

LOST GEMS IN AVON LURES VACATIONISTS

"Meet Me at the Divers" Proves Advertisement for Little Inn

Welford-on-Avon. — Somewhere in the twisting reaches of the dark green Avon here, in Warwickshire, there is hidden treasure.

A woman went out from the Four Alls inn in a boat last August. The river was crowded with punts, canoes, row-boats, and bathers.

Falling-in is such an everyday habit at Welford during the summer that the landlord of the inn keeps two spare suits in the house.

The woman visitor, to be on the safe side, took off her jewelry, wrapped it in her handkerchief, and shut the handkerchief in her handbag.

A little later she accidentally knocked against the handbag. The catch flew open, and the handkerchief fell into the river. That was the last ever seen of jewelry valued at many hundreds of pounds.

There followed the most hectic fortnight Welford-on-Avon has ever known.

The woman put in a claim to her insurance company. The insurance company sent down two divers and an official. The official brought his wife. All the accommodation of the little inn was taken up by the treasure seekers.

Pleasure seekers on the river had a new entertainment. Friends arranged to meet each other at "the divers".

Every day the divers went down and the official directed and recorded. Every handful of sand was sifted, every bunch of weeds combed. They found nothing but a pair of smashed spectacles.

So the little troupe of hunters packed up their kit and rode sorrowfully away. The insurance company paid.

For all anybody knows the jewelry is still in the river. Nobody has done anything about it since the divers left.

And river girls reclining lazily in punts this summer may be trailing their fingers a few feet away from a small fortune.

SUES OVER HALF-CROWN

London.—The slander action in the King's Bench Division over a "bright and beautiful" half-crown ended in a verdict for defendants. the London Passenger Transport Board.

Herbert William Walker of Shearroad, Ilford, who brought the action, explained that when he tendered the half-crown for a twopenny fare in an omnibus the conductor declared in a loud voice, "It is counterfeit."

The defence was a denial that the words were uttered, or that they bore the meaning alleged by Mr. Walker.

ANGERED AT HIS COMPANIONS ASSASSIN FAILS TO STRIKE

Balkan Monarch Walks Unarmed Past Guns of Would-Be Killers

HAS CHARMED LIFE

Belgrade. — King Alexander of Jugoslavia is reported to bear a charmed life and a trial here unfolded the story of his latest escape from an alleged attempt at assassination.

The king fought through the two Balkan wars and the great war without even being wounded, although shots were fired at him from short range by rebels among his own forces.

He escaped injury when bombs were thrown at him in Belgrade soon after the war.

During his last visit to Zagreb (capital of the province of Croatia) the king walked within two yards of a man who, it is alleged, had sworn to kill him and who held a loaded revolver in his pocket. But the man was so angry because his comrades had deserted him that he did not fire.

The day before, also, two men who had come to Zagreb in order, it is alleged, to kill the king, and who had bombs and revolvers with them, did not dare to use them when the king passed close to them, owing to the attention of detectives.

An assassination plot had been hatched among Croatian emigres abroad.

Fete Prospective Assassin

A Dalmatian shepherd named Oreb was seized upon and persuaded that he was called upon to save the Croatian people from the "ghastly tyranny" under which they were living.

He is also said to have been persuaded to take a solemn oath to kill King Alexander.

Oreb was taken to Vienna and feted by the Croatian refugees there.

He was given money and clothes, trained in the use of arms and, finally, on the eve of King Alexander's visit to Zagreb, crossed the frontier dressed as a skier.

On the first day of the king's visit Oreb, with an accomplice, stood in a street in Zagreb as the king passed. Oreb had a loaded revolver in his pocket, his accomplice a hand grenade.

Just as the king was passing a detective came to Oreb and asked him why he did not shout "Long live the king!"

Oreb shouted to disarm suspicion, but by the time the detective had turned away the king had disappeared from view. The next day he had a still more wonderful escape. Early in the morning Oreb was led by his accomplice to a good position in the streets.

As the accomplice himself was known to the Zagreb police he left Oreb, instructing him, after shooting the king, to make his way to a place on the outskirts of the town, where he would be met and guided to safety.

The king did not appear, however, for some hours, and by that time Oreb had begun to feel deserted and to get more and more angry with his accomplice for leaving him in an unknown city all alone.

So, when the king did finally pass within six feet of the tall young man in the ski-ing outfit nothing happened. Oreb and two other men were afterwards arrested.

BEGGARS IN BRAZIL LIVE LIFE OF RILEY

Sao Paulo.—Waging war on mendicants, police uncovered these examples of how begging pays:

Severo Mussolini of Ravenna, Italy, 65, admitted he owned a Serra Negra coffee plantation with 20,000 bearing trees.

Luiz Sorrentino confessed he had purchased four houses, all yielding an income, with his beggar's profits.

Jose Sotero had in his pockets 1,200 milreis (about $100).

Another beggar said his wife and daughter were travelling in Europe.

NEVER SPOKEN TO HER 'LOVER' SHOOTS BEAUTY

Murderer Claims Knew Girl by Sight, But Not Acquainted

Hauteville.—A beautiful 19-year-old English-born girl was shot dead here by a 24-year-old French sanatorium patient who had never spoken to her before but who had fallen violently in love with her.

Marcia Carrill, daughter of an English mother and a French father, was born in England, and came here some time ago to undergo treatment for tuberculosis.

She was sitting in the dance hall with a woman friend and two other patients from the sanatorium when a young Frenchman came up to her and asked if he might speak to her for a few moments, as he had a message.

Although she did not know the young man, who gave his name as Pierre Astier, Miss Carrill accompanied him into the next room, generally used for telephoning.

After about five minutes two revolver shots were heard, and Miss Carrill staggered out of the room streaming with blood and fell at her friend's feet.

Lieut. Reboult, one of the party, threw himself upon the murderer and disarmed him. Miss Carrill died within a few minutes, shot through the lungs.

Taken to the police station the murderer, who was absolutely calm, said he had known Miss Carrill by sight for some time, but could not find any pretext to make her acquaintance.

"As soon as we had entered the telephone room," he said, "I told her that I had been asked to request her hand in marriage by a friend of mine.

"When I said this she laughed at me. Then I asked her if her reply would be the same if the request came from me. She said 'Yes.' Drawing my revolver I asked her to repeat it, and she did. Then, mad with rage, I fired at her twice."

"COME-HITHER" LOOK DOOMED GAY SENOR

His Company Appreciated But Money Meant More to Girl-Bandits

Barcelona.—The sight of three alluring girls in smart attire driving at a leisurely pace in the centre of Barcelona attracted the interest of a male pedestrian who was flattered when his smile met with a "Come-hither" response from all three.

The car drew up and the girl at the wheel inquired the way to a neighboring hillside pleasure park. When, after an exchange of chaff, the girls suggested that the stranger should accompany them there, he needed no persuading.

Sitting back luxuriously, he basked in the smiles of his charming companions—until suddenly, at a quiet spot, "Hands up!" snapped a sharp female command, and he gazed stupified at the business end of a revolver.

Relieved of all the money he had —£2—he returned to Barcelona on foot, a sadder and a poorer man.

ODE TO BACCHUS MAY BRING CASH

Paris. — French poets and musicians have been invited to compete in the composition of a Bacchic hymn. The National Academy of Arts, Sciences and Literature of Bordeaux offers a prize of 5,000 francs for the best verse and music in praise of the wine of Bordeaux.

The hymn must be suitable to be executed by a large instrumental and choral group at the conclusion of the Bordeaux wine fete, which will be presided over by the president of the French republic in June. The duration of the composition must be between twelve and fifteen minutes. Only French composers and poets are eligible to participate in the competition.

In addition to the money award, there will be consolation prizes in the form of cases of the finest wines of the Bordeaux region.

GAY DAYS OVER FOR MAYOR AFTER JURORS REQUEST BEER

Reach Guilty Verdict and Village Leader Gets Five Years

USED PUBLIC FUNDS

Aix-en-Provence.—M. Esprit Pioch, the "merry" mayor of the village of Saintes - Maries - de - la - Mer, was found guilty of misappropriating public funds.

He was sentenced to five years' solitary confinement and a fine of one hundred francs.

The town clerk was also sentenced to five years' imprisonment, but the sentence was suspended. Seven others were sentenced to periods of imprisonment ranging from six months to two years. Nine were found not guilty.

The jury retired to consider their replies to 977 questions, 450 of which related to the activities of the mayor, and after two and a half hours they asked for beer. They said they would struggle all night to reach a verdict if given the liquor, but they were in agreement about two hours later.

Strange things have been happening in the fantastic municipality of Saintes - Maries - de - la - Mer, a picturesque village near Marseilles, since the election eight years ago of the imaginative M. Esprit Pioch as mayor.

Budget Hits Sky

During his glorious reign the municipal budget increased from £2,400 a year to £240,000.

Mayor Pioch's ambition was to make his village a rival to Cannes or Nice. S he built two resplendent town halls, neither of which has ever been used; a sumptuous sailors' home resembling a millionaire's country club, and a stadium, bullring, casino (not yet completed) and a luxury cinema.

It is alleged against M. Pioch and his collaborators that he kept men long dead on the live registers as receiving payments for "services rendered" and that he authorized payments of bounties to fishermen for ridding the shores of non-existent sharks and other monsters, including "white whales."

Most popular of the accused was the jovial and rubicund grave-digger, "Can-Can" Veteran, who was elected public caterer and appointed to administer the municipal unemployment fund. "Can-Can" and his friend the mayor, it appears, spent the money on joy-rides to Marseilles and riotous living.

PREMIER FINDS PEACE IN HOTEL APARTMENT

Dwells Away From Officialdom and Job-Chasers

Paris.—For the first time in the history of the French republic a prime minister of France—during his term of office—is making his home in a Paris hotel.

Instead of residing in a ministry, which is his right, Gaston Doumergue is occupying an apartment in the Hotel Continental. This implies many things. First of all, that this hotel is his private home and as a consequence, job-hunters, favor-seekers and ribbon chasers can be effectively excluded.

Further, when he returns from the Quai d'Orsay he ceases—for the luncheon hour, or for the night—to be the prime minister and becomes the private individual, welcoming only personal friends.

ZOO JOB LED TO FAME

Antwerp.—The job of feeding ostriches at the Antwerp zoo left C. H. Trompeners with plenty of time to himself. He interested himself in the habits of other zoo animals and moulded them in clay.

A sculpter saw him at work, encouraged him and brought him to public attention.

Some of Trompener's works were shown at an Antwerp exhibition recently and attracted wide interest.

From far-away California comes the report of a wedding in which present and former residents of the city are involved. Miss Marie Turcotte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Turcotte of 490 Cross street, and a graduate of the Training School for Nurses at St. Joseph's Hospital, was married on May 12th to Mr. William G. McCartney, only son of Mr. and Mrs. George S. McCartney of Base Line, Highland, California, and formerly of Peterborough, where Mr. McCartney was associated with the Robert Fair Company for many years. "Only California," says the account in the San Bernardino Daily Sun, "could produce the wealth of gorgeous flowers that were used in decorations. Baskets of all shapes and sizes were filled with French bouquets, among the choice blossoms being gladioli, carnations, daisies coreopsis, hollyhocks, bird of paradise bamboo, myrtle, roses and poinsettia....The bride, who is a winsome brunette, wore a girlish gown of white organdy, fashioned on simple and lovely lines and all white accessories. The circular skirt was floor length, bodice with round neck and butterfly puff sleeves, silk sash and corsage of organdy flowers, and with it she wore a pearl necklace and four strands of pearls in her dark hair. She carried no flowers, but in keeping the tradition of "something borrowed," she carried a real lace kerchief, an heirloom in the bridegroom's family. There was an unusual and beautiful sentiment in the bride's wedding ring, it having been the wedding ring of the bridegroom's paternal grandmother and bore inside of it the original date, 1870. With the bride's name and to-day's date added it will be a treasured possession and heirloom ....The bridegroom wore conventional grey. The bridegroom's sister, Miss Zoe Doyle, sang "Oh Promise Me". Immediately after the ceremony, the small company of relatives and close friends enjoyed a collation of cakes, coffee and confections, the bride cutting the three-tier wedding cake. This was a delicious fruit cake iced in white, decorated with orange blossoms and doves and topped by a bouquet of white sweet peas. The table was set with Cluny lace and centered with a mixed bouquet in the pastel shades, with candelabra holding white tapers at either end of the table and on the buffet. Huge floor baskets decorated the entire lower floor of the Home, which was lighted solely with white tapers....Mr. and Mrs. McCartney left later in the afternoon for a week-end honeymoon at the summer residence at Forest Home of the bridegroom's cousins, Dr. and Mrs. G. F. Gibson. The bride wore rust crepe with white hat and harmonising accessories....To-day's wedding is the culmination of a romance which budded in Canada before the bridegroom came to Highland seven years ago. Distance only lent enchantment, and the intervening years have fostered the plans of Cupid, the bride journeying the long distance from her home in Peterborough, Ontario, about two months ago, with the marriage vows sealed to-day...The wedding company included Mr. and Mrs. George S. McCartney and daughter Zoe Doyle, Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Gibson, Mrs. Anna Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Cram, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Millar and son Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. clearing up after the actual work has been done must be considered as part of the job unless there is a ma in the household whose duty it is to do this. In every large estabishment there is a kitchen servant called a scullery maid whose work consists chiefly in clearing up after the cook or chef, who is completely occupied with the preparation and cooking of the food. The time of these cooks is valuabe and it would be extravagant to pay the wages to clear up the dishes, put ingredients away, and wash, and dry pots, pans, and cooking utensils.

However, in homes of average size and moderate means there is but one maid or none. In the first case the homemaker does part of the clearing up except in the kitchen. And in the second place she does all which attends upon her work, and unless the members of the family have learned to clear up after themselves, she has to do more than her share by clearing up after them if the place is kept tidy and neat.

* * * * * * *

When someone wants to help or craves a cake or candy or a dessert or any of the extra dishes which are so welcome to have, and then piles up the bowls, pans or other utensils, and leaves them for some one else to wash and put away, this other someone loses a bit of her relish for her food. If the kitchen is left in real disorder, and the homemaker has to set it to rights again she may find annoyance, which is certainly excusable, outweighs all her appreciation of the food. Yet if a mother does not teach her children that the clearing up is part of a task, whether it be a pleasant one or not, she cannot well find fault with the extra work coming to her.

* * * * * *

It is by no means in kitchen work alone that clearing up is part of a job. Sewing is another outstanding occupation in which confusion is rife in a home unless the one dressmaking, mending, etc., puts away whatever is taken out, and keeps the room as tidy as possible. During the occupation it is permissible to have wanted things about.

* * * * * * *

In cooking for example seasonings, flavorings, and all needed ingredients should be at hand while the dish is being prepared. This is equally true in sewing. Patterns, materials, scissors and all materials and utensils required must be out, all or part of the time. It is only when work is done or working time is up, that the clearing away has to be done by someone, and this tidying up should be considered as part of the occupation of the worker.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

The great Garbo, who is undoubtedly one of the most outstanding of all screen stars, recently spent a week incognito at a small lake resort. Garbo, it seems, wished to do a bit of reducing. And the routine she followed was really excellent. She rose at 6.30, breakfasted lightly at 7.00, and then spent three hours rowing on the lake. After this, she enjoyed a bit of relaxation, and lunched on salad and fresh vegetables. Then she went horseback riding for two hours or played tennis for the same length of time. And after a substantial but non-fattening dinner, she retired.

A routine of that sort is hardly what might be called over strenuous. And it certainly proved most helpful to the glamorous Garbo. But then, Garbo possesses a lithe, sinuous figure that is evenly proportioned. And she doesn't possess any of those fatty "bumps" that trouble so many women.

While diet and exercise are generally accredited with being the most effective means of reducing weight, the value of massage for breaking down fatty tissues isn't recognized by the majority of us. In places, however, where figure beauty means the holding on to a weekly salary, the masseuse has reached a really astounding eminence. Many a Hollywood beauty would be job-hunting if it weren't for the skillful masseuse who knows how to pummel the fat off the right places.

However, self-administered massage is not always an advisable method of reduction for the average tubby damsel. In the first place it takes off inches, rather than pounds. It breaks down fatty tissues locally. And in the second place, it is difficult for the average woman to do the massaging correctly herself. It cannot be done with a light and airy touch. The strokes must be heavy to be effective, yet not sufficiently heavy to bruise the flesh. And ordinarily, the best course is to have such massaging done by an expert.

However, those women for whom a masseuse's charges are unthinkably large, will find that a bit of heavy slapping, or firm, brisk patting of the fatty areas, will aid a great deal in the reduction process. Also, brisk rubbing in the body with a Turkish towel will rouse the circulation most effectively, and will help in keeping the lines of the figure slender and symmetrical.

JUST AMONG US GIRLS

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

The recent moving picture called "The Invisible Man", based on H. G. Wells' novel of long ago, presents the predicament in which a person could get if he were able to make himself invisible. About the only advantages connected with the state would be that you could do harm to your enemies without being seen. The enormous disadvantage is that unless you could make your clothes invisible, too, you would suffer cold and exposure, wounds and abrasions, without being able to prevent it.

What I would like to see far more than an invisible man, is a transparent man, and I would like to see one not only transparent and still alive and working, but with all the organs enlarged to gigantic size. It seems to me that the two organs which would be the most interesting to see would be the kidney and the liver.

We are told by physiologists that if we could see the kidney in this way we would see all the glomeruli, or blood vessel tufts alternately contracting and dilating, winking on and off like a million electric lights. And as they did so all the substances from the blood would be sucked out of it and gush down the kidney tubules, to be again reabsorbed further down.

What the liver would look like is hard to say, but probably more like an enormous drainage or sewerage system through which the blood rushed, and from which various elements were abstracted, either to be eliminated as waste or used in tissue building in other parts of the body.

The liver is an enormous organ, the largest solid organ in the body. Through it all the blood of the body travels over and over again. It has been estimated that although the liver itself probably does not contain more than a quart of blood at any one time, over 700 quarts of blood pass through it in 24 hours. This amounts to a sea of blood five times the size of the body itself.

And most important of all, the blood comes directly from the intestines, from which it has absorbed most of the material that is taken in by mouth, whether food, poison, drug, salt or water.

Physiologists wondered for a long time what the liver did. It is such a large organ that they felt it must perform very vital functions and, as a matter of fact, it is known that destruction of the liver results in death within a few hours. With the realization of this enormous blood flow coming from the intestines through the liver, it is recognized that it performs a great many different vital functions. It is both a filter and a manufacturing system. It makes out of the food the fuel which is used to run the human engine.

Roosevelt Standing Pat On NRA Prog'am

(By James Cope. Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 23.—President Roosevelt will stand by the Blue Eagle of NRA for the second year of its emergency flight.

This was definitely ascertained to-day, amid the whirl of controversy over the Darrow report, coupled with word that the United States President is eager to hear debate from the country as to the permanent future of NRA after June, 1935.

The President has told inquiries he is keeping an open mind on just how far the Government should go a year hence in seeking a permanent arrangement between the government, industry and labor.

He plans to survey the results in his tour across the country this summer. In the meantime, he intends to stand pat on the general principles of the National Recovery Administration.

New legislation would be necessary to carry on the NRA in its present form after mid-June next year. Any such action would be handed to the next Congress.

The opposition faction on Capitol Hill, however, showed no signs today of relaxing its criticism.

DETECTING THE PROBLEM AND DIRECTING THE PLAY

The following hand is instructive, showing how the declarer sometimes may determine precise holdings, and so direct play as to produce a desired ending.

	♠ A K J 9 8 ♥ K 8 ♦ 5 4 3 ♣ Q 6 2
♠ 7 3 2 ♥ J 9 4 3 2 ♦ J 7 ♣ A 7 3	W. N. E. S.	♠ 5 ♥ A Q 10 5 ♦ 10 9 8 6 ♣ J 10 9 5
	♠ Q 10 6 4 ♥ 7 6 ♦ A K Q 2 ♣ K 8 4

Bidding went: South, 1-Diamond; North 1-Spade; East, doubled, requesting partner to choose between the two unbid suits, with only North and South vulnerable; South, 4-Spades, effectually shutting out West from a sacrifice call; East, doubled, ending bidding.

The opening lead was the J of clubs. Dummy played low. Teh lead definitely marked the missing Q with North. If West put up his Ace, both the K and Q must win tricks, unless the latter happened to be a singleton, which probably was not the case. West gave a come-on with his 7. Declarer's Q won the trick.

North took three rounds of spades. East followed to the first, then he echoed with his 10 and 5 of hearts, definitely locating the Ace and Q, probably also showing an original holding of just four of that suit. Two rounds of top diamonds were taken next. When West's J dropped it showed East with the two remaining missing cards of that suit. Also it showed that East originally had held just four clubs. The declarer ran off both his remaining spades to squeeze East. On the first East let go his lowest club. Seven tricks had been won by North. The remaining six cards held by the players were as shown below, and North knew just where each card was located, reducing the plan to a six-card problem.

	♠ A ♥ K 8 ♦ 4 ♣ 6 2
♠ None ♥ J 9 4 3 ♦ None ♣ A ?	W. N. E. S.	♠ None ♥ A Q ♦ 10 9 ♣ 10 9
	♠ None ♥ 7 6 ♦ A 2 ♣ K 8

North led his Ace of spades. East had to unguard one of his suits. It made no difference which he unguarded, but he chose to let go his 9 of clubs. North led his 2 of clubs. There went on the trick the 10, Ace and K, leaving dummy's 8 of clubs good. West led a heart, giving East two tricks in that suit, but when East led a diamond, dummy had left only the good Ace and its top club, winning the last two tricks, and giving the declarer his 10 tricks total.

FIGHT FOR NOVA SCOTIA UPON BEER PLEBISCITE

HALIFAX, May 22 (C.P.). — A legal battle to determine the right of Nova Scotia towns and cities to hold a pleebiscite in the beer-and-wine-by-the-glass question loomed to-day. In Digby, where the battle of the ballots was scheduled for May 28, temperance forces were preparing to fight the matter, claiming there was conflicting opinion on the interpretation of the Nova Scotia Liquor Control Act in respect to plebiscite procedure.

Leaders of temperance associations throughout the province allege the Act is far from clear and that its provsion for plebiscites is "most obscure." Civic and town officials, including Mayor E. J. Cragg of Halifax, have made the same complaint.

BANDIT TAKEN AFTER 10 YEARS

Man Wanted for Montreal Hold-up is Captured in San Francisco.

WILL BE BROUGHT BACK.

MONTREAL, May 23 (CP)—The long arm of the law reaches far. Ten years after he is alleged to have taken part in the sensational hold-up of a Bank of Hochelaga pay-car here in which the bank messenger was killed and a bandit shot to death in a running gun battle with police, Joseph Carreri has been arrested. Word of Carreri's arrest in San Francisco was received here yesterday.

Assistant Inspector Armand Brodeur to-day said he was applying for permission to the Attorney-General's office for leave to send two men to San Francisco to bring Carreri back to stand trial on charges of murder and robbery.

The crime startled the city 10 years ago, April 1, 1924. A band of men held the car up in a subway. They were later arrested and four were hanged, Tony Frank, leader of the gang, Louis Morel, a former detective; Frank Gambino and Guiseveo Seraphini. Five others received life terms, and one, named Nieri, was released after he turned King's evidence.

MONEY IS LOST IN FERTILIZERS

C. I. L. Head Appears Before Mass Buying Committee in Ottawa.

FLAT DENIAL GIVEN.

OTTAWA, May 23 (C.P.)—A flat denial was issued yesterday by R. Grubb, General Manager of the Fertilizer Division of Canadian Industries Limited, his company attempted to bludgeon Ontario farmers into buying mixed fertilizers by sharp increases in prices of ingredients.

Appearing before the Mass Buying Committee of the House of Commons the witness admitted his company did everything to encourage the buying of mixed brands. But he would not agree with Hon. H. H. Stevens, the chairman, there was a deliberate attempt to prevent farmers from buying what they wanted.

Disagreeing with evidence given earlier by fruit growers, Mr. Grubb said there was nothing to prevent Ontario farmers from buying ingredients anytime they desired.

Mean Loss of Money

At the same time, the fertilizer manufacturer said his company would not accept an order from Western Ontario at Quebec prices because it would mean loss of money. He presented figures to explain why Ontario fertilizer prices were higher than in Quebec or the Maritimes, the chief difference being higher distribution costs.

"I think if we throw the cards face up on the table we will get on better," said Mr. Grubb.

"It will be a new experience for us," commented Mr. Stevens. The company had gone into the fertilizer business after it had been ascertained there were 100,000 tons of super-phosphate imported annually into Eastern Canada.

United States manufacturers in Baltimore and Buffalo tipped off the C.I.L. they were not willing to give up the Canadian market without a fight, continued Mr. Grobb. Prices in Canada were reduced, so the C.I.L. appealed to Ottawa for a duty valuation against United States super-phosphates which were selling below the general American market price.

The duty valuation was put on for one week but removed on the strength of other representations to Ottawa. The result to-day was the C.I.L. was losing money on its super-phosphates.

"We are still persisting in our request that these goods be not dumped into Canada; we have not given up the right," stated Mr. Grubb.

Witness said the fertilizer manufacturers sympathised with the growers. "We are both losing money; we are both selling at too low prices," said Mr. Grubb.

Mention had been made last week the growers were like a ragged army. "We will be glad to join with the growers if they will welcome us into this ragged army," he stated.

ON THIS DATE
A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY
By Fred Williams

CHARLES DICKENS THE ACTOR

On this date, in 1842, Charles Dickens and his wife appeared at the Theatre Royal, Montreal, and scored a great success. He had been invited by the officers of the Coldstream Guards, then in garrison at Montreal, to coach them in acting for by that time Dickens had gained quite a reputation in London as an amateur actor. Historians of the period state that he was a tyrant in training and that he showed a vigorous command of language when the military dandies did not do what he wished.

The bill of the play on that historic May 23 was "A Roland for an Oliver", "Two O'Clock in The Morning" and "Deaf as A Post". Among the players were Lord Mulgrave, Hon. Mr. Methuen, Captain Willoughby, Captain Granville, and Dr. Griffin. The women's roles were portrayed by men. Only invited guests were present, including Sir George Bagot, governor general, and his staff and in this connection Dickens wrote: "When Lord Mulgrave and I went to the door to receive the governor general, the regular prompter followed in an agony with four tall candle sticks, with wax candles in them, and he besought us with a bleeding heart to carry two apiece in accordance with the table of precedence."

Dickens was well pleased with the event, for he wrote:

"The play came off last night; the audience between five and six hundred strong were invited as to a party, a regular table with refreshments being spread in the lobby and saloon. We had the band of the 23rd (one of the best in the service) in the orchestra; the theatre was lighted with gas; the scenery was excellent and the properties were all brought from private houses.. Sir Charles Bagot, Sir Richard Jackson and their staffs were present and as the military portion of the audience was all in uniform it was really a splendid scene.....I believe I was really funny....Kate (his wife) acted splendidly. We had no wait or hitch for an instant. You may suppose this when I tell you that we began at eight and had curtain down at eleven."

The fame of the military theatricals spread abroad; there was a demand for an encore for the general public and a second performance for the populace who had the price was given three nights later. Saturday, May 26, seeing the theatre well filled to capacity. Of this Dickens wrote: "It is their custom here to prevent heart burnings to repeat the performance in public; so on Saturday, substituting real actresses for "ladies", we presented the first two pieces to a paying audience for the manager's benefit." The program of that performance is one of the treasures of the McCord Museum at McGill University.

ONTARIO'S WORST HOLIDAY DISASTER

On May 24, in 1881 The Thames River at London was the scene of the greatest holiday disaster in the history of Ontario. In the morning the steamer Victoria had left her wharf with 555 people on board, including her crew. It was a merry party bent on getting full enjoyment of the Queen's birthday holiday; and they had a happy day.

The return journey was almost completed; the homes of a majority of those aboard were in their sight, when suddenly the vessel keeled over, capsized and the hundreds of men, women and children were thrown into the water. Luckily (if such a word can be used in connection with a disaster) the accident took place near the Cove bridge and not beyond the reach of help from the shore.

The alarm was at once given the fire and church bells rang out their summons to the citizens and willing arms were soon at work picking up the living bodies whirling in the stream, giving first aid to those who were gasping for breath or water-logged, or gathering from the river the bodies of those whose holiday had ended in death. There were 197 of these, but many others in later years suffered both physical and mental anguish as their souvenir of that dreadful night.

It was a trying time for the small newspapers of London. John Lambert Payne, then a "cub" reporter on The Press Press (since one of the foremost of Toronto journalists, a member of the Ottawa Press Gallery for many years, than private secretary to several ministers) now enjoying the evening of a well-spent life, made a name for himself by his story of that disaster. He himself took 10 bodies from the water and when he reached The Free Press office he had 140 names of victims in his note-book—quite a newspaper feat, which impressed upon him that at such a time the public want names of the victims rather than elaborate descriptions or surmises as to how it happened.

Special Note

Please remember that May 24 is in Canada Victoria Day and not Empire Day as in some other portions of the Empire. It is a misnomer in Canada to speak of May 24 as Empire Day. It is Victoria Day!

"WAS TAKING EVERY KIND OF DRUG FOR CONSTIPATION"

Then ALL-BRAN Brought Relief

Read this very enthusiastic letter:

"I am 34 years old and as far back in my life I have been constipated. I was so bad that I had one bowel movement every five or six days. I was taking every kind of drug known for constipation.

"Now for the last two months I have been eating a little ALL-BRAN night and morning and I have at least two to three bowel movements each day."—Mr. Frank Piratsky (address furnished upon request).

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid elimination. ALL-BRAN is also a fine source of iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, this clears out the intestinal wastes.

Isn't this safer than taking harmful patent medicines? Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Severe cases with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

You'll enjoy eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream—sugar or honey or fresh fruits added. Or, to use in cooking.

In the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

THE WOODBINE is having a very successful meeting so far which bears out our prediction of last week that the Toronto race going public were hungry for a return of their favorite sport. The record turnout of twenty-two thousand on opening day clearly demonstrates that the bangtails have lost none of their drawing power. R. J. McLaughlin was so elated at winning the coveted King's Plate and also two other races on Saturday that he gave Frankie Mann, his jockey a new Buick sedan and now Frankie rides to the track in style to the envy of all other jocks.

It was sure tough to see a horse like Chase Me come to such an untimely end. Mrs. Bosley, his owner had contracted with the veteran Mack Garner to ride him against Equipoise in a match race on Saturday last but as Garner is a Brookmeade stable jockey and Duke Bellizzi, another jockey from the same establishment was being buried that day, Mack declined the mount out of respect to his pal. First Mrs. Bosley was going to scratch the horse but finally decided to employ Frank Slate, a steeplechase mounter to pilot the pride of her stable. Not being used to riding on the flat course, he allowed Chase Me to stumble and fall, breaking his leg which necessitated his being destroyed. He had never been defeated in his entire racing career.

JOCKEY J. McLAREN has arrived at Woodbine from Tanforan and is going to ride free lance through the Canadian racing season. This is the boy that made such a name for himself four years ago around these parts. He and Evelyn F being such a wonderful winning combination. Sir Byron is working up to a winning effort, and is due to click any day now. He was a fast going second to Polar Bar on Monday and the next time out should see him on the front end.

WINGS DOWN ROYALS.

Rochester Keeps Place at Top of Ladder by 6 to 3 Victory.

Their third successive victory over Buffalo Bisons today had enabled Toronto Maple Leafs to regain second place in the International League standings.

Ray Fitzgerald's single, coming in the ninth after Manager Ike Boone had been purposely assed to fill the bases, gave Toronto its narrow margin of victory, and broke up a neat pitchers' battle between Al Hollingsworth of the Leafs and Harold (Ace) Elliott of Buffalo. Each allowed only eight hits, but Hollingsworth had slightly the better of it and might have won easily except for Boones error in the fifth which paved the way for Buffalo to score the tying run at 3-3.

Bears Also Win.

Newark also won, turning back Albany, 7-5, for the Bears' 10th victory in 11 games. Vince Barton's 12th homer, following a double by Dale Alexander, drove Dick Barrett to the showers and the Bears went on to win fairly handily. Floyd Newkirk, three-fingered right-hander, turned in his fifth successive pitching triumph.

Wings Down Royals.

Rochester's Redwings, meanwhile, whipped Montreal Royals for the fourth time in five games, 8-3, and kept their place at the top of the ladder.

Baltimore's attempt to inaugurate the night game season was blocked by rain for the second time in as many days, a heavy shower forcing postponement of the Orioles' scheduled game with Syracuse.

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

In handing out credit among Pittsburgh Pirates for the performances which to-day had placed them at the head of the National League standing for the second time this season, at least a couple of assists appear to belong to Ralph Birkofer, the young southpaw who did most of this tossing last season for Toronto.

After beating the Phillies 13-4 in yesterday's seven-inning game, Birkofer was credited with five victories to one defeat. He was rapped rather freely, giving nine hits before rain halted the contest, but after Freddy Lindstrom smashed a homer with the bases full in the fifth for Pittsburgh's second six-run inning he didn't have to bear down at all.

On Top of Heap.

The victory sent the Bucs into the lead by a few percentage points over Chicago, although they remained a half game behind by another method of reckoning. The Cubs, after battling for 12 innings, blew a 5-4 decision to Brooklyn when Augie Galan let a grounder go through him with two runners on the sacks, and found themselves only a game ahead of St. Louis. Hack Wilson's pinch homer in the ninth paved the way for the Dodger triumph.

Deans Again Star.

The Dean family of St. Louis brought the count up to 4-0 against the Giants as the Cardinals batted out a 7-4 victory behind the younger member, Paul. Each of the brothers has beaten the world champions twice, but Paul had a narrow escape in a duel with Al Smith. The Cards got the winning runs in the ninth when Lefty O'Doul failed to hold Joe Medwick's fly when the sacks were crammed and it went for a triple.

Cincinnati Reds shattered their hard luck streak when they piled up 17 hits behind Paul Derringer to beat the Braves 10-4 and give the big right hander his first victory of the season.

BROWN HOLDS FALLEN YANKS TO THREE HITS

Indians Sweep Series From American League Leaders With Three Straight.

SENATORS BEAT TIGERS.

(By The Canadian Press)

The Yankees' lead in the American League dwindled further when Cleveland Indians walloped the pace setters, 5-1, behind the three-hit hurling of Lloyd Brown which effectively offset Lou Gehrig's 10th homer. The victory left Cleveland only a game and a half behind, while Washington moved into a virtual tie with Detroit; twice as far back, by trimming the Tigers, 5-2, behind Al Crowder's steady hurling.

Rogers Hornsby's Browns made another jump from seventh place to fifth when they scored six runs in the ninth to defeat Philadelphia, 12-11 after the A's had scored nine runs in the last two frames. The White Sox also won in the ninth, edging out the Red Hose, 6-5, when Henry Johnson walked in the deciding run.

CANADIAN CHAMPIONSHIPS.

TORONTO, May 23 (C.P.).—The unique situation of two Canadian boxers retaining their amateur titles for the second year in succession without the necessity of raising a glove was written into the records to-day.

Jackie Callura, of Hamilton, voted the best boxer for his weight at the 1933 championships at Winnipeg, and Bill Maich of Brantford will rule the bantamweight and heavyweight divisions, respectively, for another year as the result of the failure of opponents to appear against them in the championship tournament which concluded here last night.

Tony Canzano of Toronto had originally entered in the bantam division and J. Infante, Hamilton, was carded for the heavyweight section, but their last minute withdrawals resulted in no contests.

The other six titles decided in last night's milling were well distributed, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, St. Catharines, Kirkland Lake and Hamilton garnering one each.

Len Wadsworth of Hamilton chopped Ken Robinson, Camp Borden ace, into submission to capture the middleweight crown. Wadsworth only recently beat Robinson in the Ontario finals.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse, Soccer Softball, Bowling, etc.

By C.J.P.

May 24th has always stood out in our mind for two things, the first outdoor swim of the year and the first real ball game. Only a few times in quite a few years has it been too chilly to strip off the duds and hop in for that first glorious ducking of the summer, and only a few times has the weather payed a dirty trick on the ball players and wouldn't let 'em play that day. We hope the weather is oke tomorrow both for a swim and for the two ball games between the Petes and Riverdale Grads. Whatever about the swimming, a lot of folks will be figuring on seeing a couple of smart baseball contests and if it's a fair sort of day, they'll trek by hundreds to Stevenson Park.

• • • • • • •

We said yesterday that both the Grads and the Petes are good. Well, they still are, so why go into that again? We don't know who will do the chucking for the visitors, but they'll be real twirlers, whoever they are. Archie Deyell will probably pitch the first fixture for the Lee lads, while Spook Scriver is slated to hurl the second. There is only one Spook—a tall, skinny, slow-moving and humorous dude with a buggy-whip delivery—and when he's right, he's awfully right!

• • • • • • •

Knotty Lee put the boys through a stiff two-hour batting drill, and they should be able to smack a pea fired at 'em out of a gun now! He had young Lefty McIlwaine pitching and expects to sign him, as he needs a southpaw. This wrong-side flinger ought to go places under Knotty's coaching, and the Petes can certainly use him. The coach also wants another youthful righthand pitcher as well as a second-string catcher, the latter preferably a young chap. Boy wanting a tryout should attend the workouts, and leave their bashfulness at home. Knotty likes to work on kids from fifteen to twenty years old, and bars no one.

• • • • • • •

Some sport scribes try to break the jinx for their home team, when it's in a losing streak, by letting their whiskers grow till the team wins a game. Others go on the wagon in the hope that such a sacrifice will aid the boys. But the Oshawa key-pounder is away ahead of the rest of us. After the Dukes lose a couple of games, he merely quits writing his sports column till they win. It save him a lot of work, and a lot of excuse-making. It's a right smart idea.

• • • • • • •

The Amazing Electrics—or The Screwy C.G.E. Softballers—have run their winning streak to two games, and have even been overheard to say they can stretch it to three! Now, this is indeed a large order, particularly in view of the fact that they were given up for lost by all and sundry after their first game. In fact, waivers had been asked on over half the team at that time but not even the Church, Southend or Gals' loops were interested. Then, they hitch up their belts, round up a couple more players, and doggone if these Electrics don't electrify everyone by knocking off both Brintons and Fashion-Crafts, in positively shocking style! In other words, beloved readers, the C.G.E. players think the word "quit" is just so much print in the dictionary—doesn't mean a thing.

• • • • • • •

These are tough times and we can't afford to pass out any bouquets, but at least here's a lollypop apiece for the gallant players on that team, who are making it a real loop, and for Manager Jimmy Newson. And not forgetting the smart pitching staff of—reading from left to right—Fred Martin, F. J. Martin, and "Iron-Man Martin. As for Brintons, who fell to C.G.E. by a 12-4 count yesterday e'en, well they just couldn't dish up the softball they're capable of. Manager Lefty Sturgeon had a frown on him that would trip a horse, but the lads were handcuffed pretty well throughout at bat. And they missed Archie Weir, who had to work, and Stew Williamson, who didn't arrive till all was over but the groans. While the C.G.E. boys were chortling Blondy Ryan's famous theme song: "They Can't Lick Us", ye Brintons were moaning a dirge that sounded like: "In the Glooming, Oh My Dahlink!"

• • • • • • •

We are glad to be able to devote the next three paragraphs to presenting "the other side of the question" for the southend Softball League, since so far we've only dealt with the City Softball League angle of a current dispute. The following letter is by Jack Copping, manager of the Nationals and a member of the Southend League executive: "Dear Sir—I would like to clarify the situation which now exists between the Southend and City softball loops. As I understand our ruling, it was aimed, not to keep players from trying out or playing up town but to keep our teams from using City League material. This rule was in effect last season but no protest was registered as most of the City League teams scout around and pick their material before opening day. To allow each player to play two or three games City League would find the first half of our schedule nearly over, and the teams bolstered by City League material would possibly have a playoff position cinched.

• • • • • • •

"The whole situation appears to hinge around the performance of the C.G.E. team in their first game, and their inability to get the best material to turn out. Most of the Southend players concerned play for the Nationals' team which I manage. These players were invited to try out for City League but knew if the team was picked from the best material in the plant they would spend most of the time on the bench. The C.G.E. had poor turnouts to their practises, several of the best prospects signed with other teams and opening day found the C.G.E. team officials with sweaters, etc., ordered, holding the bag with no team to speak of. An effort was made then by the newly-appointed manager to coax no less than six of my team to help them out and play City League. I ask you what kind of organization and fair play is that to sign up a team on opening day, robbing the Nationals of six players and leaving them high and dry with their own league under way and entry fee, etc. paid?

• • • • • • •

"I think some ruling could be agreed on by both loops if they got together, but methods as illustrated above or rulings such as were passed by the City League officials barring City League players from taking part in any game with or against a Southend League player are not going to help bring this about. The Southend League president did not receive any invitation personally to attend the City League meeting except through your column and neither did any other member of our executive that I have spoken to on the matter. Hoping you will publish enough of the above to show our side of the question, I remain yours etc. Jack Copping. P.S.—How will the outlawing of our players affect the C.G.E. Shop Loop?"

C.G.E. moved to the top of the heap at Central last night by knocking off Brintons, 12 to 4, before a fair crowd of fans. With good hurling by Fred Martin and fine teamplay by the other Electrics, Jimmy Newson's squad earned the verdict handily. Brintons weren't at full strength and seldom appeared dangerous.

Martin held Brintons to eight hits as he fanned one and walked one. Bill Simmons started for the other side but retired in the third with five hits, a walk and seven runs counted against him. Bill Abbott finished and showed some neat hurling to fan five, though he was nicked for five hits and four free bases. Catches by Newson, Weese and Smith, with a combination G. Dormer-Currie catch, and a Weese-to-Jones' doubleplay were fielding features. Miller hit a homer and a single for C.G.E., while Hope got two doubles, and Fleming a double and single. Smith led the losers with the willow, hammering out a two-bagger and a single.

FEATURE NO. 2

A high-powered, 16-cylinder comedy romance with Ray Walker, Sally Blane, Etc.

No gentle reader, the curling rink is not open, and if the weather does not change in a hurry we doubt very much if the lawn bowling season will open up on Thursday.

But, just in case it does warm up a little bit, we have special news for the bowlers—and this is very important. It was intended to play three 12-end games on the holiday, but the committee, after looking over the condition of the greens, it was decided to play three 7-end games—all in the afternoon.

This change was made solely for the purpose of giving the young grass a good chance to grow and by so doing have better bowling later on in the season. Everything else will be the same as formerly announced.

FAREWELL TO HOME
John Penrose. Jim Matthews

We hope we will be able to carry out our opening tournament on the 24th, as we know a lot of the boys and girls are figuring on commencing their summer holidays on that date.

In fact the chairman of the house committee tells us that a few of the boys have already engaged all the spare room in the attic of the club house.

HEAVY SLUGGING IN GEORGE ST. 37-25 WIN

MONTREAL, May 23 (CP)—Murray Patrick, curly-haired athlete from Victoria, who came East last fall to star at football, hockey, basketball and track, yesterday broke two long-standing marks at the thirty-sixth annual track and field meet of Westmount High School.

On a muddy track, Patrick ran the fastest mile shown here this year in 4 minutes 55 1-5 seconds, the old meet record being 5.07 2-5. He then wiped out the old half-mile record by 2 2-5 seconds, covering the distance in 2-13 3-5.

Classy Ball Games On Holiday Program

Riverdale Grads will be at full strength for their two games here on the holiday, first game at ten a.m. and the second at 2.30 p.m. Upper, Mullen and Mead will all be available for pitching and the Ulster Stadium League leaders expect to knock off the Petes twice. However, Knotty Lee thinks the locals can at least break even, although he admits they won't meet any better team this year than the Toronto Grads. He expects to use Deyell and McCarthy in the morning game, and possibly Spook Scriver for the afternoon fixture. With Ash on first and Murray replacing Clark on second, the local lineup will otherwise be the same as the one used last Saturday.

Harry Sniderman, one of Toronto's greatest all-round athletes, and a colorful Jewish Infielder, is one of the stars on this year's Grad lineup. He may be at second with Eisen on short, Stokes playing third and Tolchard on first. Stronach is the catcher, and the outfield consists of Glen, Jones and one other—maybe a spare pitcher. Buck McKenna has a powerful, classy team and local fans are assured of two grand ball games, with the Petes representing the C.O.B.I. in a test to see which senior league shapes up the strongest this season.

HALLIDAY MEMORIAL LECTURE GIVEN BY DR. AUSTIN OF QUEEN'S

"Quacks, Ancient and Modern," Subject of Interesting Address.

HABIT FORMING DRUGS.

"Quacks—ancient and modern" between which he stated, "there is no difference," was the topic of an extremely interesting and entertaining lecture delivered before a local audience last evening by Dr. J. L. Austin, professor of surgery at Queen's University.

Dr. Austin was presented to a large audience at the Collegiate auditorium at a meeting held under auspices of Peterborough Medical Society, with Dr. H. V. Dobson, president in the chair.

The occasion was the annual Halliday Memorial Lecture, in perpetuation of the memory of the late Dr. James Halliday, former medical practitioner in this city, to whom brief tribute was paid by Dr. G. S. Cameron, and also by Dr. Frank P. McNulty, as mover of a vote of thanks at the conclusion of the lecture, and Principal H. R. H. Kenner of the Collegiate Institute and Vocational School, as seconder.

Quack Remedies

Quackery, the speaker claimed, was widely prevalent to-day as it had been since the time of the ancient Egyptians. Most of the patent medicines widely advertised in the daily press and over the radio, he classified as quack remedies, and claimed that many of such medicines were extremely harmful and in some instances dangerous to human life.

While acknowledging that there were many patent medicines that would do duty in the sphere in which the manufacturers placed them, Dr. Austin condemned widely-advertised cure-alls for which specious claims are made, as being "absolute nonsense."

"Many proprietors of patent medicines," he stated, "come out with extravagant claims which if you will only stop to consider for a moment you will realize are so foolish that you would not think of taking them seriously, or of buying such medicines. Yet many of you do."

All patent medicines, Dr. Austin remarked, had been analysed either by the British Medical Association or the American Medical Association, and none of them contained drugs which could not be obtained from a family physician. But the difference, the speaker pointed out, was that the family physician would prescribe drugs sanely and to meet the needs of individual cases.

Habit Forming Drugs

There was one group of patent medicines, he said, that were habit forming and which contained morphine, cocaine, heroin; and another group that contained from 15 per cent to 20 per cent of alcohol and which were much appreciated in certain circles.

There was another widely advertised group, Dr. Austin classed as "extremely dangerous." He referred to certain remedies that were being sold to "youngsters" as cures for social diseases.

He placed in the same category so-called cancer cures or remedies. "We do not know the cause of cancer. It is probable that we will find the cause, but equally possible that we may not," Dr. Austin stated in warning his audience of the need of early medical treatment for all cases of cancer as being the only hope at the present time of checking the spread of the disease.

Condemns Radium Water

Strongly urging sufferers from cancer not to meddle with "old wives" cures, Dr. Austin denounced radium water as a cancer remedy. "A gentleman in the United States," he said, "is widely advertising radium water and hundreds of people have died by perforation of the intestines as a result of using radium water."

"Don't take radium water, ladies and gentlemen, you may burst," Dr. Austin urged gravely enough, but in a manner that brought an outburst of laughter.

When the laughter had subsided, he added, "No. You will not make a noise when you burst, but you will burst if you take radium water."

Patent remedies, the speaker observed, were being conveyed to the public by house to house salesmen; by the recommendation of friends; through newspaper and radio advertising. There was nothing, he said, that could be done to stop the racketeer from bouncing his stuff over the air, "and it comes over in such an impudent manner. Radio advertising was not allowed in England, he remarked, where radio is under government supervision. He was not very hopeful of government legislation doing much good in Canada so far as radio advertising was concerned, as it would still continue to be poured out from across the line.

Progress of Medical Service

Dr. Austin asked his audience to dwell upon the progress that had been made in medical science particularly during the past half century, and which had produced a condition of world-wide immunity from serious disease that had never before known in the history of the world.

He wondered if in the end such progress might not result in the complete destruction of the world by so over-populating the world that there might not be enough food to go around.

Speaking of some of the diseases that have practically disappeared in the last forty years as a result of the progress made in the field of medical science, Dr. Austin mentioned small pox; typhoid fever; yellow fever; malaria; great plague; diphtheria; hook worm disease; and tropical anaemia. He felt that the general public had little or no idea of the debt they owed to medical research.

League of Nations

He referred to China, Manchuria and to a certain extent British India as being danger spots in which serious epidemic diseases might originate with widespread consequences, and spoke admiringly of the work which the League of Nations is performing in counteracting such danger.

When any serious epidemic breaks out, word is wirelessed to Sumatra, he said, from whence it is relayed to the headquarters of the League of Nations at Geneva. Often the messages are in code to prevent the spread of public alarm. Geneva decides what shall be done to meet the emergency, and every port in the Pacific is warned against ships from infected ports.

"I think when we say of the League of Nations that it is impotent against the prevention of war, we might think of the great work the League is doing in the preservation of the health of the world," the speaker said.

Prior to the introduction of Dr. Austin which was ably performed by Dr. Dobson, a short and enjoyable musical program was presented featuring the Borland string trio, consisting of Mrs. C. P. Borland at the piano and her two sons, Robert (violin) and Jack ('cello); also a vocal quartet made up of Mrs. B. Munro, Miss Emma Lou Chenhall, and Messrs. John Anderson and George East. Mr. Anderson also rendered a vocal solo.

Tribute to Dr. Halliday

Dr. G. S. Cameron remarked he first became acquainted with the late Dr. Halliday shortly after he as a young man had commenced his medical practice in a neighboring village. "He befriended me, as indeed, he befriended many another young man," the speaker acknowledged.

"He spent a long lifetime in the midland counties, including about thirty-five years as a practioner in this city, and he occupied a unique position so far as his profession was concerned. While a gentleman of the old school we could not call him a physician of the old school. His outlook on medicine was quite catholic. He was not content to go along on the knowledge he acquired at school, but as a man of energy he made it his business to attend the clinics held at large hospitals on this continent. Had he been born two generations later, he could have been one of the outstanding surgeons in Ontario."

Dr. Cameron went on to remark that the late Dr. Halliday had not established himself in the hearts of the community merely as a member of the medical profession, but that he was a man of many parts, having been actively interested for many years in the old 57th Regiment, and a keen worker at St. John's Church.

He also spoke of the late Dr. Halliday as a keen lover of horses, and spoke of one of his most vivid recollections of the man whose memory the meeting was honoring, as driving around the city in a buggy with a spirited horse between the shafts.

Blame Firebug For Million Dollar Factory Fire

A general view of what was once the Dodge automobile factory at Newburyport, Mass., after the million-dollar fire that struck the city had been extinguished after an all-night fight. More than 100 persons were rendered homeless by the conflagration and hundreds more were thrown out of work by the destruction of the Dodge and the Fisher factories. Three investigations to determine the cause of the fire were started. Officials blame a firebug.

RUBBER SALES POLICIES TOLD

Two Sets Tire Prices—One For Retail Trade, Other For Big Stores.

STEVENS PROBE.

OTTAWA, May 23 (C.P.).—Probing into the secrets of business in an attempt to find a cure for some of the economic ills of the country, the House of Commons Committee on Price Spreads and Mass Buying to-day is in the midst of an inquiry into the rubber manufacturing business. Yesterday it had a number of rubber company executives before it explaining the sales policies of their companies.

Out of the discussion came a suggestion from C. H. Carlisle, president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, of greater Government regulation of business. He said the Combines Investigation Act had a sound purpose, the protection of the public, but the time had arrived when it should be replaced by legislation giving the Government power to regulate trade and commerce, companies should not be prevented from getting together for the purpose of increasing their efficiency.

The rubber company officials revealed there were two sets of automobile tire prices, one for tires of standard brands sold through the regular retail channels and the other for tires supplied to large department and chain store organizations which placed their own brands on them. The latter prices were lower because the manufacturer was responsible only for the delivery of a tire of the required quality and assumed no guarantee. Buying power was not the only fact in determining prices.

Fruit and vegetable growers are to confer with the canning companies in an attempt to iron out some of their differences, the committee was told yesterday. This phase of the committee's probe may be reopened in a week or two after the conference has been held. Growers have been loud in their complaints of low prices and the buying tactics of the canners.

BEAVERTON WOMAN HAS 15 TEETH IN THIRD SET FOR 76TH BIRTHDAY

Can't Be Bothered With New Fangled Fads of Modern World.

DRINKS ONLY WATER.

BEAVERTON, Ont., May 23.—(CP)—Doctors may maintain a third set of teeth is something the layman only imagines but Mrs. Mary Ann Elliott of Beaverton plans to celebrate her birthday with 15 new teeth to eat a special cake. Mrs. Elliott also declares she feels younger and to prove it can show her hair is turning darker and growing thicker.

The aged Beaverton resident says her third set of teeth appeared with the front one quite short and the back ones longer. Her sight also is improving and she is able to see better on dull days than when the sun shines brightly. Mrs. Elliott's doctor has informed her that all she requires is lots of good water and this is her ony drink. Long walks occasionally are her exercise and Mrs. Elliott can move smartly despite her age.

On May 24 the aged woman will be 76 years old. The modern world has no attractions for her. She does not want to be 'bothered with a lot of new fads' and in her home on the Beaverton River her birthday will be spent quietly. And her proudest boast is that she can see "right across the river now."

Hundreds of letters from doctors and others have appeared at the Elliott home. A face lifter in Washington wants Mrs. Elliott to try her treatments. Letters have poured in from companies, urging her to use their products.

Beaverton water, Mrs. Elliott says is good enough for her, for she believes it was this water that restored her health.

Chignecto Canal To Cost $23,000,000

OTTAWA, May 23. (CP).—Construction of a canal for coastwise traffic across the Isthmus of Chignecto connecting Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, would cost about $23,000,000, the commission appointed for that purpose have reported to the Department of Railways and canals.

But the commission found no general demand for a canal, failed to see any great stimulation of water-borne commerce likely to result, and expressed the opinion that the canal would be a competitor of the railways. No interest would suffer if the proposal were allowed to rest in abeyance until it could be examined further in the light of future developments in Canada's economic situation.

The report was tabled in the House of Commons to-day.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

CANDIDATES GIVE STAND MAKING ON LIQUOR ISSUE

been proposed as C.C.F. candidate, but has yet to be nominated by a public convention:

"As I have been approached as the possible C.C.F. candidate for Peterborough City and County in the coming provincial election, I would like to state briefly my views on the liquor question.

"I am most certainly opposed to the action of the two old line parties in advocating beer by the glass.

"My ideas are that the liquor question should be taken out of politics altogether, and that it be submitted to the people, and that local autonomy should prevail.

"As far as Peterborough is concerned, I would advocate making the city and county one unit and not, as I understand, at present Peterborough City alone the unit. It would certainly greatly strengthen the temperance vote to let the county people as well as the city have a say in the matter.

Yours sincerely,
John A. Sutherland.

Toronto, May 21, 1934."

Mr. Lancaster's Letter

Ladies and Gentlemen:

"In accordance with the request of a deputation from among your number, which waited upon me in Havelock on Saturday last requesting me to answer the question submitted by your Association, namely, "Whether or not I would favor the proposed wine and beer measure being submitted to a vote of the people before it is enacted into law," may I state frankly, that:—In view of the fact that the Henry Government is going to the country with a wine and beer amendment in The Liquor Control Act as one of its main planks and if returned to power, will enact the measure soon afterwards and in view of the fact that Mr. Hepburn, the Liberal leader in Ontario, issued a manifesto on April 23rd last, in which he stated "I have promised to state the position of the Liberal party without equivocation. I accordingly declare that, if we are elected to office in the coming election, we shall by an Order-in-Council promptly proclaim the legislation and have same put into effect without amendment, having in mind that by taking such a course, we are adhering to the principle adopted in convention, and having in mind the local option clause, which provides against any licenses being granted without a vote in any municipality now under local option or the Canada Temperance Act," it does indeed seem rather futile to ask any candidate to oppose the enactment of the proposed amendment until it is submitted to a vote of the people, because no matter whether the Henry Government goes back into power (which I firmly believe it will) or whether Mr. Hepburn and the Liberal party win out, both are pledged to enact the amendment by Order-in-Council at once, and no member of the Legislature elected on June 19th next, will have any opportunity to oppose such enactment, as the next legislature will not convene until the end of February or early in March, 1935. In any event ladies and gentlemen I cannot conscientiously say "Yes" to your query, because I honestly believe that the proposed beer beverage rooms in Standard Hotels will tend to a marked degree, in lessening the evils of the beer bootlegger and makers of "Homebrew" of which latter there were no less than 172,-852 permits issued from Ottawa in Ontario last year and 1967 in the City of Peterborough alone.

"Referendums and plebescites in the past have got us nowhere and whatever Government is in power must of necessity assume full responsibility for its legislation. Government Control of all liquor regulations to my mind is the only logical and sane course to persue, as I announced at my nomination as Conservative candidate I am absolutely opposed to any restaurant licenses being issued in Peterborough City and I have the assurance of the Henry Government that such opposition will be respected and that no such licenses will be issued in this new riding of Peterborough. I am also absolutely opposed to the present legalised consumption of liquor in hotel bedrooms, and which I may add, I believe the new beer and wine amendment will at least greatly lessen and if elected as the member for Peterborough I shall do my utmost in caucus and otherwise to induce the Government to abolish that feature of The Liquor Control Act.

"In conclusion ladies and gentlemen may I suggest that bitterness on each side of the drink problem will not solve it, slander of public men who try to do their best to make improvement, will not solve it. Impugning the veracity and the honesty of those opposed to anything but prohibition will not help. Declaiming against prohibitionists as being too narrow will not help. After all, this is a practical problem, and one that will respond to actual conditions and nothing else."

T. P. LANCASTER.

Mr. Hawthorne's Letter.

A brief written statement from Mr. Hawthorne was read as follows: To the Members of the Peterborough County Temperance Association.

My stand on the temperance question is as follows: I am opposed to the present amendment to the Liquor Control Act.

I am also opposed to any further amendment to the Liquor Control Act which would permit free sale of any liquors until such amendment has been submitted to a vote of the people.

Jas. Hawthorne.

Hamilton Editor Heart Attack Victim

HAMILTON, May 23 (CP).—Cecil J. Berry, assistant editorial writer of the Hamilton Spectator, died from a heart attack on the way to his office to-day. Mr. Berry had been ill, but his condition was not thought serious, death coming with shocking suddenness.

Mr. Berry joined the staff of the Spectator as a mere youth, after leaving High School, and soon revealed himself as a newspaperman of unique capabilities. He acted as a reporter until 1920, when he became telegraph editor. Later he was transferred to the assistant editorial chair, and his brief, witty comments were widely quoted in Canadian newspapers. He was a keen golfer, and his attractive personality made for him a wide circle of friends. His widow, one son and one daughter survive.

WEARING PASSES DECISION TO APPELLATE DIVISION

LONDON, Ont., May 23 (C.P.)—Appellate Division of the Ontario Supreme Court will be called upon by County Judge Joseph Wearing for a decision in London's tax division case in which certain rights of Public and Separate Schools here and throughout province are to be tested.

In drawing up his judgment in the case, Judge Wearing states that he found that he must differ on a point of law with another county court judge. Rather than do this, His Honor is referring the matter as a stated case to the Court of Appeals for a decision. Legal argument and all materials are therefore being sent to Toronto and disposition of the case will await the decision of the Appellate Court which sits at Osgoode Hall.

Honan Missionary Speaks At Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Elizabeth Parker Auxiliary of Trinity Church was held at the home of Mrs. Huffman, 573 Sherbrooke street, on Monday evening, May 21. After the devotional period conducted by Miss Edith Preston and Miss Helen Bannister, a piano solo by Mrs. Norman Moncrief and the business was transacted, Mrs. Parker the president, introduced Miss Greta Clark, a Missionary home on furlough from Honan, China. It was a great opportunity to hear of China from one so keenly enthusiastic and inspired with the work among the Chinese.

She spoke of Honan as a province without lakes, rivers and trees, where no wild flower nor even grass grows. It is without hospitals, homes for the blind and orphans. There is no isolation for those afflicted with an infectious disease. Consequently disease takes its toll with just one hospital among eight million people.

Miss Clarke told of the changes in attitude of the Chinese toward missionaries in recent years. Before the murder of a Chinaman by a Britisher in 1927 they loved and respected the missionaries but for one year following the murder there was a strong anti-foreign, anti-Christian feeling. At the close of the deadliest civil war of the year the missionaries were invited back.

There is a great revival sweeping over the world and it was first felt in China in 1932. The Chinese have always been seeking God—first, through idols, then paper gods and finally a God who satisfieth their hungry souls. This movement has taken hold of the teachers students, servants, men, as well as the women and girls. Christ is the only hope for China. We have been given the power to help spread the Gospel and God is counting on us," said Miss Clark.

TRAIN ROBBER SUSPECT HELD FOR KIDNAPPING

TUCSON, Ariz., May 23. (AP).—An alleged participant in the largest United States mail train robbery was questioned by authorities here to-day concerning the $15,000 kidnapping of June Robles, six-year-old heiress.

The suspect, Joe Newton refused to make statements regarding the kidnapping, in which the ransom was not paid, or the robbery of a Medford, Okla., bank, the charge on which he was arrested here last night.

Officers said Newton had been under surveillance for several days, during which time he had made nocturnal visits here from a mine in Sonora, Mexico, a locality in which an intensive search was conducted for the Robles girl before she was found.

MILLBROOK SCHOOL CADETS CONGRATULATED ON PARADE

Inspecting Officer Captain E. Churchill-Mann Makes Initial Visit to Village.

NO. 3 WINS TROPHY.

(Examiner Correspondence)

MILLBROOK, May 23.—The 'best yet' was the general verdict regarding the annual inspection of Millbrook Cadet Corps No. 403, held on the school grounds on Friday at 2.30 p.m. The new Inspecting Officer, Captain E. Churchill-Mann, R.C.D., who was making his initial visit, voiced his personal appreciation of the fine showing made, and warmly congratulated both the Cadets and their Instructor, Lieutenant B. B. Dawson, on the precision, and generally excellent manner in which ceremonial, platoon, section, and extended order drill were carried through.

Close competition was evident between the four sections in the desire to win the handsome silver trophy presented by the 3rd Prince of Wales' Dragoons, with which the local Corps is affiliated, number three having the honor of taking top place in the various manouvres. Corporal Reg. Edmunds, in command of Section 3, received the cup when it was presented by Lieutenant-Colonel C. Stewart, of Peterborough, O. C. of the 3rd Dragoons, who heartily congratulated the boys on the manner in which they had acquitted themselves in the contest.

Captain Churchill-Mann presented the medals awarded to the best dressed cadet in senior and junior companies. Corporal Harold McCamus and Cadet Fred Brown winning out on this count. A medal was also presented to Cadet Lieutenant Owen McCarthy, second in command of the Millbrook Corps, in recognition of his first year of office, and the medals won in the D. C.R.A. winter match were part of the afternoon's presentations. Cadet Captain J. W. T. Thorndyke won the special gold medal and also the Strathcona medal for the best shot in the Corps. Second class medals went to Cadets Arthur Richards, Lawrence Hawkins, Gordon Widdis, Dougas Carveth, and others.

Colonel J. W. Odell, P.S.I., in his address referred especially to the fine physical training display made by the Corps and created a laugh with his opening remark, "I perceive that in Millbrook you have not been bitten yet by the Agnes McPhail bug when your Cadet Corps could make such an excellent showing as we have witnessed here today. Major H. G. Mason, O.C. "B" Squadron, also spoke briefly and after dismissal with the usual cheers for the King, the Inspecting Officer, etc., the boys were given their annual treat of ice cream at the Wavery parlors.

Cadet inspection this year was 'finished off' for the initial time by an invitation party in the evening in the armouries, the school trustees and their wives being among the guests. Young and old had a good time, cards and progressive crokinole, with dancing the 'Serenaders' orchestra supplying music, rounded out a very enjoyable occasion.

Orval Lunn and Beatrice McDowell won the prizes for crokinole, and the services of refreshments brought the happy evening to a close.

Completing local cadet activities for the present was the annual parade from the Armouries to Grace Presbyterian church on Sunday evening, the Rev. H. R. Williams, B.A preaching an appropriate sermon from the text, "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth". The discourse continued with a consideration in detail of how, when where, and why young people should call their Creator to mind, and the minister charged the boys to refrain from bad language, respect their parents' judgment, and to learn while in their earlier years

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

CHICAGO GRAIN

Selling that followed President Roosevelt's announcement of his program as to silver plunged wheat prices down 2⅜c a bushel yesterday.

The wheat market break came after values had risen to 1⅜c above Monday's close, an advance ascribed to rather general belief that overnight rains in drought regions had been altogether insufficient to be material help to crops. Somewhat enlarged commission house buying that developed on yesterday's extreme decline was responsible for rallies as trading drew to an end, with much of the townturns overcome.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as Monday's finish to ½c lower; corn, unchanged to ¼c off; oats unchanged to ⅜c up, and provisions varying from 5c setback to a rise of 7c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Butter declined on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market yesterday.

Fresh No. 1 butter in carlots or less eased ¼c at 20c a pound. To retailers, solids were 22c and prints 23c a pound. Receipts were 484 boxes.

Ontario colored cheese remained unchanged at 9½c to 9¾c a pound. A total of 463 boxes arrived.

Graded shipments of eggs in carlots or less were steady at 20c to 20½c a dozen for A-large; 19c to 19½c for A-medium; 18c to 18½c for B, and 16½c to 17c for C. Arrivals amounted to 3,888 cases.

Potatoes were firm, Quebecs per 80-pound bag selling at 75c to 80c, New Brunswick Mountains per 80-pound bag at 85c to 90c, and Prince Edward Island Mountains per 90-pound bag at $1.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 23. — Weather and crop news continued the main source of strength in the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday, and the wheat prices steadied up to show gains of ⅛c to ¼c at the close.

A small export business in Canadian wheat was also a market factor, though no figure could be placed on sales. May wheat closed at 69⅜c, July at 70½c, and October at 72¼c.

Offerings were extremely light, due apparently to uncertainties of the weather. This enabled Winnipeg to hold steady throughout, in the face of a faltering Chicago market and weakness in stocks. Trading was almost entirely local.

The weather map for Western Canada revealed showers, but at no point was the rainfall appreciable. Cooler temperatures, however, brought some relief from drought.

Spreads on No. 1 Hard improved ½c, but other grades of cash grains remained unchanged. Coarse grains quotations were fractionally better at the close.

JOSEPH JONES FACES CHARGE OF NEGLIGENCE

Three Injured When Car Crashed Into Ditch on Port Hope Highway.

TWO IN HOSPITAL.

Prisoner Almost Faints in Court and Doctor is Called.

As the result of a motor crash in which a car vaulted off the highway and crashed into the ditch, two persons, severely injured, were in Nicholls Hospital to-day and Joseph Jones, aged 28, 33 Park street North, faced a charge of criminal negligence.

Those in hospital are: Thelma Hollingsworth, 205 King street, serious scalp injuries and part of right ear amputated; and Bruce Spence, 233 Lake street, broken nose and scalp wounds.

Alleged by Provincial Police to have been the driver of the car, Mr. Jones, was released from hospital this morning and was apprehended by police, who conveyed him to police court, where he appeared before Magistrate Langley. He had suffered a cut on the chin, which necessitated three stitches in the crash, and considerable shock.

Pleads Not Guilty.

He pleaded not guilty to the charge of criminal negligence and was remanded until Wednesday. Three other charges, namely: drunk in charge of a car, operating a car without a permit, and having liquor in his possession without a permit, with which police were prepared to charge him, were not sworn out this morning owing to his weakened condition. Part way through the brief proceedings in court, Mr. Jones almost fainted and a doctor was called to attend. Bail was granted at two sureties of $1,000 each.

Provincial Constable D. Silvester, who investigated the accident, stated that three persons were riding in a car owned by Mr. Spence. Shortly after midnight they left the city.

Before reaching a turn in Highway 28, investigations showed that the car had been on its wrong side of the road for a considerable distance. Failing to properly make the turn, the car careened across the road on the right side and crashed head-on into the ditch.

Miss Hollingsworth, who was riding in the rear seat with Mr. Spence, was catapulted over the front seat and her head went through the windshield. Her head injuries are regarded as serious. Mr. Spence was hurled forward, his head striking the back of the front seat with great force.

Man Scalded

Badly scalded about the back, Victor Amyotte, 237 George street, is in St. Joseph's Hospital as the resultof an accident at the Canada Packers' plant yesterday morning. The young man was carrying a pail of boiling water in the casing room, where he is employed, when he slipped and the steaming contents splashed across his back.

He was rushed in Belleghem's ambulance to hospital where Dr. T. G. Loudon is attending. It was reported today that he passed a restful night and his recovery is expected.

TOO MANY BUFFALO.

GARDEN CITY, Kas., May 25 (C.P.).—It's the increase, not the extinction, of the buffalo that is troubling the city fathers.

Garden City's buffalo population is now 13, and the birth of more in the near future threatens to make their upkeep too costly.

Truck and Trailer Are Ditched

"GET DILLINGER" DEMAND COSTS 2 OFFICERS LIVES

Chicago Policemen Found in Car Dozen Slugs in Head and Neck.

HAD NOT DRAWN GUNS.

Were Watching Road Outlaw Was Expected to Travel—No Clues.

EAST CHICAGO, Ind., May 25.—(AP)—Two more police officers are dead today in the bloody game of "get Dillinger."

In this city where Policeman William P. O'Malley was slain January 4 by a man definitely identified as John Dillinger, two officers, Martin O'Brien, 44 and Lloyd Mulvihill 26, were machine-gunned to death late last night.

There was no clue today to the identity of the killers. Dillinger, fugitive from the Crown Point jail where he was held for trial for the murder of O'Malley, was suspected, but it was only a suspicion.

The only two men who might have been able to say positively as to the identity of the killers were the policemen, and they died instantly.

Policemen Mulvihill and O'Brien, veteran officers who knew Dillinger by sight, had been assigned to "Broke"

GETTYSBURG, Pa., May 25.—(AP)—The chuckles in this historic community today are at Henry Fords' expense. Stepping from a Pittsburgh-to-Philadelphia train to stretch his legs yesterday, the motor magnate was approached by T. J. Hardy, book salesman, who inquired: "Like to buy a history of the Battleof Gettysburg? Only a quarter.

"Well, I know a great deal about that battle," said the grayhaired traveller, "but I'll take one."

But the quarter was not forthcoming.

"We'll have to wait for my secretary," Ford explained with a smile. "I havent' any money."

YOUNG COUPLE NEARLY DROWN AS MOTOR BOAT UPSETS CANOE

Girl Struggles to Shore, But Young Man Carried Half Mile Down Stream.

MOTOR BOAT DASHES ON.

A little canoe trip on the Otonabee River last evening nearly ended in a drowning tragedy for Nancy Pooley, Payne Avenue, and Arthur McLaren, 251 Prince Street.

The boy and girl were paddling up the river in the moonlight. A motorboat, without lights, dashed around a bend and cut so close to them that their canoe was upset by the wash of waves.

"We were flung into the water," the young man stated. "We shouted but those in the motorboat did not heed us; they continued on racing down river. The canoe would not support the two of us. Nancy began to swim toward shore and she reached it.

"I clung to the boat and was carried down about half a mile. Altogether I was in the water about half an hour. My calls brought help."

Clement and Orville Rivard, 197 Perry Street, came to his assistance in a punt and dragged him from the river. H. B. Rye and Benjamin Moore, 161 Gordon Avenue, also assisted the young couple.

The Examiner was informed that some motorboat owners make a practice of speeding along the river at night without lights, which is strictly against marine law. It was learned that a strict watch will be kept on the river this season to protect canoeists from this menace.

MAY ESTABLISH NUDIST COLONY NEAR HAVELOCK

Toronto Real Estate Agent is Searching For Quiet Spot.

WANTS IT NEAR WATER.

Promoter Has Experience in Managing Colonies in United States.

[Special To The Examiner]

TORONTO, May 25. — That a nudist colony may be established near Peterborough this summer was suggested here to-day when a Toronto real estate agent was consulted as to obtaining a camping site suitable for such a purpose. The prospective purchaser said he had had considerable experience in the management of such colonies in the United States and intended to open activities within a hundred miles radius of Toronto, if the authorities did not interfere.

The only requirements suggested were absolute seclusion from passersby, considerable distance from any main road, and nearness of some small body of water for bathing purposes. The size of the site is to be from 50 acres up, and wooded country was preferred. The agent had in mind properties in the Havelock district east of Peterborough. Whether the colony is to be open to the public on payment of a fee of if it is to be private is not known. The promoter will return next week to complete arrangements.

TWO OFFICERS FEARED SLAIN

Car Found Saturated With Blood Near B.C. Indian Reserve.

DRAGGING RIVER.

MERRITT, B.C., May 25 (CP)—Provincial Police Constable Percy Carr and Indian Department Constable Frank H. Gisborne were both missing to-day, and were feared to have suffered foul play.

The Nicola Indian Department Police Car in which they had left Wednesday night to investigate an alleged stabbing on the Indian Reserve was found over the bank of the Merritt-Spences Bridge Highway at Canford, about 12 miles from here.

The automobile, saturated with blood, was a short distance down the steep bank leading to the swollen river. The officers themselves had disappeared, but two pairs of closed handcuffs, Constable Carr's baton and one shoe belonging to Constable Gisborne were in the car.

Provincial Police Inspector J. Shirras of Kamloops led investigations to-day. He reported the missing officers had visited the Canford Reserve shortly after 11 o'clock Wednesday night and interviewed a number of Indians there in connection with the alleged stabbing of an Indian woman, Mrs. Enews Wood, now lying wounded in hospital here.

The river is being dragged for the bodies of the two officers. The automobile was at right angles to the road, with the rear end facing toward the river.

Both the missing men are married and have families.

Four Arrested

Four Indians of the Canford Reserve were arrested by British Columbia Provincial Police to-day in connection with the mysterious disappearance of Provincial Police Constable Percy Carr and Indian Department Constable Frank H. Gisborne. Police believe the missing men have been murdered.

The sheriff divested himself of his shirt and handed it to Springer.

MARMORA MAN FOUND ON ROAD HIT-RUN VICTIM

Driver of Car With Quebec License is Arrested Near Madoc.

INVESTIGATION STARTS.

Dan Hawley is Removed to Belleville Hospital—Skull Fractured.

BELLEVILLE, May 25 (C.P.), — Dan Hawley of Marmora was reported in critical condition in the hospital here to-day from a fractured skull received when hit by an automobile allegedly driven by William Barry of Montreal. Police said to-day a charge of reckless driving will be laid against Barry when he appears in court.

MARMORA, May 25 (Examiner Correspondence): — About 5 p.m. on Thursday, Dan Hawley, while walking down the Osborne Hill, west of Marmora Village, was knocked down by a car, sustaining injuries which necessitated his removal to Belleville.

The driver of a car bearing a Quebec license which passed through the village about that time was halted near Madoc and returned to Marmora where investigations were conducted by Provincial Constables F. Hill and P. Gray. As far as could be ascertained there were no eye-witnesses of the accident, but C. Wellman and N. Mumby driving trucks in opposite directions, saw the man walking before the accident occurred, and then found him lying on the side of the road a few steps past the residence of G. Kerr. Mumby notified Dr. M. Wellman, who conveyed the injured man to Belleville. At the office of Dr. J. J. Robertson it was fouid that he had sustained a fractured skull and that three ribs were broken. He was later removed to Belleville General Hospital.

District Inspector Gardner and Provincial Constable Kelly arrived in Marmora later in the evening to investigate further, and the man who is held in connection with the accident, William Barry, was taken to Belleville.

ANDREW GAWLEY TO VISIT BIG FAIR

Meafords "Man With Steel Hands" Likely Practice Trade in Chicago.

MADE OWN HANDS.

MEAFORD, Ont., May 25. (CP)—Andrew A. Gawley, "the man with the steel hands," left for the Chicago Century of Progress Exposition to-day after reconsidering an offer he turned down a week ago.

Gawley will interview officials of the organization seeking his services and is expected to remain at the Exposition making steel hands for unfortunate persons afflicted like himself.

Gawley, whose name and feats of dexterity with his steel hands became widely known when the story of his accomplishments was published a few weeks ago, fell across a whirling buzz saw when 17 years old. His arms were severed between the elbow and wrist.

While he suffered in hospital he planned the "steel hands"—hands that could do almost everything that human hands could perform.

After he left hospital his blind father and himself worked for weeks and succeeded in cutting.

SPECIAL SERVICES.

Royalty Witness Nation's First Empire Air Day in London.

(By The Canadian Press)

Holidaying Canadians were back at their work to-day after a day of Church services, parades and sports events that marked the birthday of Queen Victoria. May 24 was celebrated in other parts of the British Empire as Empire Day, with every section of the Commonwealth joining in honoring the memory of the beloved Queen.

In Montreal, services were held in honor of those who fell in wars to defend the Empire, while in Toronto the Governor-General officially opened Fort York, where Canadian and United States troops and officials of the two Governments will join July 4 in unveiling a memorial to General Zebulon Pike who fell as American troops stormed Fort York in the War of 1812.

Throughout Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia picnickers journeyed to the outdoors, the West enjoying sunny weather while Ontario folk felt chill winds in many sections. sport programs were held in city, town and village. Pageantry, drills and parades recalled the Empire's greatness as flags flew from buildings and homes.

Golfers in the Maritimes stepped along the fairways as official openings of clubs in Halifax, Charlottetown, and Saint John were held.

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett conveyed Canadas greetings to the Mother Country over wireless telephone in an address to the London Canadian Chamber of Commerce. Sir Kingsley Wood, British Postmaster-General, followed the Prime Minister. South Africa's allegiance to the Empire was declared in Cape Town when Gen. Jan Christian Smuts declared the secession idea was "as dead as a dodo."

HAMILTON, Ont., May 25 (C.P.). — Police of this city to-day were looking for a cat burglar who shows a lot of nerve in his chosen profession. A thief pried open a side window in the home of Mrs. J. A member of the family heard a slight noise and found the door unlocked and the window open, but no trace of the agile thief.

LONDON PILOT PLANS ASSAULT ON AIR RECORD

L. G. Reid Plans Flight From Toronto to Bagdad in July.

CARRY 7,200 POUNDS.

Use Same Plane as Mollisons Attempted Flight In.

LONDON, May 25 (C.P. Cable) —Flying Seafarer the Second, formerly the Mollisons' plane, L. G. Reid, a Canadian pilot residing in London, and J. R. Ayling of Berkhamstead, hope to set up a new world long-distance record flight from Toronto, Canada, to Baghdad early in July next.

As a preliminary the Seafarer took off from Pendine Sands, Carmarthenshire, to-day, and flew to Hatfield, Hertfordshire, with a load of 600 gallons of petrol representing a weight of 6,000 pounds. Reid and Ayling piloted the plane. They said the maxmum load from Toronto to Baghdad would be 7,200 pounds.

Attempt Failed

Captain James Mollison and his wife Amy Johnson on Oct. 3 last made an unsuccessful attempt to take off at Wasaga Beach, Ont. for Baghdad in Seafarer the second. They hoped at the time to make a new long distance flight record.

Laden with 600 gallons of gasoline making an estimated 7,300 pound load the Seafarer twice roared down the beach and attempted to rise. A minor accident prevented further attempts for a time and adverse weather reports finally led to longer postponement for the effort. The Mollisons and the Seafarer returned to Toronto and eventually to England on a steamship.

Toronto, May 25.—(CP)—L. G. Reid, who plans a long distance flight from Toronto Baghdad, is a native of Newfoundland, officials of the de Havilland Aircraft of Canada, Ltd., said today. Reid was connected with the offices of that company in Toronto about three years.

Italy Backed Yemen to Defeat Ibn Saud in Desert War.

BRITAIN CONCERNED

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

[Copyright by Central Press Canadian and The Examiner].

PARIS, May 25.—The troubles in Arabia, which is in an uproar from the one end to the other, with the centre of disturbance in Yemen, were "inspired by a certain European power which sought to embarrass Great Britain." The daring scheme failed because that "certain European power" backed the wrong horse. Its agent, the Iman of Yemen, has been defeated and his kingdom, first plunged into revolution and civil war, is rapidly being conquered by King Ibn Saud of the Hedjahs. The mysterious reference to a certain European power, which emanated from the British foreign office, does not refer either to the Soviet Union, France or Germany, but to the state which has recently caused deep concern in London by invading the British-controlled Soudan, and holding to this day two important strategic positions there. The reference is to Italy.

Had the Iman of Yemen been victorious in his attack on the Hedjah kingdom, there would most likely have followed an era of strife and unsettledness in the Arabian

CLAIM RADICALS ARE ALL ARMED HAVE DYNAMITE

Crowd of 1,500 Renew Bombardment of Auto-lite Plant and Troopers.

WHOLE AREA GUARDED.

All Stations, Roads Watched for 200 Reds From Detroit, Chicago.

TOLEDO, O., May 25 (C.P.). — The report of a detective agency, employed by the Electric Auto-Lite Company, made public to-day by J. Arthur Minch, general manager of the firm, declares that "appeals have been sent to the radical element in nearby cities to send all available men into Toledo to aid in the rioting."

The identity of the agency was not made public.

The report further asserted: "There is positive evidence that there was dynamite brought into Toledo yesterday, along with other weapons, and only the fact that this appeared to be known to the officials deterred the mob from using it as originally planned.

"Practically every man going through the Central Labor Union headquarters last night was armed," the report went on, "and the sentiment in that place was more radical than at any time so far."

Attack Renewed

TOLEDO, O., May 25 (AP) — A crowd of 1,500 strikers and sympathizers, bringing more bricks and assorted missiles, gathered at the plant of the Electric Auto-Lite Company here at noon to-day and reopened the bombardment of the building and troops, which already had cost the lives of two men.

The crowd gathered at street intersections still strewn with the wreckage and debris of three days of rioting.

Guardsmen, laying a field telephone communication system, made no attempt to break up the crowd as paving bricks and chunks of concrete came hurling up toward the factory building.

The attack was aimless and less spirited than the fighting yesterday, which led to hand-to-hand slugging and bullets. The militiamen had bayonets fixed, but did not yes them.

City police to-day were on watch at train, bus, and interurban stations after they said they heard a report that a group of 200 Communists was en route here from Chicago and Detroit to join rioters. .....

This surveillance of visitors to the city was being carried on while a bombardment of missiles from angry members of a constantly-growing crowd in excess of 1,500 persons was being laid down against Ohio National Guardsmen in the Electric Auto-Lite Plant riot area.

At noon the Guardsmen, now 1,000 strong, deployed a large rectangular formation around the entire sector; a khaki-clad man with rifle and fixed bayonet to every 20 foot interval.

Quiet At Midnight.

Quiet was restored shortly after midnight in the area by use of machine guns and bayonets just five blocks north-east of the City Hall.

R. R. Hall, K.C., Recalls Last Liberal Administration at Hawthorne Meeting.

ADDRESS IN DOURO

J. J. Duffus and Dr. Munro Also Assist Liberal Candidate.

James Hawthorne, former reeve of Dummer township and ex-Warden of the county, opened his campaign as Liberal candidate at Douro Wednesday night.

Mr. Hawthorne was assisted by Dr. Donald Munro of Warsaw, R. R. Hall, K.C., and J. J. Duffus.

Fred Walsh was appointed chairman of the meeting, and confined his duties to the introduction of the speakers.

"I am glad to begin in our neighboring township of Douro," Mr. Hawthorne said. "In municipal affairs and in the county council our reeves have always got along well together, and I feel very much at home in speaking to a Douro audience.

"There are two things in the record of the Conservative government which we feel hurt us most, the big debt and taxation. Our municipal councils have all done their part to help lower taxation by reducing local expenditure as much as possible, but the Government has the idea that good times can be restored by spending all the money they can. Mr. Henry in his manifesto says that if he is returned to power the government will reduce municipalities' share of the cost of provincial highways from the 20 per cent. we have been paying to the 10 per cent., but the Liberal policy is that the Government will absorb the entire cost of provincial highways, and should pay the whole cost.

We think this is only right and just because the gasoline tax and the motor vehicle licenses were imposed for the purpose of meeting the cost of highways. The road debt on the province is $186,000,000. All this money has been borrowed, and we have to pay the interest charges

Toronto Livestock Review

TORONTO, May 25 (C.P.)—Hog prices registered the only advance on the Toronto Livestock market during the past week, closing 25 cents higher. Prices on steers and heifers opened with a 10 to 15 cent advance, but lost the gains towards the close.

Butcher cows and sheep, after a firm opening, dropped 15 and 50 cents respectively, to close at $3.85 and $4.50 cwt. Cattle, calf and lamb prices closed unchanged with the previous week's level.

With the exception of cattle receipts, which were a few hundred heavier, all supplies of livestock were little changed with that of last week. There were 400 head of cattle unsold at the close.

Cattle trading opened strong with prices 10 to 15 cents higher on steers and heifers. However, the proximity of the Thursday holiday slowed up trading and the advance was lost on Wednesday.

Weighty steers of choice quality sold at $6 to $6.25 on Monday, while medium to good steers sold on Wednesday at $4.75 to $5.75. One lot of prime heavy steers made a top of $6.50. Butchers ranged from $4 to $5.35 with one top load at $5.75.

Butcher cows opened steady at $4 for tops, but closed 15 cents lower, $2.50 to $2.85 for the majority. Canners sold steady at $1.25 to $1.50. Good butcher bulls sold at $3.25 to $3.50, with one making $4. Bolognas and heavies brought $2.50 to $3. Fed calves sold mostly at $5 to $6.25, with a few tops at $7. One load of choice Western yearlings sold as few calves at $6.35.

Stockers of light weights sold slowly at $3 to $3.50. The demand for store cattle was no better than for last week.

Milkers and Springers sold generally at $45 for tops, with a few a little higher. Total cattle receipts were $5,200 head.

Calf receipts totalled 2,500 head. Prices opened steady at last week's closing declines and continued unchanged for the balance of the week. Vealers of comon to medium quality sold mostly at $3.50 to $5 with a few culls at $3. Choice calves brought $6 to $6.50 with an occasional top at $7.

Hog receipts were again light at 4,000 head. The market opened 15 cents higher and gained 10 cents more on Wednesday. The closing tone was firm at $8 f.o.b. for bacons, $8.35 off trucks and at $8.75 weighed of cars. Selects sold at the usual $1 per head premium. Cables from England reported a firm bacon market.

Sheep and lamb receipts were 2,300 head. Spring lambs made the bulk of the supply, selling by the head at $5 to $10 with a closing top at $9. A few lots sold on Wednesday at $11 to $12 cwt. Feedlot lambs of choice quality sold at $10 to $10.50 cwt. Sheep opened firm at $5 for tops but closed weak at $4.50 while culls sold downward to $1.50.

TEMPERANCE FORCES SUPPORT TWO OPPOSITION CANDIDATES

Hope Either James Hawthorne or Rev. Sutherland Will Withdraw.

POLITICAL TRICKERY.

Temperance forces of the city and county at a united meeting held Wednesday afternoon in the Legion Hall went on record as supporting the candidature of James Hawthorne, Liberal, and Rev. John Sutherland, proposed C.C.F. nominee, in the provincial election, but expressed the hope that in the cause of temperance one of these candidates will decide to retire.

Before this resolution gained the almost unanimous endorsation of the meeting there was every evidence of dissension among the audience. Tis lack of unity developed when it became apparent that one group, headed by some of the chief speakers, desired that the meeting endorse only the candidature of Mr. Hawthorne, while another section, which made its presence heard, insisted that the meeting could not in fairness fail to endorse Rev. Mr. Sutherland, whom they urged not only had the cause of temperance deeply at heart but whose party, the C.C.F., had included the dry plank in its platform.

Hawthorne's Position.

Those who seemed to desire Mr. Hawthorne's candidature to be endorsed stated that he had informed the committee which had interviewed him and obtained a statement from him on the liquor question that he would oppose the Liberal leader, Mitchell Hepburn, in any legislation to loosen the sale of beer and wine. They maintained that the temperance people of the riding could trust Mr. Hawthorne and their cause could safely rest in his hands.

The C.C.F. section urged that there was only one dry candidate and one dry party, and these were Rev. Mr. Sutherland and the C.C.F. They argued that "Hawthorne could not help himself as regards temp-

PHILPOTT HURLS LIQUOR CHARGE IN HIS CAMPAIGN

Says Both Liberals, Tories Obtained Thousands From Wet Interests.

FOR CAMPAIGN FUNDS.

Two More C.C.F. Candidates Enter Contests—Hepburn, Henry Busy.

TORONTO, May 25.—(CP)—Another liquor charge took its place in the Ontario general election campaign today as government heads prepared for an intensive tour of the province for Ontario general elections, June 19. The new charge came from Captain Elmore Philpott, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation supporter.

Before a C.C.F. meeting in Milton last night Captain Philpott charged both Liberal and Conservative parties had obtained several hundred thousand dollars from liquor interests for campaign funds. His statement came while he was discussing the "toll gate" charges of Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader, against the Liquor Control Board.

Liberals and Conservatives, Captain Philpott claimed, had received "sums of money aggregating several hundred thousand dollars from the liquor interests." Captain Philpott also alleged he had been approached by prominent Liberals urging him to persuade withdrawal of C.C.F. candidates in the election.

Two More C.C.F.

Two more C.C.F. candidates entered the election. They were Robert F. Heatherington of Mount Nemo who will run in Halton and Rev. Stanley Elliott who resigned his Woodbine United Church pastorate to enter as candidate in the Toronto riding of Beaches. There are now 20 C.C.F. standard bearers entered.

Premier George S. Henry today journeys to Hamilton to address a Conservative rally for the opening of his official campaign tour. Mitchell F. Hepburn, Liberal leader will speak at Simcoe, the start of a speaking trip throughout the Dufferin-Simcoe riding.

The Liberal party's election manifesto is expected to appear tonight or tomorrow. Mr. Hepburn was in Toronto today conferring with party leaders regarding its contents, arriving from the Kingston district where he delivered two addresses yesterday.

South Wentworth Liberals meet tonight to select a candidate with George Bethune, Theo. McCombs and A. M. Shaver reported as ready to stand for the nomination.

Raps Finlayson

In addresses on Amherst Island and at Kingston yesterday, Mr. Hepburn attacked the administration of the Department of Lands and forests, under Hon. William Finlayson. The latter, he charged, had used a forestry service aeroplane in making trips to political conventions and had taken pilots and officials of the service away from their duties to do so.

In addition to the plane, Mr. Finlayson had a large government limousine and also a boat on a northern lake, said Mr. Hepburn, all of which were bought and operated with the taxpayers' money. If his party were returned to power, he declared, not only would aeroplanes and boats be turned over for the use of the Department "as they should be," but his cabinet ministers would use their own automobiles.

TORONTONIANS IN GALA ATTIRE FOR CENTENNIAL

Lord, Lady Bessboro Witness Parade Telling of City's Progress.

FORT YORK OPENED.

Scene of 1812 Battle Dedicated as Memorial to Loyalty of Canadians.

TORONTO, May 25 (C.P.). — Numerous events were on the program to-day as Toronto's populace prepared a lengthy celebration of the city's 100th birthday. Old Fort York, historical site of the Queen City, will be the scene of a ceremony which will draw prominent citizens of United States and Canada to Toronto on July 4.

The Governor-General yesterday officially opened Fort York, where one of the battles of 1812 was staged and where General Zebulon Pike, leader of the American forces, was killed. United States troops and Canadian soldiers with officials of both countries will gather at the Fort on July 4, when a memorial will be unveiled in General Pike's honor.

A huge parade with numerous floats that told the story of Toronto's progress in 100 years was held yesterday, viewed by the Governor-General and Lady Bessborough. Nearly every sphere of Canadian life since 1834 was depicted in the parade which ended at Fort York.

From Former Days.

The parade included the Dominion's new Canadians wearing ancient European costumes: Irishmen, Scotsmen, Welshmen, and Englishmen garbed in costumes of old, all led by the Goverior-General's Bodyguard and Canadian troops with uniforms worn in the days when Col. John Graves Simcoe came to Canada as the first Governor of Upper Canada.

The Goverior-General dedicated the Fort as "a meomrial to the loyalty of the Canadian people, a symbol of their achievement since the day when the first Lieutenant-Governor found the then deserted bay."

Troops in the uniforms of 1793 formed a square as the Governor-General unveiled a tablet commemorating the restoration of the Fort.

W. P. Cole and Miss Dorothy Cole of Southampton, England, decendants of Governor Simcoe, and Marquis de la Jonquiere and Mlle. Mathilda de la Jonquiere, descendants of the French Governor who erected Fort Rouille here in 1749, were present at the unveiling.

AFTER 16 YEARS

Do you know what was your weight on your wedding day? And do the scales show the same record to-day? Why not get back to your old normal weight and girlish figure—just as this woman did:—

"About 18 months ago," she writes, "I started to put on weight badly—and that in spite of living half-way up a hill and having to walk up and down very frequently. I tried many things, and at last started on Kruschen. I have been taking it consistently since, and now I am back to normal weight—134 lbs., just as I was when I married 16 years ago. I feel very much better in myself, too.

"Only two or three days ago I met a lady who had been away on a trip, and she remarked how much younger and slimmer I looked. Another, last Saturday, said I had quite a girlish figure now. I think that good for my age—I am 40."—(Mrs.) A. H.

Kruschen combats the cause of fat by assisting the internal organs to perform their functions properly—to throw off each day those waste products and poisons which, if allowed to accumulate, will be converted by the body's chemistry into fatty tissue.

You can hasten the reducing action of Kruschen by cutting out fatty meats and pastries and going light on butter, cream and potatoes.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c. and 75c. per bottle.

women—were included in the casualties. In previous rioting during a three-day period approximately 100 suffered minor injuries from clubs, stones and tear gas.

Four more companies of guardsmen, an armored car and trucks loaded with gas bombs were ordered into Toledo to tighten the hold of the military authorities, bringing to nearly 1,000 the forces of the militia.

Adjutant General Frank D. Henderson announced that officials of the company had agreed to shut down the plant to-day and to-morrow.

Charles P. Taft, who was despatched here by the Federal Department of Labor, took the lead in negotiations.

Out of Control.

Union leaders clung to the original demands of the five-week-old strike, which included a 10 per cent. pay increase and union recognition. Otto Brach, secretary of the Central Labor Union, declared he "could not do anything to control the boys now."

The rifle fire and the popping of gas bombs, the clatter of rocks and other missiles, the screech of ambulance sirens, and the shouts and jeers of the rioters were raised last night only eight blocks from the heart of downtown Toledo. Theatre-goers reported they could smell the gas.

That some of the rioters were armed with guns became apparent in the early fighting. At field headquarters in the damaged factory, outposts reported snipers were firing into the plant.

At Central Labor Union headquarters there were unconfirmed reports that rioters would be armed with machine guns brought in from Detroit.

An attempt to appeal to the rioters was made during an interval in the figthing by Thomas J. Ramsey, of the Automotive Federal Union, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Appearing in the midst of the crowd, he began: "Dont' throw any more stones."

The reply was, "To hell with them (the Guardsmen); drive them out of town."

Ramsey gave up his appeal.

General Strike.

Prospects for a general strike in Toledo industry, tentatively set for June 1, grew stronger. Four more local unions voted in favor of the strike last night. One-third of the unions already have approved it.

Military officials undertook an investigation of the rifle fire which resulted in two deaths yesterday afternoon.

The troops had received no order to fire, said Col. William L. Marlin, second in command to General L. S. Connell.

The excitement probably caused some of the soldiers to lose control," he added. "We are on the defensive here and we intend to preserve order."

Machine gun posts were manned by the Guardsmen, but at these posts the soldiers held their fire.

Taunts and raucous calls from the crowd included the cry, "What are you doing here? Why don't you get Dillinger?"

Governor George White, vacationing on a hunting preserve near Engadine, Mich., and guarded against authors of recent threatening letters, was apparently beyond the reach of communication lines.

In Washington William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, blamed the strike bloodshed on the management of the Toledo automobile accessory plants.

"It is the outcome of the determination of the management in the automobile parts industry to maintain the company union at any cost and to resist the attempts of the men to organize and bargain collectively under Section 7 (a) of the law," he declared.

erance because his leader, Mr. Hepburn, was pledged to put into force the new liquor legislation."

Wider Breach Threatened.

It became evident that a wider breach in the meeting would develop if the meeting was asked to endorse only one of the two candidates. One motion endorsing the candidature of Rev. Mr. Sutherland was moved and seconded, but was later withdrawn when Rev. R. A. Whattam, general organizer of the Ontario Temperance Federation, who was prominent at the meeting, urged that even with the endorsation of the meeting "has anyone the remotest hope that the C.C.F. candidate will carry the election?" In endorsing the C.C.F. candidate, he maintained, the meeting was "falling into the very trap your opponents have laid for you." He suggested that the meeting endorse both Mr. Hawthorne and Rev. Mr. Sutherland, and the meeting express the hope that in order that there might be a greater measure of success in the cause of temperance one candidate should withdraw.

Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe stated that in his opinion, since the candidates had expressed their stand on the liquor issue, the supporting of candidates should be left to the temperance people individually "to vote as their conscience and will directs. However, the resolution as expressed by Rev. Mr. Whattam and which was moved by A. B. Cunningham and seconded by J. F. Elliott was put to the meeting and was carried by an overwhelming majority.

To Get Leadership.

In opening the meeting Mr. Brethen expressed regret that there was not a larger attendance, but explained that the farmers were busy with their work and that most of those present represented groups of temperance people. "We are here to get leadership as to what we had best do in the present situation," he said. "The meeting has been called chiefly to hear the report of a special committee which interviewed the three candidates and secured statements from them as to their stand on prohibition and the liquor question."

Introduced to the meeting, Rev. Mr. Whattam, before beginning his address, called upon Rev. D. Daniel to offer a prayer for Divine guidance.

"There is and there must be a religious background in all those things which we undertake or else there will be ultimate failure," Rev. Mr. Whattam stated. "I believe that the guidance of God leads us into that greater patriotism in which every Christian is a politician and every politician a Christian. Where our forces have been organizing the politicians are becoming aware that we are a vital force and cannot be disregarded."

He stated that at the present time there were 16 or 17 Liberal candidates who had pledged themselves "as opposed to their political machine on the prohibition question, and who will insist that referendum must be held on this great moral question." Some Conservative candidates, he said, "have also given out that they will not be mere rubber stamps on this issue." But there were not sufficient Conservative candidates as yet to seriously affect the Government's stand.

Hope Still Exists.

There is still hope, he affirmed, that a sufficiently large group of people will show such indignation that the "politicians will never attempt again to foist this thing upon us." Later, he said, "everything depends to-day upon us accepting the challenge of the politicians to vote for the things for which we have prayed and hoped."

H. B. Cowan said that at a very representative meeting of the city temperance forces some weeks ago it was decided to interview the candidates and secure their statements as to their position on the liquor question. He then read the three statements.

"We are met here to-day to decide what part we will have in the coming campaign," stated Mr. Brethen, who then called upon prohibition leaders to address the meeting in brief five-minute addresses. "After these addresses we can determine by resolution what action this meeting will take," he concluded.

Political Trickery.

A. B. Cunningham, first of these speakers, said that the meeting was faced with the greatest political degradation the province had ever seen. "Henry Hepburn and Nixon are each having a race to secure the votes of the wet interests," he declared. "It is the lowest form of political trickery."

Maintaining that it was not a wet-and-dry campaign, nor a Grit-and-Tory affair, he urged: "It is a campaign to protest against the liquor interests saying whether we shall have more beer or not. The plain issue is whether we shall rule the liquor interests or they rule us." He charged that the Henry Government had not represented the best interests of the country, and that "his beer legislation was smuggled in the back door of the Legislature," so that the voice of the people could not be heard upon it.

Mr. Cunningham described the law itself as most "obnoxious and a danger to the highways and homes." He charged that the liquor policy of the Government resembled a concertina and "when it is a wet district it opens up, but in a dry constituency like Peterborough it closes up and is almost dry." The legislation was purposely kept ambiguous, and the so-called beverage rooms would only make it that much easier for men to become drunk. He declared that he considered it was the proper action of the meeting to support the dry candidate, Mr. Hawthorne.

Dyed With Same Brush.

A man stood up at the rear of the hall and said: "The fact that Mr. Hawthorne states that he is dry does not change his position. He supports the Liberals and they are all dyed with the same brush, liquor."

Replying, Mr. Brethen insisted that if sufficient dry candidates were elected it would be impossible for either party to carry the liquor legislation.

Rev. J. E. J. Millyard, pastor of George Street United Church, addressing the meeting, expressed his state of bewilderment in the present situation and his resentment at being "manoeuvred into that position by what Mr. Cunningham calls political trickery." He pointed that in voting in the election one must remember that he is voting for two things, an individual and a party. Mr. Lancaster, he explained, is in favor of the liquor amendment with some reservations and his party supports the liquor legislation. He declared that while Mr. Hawthorne is personally dry "you cannot vote for him without voting for his party, who are in the same position as the Tories on the liquor question." With Mr. Sutherland and the C.C.F. the temperance people have an individual and a party which are both pledged to temperance, he said. "There are some features of the C.C.F. program which I hesitate about," he continued. "Am I then to forget all about these other matters in the C.C.F. platform and just vote C.C.F. because that party is with me on this one issue? I am not prepared to offer any suggestions to the meeting or state what I am going to do."

Hard to Defeat Lancaster.

Kenneth Petrie, president of the local U.F.O. Club, stated that the club had not gone into the temperance question and had recently fallen out with the C.C.F. He stated that he was not speaking for the club and agreed with Rev. Mr. Millyard that the situation is difficult. Mr. Hawthorne, he said, was personally dry and was not head-strong, but, on the other hand, Mr. Lancaster had done a great deal for the county and "it is going to be difficult to bring about his defeat." He stated that there were things about the C.C.F. program with which he did not agree.

Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe stated that it was most difficult to support any particular candidate in the campaign.

Another speaker, a Mr. Thomas, stated that the temperance question had for some time been a political football. "I can't support Henry because each time he has been wetter and wetter," he said. "Mr. Hawthorne cannot help himself for his party is as wet as Henry's. Mr. Sutherland is the C. C. F. candidate and the C.C.F. is pledged to take the liquor question out of politics, where it has no right to belong."

Statement Indefinite

George Leader, who said he represented the Salvation Army at the meeting, pointed out that in Mr. Hawthorne's statement it did not say that he was opposed to the present liquor amendment being enforced without a referendum. Mr. Brethen said that Mr. Hawthorne had told him and the committee which interviewed him that he would oppose this legislation.

Rev. Mr. Whattam stated that while both Liberal and Conservative parties were wet, it was the duty of every temperance advocate to get the candidate in who is for temperance and who is a Christian. Mr. Brethen, answering some speakers from the rear, said it was not a question of the honesty of any candidate, but there was a danger of the temperance power in the county being split if two candidates were endorsed.

A motion was moved and seconded by several in the centre of the hall that the meeting endorse the candidature of Mr. Sutherland.

Rev. Mr. Whattam and Mr. Brethen both urged that the candidature of Mr. Hawthorne should be endorsed, the former maintaining that Mr. Hawthorne "should not be saddled with the party which he had repudiated on such an important question as liquor." The motion endorsing Mr. Sutherland was withdrawn after further discussion. Mr. Brethen commented, "I don't think it would be conferring any kindness upon Mr. Sutherland if his friends insisted on the carrying of that motion."

Criticize Suggestion.

Rev. Mr. Whattam's suggestion that the meeting endorse both candidates was criticized by a speaker at the rear. This man declared, "It is an extremely foolish move; there is only one temperance man in this campaign and he is Rev. Mr. Sutherland. Hepburn and the Liberals are wet."

It was suggested that the meeting ask one of the candidates to withdraw, but Mr. Brethen said he was opposed to any committee from the meeting interviewing the candidates to ask such a withdrawal. In urging that the meeting reconsider its decision to endorse Rev. Mr. Sutherland, Rev. Mr. Whattam said, "There will be a time when the C.C.F. will want our help and that it will be infinitely more important that they obtain our help at such a time then now." More discussion followed with a section of the meeting insisting that Rev. Mr. Sutherland was the only dry candidate in the field.

The resolution supporting both candidates and expressing the hope that in the cause of temperance one might withdraw was put to a vote and was carried.

Mrs. Rowe, president of the W.C.T.U., A. S. Cleland, of Norwood, and W. A. Anderson, ex-M.P.P., also addressed the meeting.

LeSAGE—CASEY

(Examiner Correspondence)

TWEED, May 25.—A pretty wedding was celebrated early on Monday morning in St. Carthagh's Church when a popular couple, Miss Gracia Margaret Casey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Casey, and Mr. Felix LeSage, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell LeSage, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. Fr. S. LeSage, brother of the groom with Very Rev. J. P. O'Riordan assisting at Nuptial Mass.

The bride looked charming in a blue swagger suit with white hat shoes and gloves. The couple were attended by Miss Gertrude Casey, sister of the bride, and Joseph Le Sage, cousin of the groom. After a light wedding breakfast they left for several points in Canada and the United States. On their return they will reside in Tweed.

THE RELIEF SITUATION.

The local Relief Board in again calling attention to the difficulty the city has in raising money for relief and for general purposes and in warning those who are at present being assisted out of public funds that they should use every effort to secure employment, is showing itself alive to the seriousness of the situation.

The board in a letter to each recipient of relief stresses the fact that work should be accepted wherever it can be found, and furthermore urges that those who are successful in securing jobs should not lose sight of the necessity of practicing economy in order to provide for themselves next winter as far as possible in order that those less fortunate may be taken care off, and the demand on public funds may be lessened.

That is excellent advice, for the amount of tax arrearage shows that many citizens have found it impossible to pay their taxes, and if that condition continues it may be difficult for the city to borrow the money necessary for the financing of public business.

Those who are striving only to dig deeper into the relief money should realize the situation and elevate their energies to seeking any opportunity to secure work that presents itself.

This is a time when the co-operation of all good citizens is required, and The Examiner is confident that the vast majority of those who are on relief will recognize that fact and will act accordingly.

DEVELOPING TOURIST TRADE.

The Senate Committee, which has been investigating the question of tourist traffic and has heard many witnesses discuss various phases of the matter, has brought in its report, the feature of which is the recommendation that a Canadian travel bureau should be established a branch of a Government department, and that an appropriation of $150,000 should be made to carry on a campaign this year.

The value to Canada of tourist business is so great that the tourist trade now ranks as one of the Dominion's industries, and The Examiner agrees with the Senate Committee in its contention that it is a matter of national as well as of provincial, municipal and private concern, and that it is capable of great extension.

While those who gain the most from the building up of tourist traffic cannot reasonably expect the Provincial or Federal Governments to assume the whole responsibility of tourist trade promotion, yet it is obvious that this comparatively new industry has assumed such proportions that it can be regarded as a national asset, and the obligation of the federal administration to give leadership in the matter is therefore clear.

In suggesting a federal trade bureau, assisted by an advisory board, as an effective means of greatly extending tourist trade, the Senate Committee has made a recommendation of distinct value.

Money spent by the Dominion in building up this lucrative business will indeed be money well spent, for it will undoubtedly bring rich returns to the whole country.

FINANCIAL INDEPENDENCE WEEK.

The nation-wide campaign which is to be carried on throughout Canada next week by life insurance companies to bring to the attention of every man and woman in the country the value of life insurance to the individual, the family and the state is an effort that is to be commended thoroughly.

The slogan chosen for this Financial Independence Week, "Life insurance, the corner-stone of man's financial structure," is decidedly fitting because its truth will be widely recognized.

Canadians have found during the prolonged depression that their life insurance was an asset of tremendous importance—it came to their rescue at a time when other sources of revenue were closed in their faces, and it helped to carry them through the lean years.

It is now generally realized by the public that no other investment gives so much protection on such safe and sure terms as does life insurance, which provides ease of mind for the husband and father, security for the wife and mother, and guarantees the children a fair start in life. In addition, maturities mean capital at a moment when perhaps it is most needed, and back of all these advantages is the confidence engendered by the fact that no Canadian life insurance company has ever defaulted a single dollar of its contractual obligations.

It has been wisely said that in the case of every policy sold both buyer and seller are gainers.

That should make it easy for next week's campaign to sweep through to a triumphal success.

NOT THE BEST WAY.

While no one who realizes what a nuisance the starling has become in Ontario and who understands something of the damage these bird pests are doing would attempt to say a good word for these feathered invaders, at the same time it does seem that the St. Catharines and Lincolun Game and Fish Protective Association might have hit upon a less objectionable form of warfare than the plan announced a few days ago.

Through an arrangement made with a St. Catharines moving picture theatre, boys of the city and district will be admitted free on producing ten pair of starling legs and two pairs of crows' feet.

The youngsters, who we presume have been taught both at home and at school to be kind to birds and animals and to protect wild life, are now to be encouraged by free movie tickets to embark upon a wholesale slaughter of starlings and crows, a plan that in many cases is quite calculated to change the viewpoint of these boys in regard to the treatment of birds and animals in general.

As the Ottawa Journal well says, the idea is a bit gruesome of boys turning in a theatre box-office a pocket full of birds' legs in exchange for a ticket. If there is to be a bounty on starlings and crows it would seem that the business might be arranged in a more suitable manner.

GOING TO EXTREMES.

Moderation is a word which has no place in the passion for social experiment that is an interesting phase of life in the United States. Prohibition is launched with crusading zeal, promptly thrown overboard with even greater enthusiasm, and the country that officially was the "dryest" in the world now seems desperately bent on making itself the "wettest."

New York State since repeal has been making and re-making its liquor laws with so much expedition that for the outsider at least there is some difficulty in keeping up with the latest style of drinking. First the bar was eliminated, now it has come back, and the drinkers once more are permitted to put their feet on the traditional brass rail. Furthermore abolition of the order that drinkers must do their imbibing at tables has opened the way to the licensing of many small places which could not meet the table requirements, and beer licenses become available for lunch counters, luncheonettes, hot dog stands, roadside refreshment places and so on. Officials of the state board expect 25,000 applications from establishments of these kinds for beer permits under the new law becoming effective July 1.

Apparently it will be possible for the New Yorker to get beer pretty nearly anywhere, except with his morning milk, and it will be profitable to see whether this facility of opportunity causes a great increase in beer drinking or if, on the contrary, familiarity breeds contempt. There will be no novelty about beer, nor any adventure in buying or drinking it, when it may be secured as conveniently as gasoline. —Ottawa Journal.

THE NRA FOUND WANTING.

So many charges were made in Congress that the NRA was killing small business interests in United States and bearing down too heavily upon the consumer that President Roosevelt named what he termed a Review Board to report on the truth or falsity of these charges. There were five members and the chairman was Clarence Darrow, a lawyer full of years but with his vigor undiminished.

The report has been made public, and it is an unqualified attack upon the NRA. It can see little good in the Roosevelt policy. Only one member of the board refused to sign the report which in length is 50,000 words. If one could set forth the finding of the Review Board in a few words, it would be this: Prices have been forced upward by artificial means, but wages and buying power have not been increased in like manner. Also there has not been success in trying to reach what is termed fair competition.

The consumer, it has been found, is the individual who has to pay for all the experiments which the Government has been making. The machinery set up by the Government, and it has been large and intricate, has busied itself with regulating production and selling, and it has spent many millions in order to carry out that section of the program. It appears the consumer, the person who depended on increased wages to pay the increased prices, has been overlooked. Taking the average cost of all foods as 100 in 1913, the cost in April of 1933 was 90, while in April of 1934, after the NRA had operated for a year, the figure was 107. The Review Board says that while this jump from 90 to 107 has been registered in the cost of food, there had been no similar increase in the earnings of the people who had to do the buying, and adds also that the prices of several commodities which poor people as well as rich needed had increased to the point where the cost was prohibitive.

There is an interesting reference made to what is called fair competition, and on this point the Review Board reaches a climax in vitriolic denunciation. It says plainly that fair competition does not exist and that it cannot be made to exist. From that section of the report we quote:

"The opinion, therefore, is forced upon us from what we have heard so far, that "fair competition" is merely a resounding and illusory phrase. There is, in fact, so such significance of general acceptance, and under existing conditions there can be none.

"What the powerful producer calls fair, his weaker rival fiercely denounces as most unfair; and there is no way to reconcile the difference. All competition is savage, wolfish, and relentless; and can be nothing else. One may as well dream of making war ladylike as of making competition fair.

"Big business begins by making it impossible for the small man to survive; and, after he is eliminated, it turns upon the weakest of the common aggressors."

It is well to remember that these conclusions have been reached by studying the most elaborate system of business regulation the world has ever seen. The study has been done by men who have lived close to these regulations. They have seen them come into existence and start upon a definite task with the definite idea of setting right a definite wrong in a definite manner. There was to be a uniformity of operation, of labor hours, of selling hours and of everything else which entered into the cycle of business exchange, and in this way fairness was to be brought into existence. The conclusion of the Review Board, as set out above, is that fair competition is a myth and the law of the jungle is the dominant note in business tactics of to-day.

Such a report, scathing and critical as it is, does not mean that regulation is impossible, or thatt he whole idea behind the NRA should be dropped. The real point is that the human equation in any problem can apparently defeat or make of no effect the purpose and intent of remedial legislation. As long as men are mean and grasping, then business will be carried on on that basis.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

And now with Victoria Day out of the way Ontario can give some attention to the election campaign.

Dr. Laura Cotton is to be the C.C.F. candidate in Durham, but W. J. Bragg hasn't given any sign that he intends to give up his seat to the lady.

The sweepstakes bill was slaughtered in the House of Commons. The law-makers refused to take a chance on letting the public take a chance.

For an issue that some people claim is not out of politics, the wine and beer question seems to bob up quite prominently in the present campaign.

The enumerators finish their canvass to-morrow night. If you have not been called upon before then, better hunt up the official in your district and give him your name.

Talking to her sister Etta, Alysia Naylor is resentful over the approaching marriage of their cousin John Tait and Lucy Burnham, a widow, because the sisters will have to leave Tait's home where they have been living. They relate the news to Reggie Claridge, Alysia's fiance. At Alysia's suggestion Reggie agrees to go to Vichy where their wealthy Aunt Norah is stopping with her stepson, Tait, and his fiancee. Reggie is to try to win Lucy's attentions away from John and prevent the marriage. Lady Tait, who is "Aunt Norah" to the Naylor sisters and their brother, Claud, is seated in the hotel lobby at Vichy. Lady Tait and her friend, Lucy, whom she has met through an automobile accident, discuss the Naylor sisters. When John Tait arrives in the lobby, Lady Tait notices him speaking to a beautiful young girl whom she dislikes at once. They are discussing a financial transaction.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 6

"Poor dad!" she repeated, her face working, "he's a cripple and mother can't leave him, nor is she strong enough to go out to work. Everything depends on my sending them in my salary regularly. I wish, oh a hundred times a day, that I'd never gone with you to that horrid night club. I lost all the money I had saved for them, and then—then ——" she gulped.

"What made you come here?" Tait asked sternly.

She opened her eyes at him. "I didn't come here. Mrs. de Souza came here. We were staying at the Cosmopolite first, but she didn't care for the food. I hadn't the faintest idea you'd be here. If I had, do you suppose I would have come? You flatter yourself, Mr. Tait, and suspect me quite unnecessarily of running after you. I don't need to run after men." She spoke with spirit. "If I hadn't met you in the lounge out there I should have sent his horrible letter to your club. I can't pay him!" Her voice had changed to a note of despair. Tait said nothing for a long minute.

"Let me see the letter," he said finally.

She opened a dainty handbag, which had, however, an unusually good clasp, and held it out. It was addressed to Miss Gillian Dundas, Hotel Bristol, Cannes. Inside was a note that ran:

"Dear Miss Dundas,

"It was very good of you to buy the little sketch I offered you some six months ago. I had hoped to use the proceeds to go to America, as I wrote you at the time, but alas, a distressing illness has taken every penny of it. And once again I wonder if you would care to buy the accompanying sketch from me at the same figure—£50. This time I shall not delay with the precious money, but shall leave Marseilles at once with it. Or perhaps Madame de Souza might care for the picture? The snapshot, on which it is based, is in New York, but I can easily have it posted to me at once should you prefer this."

There was no signature. Tait stood for a while looking down at the familiar paper and writing. He had had one identical in practically every sentence except that in his case the price had been £500, and that it had been his stepmother's name wh ch the foul creature had used. He had paid. The first time a photograph had accompanied each letter. A copy of a snapshot taken by artificial light, and it showed John Tait walking across a floor in an apparently half-tipsy condition, one arm around the neck of Miss Dundas. In reality the floor had been as glass, and the arm had been thrown out but for a second, to help him keep his balance, as, turning, he had all but fallen on the slippery soles of his dancing pumps. It was this twist that had given his body its look of sagging knees and instability. But Tait also knew that on the night in question he had drunk a good deal, that he could not deny this. Besides, the snapshot really was absolutely damning, with his arms flung out, one clasping the girl's neck.

A line had been enclosed with the snapshot, giving a poste restante address in Nice. Tait remembered how Miss Dundas had rung him up. She had telephoned in tones of anguish her utter inability to find 50 shillings, let a lone £50. He had sent the two sums of money, on his own and her account. He saw the abyss in front of him, but his stepmother frequently spoke of making him a gift of a sum large enough to let him live on, apart from his small salary and private means. Once let him have that firm ground under his feet, and he would snap his fingers at the blackmailer, and as for Miss Dundas, he would help her to find another situation if need be, but, in her case too, the payment would not be repeated. It was at her suggestion that they had originally gone on to the Eye of Lucifer, amy ster ious beautiful night club opened at Nice, where Gillian had pleaded that she wanted a flutter with an unexpected pound note her employer had given her on her birthday. John Tait, that incalculable streak in him uppermost, knowing that no one he cared about was at Nice just then, had offered to take her there. He was immensely struck with the girl's beauty, a captivity that did not last long, as he found her as stupid as she was good looking. Next day Mrs. de Souza left Cannes, taking her companion with her. Then, a week later, had come the telephone conversation and imploring letters, followed by a grateful note. That was six months ago, and now this unexpected meeting in Vichy just a day or two after he had received a second letter, a second hidden menace and demand for money.

Unfortunately his father's will had been made when he married a second time, when John was but a child, and well provided for by his mother's fortune. This fortune consisted of shares in a great shipping company, considered as almost a gilt-edged security, which suddenly and unexpectedly came to grief. The elder Tait meant to alter his will on that, but his own unexpected death prevented this, with the result that all his money went to his second wife, on whom John was dependent for the comforts of life, if not its necessities. A fact evidently known to the blackmailer. This last was not surprising, for our extraordinary system of leaving wills open to any curious possessor of half a crown is of the greatest help to the underworld.

"I'll settle again this time," he said now, "but it is a final settlement."

"And he means it," she said about an hour later when relating the whole interview to a young man who sprawled facing her, in an armchair. The two were in the young man's private sitting room at the Hotel Splendide et Superbe, a horrible new erection much frequented by South Americans.

"But the point is, he's going to pay, and £50 will be very convenient to me just now," she finished, "so you might as well hand it over now."

"You shall have it as soon as he pays," he assured her. "Just at the moment ——" He waved a cigaret in the air to describe a naught. She laughed.

"Run of bad luck at the Casino, I suppose? I'm rather lucky. At least, I have been." She touched the wooden back of her chair hastily. He had passed a box of very expensive cigarets over to her. Getting up for some matches, one saw how tall he was. But he carried himself so badly that he had a misleading look of suffering from slight spinal curvature. Moving a chair out of the way, one saw how strong he was with his abnormally long arms, how flexible his muscles. He was apparently on the young side of 30, and had a very peculiar face. One sees lined faces, but this man's was not so much lined as folded. The forehead, the cheeks, the neck, all showed innumerable creases. It was rather a dismal face usually, but when he laughed, he did so so immoderately that one got the idea of an idiot. But the eyes were far from being an idiot's eyes. Something in their glance, though the balls were far from clear, certainly suggested a very swift and sly intelligence.

DETROIT

Unusual Procedure Of Father Coughlin

Father Coughlin's first sermon reached the hearts of the whole church. Every one was certain a new era had dawned for the little church with the shingled exterior. A Saint in the person of Theresa had been recently canonized. The church was almost new. To her the church had been dedicated. A few months only had passed since the dedication. But it was too small to fit into the dream of the young priest. His method to reach his objective of a new and much larger church was unique. Only a week elapsed before he stunned the congregation with the announcement that he was planning to broadcast his sermons. He had prepared twelve of his vitally interested members previously by telling them of his plans. The news spread. On the following Sabbath the church was crowded. But the congregation was more than a crowd. It was a crowd about to be enlisted in a great adventure. At the first there was misgiving. Some thought the young man lacking in balance. With remarkable self possession he announced his plan to build a large and costly Shrine. The congregation was undecided what to say or what to encourage. The young priest was not undecided.

The scene opens. Father Coughlin went to consult with Leo R. Fitzpatrick the director of Station WJR in Detroit about the feasibility of broadcasting a series of sermons. Fitzpatrick was impressed with the intelligence of Coughlin. More than that he was warmed by his enthusiasm. An agreement was reached. The announcement was made.

GREAT BRITAIN

Mosley a Veteran of the Great War a Flaming Fascist

Men of fire leave their mark on the age. Augustine was such a man. You can name many others. The cold and phlegmatic are soon lost to sight. Those who are kindled kindle others. Their message as well as themselves is a flame. Great Britain has several such men. They differ greatly touching economic and political issues. Among them is a Great War veteran by the name of Mosley. His war record would be a honor for any man. He was wounded. The effect of the wound he still carries in the form of a very weakening and painful disease which the physicians term phlebitis. For relief climate is of some help and is better than medicine. Thirteen years of effort to shake off the disease has not dampened his interest nor cooed his ardor for national affairs.

The zealous man has often misinterpreted events. Mosley s an outstanding example. He led and fought by the side of peasant Britishers. He ought to have responded to their yearning for a larger life and a more just sharing of the profits of industry in times of peace. Instead he lined up with a movement that is recreating the conditions and personalities of the dark ages. Without the least particle of concealment on the part of this writer the view is expressed such is the Fascist movement.

Fascism came into Britain as stealthily as a thief breaks into the home. Even the predatory capitalist saw no need of the service of Fascism. But Mosley had a different slant on economic conditions. He saw that peasants as well educated and with the indomitable spirit of patriotic soldier victors could not much longer be denied their industrial and economic rights. He was also aware that wealth for profit was jeopardized.

The press at first boycotted the Fascist British Union. During this period of neglect by the press an air of mystery, which surrounded the organization, gave it an underground start.

JAPAN, CHINA, WORLD

Not a Government Official. He is Only a Spokesman.

The Japanese are wily rather than frank. The Chinese are open and sincere. For several years this contrast in racial character has been to the whole world obvious. The contrast is growng more pronounced. The Imperial Impulse has brought more than Germany down to the dust. Japan is now the most conspicuous example of the same impulse. By a spokesman she has put one foot on the path perilous. This Japanese spokesman has called the attenton of the nations to a memorandum drafted by the government of Japan to be shortly down the governments of the other nations regarding her attitude toward their relations with China.

The first article of world concern mentioned in the memorandum is: Japan asserts that it is her special mission to impose order in the Far East. That she objects to loans in doing so, and to the exports of airplanes or other activities that might aid Chinese military forces. Japan claims the right to determine whether foreign attempts to aid China imperil peace and order in Eastern Asia. He are some of the expressions written in that famous document: "It is our responsibility. We must be the judges."

The spokesman said that Japan would act positively if necessary. That if foreign attempts to "disturb peace in Asia are backed forcefully, that Japan herself may be compelled to resort to force."

Some things are evident from what has been written in this article thus far. First the wily procedure of the Japanese government. The memorandum is not a direct message to the governments of the world. An irresponsible person, whose name has not been given, gave the news to the press. The memorandum is only a feeler. Before an official communication is made Japan will await the reaction of the newspapers of the nations vitally interested in the future of China and the ambitions of Japan.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

THE "BATTLE" OF ECCLES HILL

On this date in 1870 the "Army of the Irish Republic" under "General" O'Neill crossed the boundary into Canada at a point in the Eastern Townships known as Eccles Hill. He had prepared for the expedition for months, gathering arms and ammunition for 15,000 men, but only 800 rallied to his banner, and most of them were rable without any military training, though there was a sprinkling of veterans of the American civil war, who wanted another taste of fighting.

Guarding the frontier were a few militia, 2 officers and 71 men, who were later in the day reinforced by a contingent from the Victoria Rifles. Colonel Osborne Smith held the enemy at bay all day, but in the evening ordered a charge with fixed bayonets. That was enough for the Fenians. They broke into disorder and fled across the boundary, where their leader, O'Neill, and some of his lieutenants were arrested by U.S. troops sent belatedly to keep order. Much of the Fenian arms and ammunition was left behind and was confiscated by the mili.

It was in this engagement that Prince Arthur, later the Duke of Connaught, then attached to the Rifle Brigade at Montreal, won his Fenian Raid medal, which has, by some, been confounded with the Red River expedition of the same year. The Prince never went west with Wolseley, as stated recently by a Toronto paper. He never saw the Red River until he went to Winnipeg forty years later as Governor General.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

YORKTON, SASK.

The city of Yorkton owes the origin of its name to the county of York in Ontario. Back in 1870 the York Farmers' Colonization Co., with head offices in Toronto, purchased considerable land in that vicinity, and the first settlers to populate the district were brought in by them mostly from York county.

What was more natural than that the new settlement should be named for old associations? The second aylable was added for distinction and the name has endured to this day.

C.C.F. PLATFORM.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir:

The new C.C.F. platform avoids with rare skill the pitfall of socialism into which the previous one had fallen. This platform simply goes the old parties considerably more than one better at their own game and gives apparently to the mass of the people what they have never had before a direct representative. The old C.C.F. platform advocates the taking over by the government of all property which is socialism. The present platform leaves property where it is, in private hands, but steps into the ring on behalf of the people to do business for them just as the other classes now do for themselves. It extends in every direction the old ideas and aims no longer to leave the ship of state at the mercy of the winds and waves while business takes to the lifeboats and leaves the masses to their fate. Whether we agree with it or not is means a new era for the people.

guard a road along which it was believed Dillinger might travel last night. The road patrol was established following word from Indianapolis that a man believed to be Dillinger had been seen there yesterday.

An automobile believed to have carried four or five men approached at high speed. The two officers, travelling in a police squad car, apparently decided to halt the car and investigate.

Taken By Surprise

Just what happened is not clear. The officers' bodies were found slumped in the front seat of their car, with a dozen machine gun slugs in the neck and head of each. The attack must have caught them completely by surprise, as the pistol of each officer was still in its holster when the bodies were found.

The killers' car swept on in the direction of Chicago, and police lines were set up throughout the Metropolitan area to halt the men, if possibe, before they could bury themselves in a Chicago hideout.

Shortly after word of the double murder was flashed to police, an automobile somewhat larger than that in which the killers were believed to have been riding was reported seen in Hammond. Four or five men with machine guns were seen in the car, police heard. This led to the belief that the killers had changed machines.

The Indianapolis report that Dillinger had been seen there as recently as yesterday tended to confirm the opinion officers have had that Dillinger is in this territory.

The heartless manner of the double slaying kindled new fire in the Dillinger hunt, with Indiana and Chicago police putting revived determination today into the search for the notorious bank robber-gunman.

Thirteen deaths already mark the trail of Dillinger for the 11-month period in which he has become the most hunted gunman, yet only one of the 13 has been definitely traceable, even in speculation, to Dillinger himself.

MECHANIC DIES IN PLANE CRASH

Manager Edmonton Airport and Noted Northern Flier Are Seriously Hurt.

HOLIDAY JOY RIDE.

EDMONTON, May 25.—(C.P.)—Death threatened Captain James Bell, manager of the Edmonton Municipal Airport to-day, as a companion lay dead and another was in hospital with serious injuries.

A giant Fokker monoplane, taking the three for a joy ride, dived as it was 30 feet from the ground taking off for a flight here late yesterday while a holiday crowd of several hundred watched.

Fred Hodgins, 23 year old mechanic, was injured fatally in the crash. Pilot Matt Berry, a famed Northland flier, and Captain Bell were seriously injured. Hodgins died after being rushed to hospital.

Flames burst out as the plane struck the ground and two of those who aided in removing the wreckage had left the plane a few minutes before at the request of Pilot Berry, who promised to take them for a flight later. Airport attendants could not recall their names.

Capt. Bell, known to scores of noted fliers who have flown through Edmonton on world-encircling trips and on northland ventures, had a premonition "something was going to happen," airport attendants said. He had expressed the belief for the several days.

Pilot Berry was hauled out of the cockpit after the plane crashed. Capt. Bell was found with his hand on the cabin door and beside him was Hodgins. All three are well-known in northland flying.

grinding and filing the "hands" from hard steel. Since then Gawley has made dozens of hands for others.

Made Hands 30 Years

For 30 years Galway has made these hands though the work is slow and tedious. In his little machine shop in Meaford, where he has managed to make a living, he works day and night, unaided. He works with only common tools, including a small drill, and finds it necessary to "fit" every hand" for seldom are there two alike.

Tourists and visitors at Gawley's little workship stand and gaze for hours at the "impossible" things he can do, from lifting and drinking from the most fragile of china, to splitting wood and pulling an engine apart. Gawley has a powerful grip with both hands and has been known to lift more dead weight than the man with ordinary arms. He is a mechanic by trade and he will attempt any job.

For the past 15 years he has repaired lawn mowers, bicyles, engines and all sorts of machinery. His "steel hands" are simple, with five strong grips of different degrees of power. He can crush a stone to powder, break wire, tie his shoe laces, dress himself, eat with knife and fork.

He is speedy with his work as any skilled mechanic. He can respoke a bicycle wheel and insert the hub in less than 30 minutes. He has taken a motorcycle apart and put it together again. He can drive a motorcycle as well as a motor car, and frequenntly rides a bicycle. He can write with pen or pencil and boasts of a good handwriting style.

Gawley's father who died four years ago, was blind for more than 50 years and never saw his son. dustry," replied the witness.

TEACHER MURDERED.

WASHINGTON, May 25 (C.P.).—Her clothes torn and an eye blackened, Mary E. Sheads, 65, retired school teacher, was found strangled to death last night in her apartment.

Screams and, a few minutes later, the clank of a fire escape ladder to the ground, drew neighbors to Miss Sheads' apartment, which she occupied alone. They found her stretched on the floor beside her bed.

BROKERS' OPINIONS

19 reviewed. Bullish 6; bearish 2; non-comittal 11.

Munds, Winslow and Potter.—We think market will complete present secondary reaction this week and that another sharp rally will follow.

J. H. Bache and Co.—The more immediate prospect remains one of further quiet backing and filling.

Jenks Gwynne and Co.—It could hardly be said that there are as yet indications of a check to the downward trend.

Fenner and Beane.—Based on indications of a temporary oversold market condition, we would expect to see some technical rebound in prices over the near term and favor committments on a strictly trading basis in anticipation of such development.

STANDARD FACTS AND FORECASTS

Stocks have shown some disposition to draw away from their recent critical lows, though a number of important individual issues have broken through. Prices, however, continue to move by fractions instead of over the four or five point range which would constitute a normal correction of the April-May decline. The reason for this shrinkage both in volume of trade and scope of price movements seem to lie in the fact that two uncertainties are continually springing up where one grew before. Thus, the Silver Bill, instead of setting the question, leaves doubts as to the price, the tax and the amount of silver certificates to be issued against metal purchased. Until the market is able to enlarge its area, speculative operations are likely to go around on the shallows

TORONTO MINING.

TORONTO, May 25. — (C.P.)—Trading was a little more active in spots this afternoon in the mining section of the Toronto stock exchange and the price tone displayed a mild tendency in the last hour. McIntyre was outstanding in the Senior Gold group, trading at $44 and the majority of the Base Metal leaders were unchanged or higher at the close. Some of the silver shares also recovered morning losses.

In the early part of the session Hollinger and Teck Hughes carried on with a fair average of transactions and slightly higher prices, but the rest of the group exhibited a holiday spirit. Lake Shore, Pioneer, Wright Hargreaves and Braylorne all closed unchanged. Dome gained 50 to $38.

Noranda was back to $42 for a while but pulled up to show a gain at $43 and Sherritt finished on the uside.

TORONTO, May 25—(CP)—Several of the industrial leaders pulled up this afternoon, following a speedy morning session of the Toronto Stock Exchange and the close was definitely firm.

International Nickel closed up about 10 cents from the day's bottom but still down 20 cents for the session. A fair sprinkling of gains were scattered through the oil, food and distillery, construction and miscellaneous groups. Walkers was a feature, advancing 2½ to 34.

The distillery stocks boarded small gains in the closing half hour and the Brewery group finished the day unchanged. Brazilian was the weakest of the interlisted shares, touching a new low level for the movement at 9⅜. C.P.R. lost about ⅝. Ford A had a morning decline but fully recovered before the close.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, May 25 (A.P.).—Scattered buying lifted stocks to better levels to-day, despite extreme dullness. Tobaccos were firm. Silver shares improved. Late advances of 1 to 2 points were recorded by American Tobacco "B," Liggett & Myers B, Santa Fe, American Can, Dupont, Chrysler and Cerro de Pasco.

U.S. Steel gained a major fraction. Transfers approximated 500,000 shares.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 25 (C.P.).—Traders and speculators raced each other into the wheat pit of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day in the belief that searing suns over the North American farm belt presented a serious crop situation and made the golden cereal a good investment. Under the influx of buying, futures spiralled upwards to finish 2⅞ to 3 cents higher.

Final figures representing the day's top levels. May wheat closed at 73¼c, July at 74¾c, and October at 76¼c.

JOHNSON'S TIREMEN OUSTED BY OSHAWA IN TOURNEY FINAL

District Softball Teams Take Part in Tournament at Omemee Field Day.

GOOD SPORTS PROGRAM.

(Examiner Correspondence)

OMEMEE, May 25.—The Athletic grounds at Omemee was the happy rendezvous for a large number of people on Thursday afternoon, May 24.

A perfect day combined with an ideal location and a well-balanced program of sports and all the novelties necessary for the occasion made the celebration a real success although a north wind which started to blow near the end of the softball tournament rather dampened the enthusiasm of the crowd. The tournament was productive of some classy softball and strangely the same teams which won last year carried away the main prizes again this year, demonstrating that in their respective classes they are the pick of the district.

In the senior series Oshawa took the honors without ever being extended. They have a well balanced team with lots of hitting power and are very strong both defensively and offensively. In Whitely, their 19-year-old pitcher they have a sensational performer. Even working under the handicap of a sprained thumb he was complete master at all times although in the deciding game he had to be relieved after aggravating his injury when he collided with Gardiner of Johnson's Tires.

Lindsay Eliminated

The first game in the Senior series was between Oshawa and Smith-Baldwin's of Lindsay. In keeping with an old Lindsay custom they protested long and vigorously re Whitely pitching. As Smith-Baldwins are supposed to be a senior outfit, how they could kick against Oshawa using Whitely was a mystery, but finally they decided to play ball and were quickly erased by Oshawa by the score of 14-6. In the second game between Fashion Craft of Peterborough and Omemee the homesters pulled a surprise by nosing out the visitors by 9-8. Some nice softball was dished up in this game. Bill Stephenson, right fielder for Omemee, hit a home run with none on to supply the winning marker.

Omemee tried to make it two in a row over Johnson's Tires but the Tiremen won the nod after an Omemee error in the 4th allowed six runs to score after two were out. Price and Massey on the mound for Johnson's were both hit hard, but some nice fielding and timely hitting won the game for them by a 14-5 count.

After a short rest Johnson's and Oshawa started the final game. For the first four innings it was simply a case of too much Whitely. His speed surprised those who had never seen him pitch and his effectiveness was shown by eight strike-outs in the first four innings, not a ball being hit out of the infield. One to a base on balls, three errors and two solid singles, Peterborough scored three runs in the 5th. In the sixth they picked up four more runs as Whitely with a commanding lead started to ease up. Lamereaux took over the mound duties and soon stopped Peterborough's short lived rally. Lamereaux had two strike-outs in the 7th and a pop fly to second to end the game with the final score being 12-7. Oshawa picked up a run in the first innings, one in the second, three in the third, one in the fourth and three each in the fifth and sixth. They had 13 hits to Johnson's four. Ten Peterborough batters were retired via the strike-out route and half of that number for Oshawa. Rowden and Lamereaux for the winners had three hits apiece while Dormer for the Petes was the only man to get more than one hit. His two hits being half of Peterborough's total of four hits.

Bately behind the plate umpired in his usual efficient manner.

Wins Intermediate Honors

Downeyville, in the Intermediate series, played some fine baseball, to take the honors for the second consecutive year. Their first game was against Bridgenorth, which they won by the score of 11-7. Their next game was against Normal School of Peterborough, and they won this game without being overly exerted. Frank Shine showed the fans he hasn't last any of his effectiveness of last year. Omemee's Intermediate team, having defeated Mount Pleasant, 9-5, were then in turn eliminated by Downeyville by the score of 9-2. This win put Downeyville in the finals against the good Keene team. In the first round, Keene showed their potential strength when they batted out an 18-2 victory over Telford's of Lindsay. They then took on St. James' of Peterborough, who had looked real good against Millbrook and defeated them, putting them in the finals with Downeyville. This game produced some very fine Intermediate softball. The whole Downeyville team was full of pep and gave Shine lots of encouragement and played bang-up ball behind Shine's good pitching. The Downeyville rooters—and there were lots of them —provided plenty of vocal encouragement to their team. Keene got away to a good start, scoring a run in the first innings, but were able to score only once afterwards. Downeyville picked up a run in the 2nd, three in the 4th, three in the 5ith and one in the 7th, to win by 8-2.

Score by innings:

Downeyville	0	1	0	3	3	0	1	—	8
Keene	1	0	0	0	0	1	0	—	2

Line-up:

Umpires—Brookes and White.

There were only three entries in the girl's class, being Fenelon Falls, Keene and Omemee.

Omemee and Fenelon Falls played the first game; Omemee winning, 12-8. The Fenelon team had classy pale blue uniforms and as they are only a new team showed promise of a lot of strength with proper coaching and experience.

Keene girls showed their superiority over the Omemee girls in one of the most listless games one could wish to see. At one time the score stood 23-8 in Keene's favor. However Omemee managed to pull up to within haling distance to make it close at 26-23. Silver medals were presented the winners; the second place Omemee team won a glove and a bat.

Oshawa took home the Dr. Earl Cup and silver medals; and Bert Deck's Tire team a glove and mask. Downeyville won five leather belts and a glove, and Keene a glove and a bat.

Other Events

Charles Brookes and L. Mackey of Reaboro won the horseshoe pitching contest.

In the five-mile race McMullen, winner of last year's race came home in front again, by the rather slow time of 41 minutes. He keeps the Sandy Cup for another year. Ferguson, also of Lindsay, was second.

From 7 until 9 in the evening the musical contest took place. In the string instrument competition the three little Graham brothers of Dunsford received first prize. The boys played the mouth organ, ukulele and the violin, and their ages are 9, 12 and 14.

Miss Helen Reddick of Omemee at the piano, and Harvard Reddick with his banjo received second place.

In the old tyme square dance contest Costello's orchestra from Downeyville won first place, and were hired for the evening.

Round dancing was also enjoyed at the east end of the street, with A. Roach and his Royal Canucks' ten-piece orchestra in attendance.

A thriving business was carried on in the booths, where all kinds of good things could be bought.

A very large crowd of both young and old went home from the street dance feeling that they had spent one of the most enjoyable evenings that has ever been held in Omemee.

GALA VICTORIA DAY PROGRAM IS SPONSORED BY ALBION CLUB

Two Ball Games, Public Speaking Tests, Inter-scholastic Races Are Held.

MIDWAY POPULAR.

HAVELOCK, May 25. (Examiner Correspondence). — Under ideal weather conditions the Albion Club's Victoria Day celebration was held at the local park grounds Thursday and was in every way a huge success, bigger and better than any of the preceeding celebrations held here annual for the past three years.

Two ball games, public speaking contests, inter-school relay racing, bicycle and foot races for the various classes, and last, but not least, the Jackson midway, with merry-go-round, ferris wheel glider, and airship besides a number of small side shows, all proved popular with those who turned out to join in the celebration of the great national holiday.

A street parade of decorated cars and floats, beginning at one o'clock, in front of the town hall, opened the big day. Mr. Harold Ketchen, president of the club, headed the parade and most graciously acknowledged the salutations of the citizens, along the right of way. On arrival at the park grounds the award of the judges of the decorated and comic cars or floats was made known. Mr. Will Woodbeck won first prize for the best decorated fancy car. Alfred Spencer carried off first for the best float, and the Rutherford brothers, Fred and Grenville, received the prize for the best comic float.

The softball game between Havelock and Norwood resulted in a walk-away for the home town boys, with a score of 24 to 3.

The inter-school relay with entries from Havelock and Norwood, was won by Havelock with L. Sanderson, B. Bedford, H. Hunter and Jerome Voyer in the local team.

In the small sports, the following were the winners:

Havelock Wins, 3-2

In the Deloro-Havelock baseball game, Havelock team defeated the visitors by a score of three to two. A feature of this game was the fast playing by both teams, McLaughlin bringing in the first home run of the season.

In the public speaking contest class one, the following competitors took part: Verna Isaacs, Murray Lewis, Jessie Reynolds, Jewell Scott, Jack Bush, Reta McQuigge, with Jack Bush and Jessie Reynolds taking first and second respectively. This was closely contested, there being a difference of only two points between the first and 2nd winners.

In class two, the following competed: Irene Kennedy, Evelyn Stephenson, Alfreda Logan, Lois Thomson, Harold Hamilton, Lois Poste, Earl Covert, Douglas Rowat, Fred Breen, Lois Poste and Lois Thompson were first and second respectively. A special consolation prize of one dollar, donated by Mr. T. P. Lancaster, was awarded to Alfreda Logan.

Mr. Lancaster who was present, congratulated the competitors on their fine showing in the competition. He congratulated the Albion Club which had sponsored this worthwhile contest, and believed that it should be given the wholehearted support of all the citizens. He spoke of the contest which will be held here in the fall sponsored by the Albion Club for the students of the Public School, and hoped all those interested would get behind the movement and bring it to a successful conclusion, by encouraging the children in every way, and thus support the efforts of the club along the lines of public speaking.

Judges for the public speaking contest were Mrs. J. H. Moore and Mrs. S. A. Thompson and Messrs. Norman Small, L. A. Gould and Chas. Taylor.

Obituary

THOMAS CHRISTIE.

Mourning the passing of a well-known and highly respected citizen in the community, the county paid tribute on Tuesday to the late Thomas Christie, whose remains were laid at rest in the family plot in St. Paul's cemetery, Norwood.

The funeral was held from the Christie home, Lot 18, Concession 2, to St. Paul's Church, where Requiem Mass was sung by the Rev. J. J. McCarthy. He also preached the funeral sermon. The large number of spiritual offerings and the large concourse of friends who visited the home and attended the services gave testimony of the esteem which the deceased held in the community where he had followed agricultural pursuits since he was a young man.

Born in Asphodel seventy-six years ago, of a large family of the late William Christie and Margaret Boland, he leaves four sons, John, Leo, Vincent and Leonard of Asphodel, and two brothers, Charles Christie of Toronto, and William Christie of Calgary, also four sisters, Mrs. M. Healey of Westwood, Mrs. D. Duggan of Fenelon Falls, Mrs. E. J. Ward of Toronto, and Mrs. John Duggan of Calgary.

His wife, formerly Annie Galvin, predeceased him about thirty years ago, while his sister, Mary Christie, died on the same farm on May 26, 1933.

Pallbearers, all neighbors and close friends, were: Messrs. Andrew Quinlan, Ed Herr, Neill Quinlan, David Tucker, James Barnes and Wilfred Quinlan. Friends and relatives attended from Fenelon Falls, Havelock, Campbellford, Hastings, Warkworth and Lakefield.

BERNARD HARRINGTON

ENNISMORE, May 25—The death occurred suddenly late last night of Bernard Harrington, lifelong resident of Ennismore Township, at the age of 67 years. Up and around all day yesterday in his usual state of apparent good health, Mr. Harrington was taken suddenly ill late in the evening, and died a short time afterwards.

Besides his widow who was formerly, Mary Leahy, he leaves two daughters, Mrs. Steven Scott of Douro and Miss Mary Harrington at home, also two sons, Francis and Michael, both at home.

The funeral is to be held from the family residence on Monday morning with a celebration of Requiem Mass at St. Martin's Church at nine o'clock, followed by interment at St. Martin's cemetery.

MRS. EDWARD MOUNCEY.

HASTINGS, May 25 (Examiner Correspondence). — Death on Tuesday morning cast a gloom over the village in the sudden passing of Mrs. Edward Mouncey. For the past two weeks Mrs. Mouncey and family have been confined to their home with scarlet fever. Early on Monday morning Mrs. Mouncey was taken ill, and in her rundown condition after nursing the family, she was unable to survive the attack of fever.

She leaves to mourn her loss her sorrowing husband and seven children.

Under the circumstances the funeral was private, and was held on Tuesday afternoon. Services at the grave were conducted by Rev. S. H. Hill of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Interment was made in Trent Valley Cemetery.

DR. T. J. C. TINDLE

(Examiner Correspondence)

TWEED, May 25. — The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon from his late home, services being conducted by Rev. W. A. Edwards who spoke feelingly of Dr. Tindle's long and faithful career among his people.

Dr. Tindle was taken seriously ill some weeks ago and his condition had gradually grown critical despite able medical attention. Dr. Tindle was born on July 19th, 1876 in Smith township, Peterborough County, and after receiving his elementary education near his home, he attended Albert College, Belleville. He later graduated from Trinity College Toronto, following which he took up his residence in Flinton.

He practised in Flinton for the past thirty-one years and during that time made many friends in all parts of this country. He was a staunch Conservative and a strong supporter of the Temperance cause. He was a prominent member of the United church.

Dr. Tindle was a friend of all and his passing cast a pall of gloom over the community of Flinton and the neighboring townships.

He is survived by his wife and one sister, May J. V. Jory of Peterborough. The bearers were six residents of Flinton, J. F. Davison, Robert Campbell, Tom Juby, Eli Allaire, Joseph Devoure and Denis Trepanier. Interment was in the United Church cemetery at Flinton.

ROOM-BASE
The inside body room of the car—the distance from the dash to back of rear seat.

Actual photograph showing roomy rear seat of Ford V-8

THE wheel-base of a car is not always an indication of its body room. Cars of similar wheel-base may vary considerably in the amount of interior space available for the comfort of passengers. That's the difference between wheel-base and room-base.

Take the New Ford V-8, for instance. Its wheel-base is 112 inches—a good, generous dimension. But the roominess of the body is even greater than you would expect in a car of this size.

The reason is plain and easy to see. But it is not something that you usually associate with body room. It's the V-8 engine. In this design, the eight cylinders are built in two banks of four each and are opposite each other in the shape of a V. This compact construction means that they take up only half as much space in the hood as they would if they were strung out in a long straight line. Your own tape measure will show you how much more leg room, seat room and head room you get in the New Ford V-8.

$34 A MONTH with reasonable down payment now buys a New Ford V-8.

FORMATION OF LOCAL BRANCH CANADIAN LABOR DEFENSE LEAGUE IS EARLY EXPECTED IN THE CITY

A. E. Smith Addresses Gathering of 150 Citizens in Ashburnham Hall.

CRUX OF SITUATION.

Early formation of a local branch of the Canadian Labor Defence League, which was stated to be a part of the International Red Aid organization whose ramifications extend to all portions of the inhabited world, is a possibility which was the outcome of a meeting addressed by A. E. Smith, Communist candidate in East York, in Ashburnham Community Hall on Wednesday evening.

Robert McCullough presided over the meeting as chairman, while George Ashbrooke, C.L.D.L. organizer for Eastern Ontario, effected the introduction of the speaker. The hall was comfortably filled with a gathering estimated to number 150 persons.

Spoke Nearly Two Hours

Mr. Smith, former minister of the Methodist Church; ex-member of the Manitoba Legislature as representative for Brandon from 1920-23; and more recently central figure in the sedition trial, occupied the platform for a greater part of two hours during which he discussed the present economic system; the political situation; the working of the Canadian Labor Defence League of which he is general secretary; and Section 98 of the Criminal Code; besides replying to editorial comment concerning himself which appeared in Wednesday's issue of The Examiner.

Addressing his audience as "fellow citizens," Mr. Smith stressed the need which he said existed, for the enlightenment of people both individually and collectively in regard to the economic and political problems of the day.

A Challenge

The task of enlightenment, he said, was not the main task of the peope who were commonly regarded as the leading citizens. "It is not the main task of our editors and newspapers; it is not the main task of those who seek to mould public opinion through religious agencies or educational institutions our country. I am challenging the whole army of what are called leading people of this country, when I say that as far as enlightenment of the people is concerned, the charge can be fairly laid at the door of politicians, editors, teachers, and preachers that they are not carrying out this task. They never have tried to carry it out, and as far as my own understanding is concerned they do not know enough to teach the peope," he said.

Nevertheless, the speaker believed, enlightenment of the masses was proceeding. "History, events, and actual misery, death and starvation is enlightening them—many of them are on the verge of insanity and they are beginning to see. It is our duty as workers to come together collectively and individually to enlighten ourselves," he urged.

Studied Politeness.

Announcing among other things that he intended to discuss Section 98 during the course of the evening, Mr. Smith stated he was a man who always strove to observe the principles of courtesy. "It would be discourteous of me to overlook the compliment paid to me in this evening's issue of The Examiner, so I will undertake to refer to it. I hope the distinguished representative of this paper is present, so that what I have to say will be heard by the distinguished representative," he said with studied politeness.

Then dropping further references to The Examiner at that point, he proceeded to explain the fundamental principles of the capitalistic system, stating that the economic depression and resultant unemployment were natural consequences of such a system. If the capitalistic system was allowed to exist, he declared, other depressions would be inevitable.

Stating that there were fifty millions of unemployed people in the Capitalistic world, and claiming, there are no unemployed in the Soviet Union," Mr. Smith thought it amazing to consider that no remedy for the situation had been considered by a class of people who professed the exalted and high ideals of religion that the Capitalist class did.

Doesn't Know Of One.

"I would ask you and the learned leaders of society, including the men who sit on the bench dispensing justice, is there any organized body of capitalists trying to produce any other system by which such evils will be avoided in the future. I don't know of one."

Reviewing the evolution of the capitalistic system, the speaker said it had first taken root at a time when the bourgeois class were struggling for political power against the tyranny of state and church.

Institutions that resulted from that struggle, he said, were made to serve the capitalist classes, with the result that the rich had grown richer, and the poor had become poorer, until at the present there was a world-wide class struggle on. The political issues of today, he argued, were not between Conservatives, Liberals, or the C.C.F., but "the political issue is a class issue, between working class and capitalist class, and the worker must refrain from supporting anything that looks like a capitalist class party."

Crux Of Situation.

The whole crux of the matter, Mr. Smith thought, rested with the answer to the question as to who owned the machinery of production. One of the fundamental principles of Socialism, he said, was that the whole system of production should belong to the people who worked it. "Before you can bring about a system of society where there will be plenty of work for all and poverty for none you must appropriate the machinery of production and abolish the position of letting any category of persons in society draw income from any other source. A characteristics of Socialism is that all people are workers."

"You may be strong supporters of the capitalistic system in this city, but if you are it is high time you understood these issues. You are the people who have put this thing over and you will put is over" (applause). "This is the issue that is emerging today through events, and when all is said and done, it is events that rule and not politicians, but these are facts that the three capitalistic political parties are studiously ignoring," he declared.

Mr. Smith referred to the Canadian Labor Defence League as a working class organization that had emerged during the political period of about fifteen years ago. The League, he said, had ten different fronts of activity in the class struggle. One of these "fronts" he said was composed of a group of about thirty newspapers known as the "workers' press", which the speaker believed might be received as news by The Examiner.

"A new newspaper was started by the C.L.D.L. in Winnipeg last week and it is possible we may establish two or three more before the summer is over," he said.

Someone in the audience interjected to ask, "Do you think you could establish one in Peterborough?"

"We have these fronts," the speaker proceeded to explain, "and I am anxious that I should convey to my friends of the press something of the working of the organization, because there has been a lot of sneering behind remarks made in the press, as though the organization was of no account. As though it was something that could be stubbed under heel like a lighted cigarette butt. We know the ignorant bigotry that controls the capitalist class, whose chief weapon when confronted with a formidable working class organization is to stick out the tongue in ridicule, just as one might expect of naughty children."

Not a Joke.

The speaker said he would advise the capitalist class to give over ridiculing. "I would not only advise them to do so," he reiterated, "but I would warn them to do so. This movement is not to be treated as a joke."

Contrary to popular belief, Mr. Smith stated emphatically, "the Canadian Labor Defence League is not the Communist Party; it is not a trade union; but it is a political movement with ten per cent of its membership, running into the hundreds of thousands, made up of Communists. The balance of membership was composed, he said, of citizens from all classes of society, including many professional men.

The C.L.D.L., Mr. Smith explained, had been organized mainly to provide legal defence for any worker who may be arrested or indicted by the courts because of his acting in working class interests. Last year the League defended over a thousand cases. Eight hundred of the cases were successfully defended, while over two hundred men and women had been imprisoned because they had been engaged in the struggle on behalf of the workers.

The I.R.A.

The League, the speaker said, was part of the world-wide organization known as the International Red Aid, which organization had provided legal assistance for men indicted in connection with the Reichstag fire. The I.R.A., he declared, had also stood behind the Scottsboro case; had defended Communists in Japan, and so on. "It is not a nationalistic movement. It is not Chauvinistic, and these are important points to bear in mind," he said.

He also described the League as being an organization to aid in defence of the working classes against the capitalist class. Unemployment, he exclaimed, was merely a method by which the capitalists liquidated the crises created by their own unethical system. "And then," he remarked, "they provide relief as if they were performing some charitable act. The capitalist does not go without food; they do not go without holidays; they still have their banquets and do not refrain from parading their satins and jewels before the starving multitudes—and they call it Christianity."

Predicts War Pending

Mr. Smith who said he would not be surprised to see the outbreak of another war "before the next snow flies," declared that the last war had been created by a fight over Imperialistic and capitalistic markets and not for right and liberty. War was just another method by which the capitalist exploited the working classes. "The working class must save itself. Otherwise it will not be saved. The only way to salvation is through organization," he urged.

"There are some people who try to class us as agitators. I want to appeal to you people to repudiate such statements," Mr. Smith stated in claiming that the only thing he ever agitated for was the rights of suffering women and children.

"I am an agitator in that respect, but I do not agitate for thieves and robbers as Bennett does. It was an honor to be put out of Bennett's office, and some day we will put Bennett out of office," Mr. Smith remarked heatedly referring to the fact that he had not received a very cordial welcome on the occasion of a visit he paid upon the Hon. R. B. Bennett at Ottawa last fall.

"Courteous and Calm"

"I have never addressed a remark to Bennett at any time that has not been courteous and calm. I have never been in the presence of any other person when I ever manifested ill temper or heat, but I have seen Bennett red-hot with temper and his face suffused with blood. That is the statesman who is leading the Conservative Party and the whole country to hell. Bennett stands against the working class and for the capitalist class and I told him that."

"It was the "duty" of every worker and the "privilege" of every other class, the speaker stated to help along the Canadian Labor Defence League. "You should join the League," he urged, "and help defend your own class." At this juncture he intimated that membership application cards would be distributed at the meeting and that if five persons would signify their willingness to become members, an organization meeting would be held at an early date and a branch of the League established here.

Political Situation

During a discussion of the political situation, Mr. Smith spoke of the present Stevens' investigations at Ottawa as being "sheer, rank, hypocritical demagouery that is being put over by the investigating committee at Ottawa which will all be exploded when the next Federal election is over."

Mr. Bennett he said, had to do something to provide him with an election campaign slogan, just as Premier Henry has done in the provincial campaign with his beer and wine slogan.

"Think," the speaker said, "of any statesman of any capacity to use his brain who sits in the legislature in the capital city of this province, at a time when unemployment and distress are everywhere evident, and who with three months to think, think, think, heels the situation by coming out with beer."

He described it as being, "the rankest piece of diabolical, hypocritical bribery ever put before the people."

"And he is the premier — the highest man in the province of Ontario," he exclaimed. "Better to dig someone out of the graveyard and see if you can't put life into old bones and make something like a premier."

"Political knavery," the speaker opined, "never reached higher pitch than this."

Crisis Within a Crisis

Speaking of the defecit of the Canadian National Railways and the interest of $45,000 a day on the provincial debt, Mr. Smith stated that a crisis within a crisis had arisen, which he thought probable would result in the capitalist coming to a realization that he had reached a stage where the machinery could no longer move. That would be the time, he said, when the capitalist would either come to the working class and say you take it and see what you can make of it, or what was more probable it would result in the adoption of Fascist rule.

On the one hand, as the speaker saw the situation, it was a struggle for power on the part of the capitalists, and a struggle for the welfare of the people on the part of the socialists.

Section 98

Referring to the trial and imprisonment three years ago of Tim Buck and other Communists, Mr. Smith said they were arrested as members of an illegal organization. There had not been one iota of evidence produced at the trial, he claimed, that could show that these men had taught, advised or practiced violence against the government. They had been convicted solely because of a political offence. Nothing more Hitlerite had ever taken place in Germany itself.

Mentioning the fact that Tim Buck and his associates had been convicted under Section 98 of the Criminal Code, Mr. Smith again reverted to comment of the editorial in The Examiner. "The paper published in this city I think believes it is doing some clever work when it asks me to make a statement relative to Section 98. I suppose it is only in support of the party which the paper represents. I have no objection to having a paper offering sharp criticism, but when it begins to hand out such remarks it merely goes to show how temperamental and vindictive is its reaction."

Criticises Buck Jury

Quoting that section of the editorial which stated, "Under section 98, eight Canadians after a trial by a jury of their peers have been sentenced to imprisonment," Mr. Smith remarked, "I tell you the jury that that sat on these cases did not know what was going on in court. The language read to them was over their heads, and might just as well have been in a foreign language. The judge told Tim Buck he did not wish to hear what he had to say, and that the jury would decide the case."

Referring to another paragraph of the editorial in The Examiner which stated, "Mr. Smith usually howls to high heaven about freedom of speech in Canada," the speaker retorted, "The Examiner never heard me howl. I do speak with some force, having been in public life for forty years, and a member of the Methodist ministry which I left in 1919, because I differed with the church over policy regarding the Winnipeg strike. I feel I was right and it has so been proven that I was right. I have stood on my convictions and expect criticism, but I do say criticism should be political and purely political."

Also quoting from the editorial, Mr. Smith remarked, "I never said Canada was a garden of Eden. It is far from being that."

"Canning and Trickery"

Section 98 he described as being a fine piece of legal cunning and trickery which was put on the Statutes as a result of the Winnipeg strike. That he supposed was the sort of thing The Examiner supported. But he did not blame The Examiner for supporting such things. They were the things it was "paid" to support.

He defied The Examiner to produce any class of people who were being exploited in Soviet Russia to-day. There was not a single soul in prison in the Soviet Union, he said, because of his support of the working class organizations. He contrasted this condition by pointing out, "there are over two hundred people in prison in Canada merely because of their support of working class movements."

Industry Flourishing

He painted a glowing picture of the industrial situation in the Soviet Union stating that he was speaking from first hand information. In a large store in the city of Moscow, he said, he had seen shelves emptied of goods almost as fast as they could be filled up again. Silk, textile, pulp and pap-er, and all the major industries, he claimed were flourishing, while Russia for the first time had undertaken the manufacture of pianos, and the demand could not be supplied fast enough.

"There is no argument to put up. The capitalistic system has not a leg to stand on. Capitalism is not only unable to save civilization, but it is unable to maintain it," he concluded.

RICHARD HALL LIMITED

LIBERALS GAVE T. & N. O. RAILWAY TO ONTARIO, REVEALING WEALTH THAT HAS POURED FROM THE MINES

every year. Wouldn't it be far better business to pay this cost out of the gasoline tax? Last year the Henry goverment became economical as far as municipal roads were concerned, but this year they are spending large sums on roads in all directions. Is the reason for all this expenditure simply because the Government is going to the country?

I don't think there is any farmer who believes you can create prosperity by running the country into debt. If a man has a debt on his farm, he never thinks that he will pay off his debt by adding to it. The people who are getting the real benefit are the bondholders and you and I are the ones who have to pay the interest on all this borrowing.

In the last Dominon elections the Bennett government got into power by making big promises, and that looks like the policy of the Conservative party under Mr. Henry. But, we will find out, if the Conservatives go back, that they will be in the same position as the Bennett government, and that they won't be able to fulfill their promises. Their promises are all for the purpose of drawing the attention of the electors from the Government's record of piling up huge expenditure. I have been in the field for some time, and the results so far are very encouraging. In many cases Conservatives have told me they are tired of the extravagance that has been going on in the provincial administration.

Some of the people in this township may have received copies of "The Straight Furrow" and "The Searchlight." I just want to say that these publications have no connection with the Liberal party. So don't be misled by anything you read in them. They are intended to injure the Liberals. I have to apologize to the people of Douro for the short notice of this meeting, but that could not be helped. However, I hope that on June 19 Douro will return a good Liberal majority."

R. R. Hall, K.C.

"The Liberal party in this province does not have to apologize to the people for its record," said R. R. Hall. "It is true that we have to go back quite a bit, but it is worth while recalling how the Liberals conducted the affairs of Ontario.

The older people remember that in 1905 the Hon George Ross, leader of the Liberal government, was denounced up and down the province b ythe Conservatives for alleged extravagance in proposing to build a railway into Northern Ontario, into the country which even the late Sir James Whitney referred to as "the land of stunted poplar."

The Liberal party at that time when they were proposing to build the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, was dragooned out of power by a campaign of slander and misrepresentation.

I want to remind the older electors and to tell the young people that the total expenditure by the Ross Government in 1905 for all the public services of this province was only $5,300,954. That sum included the cost of carrying on the Government, the maintenance of our charitable institutions, hospitals, all school grants, and other public services. And yet, Hon. George Ross was hounded out of power by charges of extravagance.

Had No Capital Debt.

The debt of Ontario in 1905 was only $6,000,000, and that was a sum borrowed from the bank in connexion with the T. and N.O. railway. This province had no other indebtedness. That is the way the affairs of this province were managed by a Liberal government and it was due to the fact that Hon. Mr Ross had associated with him men like A. S. Hardy, Mowat, Christopher Fraser and others, men who were careful and prudent, who knew the value of a dollar and how to earn it honestly.

Remember this fact. In the construction of the T. and N.O. railway J. P. Whitney and other leaders of the Conservative party denounced the railway into our northland as a madcap scheme, and a waste of public money. But, when they came into power they went on with its construction, and the development of that great Liberal project has opened up one of the richest mining areas in the whole world.

In fact Hon Mr. Henry's manifesto states that the value of gold and precious metals produced in Northern Ontario has amounted to $745,000,000. And new mines are being developed from time to time.

Isn't it a proud satisfaction to every Liberal to know that by reason of the construction of the T. and N.O. railway and of the vision of those Liberal leaders who have gone to their graves, all this new wealth has been opened up to this province? When we look back to the Ross Government we may well ask when are we going to have another like it. That will depend upon the answer of the people of Douro, and the people of this county, and of this province as a whole.

By reason of that great Liberal propect, against the condemnation of the Conservatives of that time, Canada has become the second largest gold producing country in the world, having within the last few years passed the United States But when we open up new wealth, are we going to be like the prodigal son that squandered all the money his father gave him?

What we need at the head of our Government are careful and prudent men who know the value of a dollar and how hard it is to earn it And that is not the case in Ontario under the Henry government.

Comparison of Debts

I said that the debt of Ontario under the Liberal Government was only the $6,000,000 we borrowed from the banks to build the T. and N.O. Railway. Under the Conservative government our debt is almost $600,000,000 — one hundred times more than the debt when the Liberal government was hounded out of power.

In 1905 the Liberal government's expenditure for all public services was $5,300,000, but in 1930 when the Hon. Mr. Ferguson was appointed Canadian High Commissioner our annual expenditure had increased to $68,212,000. Premier Henry did not want to be outdone by Howard Ferguson, and he has increased the annual expenditure $4,681,000 more. He has now embarked on extravagant schemes by which he expects to persuade the electors to vote him into power again.

Where do the electors think all this money comes from? It comes out of their own pockets."

Mr. Hall said that because of the high taxation investors had lost confidence in land values, and it was virtually impossible to obtain loans on farm lands and town properties. He declared that the increase of Ontario's debt and annual cost of government had been out of all proportion with the increase in the population of this province, thereby heaping up the load on the individual citizen.

"Ontario can't borrow money unless it makes payments for the use of it. Municipal debentures used to be regarded as gilt-edged, but look at the number of municipalities in this province that have had to default their bonds. Their obligations have become so great that their bonds are not considered good investments. When municipalities cannot collect their taxes, the Lord help the poor property owners who can't make their payments. In many cases they are letting their property go.

Were Expenditures Prudent?

I don't say that the money has all been thrown away by the Conservative government. That would not be the truth. We have spent $186,000,000 on good roads which are a great convenience to the public. But, have we been prudent and careful in spending that money. Have we not gone to extremes in spending beyond the resources of the people and their ability to pay for these things?"

Mr. Hall suggested that it was the part of prudence to apply the gasoline taxes to paying the interest on the cost of the roads and also for setting up a reserve for retiring the bonds when they came due.

"If we continue on with the policy of Mr. Ferguson and Mr. Henry we are going to find a large section of the provincial highways worn out with the debt against us, and a further debt for the reconstruction of the roads. Is that good business? Of course it is not.

We look on Mr. Hawthorne just as one of ourselves, fighting our common battle in the interests of the taxpayers, and I sincerely hope that he will do it with a great deal of success. We have a candidate who is not a stranger to the people of the city. He was a first class Warden of the county. He is essentially honest. He knows the value of the dollar, and how hard he has to work for it. Mr. Hawthorne is the kind of man the people of this county and city needs. When you vote for him, you are voting for yourselves. You are elevating a man to a position of trust who you know will fulfill his duties and support an honest, progressive administration that will help us get back to the sound condition this province was in when it had the last Liberal government. I hope you are all going to give a vote for yourselves once in thirty years anyway."

J. J. Duffus.

Concluding the evening's speaking, Mr. Duffus traversed some of the ground covered by Mr. Hall stating that the people were prone to forget the government's maladministration. He dwelt particularly upon a review of the Hydro-Electric history, and affirmed that under Howard Ferguson and George Henry, the scheme of public ownership of power had been dragged down from the ideals in which it was conceived and projected by the late Sir Adam Beck.

"I am glad to be able to give Jim Hawthorne any help I can," Mr. Duffus said in reference to the candidate. "I have known him a long time. The people have every confidence in him, and no Liberal has to make any apology for Mr. Hawthorne. That is the kind of candidate we need.

I am proud to support Mitchell Hepburn, and after all the Tory press has said about him simply because he appears as a fearless opponent, I want to tell you that he is a practical farmer living near St. Thomas. He had a good schooling and for a time worked in a bank at St. Thomas. He then took an officer's course in banking at London, and at seventeen was senior cashier in a bank at Winnipeg When the war broke out he enlisted by telling a little lie about his age. As a result his parents had him recalled, and I don't know whether many people would blame them for that. At any rate Mitchell Hepburn waited until he was of age, and then joined the flying corps, but was injured in the course of training and had to return to the farm.

That was his record up to twenty years of age. He has been a member of the House of Commons for eight years, and he must have earned the confidence of the people of his riding because he won it for the Liberal party after it had been held by the Conservatives for thirty-eight years. He is young, able and energetic. I know of no young man in this province who could have dug up so much information about the Government's affairs against the difficulties Mitchell Hepburn has had to contend with.

In all the things the Tory press has said about him, at least they can't say anything about his honesty."

Mr. Duffus remarked that if people wondered what the result of the election was going to be they had only to hark back to Nova Scotia and British Columbia where Conservative administrations had been recently defeated.

"The Liberals came into office in 1871, and conducted the affairs of this province for thirty-three years under Blake, Hardy, Mowat and Ross. Up to 1905 they gave Ontario an honest and economical administration and when they were defeated in 1905 they left this province free of debt, except a floating loan for the building of the T. and N.O.

Hon. Mr. Henry says the Liberals didn't pay off the debt when they were in office. That is absolutely true, because the Liberals had no debt to pay off. But that is not what Mr. Henry meant. With all his experience he should have known the facts, and if he made that statement knowing the facts then he wasn't honest."

The meeting concluded with the singing of the National Anthem, after Mr. Hawthorne had appealed to the electors to make sure that the names of all qualified voters were placed on the list this week.

Two automobiles were badly damaged in an early morning collision at the Reid and Mcdonnel streets intersection, and while one of the vehicles was overturned no personal injuries were sustained by the occupants of either car. The accident occurred at about 12.15 a.m.

One of the cars was being driven south on Reid street, when it crashed broadside into the other vehicle which was proceeding east on McDonnel street across the intersection, overturning the eastbound car. BANDIT IS SLAIN DURING HOLD-UP Pal Wounded, 2 Others Escape as Hidden Bank Guards Open Fire.

2 WOMEN DRIVE CAR.

CHICAGO, May 25 (A.P.).—One bandit was killed and another wounded, perhaps mortally, to-day in an attempted robbery of the South Holland, Ill., Trust and Savings Bank.

Bank employees fought it out with the invaders in the bank and killed one outright.

The proximity of South Holland, a hamlet south of Chicago, near the Indiana line, to the scene of the killing of two East Chicago policemen last night gave rise to a report the bandits might have been the assailants of the Indiana officers.

Four men and two women were in the bandit gang.

While the two women stayed at the wheel of the car, the quartette of robbers marched into the bank precisely at 10 o'clock, the moment the time locks released the vault.

Guards had been posted in the balcony of the bank, alert for just such a raid. A machine-gun was turned loose on the robbers below and two of them fell.

The other two raced for the door and scrambled into their car, speeding away, while vigilantes already gathering around the bank, riddled the rear of the automobile with bullets. The fugitives sped northward toward Chicago.

REV. DR. BARR IS GUEST SPEAKER

Speaks at Empire Day Celebration at Confederation School.

Rev. Dr. Barr, of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, was the guest speaker at Confederation School on Wednesday afternoon for the observance of Empire Day celebration. The scholars with their teachers assembled in the school grounds and were joined by a good attendance of parents and friends. In speaking on the significance of Empire Day, Dr. Barr referred to the first celebration in Montreal, on May 22nd, 1889, and in the British Isles in 1904. It is owing to the Earl of Meath that the memory of Queen Victoria is honored by observation of her birthday on May 24th, now known as Victoria Day, and recognized as a holiday throughout the British Empire. The speaker referred to the sterling qualities required to be good citizens of the Empire—Honesty, Endurance, and Loyalty to the cause of Christ.

The pioneers had opened the way for the present generation of ten million people. It had been stated that Canada could support fifty or sixty million people, and the time may come when this statement may be an accomplished fact. The speaker concluded by expressing his appreciation of the invitation afforded him to address the gathering, and extended his best wishes to the pupils for a happy day. Mrs. H. B. Jackson, principal, extended sincere thanks to Dr. Barr for his interesting address. An enjoyable program of patriotic numbers was provided by the pupils. This included three choruses, "O Canada," "My Own Canadian Home," and the "Land of the Maple," under the direction of Mr. W. R. Potter; a chorus, "Boys of Canada," by seven boys from Miss Johnson's room, and a recitation by Mary Pitchford. Four girls and four boys from Miss Garbutt's room presented a short playlet on the "Union Jack," showing the union of the three flags of St. George, St. Andrew and St. Patrick. A very sweetly-sung two-part chorus was contributed by twelve girls from Mrs. Jackson's room.

The program concluded with a short pageant in commemoration of Jacques Cartier's landing in Canada 400 years ago, presented by the boys of Mrs. Jacksons' room.

Oxford Group Plans Series Of Meetings

Under the auspices of the local organization of the Oxford Group Movement, otherwise known as the First Century Christian Fellowship, a series of meetings is to be held in this city over the week-end.

On Saturday afternoon and evening what is known as a "school of life" is to be conducted in the Y.M.C.A. Board Room by the Belleville group of the movement, while on Sunday evening a meeting conducted by a team from the Oshawa group is to be held at Regent Theatre with an overflow meeting at Empress Hotel.

Pointing out that all the sessions are open to the public, a member of the movement told The Examiner: "We feel we have the best thing in the world to sell and we particularly desire to contact any people who do not attend church with any regularity." That he said, was the main reason why the group was holding the series of meetings at the Y.M.C.A., The Regent Theatre and the Empress Hotel, and not in one of the churches in the city.

Chile's present Congress is attempting to raise wages to living-cost levels.

TRANSLATION BILL CREATES LONG DEBATE

Government Claims One Department for All Translators Will be Economy.

NEW MARINE FLAG.

Dandurand Would Have Maple Leaf Used—Meighen Urges Delay.

OTTAWA, May 25 (C.P.)—The fight certain French-speaking Liberal members are waging against the Government's Translation Bill continues in the House of Commons to-day. The bill is in committee stage after having been approved by the Civil Service Committee.

The Government contends the bill, which will bring all translators in the various Government departments together in one bureau under a single executive, will result in economy and efficiency.

The Senate Banking Committee was the only Parliamentary group to work yesterday. The committee concluded its study of the new Shipping Bill, and will report it to the Senate on Tuesday. The measure provides a complete maritime law for Canada, and is one of the outcomes of the recent declarations of complete legislative sovereignty of the Dominions of the British Empire.

Similar Contents.

Hitherto Canada's shipping law has been largely enacted by the Imperial Parliament at Westminster. But although the new law will make the law purely Canadian in origin it will be similar to the shipping laws of other parts of the Empire. An effort has been made to maintain uniformity as far as possible.

The committee yesterday inserted The amendment would substitute a vide for a new Canadian marine flag which gave rise to a lively discussion of flags generally, their history and significance and the prospect of Canada eventually having a national flag.

The present Canadian marine flag is a blue ensign with the Union Jack in the upper corner next to the staff and the Canadian shield in the opposite lower corner. The amendment wold substitute a green maple leaf for the shield. Opponents of the change contended a marine flag should be based on the national flag and argued no change should be made until such time as the questtion of a national flag had been taken up and settled.

Hon. Raoul Dandurand, Liberal leader, pressed the amendment against the opposition of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, government leader. He said the committee by endorsing the change would put the flag question squarely up to the House of Commons and the Senate.

Regain Your Normal Figure

Common sense will do far more for you than any so-called panacea. Just live sensibly. You don't need to starve yourself. Eat enough to satisfy the demands of your body, but just be careful not to eat as many sweet, starchy foods, such as potatoes, sweet desserts, fat meats, etc. And, above all, be sure of complete elimination of body wastes.

Don't just take it for granted that there's nothing wrong with your eliminative system because your habits are regular. Regularity deceives thousands who, if they only realized it, could enjoy perfect health and proper weight all the time.

Once or twice each week enjoy a bracing, sparkling glass of Andrews Liver Salt. Andrews will help Nature to effect complete elimination, and so will help your body to throw off unwanted and unhealthful pounds.

The occasional sparkling glass of Andrews Liver Salt will purify and invigorate your whole system and ward off the "little ills". It will prevent those days of heavy body weariness and periodic attacks of headaches and indigestion. And it will help Nature bring you down to your proper size.

Try this common-sense way to achieve a normal, attractive figure. Eat moderately and take Andrews occasionally. Ask your druggist for Andrews Liver Salt. In tins, 35c and 60c. New, large bottle, 75c. Sole Agents: John A. Huston Co., Limited, Toronto 6R after celebrating the nation's first "Empire Air Day."

Headed by the King and Queen thousands of citizens yesterday saw displays of flying by the Royal Air Force and visited Air Force stations or civil airports thrown open to the public. Their Majesties, accompanied by Lord Londonderry, Secretary for Air, motored from Sandringham to the Royal Air Force station at Bircham in Norfolk to watch an exhibition of flying.

Guests at a luncheon of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in London heard Prime Minister R. B. Bennett of Canada convey the Dominion's greetings to Sir Kingsley Wood, Postmaster-General, over wireless telephone. The Prime Minister's voice was heard through amplifiers after the red-coated toastmaster had asked silence, just as though Mr. Bennett was standing in the room.

The nation earlier heard an Empire Day radio program from Australia. After hearing Mr Bennett Sir Kingsley told the luncheon audience he hoped Canada would provide a special Canadian program that would be picked up at the Empire wireless station and rebroadcast to all other parts of the Commonwealth.

In the evening Lord Londonderry told the Royal Empire Society aviation was an important means of unifying the Empire, but that it could be united only through the "spirit of comradeship and understanding which so often outweighs divergnecies of our interests.

"If we are careful to preserve that spirit it will enable us to fulfull our great mission of seeking to establish security, peace, and orderd progress," he said.

GENERAL BALBO ENGINEERED RECENT REVOLTS IN ARABIA

world, which would in the end have required strong intervention on the part of Britain which will not tolerate, because it cannot afford, to have a state of insecurity on the borders of the Suez Canal, the main artery connecting Britain with her colonies and possessions in the East. The absolute and undisputed control of that canal is one of the few issues over which Britain will not hesitate to go the limit. The Suez Canal is the Empire's nerve centre. Its possession or loss are matters of life and death to London.

Colony Heavily Militarized

Italy's intentions in backing the Iman of Yemen against Ibn Saud are not wrapped in any mystery. Italy has a colony, Eritrea, right across the Red Sea from Yemen, in Africa. An extensive trade, especially in slaves, links Eritrea and Yemen. Ibn Saud, the king of the Hedjahs, is opposed to slavery and his influence is spreading throughout the Arabic world. For interfering with the profitable slave-trade which runs into the millions of human beings, according to figures submitted to the League of Nations, Italy did not hesitate to supply Yemen with the means to attack Ibn Saud. The Italians are also using Eritrea as a base of expansion in the Near East. The colony is heavily militarized to an extent far beyond actual needs. The incursion into the British Soudan recently, the slow advance through the Lybian desert by Italian troops, are all part of one and the same device to encircle Abyssinia and push the other powers towards an abrogation of Abyssinian independence, after which Italy hopes to get the major share of Aybssinian territory.

Italy is still bitter over having been left out of the division of the spoils in the Near East, after having entered the war on the distinct understanding that she was to have Smyrna and Anatolia in the event the allies were victorious.

Balbo Back of Outbreak

Marshal Italo Balbo, who led the aerial armada to the Chicago World's Fair last summer, is in charge of operations in Eritrea, and it is he who was the deus ex machina behind the Yemen outbreak. Mussolini's most recent speech, in which he said that the destiny of the Italian people lies in Africa and Asia, assumes new significance in the light of present-day events. Yemen is in Asia.

The Italians committed a great blunder in underestimating or not taking into account the strength of King Ibn Saud of the Hedjahs. Ibn Saud did not sit idly by when the Iman of Yemen started to raid his outlying desert provinces. With his army of 100,000 men, which boasts twelve aeroplanes, twenty tanks, and a large number of machine guns, he made short work of the Yemen cavalry.

So far, Britain is not involved, although the possiility is not excluded, should the effervescence in the Arabic world, aroused by Ibn Saud's sensational victories, spread to British mandated territories, Trans-jordan, Sinai, Palestine, and even to Irak. If that happens, the talians may congratulate themselves on having given the lion's tail a firm twist.

ITALO BALBO
He Backed the Wrong Horse.

Italian Ships First

British warships have left Malta to stand by at Hodeida, the port of Yemen. Italian cruisers, which only had to cross the Red Sea, stationed as they were on the coast of Eritrea, which is just across the Yemen, were first to arrive "to protect Italian interests." The fact that Italian ships were there first did cause a moment's consternation in London. The incident will only serve to speed the construction of the war-harbor at Haifa in Palestine, which is to become the great guardian of the Suez Canal, oil station for the fleet (through the Mosul pipe-line now under construction), and aeroplane base for the whole Near East at the same time. Not Italian ships, but British ships will be first on hand next time.

There is no doubt that King Ibn Saud intends to pursue his initial success with a complete subjugation of the Yemen kingdom. A dispatch from the king's headquarters via Cairo says: "Ibn Saud's government considers itself responsible for the administration of the occupied territories and the king's government is also prepared to bear the responsibility for the territories to be occupied shortly."

The foreign minister of Saudi Arabia further states: "I assure the world that the government's mission will be based on justice and will ensure every protection to foreign residents n the occupied territories, who will be treated on the same footing as all others."

When Ibn Saud captures the whole of Yemen he will institute his own code of law, drawn up in 1927 for all Arabic peoples, according to which no man may shave his beard, no woman wear make-up in public, and every male above the age of thirteen must, on the penalty of death, recite the holy prayers of Islam prescribed by Mohammed three times a day.

Weddings

PARKES—ADKINSON

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Georges Church at 1.30 p.m. on Thursday(Victoria Day), when Winifred, eldest daughter of Mrs. Adkinson and the late Fred Adkinson, was united in the bonds of holy matrimony to Mr. William Frank Parkes, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Parkes, of 206 Braidwood Avenue. The Rev. J. L. Hughes, rector, performed the ceremony.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, Mr. Edward Adkinson, to the strains of the "Lohengrin" Bridal Chorus, played by Mrs. R. King. She was attired in a lovely ensemble of pale pink crepe, the short coat being beautifully embroidered in contrasting colors. Her hat was of the same shade of pink, and her shoes and hose of pale grey. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and gypsophila. She was attended by her sister, Annie, who wore a becoming dress of poudre blue crepe, with light hat, and sand shoes and hose. Her bouquet was of pink carnations and gypsophila. The bridegroom was supported by his brother, Mr. Tom Parkes. During the service Mrs. Ernest Kitney, wearing an ensemble of white and black, sung in sweet voice the hymn, "O Perfect Love." Following the ceremony, a reception for the bridal party and immediate relatives was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents. The happy young people left by the afternoon train for Toronto, where the honeymoon will be spent. The bride's travelling suite was of grey with blue hat and grey accessories. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Parkes will reside in Peterborough.

LINDSAY NEEDS EXTRA WATER WELL

Jordan Roberts Firm to Sink New Well Free of Charge Under Terms of Contract.

LINDSAY, May 25 (Special to Examiner) — The town's supply of water furnished from wells sunk by the Jordan Roberts Co., Limited, Brantford, having fallen below the guarantee, another well is being sought to increase the supply. The firm, it is understood, will sink a well near the Horn Bros. Woollen Mill, at no cost to the town. The contract guarantee was one and one half million gallons per day. While there is plenty of water to supply the town's needs, the unusual low water conditions prevailing throughout the country at the present time have caused the wells to drop below contract.

The funeral of the late Martin J. Devine, who was fatally injured on his farm near King's Wharf, Emily, on Tuesday afternoon, took place yesterday morning from his late residence, Glenelg street, to St. Mary's Church, and was largely attended. Requiem Mass was chanted by Rev. Father Welsh, after which the cortege proceeded to St. Luke's cemetery, Downeyville, the services at the grave being conducted by Rev. Father McFadden.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Mary's Church yesterday morning when Ray Scott, formerly of Belleville, and a member of the Lindsay Daily Post staff, was united in marriage to Miss Marguerite Sadler, daughter of the late William and Mrs. Sadler, of Lindsay. Rt. Rev. Monsignor McColl celebrated the nuptial mass and also performed the ceremony. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Thomas Sadler, was assisted as bridesmaid by Miss Marguerite Hartnett, while the groomsman was J. Scott, of Belleville, brother of the groom.

With Famous English Formula

"For five years," reads one typical letter from an English user, "I suffered with stomach trouble (acidity). I tried almost everything but got little relief ... PRINCE PLEADS FOR WIDER USE EMPIRE TIMBER Too Large Portion of Imports Still Coming From Foreign Nations.

POSITION IMPROVING.

Appeals to Architects to Extend Use of Empire Timbers.

LONDON, May 25 (C.P.)—Suggestion that too large a proportion of British timber imports still coming from foreign sources was made by the Prince of Wales Wednesday, presiding over a meeting of the Empire Forestry Association held at South Africa house.

The Prince said however he was glad to note the position was improving. About one-third of the hardwoods required in Britain were coming from the empire, and domestic supplies brought the total to half the requirements.

The softwoods position was not nearly so favorable, His Royal Highness pointed out. "We must always depend on foreign countries for a great part of our softwood supplies, but the empire might send much more than they do."

At present, he continued, only eight per cent. of British softwoods requirements were met from the empire, and only two per cent from Britain itself. Only Canada could supply softwoods and there had been a large increase in Canadian exports in recent months.

Extend Use of Empire Timbers

He appealed to architects and others to extend the use of empire timbers immediately.

The Prince expressed regret at reports of retrenchment in certain empire forestry services during recent years. Forestry should be regarded as a long-term investment, he declared, calling for steady pursuit of a single policy. He pleaded with all governments of the empire to hesitate long before reducing their forestry establishments.

He would like to see in every legislature of the empire some members who were thoroughly conservant with the principles of forestry, the Prince added. He believed the result would be to restrain governments from sudden changes in policy. It would also help to mould useful legislation.

The Prince commented on the smallness of the personnel delegated to look after the empire's huge forestry resources.

Lord Stoneham, former Governor-General of Australia, was elected chairman of the association.

Unemployed Picnic Is Great Success

The picnic for the children under the auspices of the United Worker's Front held at Jackson's Park on May 24th on the whole was a decided success.

The committee at times had difficulty in handling the children, so anxious were they to receive the dainties. All their wants were fulfilled eventually as their happy, smiling faces did show. The children were conveyed by trucks from the Market Square from 12.30 p.m. to 1.30 p.m. Ice cream cones were handed out to eager little hands and candies at various intervals. The children had large capacity for consumption as almost 25 gallons of ice cream was consumed. Sandwiches, cake and fruit was served at lunch with as much milk as was possible for the children to drink.

The orchestra was in attendance dressed in natty cow boy uniforms, their music was much appreciated by all. In evening a group played guitars and sang songs. A spirited horse shoes match by the men was held. Short speeches were made by members of the committee.

A novel way of cleaning up the park was inaugurated by Mrs. Childs. Three dollars in nickels had been donated so each boy and girl was paid five cents for his and her bundle of rubbish he or she collected and deposited in one central spot.

A day closed which will be long remembered by the children. The trucks used were supplied by Mr. Fine and Mr. Geishman. The clown for the picnic was Mr. Brown.

After the picnic dinner was over, the crowd watched a game of baseball in a big field. Later, some of the energetic members hiked to Gull Lake, and after supper, the group motored home, where a program of games and an hour of dancing was enjoyed in the parish hall. BIDDING TWO NO-TRUMPS

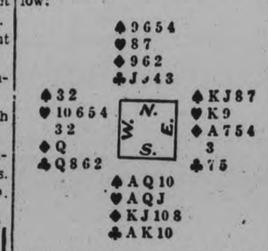
In 30 specimens of thoroughly sound forcing bids of two no-trumps I encountered only two which gave any trouble. One yielded a grand slame, five gave small slams and the remainder gave 24 games, either at no-trumps or suits. Even the two hands where dummy held no card higher than a jack went game at no-trumps, thanks to the bristling honors filling the declaring hand. One of these hands is below:



South made an opening forcing bid of two no-trumps, which his partner raised to three no-trumps, although he held no possible trick. The opening lead was the four of hearts. Declarer's ace captured East's king. The declarer saw an opportunity to establish the jack of clubs in dummy. He led his ace and king, then West was in with the queen of clubs. East discarded his lowest spade.

Naturally, West led another heart, taking East's last card of that suit and alowing South to win with his jack. It appeared to the declarer that dummy could be put in the lead after South had given opponents two diamond tricks. He led the jack and West was in with his lone queen of diamonds. West was no better off than he had been before. He had to choose between leading up to South's spades, which would not harm the declarer, or of giving South his last heart trick and obliging him to do his own leading. He chose the latter course and South won his third heart trick. East discarded a diamond.

South felt that he had to establish a good diamond in dummy, even at the risk of finding West with the missing ace, and two long hearts, which would put the contract down a trick, but the remainder of the tricks would belong to South. The declarer led the king of diamonds, but East passed the trick. He had no intention of allowing dummy's nine to become good. The eight of diamonds and dummy's nine went to East's ace. East led back a diamond, putting South in the lead, as East wanted, above all things, to have spades led up to him.

South saw what East wished, so he led the ten of spades. East's jack won the fourth ann last trick for the defenders, as the return lead had to be a spade, and the declarer won his two tricks required for game with the ace and queen of spades. Seven playing tricks in four short suits gives astonishing elasticity to a hand, amost regardless of what dummy holds. Such holdings are next to impossible to defeat.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

There is something vital in the association of ideas, and for this reason there is a significance in a name. The very word sunset casts its impression of gorgeous color, and a glowing sky. The word blossoms suggests the beauty of plant life and a hint of fragrance. Shakespeare was pondering over this idea when he wrote:

"What's in a name? That which we call a rose
By any other name would smell as sweet."

* * * * * * *

It cannot be denied that the perfume of "that which we call a rose" would be unaltered, whatever the name we called it. But should we call it camphor would we not be biased and find the perfume rather pungent than usual, at least until the name camphor was transferred to the flower and we associated the mellow fragrance of the rose with its new name?

* * * * * * *

Family names become endeared to us by association with personalities bearing them, or they repel us because we happened to find the people uncongenial, however estimable they might be, or might have been. Ancestral names appeal to us since they once belonged to our forbears. Generally they have the added charm of having been used in succeeding generations.

* * * * * * *

To such extent is this true that in some countries where a family name would die out because there was no male in a new generation to carry it on, it is not unusual for some near young male relative to be adopted and so prevent the name from discontinuing. The same blood would run in the veins of the adopted young male. It would merely be by fortune of fate that the name was different because of female rather than male lineage. So we have come to realize that there is something to the question, "What's in a name?" which deserves an affirmative reply.

ENNISMORE COUPLE CELEBRATE 51ST WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. John O'Connor Raised Family of Ten.

LIVED IN PETERBOROUGH.

As a young bride of twenty-two summers Ellen Hobin was united in marriage to John O'Connor at Ennismore Church just a little over fifty-one years ago, the ceremony being performed by the late Rev. Father Kilty, the parish priest.

Chatting with an Examiner reporter outside her home near Ennismore Cross, Mrs. O'Connor still hale and hearty despite her seventy-three years, recalled how on May 22, 1883, she and her prospective bridegroom drove to church for the ceremony from the latter's residence at Gannon's Narrows. The cab, she remembered, was drawn by a fine team of snowy white horses and the day was a fair but windy one.

Her husband, John O'Connor, son of the late Thomas and Mary O'Connor, of Irish descent, was born in Ennismore Township over eighty years ago. At present sickness keeps him confined to his bed for a greater part of the time.

Lived In City.

Mr. O'Connor followed his trade as a carpenter, not only in his native Township but in Peterborough in which city he worked for a number of years for Thomas Ephgrave among others. He was employed on the reconstruction of the Quaker Oats plant following the disastrous fire of some years back.

Mrs. O'Connor, daughter of the late John Hobin and Ellen Shyn, was born in Lindsay. Asked how old she was, Mrs. O'Connor replied, "I am seventy-three and still hearty. They can't kill me."

She expressed her intention of going to the polls to cast her vote in the provincial election on polling day.

Family of Ten

Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor raised a family of seven boys and three girls, who are all living. They are: Patrick, William, Frank, Larry, Alphonse, Michael, and Thomas, and Mary, Margaret and Kathleen. All are married and away, with exception of Michael who lives at home with his parents. The old couple have over twenty grandchildren living. One of the grandchildren met his death in this city during the past winter in a tobbogganing fatality at James Stevenson Park.

After residing in Peterborough for nineteen years, Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor returned to Ennismore Township about three years ago, mainly on account of Mr. O'Connor's failing health. But Mrs. O'Connor expressed a preferment for the city life, with its many conveniences and handy shopping facilities.

Mr. O'Connor has been retired from his trade as a carpenter for the past twelve years.

WILMINGTON, Del., May 25 (AP)—The United States took a 2-0 lead over Canada in the opening round of the American zone play of the Davis Cup tennis championships yesterday on the turf course of the Wilmington Country Club.

Francis X. Shields of New York defeated Walter Martin, No. 1 ranking player of Canada, in the second singles, 6—2, 6—3, 9—7.

To-day Rainville and Martin will return to the courts to play George M. Lott Jr. of Chicago and John Van Ryn of East Orange, N.J., in the doubles match.

The two singles matches will be played Saturday. Should the United States win the doubles, it is expected Shields will play Gilbert Nunns of Toronto, captain of the Canadian forces, while Stoefen takes on young Laird Watt of Montreal.

Petes Split Doubleheader With G.&W. Grads

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

BEAUTIFUL THORNcliffe throws open the gates on Monday to what should be the usual successful meeting for the popular Leaside course. Billy Woollatt, the most popular and colorful figure in Canadian racing will again be at the helm. He is the man that introduced the daily double and the one-two system of wagering into Canada, and always has some new innovation for his patrons. He believes in the old business slogan "The customer is always right, and is very popular with the public and horsemen alike.

Eddie Seagram expects his recent acquisition of Chat Eagle to account for a purse in the near future. This one is on razor edge right now, so don't let him slip away from you. They expect Crap Shooter to do business in a big way. He was shipped here from across the line, not just with the idea of giving him his summer holidays. Bill Weant has Wise Anne, and Prince Fox quartered up at Thorncliffe and both are fit as a fiddle. Meridian Queen has been beaten her last few starts but will wake up one of these fine days and surprise the natives. Protractor is another sleeper who will wake up without the assistance of an alarm clock.

DOWN AT Belmont Park in New York they have our old friend Deduce all primed for a winning effort. He finished second on last Tuesday and the very next start we look for him to do the trick. The Smallman Stable have not had much luck lately with their good sprinter Golden Fate, but don't sour on this one as he will come to life when least expected, and the reward will be plenty.

We suppose you noticed where Lloyd Gentry put over Easter Hatter the other day at Detroit at about fifteen to one. This is the gentleman that the Canadian Racing Association would not grant a licence to this year. If you watch the entries you will see that he has a few more surprises stabled over there. He sure has the knack of making the slow ones turn on a burst of speed, especially when the price is right.

HOROMETER showed that his King's Plate triumph was no flash in the pan when on Wednesday he won the Breeder's Stakes. Incidentally we will give ourselves a pat on the back as we called the first three horses exactly right in this event Faux Pas was another of our good things that did not fail us. Double Dare is getting a few starts these days and should be in great shape for Dufferin. This is his stamping ground.

SCRIVER HOLDS RIVERDALE NINE TO EIGHT HITS

Backed by Airtight Support, The Spook Hurls Himself to 6-2 Win After Shaky Start.

PETES GET 10 SAFETIES.

Clark, Murray, Burton and Hollingsworth Hold Lime-light in Local Field.

With Spook Scriver letting Riverdale Grads down with eight scattered hits, the Petes took the afternoon game yesterday, 6 to 2, before a thousand fans in Stevenson Park. The Spook, throwing with a sore arm, got himself into several bad holes, but pitched out of them, aided by airtight support after a shaky first frame. He fanned four, bearing down in the pinches. Calhoun, Toronto twirler, was nicked for ten safe blows, the Petes hitting in timely style with runners on the paths. His teammates played errorless ball back of the husky righthander.

Harper, Eisen, Sones and Calhoun all had a bunch of nice fielding chances for the Grads. The latter led them at bat with three, while Upper came through with two. Clark, Murray, Burton and Hollingsworth looked good in the field for Knotty Lees team. Scriver, Ash, Whatley and Foley each banged out two safe hits, with Murray clouting a two-bagger to deep left.

PIRATES HOLD ONE-HALF GAME NATIONAL RACE

Buccaneers Rally in Eighth to Defeat Braves 7-3 in Hub City.

CUBS ON DECLINE.

Hubell Limits Chicago to Four Hits and One Run as Giants Win 7-1.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The current trend of the National League race instead of heading toward a decision of some sort appears to be toward keeping the teams as closely bunched as possible for as long as they can hold out. Ever since the Giants ran into difficulties in the west that knocked them out of the lead it has been a four-club race between Chicago Pittsburgh, St. Louis and New York with every team experiencing ups and downs that have kept them close together.

Today's standing found Pittsburgh's Pirates with a clear lead of a half game after their 7-3 triumpho ver Boston Braves, coupled with New York's 7-1 victory over the Cubs had wiped out the situation whereby it was necessary to watch the perdentages closely to see which team was ahead.

Chicago had dropped to third a few percentage points behind the Cards, who trounced Brooklyn 7-3 while the fourth-place Giants were only one full game behind the pacesetters.

Homer Starts Fireworks

A home run by Harry Lavagetto, rookie infielder, provided the spark that touched off the Pittsburgh fireworks. It came in the seventh to give the Bucs a 3-2 lead in a duel between Bill Swift and Ed Brandt. Then Pittsburgh went on to get four more tallies in the eighth. Carl Hubbell, thoroughly trounced by the Cardinals his last time out, came back to hold Chicago to four singles in the smashing Giant triumph while the New Yorkers belted Bud Tinning and Jim Weaver around to score in six different innings.

Misplays Costly

The Cardinal advance resulted in steady and timely hitting with Dutch Leonard as the principal victim, plus a couple of Brooklyn misplays and some effective hurling by Tex Careton. Curt Davis, who appears to be fulfilling some of Manager Jimmy Wilson's hopes for an effective pitcher, won the other National league contest for the Phillies, 5-0 as he limited the last place Cincinnati club to three hits, a critical time. He played in good style and was not afraid to hit a loose ball.

Clean Hitting.

Hamilton was out at 6 2, but with the match safely won, Mawhood and Dyer flogged the weak Ontario bowling all over the field and gave an exhibition of clean hitting and rapid scoring which makes cricket so interesting to watch. Dyer made his 27 in 15 minutes, and when the century was reached, Mawhood retired, having scored 37 in quick time. fter that the end son came at 128.

The fielding of the Peterborough men was distinctly good, but the Ontario men lost many runs through their slovenly work in that department, though Alexander made two good catches in the outfield.

On Saturday the locals play Trinity College at Port Hope, and Whittaker's take on the Grove School at Lakefield.

The following will represent Peterborough at Port Hope. Meet Paragon at 1 o'clock:

LOCAL CRICKETERS WIN IN FIR ST ROUND MATCH

Visitors Fare Badly at Start to Lose County Game 128 to 42.

WEAK IN FIELD.

By J. A. Ireson

This match in the first round of the Cricket County Championship for possession of the R. C. Matthews Trophy was played at Nicholls Oval on Thursday, May 24. This virtually resolved itself into a fight between two very old rivals in every form of sport, Peterborough and Oshawa. The Peterborough County team being made up of eight from the Peterborough Club and three from Whittaker's; while the Ontario team was made up of players from Oshawa.

The game was not scheduled to start till 2.30; and that was very late. All these County matches are scheduled for public holidays in order to esure a full day's play, and an earlier start should be made, especially as we are on standard time. However, as it turned out, there was ample time to finish the match, which resulted in a very easy victory for the home side. They were superior at every point and came out winners by 128 runs to 42.

Fare Badly at Start.

Captain Frank Dyer won the toss and put the visitors in to bat, but they fared badly before the bowling of Dyer and F. Jefferson, the latter starting off in brilliant style, clean bowling three batsmen with almost unplayable balls; and they had half the side out for 19 runs. The rot continued and the side were all out for 42. bout the best form being shown by young . Sargent, who went in last and scored 8 runs in nice style, including a hit for 4.

Peterborough opened their innings by J. Lawrence (who bats lefthanded), and the Rev. E. Worrall. The former was bowled at the total of 8, but J. Gore, joining the reverend gentleman from Havelock, a fine stand was made and the total reached 29 before Worrall was bowled. Don Mitchell joine Gore, but left at 34, but on Mawhood coming in, the match was won with only three men out. Gore was soon afterwards out for a really valuable, well-played innings of 20, made at

SENIORS DROP MORNING TILT TO GRADS 7-2

Toronto Clinches Win With Five Runs in Third and Fourth Frames.

TOO MANY ERRORS.

Burton and Playford Lead Local Hitters With Two Each.

The Petes dropped their morning ball game yesterday to Riverdale Grads by a 7-2 score before about four hundred fans in Stevenson Park. Two bad frames, the third and fourth, in which the Grads were handed five runs, spoiled an otherwise fine exhibition of baseball for the home rooters. Big Archie Deyell pitched a good game, except for these two innings but kicked in with three costly errors himself. His teammates were somewhat shaky behind him at times. Art Upper, on the other mound, kept the locals 'eight hits scattered as he fanned ten, receiving good support.

Eisen and Upper were the best of the visitors in the field, while Harper ran far to rope in a foul fly. Tolchard topped the Toronto hitters with three, while Eisen and Harper each got two. Konopka, Batten and Ash were outstanding defensively for the Petes, with Whatley and Burton also grabbing hard catches. Burton and Playford led the hitters with two each. Manager Buck McKenna of the Grads was chased in the ninth for disputing an umpire's decision on a fair hit ball.

FORTY CLOUTS AT BALTIMORE AS CHIEFS WIN

9 Pitchers Worked as Syracuse Defeats Orioles 18-14 in Free-scoring Tussle.

ROYALS SPLIT PAIR.

Mediocre Pitching Largely to Blame for Leafs' Double Beating at Toronto.

(By The Associated Press)

Seasonal batting records for the International League fell thick and fast in the latest encounter between Syracuse Chiefs and Baltimore Orioles, the loop's cellar dwellers.

All previous marks for total runs and total hits this season were shattered yesterday when the Chiefs rallying for four runs in the ninth, defeated the Orioles, 18-14 at Baltimore.

Nine pitchers, five for Baltimore and four for Syracuse, toiled during a game that lasted three hours and allowed a total of 40 hits, the losers outhitting the Chiefs 21-19. Johnny Watwood and Manager Andy High led the Syracuse assault with four hits each. Tom Oliver and Woodley Abernathy did likewise for the Orioles, Abernathy's string including a pair of home runs. Joe Judge, new Baltimore manager, inserted a pinch single, scoring two runs, in the midst of Baltimore's five-run rally that tied the score in the eighth.

While Syracuse thus was protecting its hold on seventh place, Rochester Red Wings dropped Toronto Maple Leafs in both ends of a double header, 7-5 and 12-6, and increased their lead over Newark to 2½ games. Ray Harrell pitched his fifth successive victory in the opener although laced for 11 hits and removed in favor of Tony Kaufmann with two out in the ninth inning of the opener. Lefty Michaels had the Leafs beaten 12-1 after eight innings of the second game but the Canucks drove him from the box with a seven-run rally in the ninth that at least made the score more respectable. Ival Goodman of Rochester and Joe Morrissey of Toronto led the hitters with five safeties apiece. The double defeat dropped Toronto deeper into third pace, two games back of Newark.

Bears Stop Albany

Newark got fine pitching from Burly Walter Brown and stopped Albany 9-1. Brown granted only six hits while the Bears bunched hits with passes to score all their runs in the fifth and eighth innings.

Montreal took the first game of a doubleheader from Buffalo 7-2 as Chad Kimsey pitched six-hit ball, but the Bisons came back to win the second contest 8-4, hammering Ray Fritz from the box in four innings.

McMASTER'S LATE COUNTER SAVES DAY FOR ELECTRICS

Teams Battle Strenuously Through Regulation Time to End Game in Draw.

SNAPPY EXHIBITION.

The exhibition tilt between the Scots and C.G.E. yesterday afternoon, proved to be more than a friendly, because the issue was fought out to the limit until the final whistle announced the contestants standing at 3-3 count. McMaster rattled in two goals in the closing moments when the Scots were minus a man.

First Half

The opening stages opened up at a terrific pace with the half backs concentrating in steady tackling to offset the clever combination of the front rank. After ten minutes' play, Newt Downer evaded the opposition nicely to send the ball across to his brother George, who slammed a hot drive into the rigging. The C.G.E. went back into the Scots' territory to find Green repeatedly robbing them of openings. Another break away by Hallar left his team-mate in possession, who slipped the ball back to him in front of goal where he sent a low grounder, inside the upright. On the next visit by C.G.E., McMaster took advantage of the misunderstanding of the defence to beat Tice at close range. Just before the interval, the Caleys confined the play to their opponents' goal, where N. Downer rapped a hot drive past Curtis for number three. Caleys, 3; C.G.E., 1.

Second Half

It was evident from the keen display of movements in mid-field that the contestants were taking the issue more as a cup tie than a friendly game. Play ran from end to end with the half backs being most prominent in keen tackling that prevented the forwards making any progress around goal. Eventually McMaster reduced the lead when the ball was picked out of the net after a scrimmage in front of goal. On one occasion, Barson went right through the C.G.E. defence, and had only the goal-keeper to beat when McMaster upset him amidst appeals of protests. The Caley man was injured the next few minutes and retired, and with only ten men the Scots held the C.G.E. scoreless, and C.G.E. added the power play to get a lucky draw out of the issue and escape a defeat. Caledonians, 3; G.C.E., 3.

Goal scorers.—C.G.E.: McMaster (3). Caleys: C. Downer, E. Hallar and N. Downer.

Caledonians.—E. Tice, goal; A. Downer and D. Green, full backs; D. Whatman, D. Webb and A. Downer, halves; N. Downer, F. Dyer, C. Barson, E. Hallar and G. Downer, forwards.

C.G.E. — W. Curtis, goal; A. Mitchell and J. Chamberlain, full backs; W. Robb, E. Johes and Cordory, halves; S. McIntosh, F. Earle, B. McMaster, T. McPhate and A. Stevens, forwards.

Referee—Alex. McKinley.

PONIES OPEN LEAGUE HERE

Bill Calladine and Yammy Jamieson to Hook-up in Pitchers' Duel.

CHANGED ROSTERS.

The C.O.B.L. lid is hoisted here to-morrow (Saturday) with the Kingston Ponies opening the season with the Petes at three o'clock in Stevenson Park. All the old enmity existing between these finalists last year will be resumed, with both squads anxious to grab off the first game. The champions will have a few new faces in their lineup, but the Petes also have changed considerably from the team that fell before the Ponies last fall. A huge crowd will likely be out to see Manager Jimmy Arnell's crew again in a league game.

Yammy Jamieson is slated to hurl, and the cocky little right-hander expects to start off the season with a win. If necessary, he will be relieved by "Speedy" St. Louis, newcomer. Jim Arneil will catch, with Abber Joyce on first, Quinn on second, Hewitt Smith on third, Tommy Boyd or Stone at short; and the outfield made up of H. Clark, Jerry Arnell, G. Clark or Scrutton. This club was always a hard hitting bunch. Bill Calladine will twirl for the Lee team, and the lineup otherwise will be the same as yesterday when the locals divided a double-header with the classy Riverdale Grads of Toronto.

(Herb. Martin)

Before the largest gathering of bowlers that ever attended an opening day, J. T. Braund, president of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club officially declared the season of 1934 open.

In his remarks the president said that the Bowling Club was glad to see so many out, especially the new faces, and hoped as is usual in cases of this kind, that the best teams would win.

Twenty-four rinks comprised the draw—a record entry.

The new skips—Moyer, Barr, Smith and Martin—certainly turned in fine efforts.

The grass was a little green—but then you should have seen some of the bowling.

Three games in one afternoon were just three games too many for some of the skips.

George Giroux, who helped to organize the first bowling club in Peterborough in the year 1894 was an interested spectator.

Over 25 percent of the entry list was made up of new bowlers.

To Dr. Allan goes the credit of scoring the first 8 end of the season—Andy Brown being the victim.

The winners were:

J. Kingsbury	E. Coleman
Miss P. Coleman	Mrs. L. Riley
R. Brown	W. Jeffries
K. Sleave	J. H. Sedgewick
Skip	Skip.

Martin Burke got $1,000 per week absorbing punches in Jack Dempsey's training camps....and din't earn over $2,000 of it.

And now we can turn our attention to smacking over the Kingston Ponies. Local ball fans get a large chunk of joy out of seeing a nice four-ply clout conked by any of the Petes. And they get even more pleasure out of putting an umpire on the spot—going as far as hauling a luckless official to within a few feet of the river before the law spoiled everything. But, all things considered, probably the biggest baseball thrill there is around these parts is to see the Petes wallop Kingston! The battling, cock-sure Ponies are good and know it, and they've caused the locals plenty of grief from year to year. Hence, it is an occasion for celebrating when Messrs. Jamieson, Arnell, Stone, etc., take a licking here. The Petes will try hard to open the season right tomorrow here by stampeding said Ponies.

They didn't do half bad yesterday, splitting a twin-bill with Riverdale Grads. They took it where the whiskers sprout in the a.m. fixture by a 7-2 headshake, but came back after lunch to grab a 6-2 smirk. A small crowd saw the reverse, but a goodly number were on deck for the win, and they must have been impressed by the showing the boys piloted by Knotty Lee made against the coming champs of the Ulster League. This team trimmed Oshawa twice so far, 11-0 in six innings last time.. So what? So their loop officials will now begin to wonder why they didn't try to get the Petes in their circuit instead of the Dukes.

Archie Deyell had a lot of tough luck in the morning game. At times, he was hurling lovely ball. But he ran into grief in the third frame, a couple of scratch hits, a hit batsman and a couple of boots sending across two runs. Then in the fourth, they bunched four hits with a sacrifice and error to grab three more. But outside of those two tough sessions, the Petes were just as good. As a matter of fact, the Grads only earned two runs in that game! The players were a bit nervous at the start and had tough luck, that's all. The Grads are good, but in a few more weeks, the Petes should be able to lick them handily.

The afternoon fray was something else again. The homesters tried hard to blow up in the very first inning but only let in one run. Thus, they went to work and had a slight edge every inning after that. They hit in the right spots and showed some classy fielding. And Spook Scriver was whipping his fast ball over, or bending his sharp curves, in very promising manner. In fact, he earned himself a berth on the team by his showing—sore arm and all. He soaked it between innings in a liniment that smelled strong enough to pull a truck out of a mudhole, and he managed to finish though it was painful. When the flipper comes around, the Spook will be a big help to the Petes. Ike Batten also had a sore arm.

• • • • • • •

All the players showed up well, though Cy Whatley's throws to the bases weren't what he is capable of, and a few errors didn't look too good. But with more play and warmer weather, this team is going places and no mistake. The new rightfielders, Hollingsworth and Playford, are fitting in fine. Murray and Konopka look like real ball players afield and at bat. The pitching staff is coming along okay, and the regulars from last year are as good as ever. Young Al Clark, who isn't signed, went nice at short in the afternoon game. Yeah, we've got a ball team, all right.

• • • • • • •

Jack ('Chief') Williams returned to the amateur wars in Belleville yesterday and helped the Nats take the Dukes for a 12-4 ride in the morning O.O.B.L. game. With Smith and Casey hurling in the afternoon fixture the Quinte squad handed Oshawa another 12-4 pasting. Young, Holmes, Frink, Knox and Ogden—Dukes' flingers—all tried unsuccessfully to hold the Nats in check. With the opposition not up to much, it was just a parade for the home team before a couple of thousand fans. Williams kept nine hits spread around carefully and the veteran forksided his hooks by eight batters.

At eight bells tonight in Duffus', a meeting on the City Baseball League will be called. Everyone interested in getting this circuit going should make it a point to attend. Looks like four good bantam teams and two or three juveniles in anyway, whatever about the higher series. As play in this loop should commence within two weeks, it's up to the officers and managers to clear the decks for action at once. We'd like to see a large turnout this evening.

A mighty mob in the softball tournament yesterday at Omemee, and there was a big entry list, teams playing steadily from around noon till dark. Committee in charge deserve credit for putting across such a successful event, and for the smart prizes they offered. Keene defeated Omemee in the gals' finals, while Downeyville won the men's intermediate title. Oshawa finished too strong for Johnston's Tires in the senior finals to again win out, though the Tiremen had t he satisfaction of knocking "Preem" Whitely—speedball ace—out in the seventh.

Gathering nuts in May: Our cricketers did themselves proud yesterday by copping their Ontario County match . . . . We're still awaiting the Girls' Softball League schedule . . . . Plenty of color to the Petes now with their snappy sox, caps and red windbreakers—and even the scoreboard is a bright splash of color . . . . We didn't get in that first swim yesterday, and now we know why kids sing that song about nut-gathering in May "on a cold and frostly morning" . . . . Johnston's Tires play the Fashion Crafts at Central this eve. . . . . Riverdale Grads went back to Toronto yesterday and beat Malvern Grads, 5 to 0.

New York Gets Two Runs in Eighth to Beat Chicago White Sox 2-1.

TIGERS WIN 6-3.

(By Canadian Press.)

St. Louis Browns continued their sparkling advance through the American League ranks to gain exclusive possession of third place with a 6-5 victory over Washington. Rookie Ray Pepper again assumed the hero's role, hitting a homer with Harland Clift on base in the seventh to win the game after the Senators had scored five runs in the fifth.

Detroit remained in a virtual tie with the Browns, but slipped back by one percentage point despite a 6-3 triumph over the Athletics, gained when the Tigers smashed Johnny Marcum for four doubles and six singles, most of them in the early innings.

The Yankees managed to add a bit to their dwindling lead by taking a 3-1 victory over Chicago White Sox behind Lefty Gomez, while Cleveland and Boston were rained out. Gomez, who won the only other Yankee victory in the West, held the Sox to three hits while his mates got to Milt Gaston for both runs in the eighth.

THE BROWSER

The Browser's family is divided these days. Mrs. Browser thinks it would be nice to have an African lion—not one of those born-in-Hollywood lions—for a household pet....Mr. Browser thinks we ought to wait a while, at least until the baby has more teeth, because he understands that lions are nervous when babies are around and he wouldn't want our lion to be upset ...He's been reading about lions in Eric F. V. Wells' "Lions: Wild and Friendly" and no circus is ever going to be the same again....Next time you go to the circus—merely because the children wanted to go, of course—you'll see a man hanging around the lion cage and glaring at the keepers and asking questions and you'll know by the rapt look in his eyes that he's the Browser. Walk right up and he'll start telling you all about lions. He's already told all of his friends and is ready to start on strangers....Mr. Eric F. V. Wells lives in Africa and keeps lions around the house. Once one of his lions jumped on the back of a black boy, just for fun, and started tearing his vest off and Mr. Wells though it was very funny....He goes for rides in the country with a lion and a dog tagging along, just like Tarzan and his Golden Lion. He walks right out in the veldt and takes pictures of lion families 12 feet away and if they won't look at him he flicks a bit of paper or maybe a pebble at them to get their attention....When they stop looking pleasant, he stops taking pictures....He says they aren't happy in captivity unless they have another animal for a companion, and the best sort is one of those brave barking fox terriers....When his lions get too rough, the terriers bite them on the nose and the lions accept the rebuke. Mr. Wells has one lioness, Patricia, whom he calls "the most adorable creature of the wilds that was ever trained to be the companion of man." After she finishes her meal she allows a little field-mouse to come out of the walls and nibble at the remnants. Patricia lies there quietly, without moving, until he finishes...Just like an Aesop fable....Wells' book is a delightful, informing, and surprising re-introduction to the King of Beasts. (The Browser phrased the last sentence in just that way so the publishers could pick it up and use it in one of their advertisements).

The Browser found a misprint in the Congressional Record the other day....Thursday, January 18, 1934, fourteenth line from the bottom of the page...."Moderized" instead of "modernized"....And the record has about 60 proofreaders and this paper has only two....MacKinlay Kantor's "Long Remember" is about two men and one woman and the battle of Gettysburg and what the battle did to their lives....The Browser thinks that Kantor did a better job than Stephen Crane's "The Red Badge of Courage". He does something that Crane didn't; he recreates the SMELL of war. And for the Browser he brought back the horrible nauseating reality of 1917 and 1918....It is a good book....Carl Glasscock was in. That's always a pleasant experience. He is one author who has no pretense, no swank, no front. He told the Browser that a lady in a bookshop told him she had already had five requests for autographed copies of Charles Dickens' "Life of our Lord". She swears that's true ...Stuart Lake was in, too. His "Wells Fargo" will be out in the fall. Said he and his publisher fussed quite a bit over a title for his story of that great pioneer company....and finally between the pillow and the shower one fine morning he thought of the title that should have been the first that occurred to him and the publishers said, "Of Course!"....Ethel Turner is going to Ireland on the motion picture proceeds of her "One Way Ticket". She's writing a book that has an Irish scene in it and this is a good excuse....Esquire will not allow any women to write for it, but had to make one exception when Zelda Fitzgerald co-authored with F. Scott Fitzgerald on the article....Alexander Woollcott who is precise about other people's use of words in his "While Rome Burns" described some of Anne Parrish's writing as a fine piece of surgery.... He must have meant "dissection"....Carleton Beals in South America....The publishers say that Bainbridge's autobiography "Twice Seven" has "every fault that an autobiography should not have" and advise you to start on page 76 with chapter 3.

IT'S LIVER THAT MAKES YOU FEEL SO WRETCHED

Wake Up Your Liver Bile and Get A New Lease of Life. No Calomel Is Necessary.

For you to feel healthy and happy, your liver must pour two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels, every day of your life

Without that bile, trouble starts promptly. Your food just won't digest the way it should and your bowels are sluggish. Food decays inside you and your entire system is undermined by this poisonous waste matter. You have indigestion—the discomfort of gas, bloating, heartburn and sourness. You are grey to headaches. Have a tongue like cotton-wool, a nasty taste in your mouth, bad breath and ugly skin. You haven't anything like the pep a healthy person should have. In fact you are generally wretched.

How can you expect to clear up a condition like this completely by taking mere bowel-movers like salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum, or roughage? They can't wake up your liver bile!

Avoid calomel (mercury). Buy yourself a box of old reliable Carter's Little Liver Pills. All vegetable, sure, gentle, safe. They'll wake up your liver without upsetting you. Bring back the glad-to-be-alive feeling, once more.

Don't waste your money on substitutes. Be definite. Ask for Carter's by name and get them. Look for the name, Carter's, on the red label. 25c at all druggists. 67

For Saturday, May 26

Conflicting planetary conditions are fund in this day's astrological map. While the excellent place of Saturn points to substantial gain and accumulations in real or landed possessions, with definite rewards for industry, labor, diligence and fidelity, with probable recognition of elders to assist in stabilizing the fortunes, yet an aspect of Uranus hints of unsettlement, journeys and some measure of frequent disruption. Be careful as to this, sign papers cautiously and all may flourish.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of substantial gain or accumulations of real possessions, with rewards for industry, application and steadfastness, but at the same time there is an unsettled condition of disruptive force, calling for sound and cautious management. Sign all papers with caution. Elderly persons or institutions may assist in stabilizing affairs.

A child born on this day may be industrious, hard working and faithful and at the same time disposed to be restless, unsettled, yearning for constant change or travel.

JAMBOREE HELD BY BOY SCOUTS

Close to Three Hundred Boy Scouts Met at C.G.E. Grounds at Nassau.

MOST SUCCESSFUL DAY.

The 1st Lindsay Troop under Scoutmaster L. T. Braunton yesterday proved their supremacy at a big district rally held at the C.G.E. grounds at Nassau, under auspices of Peterborough Boy Scout Association.

Besides retaining the Beale Cup, confined to competition from Scouts in Peterborough City and Victoria County, the Lindsay Scouts won the pennant awarded to the troop winning the greatest number of points in the various contests in Scoutcraft, Scout games and sports.

Close to three hundred Boy Scouts from Peterborough, Lindsay, Oshawa, Blackstock, Stirling and Cobourg participated in the Jamboree, which was one of the most successful district events of the kind ever held. Ideal weather favored the occasion and a comprehensive program was run off without a hitch. A good representation of Wolf Cubs was present, and although not included in the official program, they succeeded in making their own enjoyment and were greatly interested in the various displays and exhibitions of Scoutcraft as demonstrated by their elders in the big world brotherhood of Scouts.

Proceedings opened early in the afternoon, when President H. C. Southeran, on behalf of the local Scout Association, extended a warm welcome to the visiting Scouts. Other officers of the local association to whom credit for the success of the event is due, included: District Commissioner John T. Hornsby; Assistant District Commissioner Albert Hope; J. L. Huggan, secretary of the Association who presided as clerk of the course; and the following troop officers: S.M. G. Groombridge, and A.S.M.'s Warren Turner and Fred Ford, 1st Peterborough (St. John's); S.M. Henry Nokes and A.S.M. J. Langley, 2nd Peterborough (Armour); S.M. Everitt Peters, 5th Peterborough (All Saints'); S.M. Ernest Wolff and A.S.M. Emmett Creighton, 6th Peterborough (St. Peter's); S.M. Vic Millard, and A.S.M. Max Hutchinson, 8th Peterborough (St. Andrew's), also C. Boate, J. Barnes and G. Langley.

A council fire at which the Lindsay Scouts presented a war dance brought a well-conceived and well-balanced program of activity to a happy conclusion long after dark.

Winners of the various events were placed as follows.

Boat Race.—1st Lindsay; 6th Peterborough; 1st Cobourg. Fire-Laying—1st Lindsay; 1st Stirling 5th Oshawa. Tree Judging—1st Peterborough; 1st Stirling; 1st Lindsay. Skin-the-Snake—1st Cobourg; 4th Oshawa. Pillow Fight—1st Lindsay; 1st Stirling; 1st Lindsay. Tub Fight—1st Cobourg; Blackstock; 6th Peterborough. Tug of War—1st Lindsay, 1st Peterborough; Stirling. A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

NASH DEALERSHIP IS WELL EQUIPPED

Best of Service for Nash and LaFayette Owners and Purchasers.

FOLEY & WILSON.

The Nash Motors Company has announced the appointment of Foley and Wilson, McDonnel and Reid streets, as new Nash dealer and sales and service headquarters for Nash and LaFayette cars in Peterborough. The 1934 series of new Nash motor cars is now on display.

The new Nash organization is one of the best known and most highly regarded motor car firms in Peterborough with an excellent record of service here. It now greets its many old friends and the motoring public generally with a sparkling display of the new Nash and LaFayette motor car models which have been so enthusiastically welcomed by experienced car owners the country over.

Excellent Service

Both Mr. Foley and Mr. Wilson have contact with automobile buyers and owners in this district and have made a host of warm friends. They have established a splendid reputation for fair dealing and excellent automobile service.

The new Nash dealership is well equipped to serve Nash and LaFayette owners and purchasers. It provides a clean, attractive sales and service headquarters, centrally located, with ample service and parts facilities.

Wonderful Performance.

"We have felt for a long time that the Nash organization is the most desirable connection in the industry," Mr. Foley said in announcing the new dealership. "This conviction was made a certainty by the first sight of the new Nash models for 1934 with their brand new styling and wonderful performance qualities. The moment we saw these new Nash models, it was Nash for us and nothing else. And when, in addition to our delight over the new line now on display, we learned that Nash had entered the lowest price field with the LaFayette, a typical Nash-quality small car, we realized that the Nash contract was the big 1934 prize of the automobile sales field.

"It is our intention to share our good fortune with our many friends and patrons by offering the finest sales and service facilities at our command."

Increase Is Noted In Auto Licenses

General conditions in this city do show improvement over the same period last year if the number of automobile license plates so far issued locally is to be taken as any indication.

Number of passenger automobile license plates issued to date now total 5,250, showing an increase of 150 plates over the number issued at this time last year according to J. J. Dorris official license issuer. Mr. Dorris stated 600 commercial plates have been issued, which is 40 plates in excess of last year. The number of drivers' permits and chauffeurs' licenses issued has reached the 5,700 mark.

REV. G. DUNCAN GUEST SPEAKER

Large Congregations Attend 88th Anniversary Services of Norwood Presbyterian Church.

SPECIAL MUSIC

(Examiner Correspondence.)

NORWOOD, May 25. — Large congregations attended the 88th anniversary services of St. Andrews Presbyterian church, on Sunday last. The Rev. Gordon Duncan, B. D., of Warkworth, was the guest speaker.

At the morning service Mr. Duncan based his sermon on a passage from Isaiah 53:6: "All we like sheep, have gone astray."

The choir rendered special numbers, including a duet by Misses Godin and Webb, and an anthem, in which Misses Burgess and Slater took the solo parts.

The United and Baptist churches withdrew their evening service and attended, with the Rev. Mr. Cleland and Rev. Downing, assisting.

"The Cry of the Crew," was the subject of Mr. Duncan's evening sermon, taken from St. Luke 8:24: "Master, Master, we perish. Then he arose and rebuked the wind and the raging of the water and there was a calm." The speaker pointed out our utter dependence on God, which we too often forget until faced with a real danger which reveals to us our helplessness without His guiding hand.

An anthem, "The Lord is My Shepherd," and solos by Mrs. M. R. Callendar and Mrs. Porter, were additional contributions by the choir. On Monday evening a social of the congregations and their friends was held, over which the Rev. Mr. Reeves presided. A good program was given including addresses by the Rev. Mr. Hill of Hastings, the Rev. Mr. Barker of Norwood, and the Rev. Mr. Beaton of Havelock. John Robb also recalled many interesting reminiscences of the earlier days of the church.

The Rev. Mr. Colquohoun of Havelock, gave a very pleasing solo "In My Ain Wee House."

Duets by Messrs. Flatman and Wilson of Hastings, Miss Hazel Kerr and Mr. Flatman; solos by Mrs. Porter, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Flatman, and an amusing reading by Miss Spooner of Hastings, were well received.

At the conclusion of the program all were invited to the school room where lunch were served by the ladies.

THE MARKETS

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 25. — Corn took leadership of grain markets yesterday, and rising 2c a bushel from early low figures dragged wheat prices out of a hole.

Big buying of corn futures was witnessed, and was attributed to Government-sponsored agencies that were presumably handling a drought relief program. The concentrated buying of corn followed liberal purchases on Wednesday for the same interest, and lifted the July delivery of corn to about 7½c a bushel yesterday higher than the price at which immense Government loans on cribbed corn were recently distributed to farmers.

Corn closed strong at practically the day's top level, 1⅝c to 1¾c above Wednesday's finish; wheat nervous, unchanged to ¼c lower; oats, unchanged to ¼c up; and provisions unchanged to 7c down.

Futures:

Mrs. Howard Jordan Entertains Society

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, May 25. — The home of Mrs. Howard Jordan was opened for the May meeting of the W. A. of St. Thomas' church, on Monday evening, the president, Mrs. C. M. Westmacott, in the chair, and reports of officers most encouraging.

The May meeting is the final one until after the summer holidays, and the invitation of Mrs. L. M. Donnelly to hold the silver tea the third week in June at her home was gratefully accepted. It was decided to have a table of home baking at this tea. Mrs. H. J. Russell reported the bale sent to the Blackfoot Indian School in the Calgary Diocese, Bailieboro W.A. providing half the contents. The president announced the meeting of the Toronto Board W.A. to be held shortly at Cobourg and urged the members to make an effort to attend. The annual Deanery W. A. meeting, which will be at Omemee in September, was also mentioned with remainder of reports to be in readiness for this important occasion.

The remainder of the meeting was given up to the report of the W.A. Diocesan gathering held recently in Toronto, Mrs. Jordan being the delegate. Mrs. Jordan brought an excellent account of the sessions, with many practical ideas for development by the local branch, closing with the message of Dr. Cartwright, Diocesan President: "All reports are not of much use unless they lead to greater achievement. Human lives may be changed but let us all do our full and consecrated part."

Mrs. B. A. Ford assisted the hostess with the service of dainty refreshments during the pleasant social hour at the close.

PRELATE LOSES LENGTHY FIGHT TO PNEUMONIA

Archbishop Neil McNeil Was Head of Toronto Diocese for Past 22 Years.

PRIEST 50 YEARS.

Born 1852 in Inverness, Nova Scotia, One of Family of Eleven.

TORONTO, May 26.—(C. P.)—Archbishop Neil McNeil who rose from his father's blacksmith forge to a high post in the Roman Catholic Church was mourned today by Roman Catholics throughout the Dominion as one who had staunch faith and a kindly philosophy. He died in St. Michael's hospital here after a two week's fight for life and his funeral will be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Michael's Cathedral.

Born 82 years ago in Hillsborough, Inverness, Nova Scotia, one of a family of 11, Archbishop McNeil at his death was head of the Toronto archdiocese of the Roman Catholic Church. At midnight last night the aged prelate was claimed by pneumonia that followed an operation May 15, five days after he had entered hospital.

When he entered the institution doctors found he was suffering from shingles, complications of the bladder and kidney disorder. Two days after the operation pneumonia attacked and his great age could not withstand its ravages. His wonderful vitality, however, kept him alive until last night.

JUSTICE GARROW TAKEN BY DEATH

Appointed to Supreme Court Bench Five Years Ago.

LONG ILLNESS.

TORONTO, May 26 (CP)—Mr. Justice Charles Garrow of the Ontario Supreme Court died in hospital to-day. He had been in ill health for several months and never fully recovered from two operations he underwent during his confinement to hospital. He was 58 years of age, and was appointed to the Supreme Court Bench five years ago.

Charles Garrow was born in Goderich, Ont., the son of J. T. Garrow, one time Liberal M.L.A. for West Huron and Minister without Portfolio in the Ross Government, later becoming local Judge in Admiralty in the Exchequer Court for Toronto district.

After graduating from the University of Toronto and Osgoode Hall, Charles Garrow practised for some years at Goderich. In 1923 he was appointed Master-in-Chambers and Master-in-Ordinary at Osgoode Hall, and later became Master of the Supreme Court, a position he filled with widely acknowledged tact and ability until his elevation to the Supreme Court Bench in 1929.

In 1931, addressing the graduating class in Law, Mr. Justice Garrow warned against giving way to discontent and reminded his hearers the legal profession never had heavier responsibilities than at the present time.

He married Mary Elizabeth Shephard of Goderich, who survives, and there are four children, J. T. Garrow, barrister; Miss E. B. Garrow, Mrs. Austin Young and Mrs. G. P. Campbell, all of Toronto.

TOLEDO STRIKE CROWD REJECT PEACE PROPOSAL

Rifle-fire breaks Anew—National Guardsman Wounded by Sniper.

SKIRMISHES AT PLANT.

$150,000 Damage Done Since Tuesday—Mob Remains Ugly.

TOLEDO, O., May 26 (A.P.)—The crack of renewed rifle fire echoed to-day through the riot zone about the Electric Auto-Lite plant on the heels of a rejection by strikers of an initial peace proposal.

National Guard Lieutenant Verne Silbaugh, of Lima, O., was shot in the thigh by a sniper. His wound was not serious. The firing later subsided.

Payton Cas, 36, was admitted to a hospital with severe jaw wounds caused by a gas projectile. Peter Bruner, 42, was treated for a bayonet wound.

Walter Moland, 36, a baker engineer, received three hip wounds he said were inflicted by bayonets. John O. Quigley, a nearby resident, reported he was shot in the ankle.

For a short time the glare of a fire, which attacked a box car and two homes in the southern edge of the darkened strike zone—the sector nearest the downtown section—spread over the scene where two men were killed by guardsmen's fire Thursday.

Though occasional renewals of the rioting drew rifle volleys and more gas bombs from soldiers while a union mass meeting was in progress a few blocks away last night, plans were made to continue the peace moves.

Seventy men were detained by guardsmen after the early morning outbreak.

PHILADELPHIA, May 26 (CP)—Patrolman Dennis Rooney only meant to be polite when he approached a boy staggering down the street under the weight of a big burlap bag. "May I help . . ." he began, but the boy fled.

In the bag Rooney found several hundred dollars worth of drills and woodworking tools stolen from a nearby plant.

DR. CARSCADDEN PASSES IN GALT

Noted as One of Ontario's Grand Old Men in Teaching Profession.

BORN IN DURHAM.

GALT, Ont., May 26. (CP).—Dr. Thomas Carscadden, M.A., LL.D., veteran educator of this city and one of the grand old men of the profession in Ontario, died during the night at the hospital in his 87th year.

He had been in failing health for some time but was around as late as last Sunday. On Tuesday he was removed to the hospital. He had the remarkable record of 54 years as a teacher, 43 of which were spent in Galt, for 30 of which he was principal of the Galt Collegiate.

He resigned that post in 1914 but continued as assistant until 1924. Thousands of pupils, some of them famous men throughout Canada, passed through his hands.

The late Dr. Carscadden was born in Durham County on Jan. 13, 184 and at the early age of 13, 1848 and at the early age of ronto and after one year was granted a first class teacher's certificate.

Graduated in 1875

He taught school three years and then resumed his studies at Whitby High School, and on matriculation joined the Chatham high school staff. After a year there he went to Woodstock college, which he left to attend Toronto University, graduating in arts in 1875. He then became principal of Charlottetown Academy P.E.I. for a year. For six months he was house master at Upper Canada College and for the following 4½ years was principal of the Richmond Hill High School. He came to Galt in 1881 as first assistant to the late J. F. Bryant, then principal of the G.C.I. and after three years became principal.

When he came here there were less than 100 pupils at the G.C.I. and when he resigned there were over 600.

About eight years ago, deceased was given the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws and Languages by the University of Toronto in recognition of his outstanding contribution to the cause of education in Ontario.

Deceased was a devoted churchman, a member of Wesley United, in which he held many offices. Besides his widow he is survived by three daughters, Miss Kathleen, New York; Miss Helen on the staff of the Guelph collegiate and Miss Frances at home.

100 MEN START WORK MONDAY FILLING DITCHES

Unemployed Men From City and North Monaghan to be Given Jobs.

BE PAID $2.00 PER DAY.

Work Will Commence on Paving of Lakefield Road on Monday.

One hundred unemployed men will start work Monday morning on the big job of filling in the ditches on the two paved highways leading to the city.

In announcing this important work program, T. P. Lancaster informed The Examiner that he had been successful in obtaining its sanction by the Highways Department by insisting emphatically on the need for further unemployment relief works for Peterborough men.

Mr. Lancaster stated further that he had hastened the Highways Departments in the final completion of its plans for the paving of the road to Lakefield and that this job will be started Monday morning by the Law Construction Company. Unemployed men in this vicinity will gain work on this paving job.

Arguments Used.

"I repeatedly pointed out to the Highways Department the need of relieving the unemployment situation in Peterborough City and North Monaghan Township," Mr. Lancaster explained, regarding the decision to fill in the ditches along Highways 28 and 7 in this county. "I also stressed the fact that The Examiner and other leading Ontario newspapers had for years pointed out the danger to motorists of the deep ditches. These were the two basic points in my argument with the Department and I brought every pressure to bear to secure the Department's approval."

The ditches will be filled in along Highway 28 from the city to South Monaghan and along Highway 7 from the city boundary to Fowler's Corners, he stated. A gang of 50

The King and Queen arrived yesterday from Sandringham Palace to celebrate the event.

SAM BEHAN DIES IN PORTSMOUTH

Inmates Causing Considerable Trouble During Past Few Days.

RIOT LEADER.

KINGSTON, May 26. — (CP) — Sam Behan life-termer in Kingston penitentiary, died suddenly today and Chief Coroner Dr. Samuel Keyes called an inquest for 4 p.m. within the penitentiary.

Pending the inquest officials of the prison declined to make any statement whatever on the circumstances of Behan's death.

Word of the convict's passing coupled with the fact inmates have in the past few days been setting up an unholy din by hammering on their cell bars and shouting led to many rumors in Kingston concerning a state of unrest within the grim old prison. Residentsof nearby Portsmouth state that for some time the prisoners have set up periodical "yammering."

Behan was among those tried following the serious prison outbreak of October 1933, and he defended himself stoutly during the trials last year.

Sentenced to Life

Behan, convicted of bank robbery and conspiracy to rob a bank in Montreal, April, 1931. He was sentenced to life on the major charge and seven years on the conspiracy count and started serving his sentence in St. Vincent De Paul Penitentiary, subsequently being transferred to Kingston.

He originally came from New York and was about 40 years of age.

Behan was charged, with other convicts, with being a leader in the riot at the penitentiary in October, 1932. When brought to trial he defended himself and gained an acquittal.

The Behan trial was one of the highlights of those dealing with the riot charges. Te trials extended for weeks at the Kingston Court House. At one point during testimony of a witness Behan interrupted with, "It's a lie."

At the end of his trial he was commended for the skill with which he conducted his defence.

Behan's sudden death came as a shock to prison officials. Warden W. B. Meloughlin said Behan had

DOMESTIC RATE IS NOT CHANGED BY COMMISSION

150 Consumers Will Be Affected by the Increase in Power Rates.

$12,375.20 LOSS.

Revenue From Domestic Consumers Has Increased Considerably.

An increase in the power rates for Peterborough of approximately 12 percent was decided upon today by the Utilities Commission. The new rates will go into effect on the next billing and will affect about 150 consumers.

No Change In Domestic

No change was made in the domestic light rate for residences or the flat rate for water heaters, it being explained that consumption of electrictly by domestic users had not created the loss in revenue suffered by the electrical department of the Commission during the past two years. A letter explaining the necessity for the increase in power rates is being prepared and will be received early next week by power users affected by the increase.

For the year ending December 31, 1932 the electrical department showed a loss of $12,375.20 and for 1933 a loss of $20,040.17 was incurred. It was pointed that the revenue from domestic consumers has increased considerably over the past five years with the rate of increasing gradually growing less. Street lighting revenue has also increased somewhat but the revenue from power consumers and commercial light has fallen off.

100 Men Are Rushed Fires Sudbury Area

SUDBURY, Ont., May 26 (CP) — More than one hundred men were rushed to-day to the scene of two new bush fires within a few miles of Stupart. A previous fire there had been put under control and only a few men were left on guard when word of the new fires came.

One of the forests, covering 400 acres, is on the boundary of Blewett and Beulah Townships, two miles east of the Canadian National tracks, the other in Blewett Township is one mile from the tracks, but covers only 12 acres.

The land on which the new fires were reported is cut-over territory and heavily covered with dead balsam, highly inflammable.

You are fortunate in that your fathers and mothers have lived to see this day. There are others of us who were not so fortunate.

"And you have just said your first Mass with your Bishop. Ordinarily, the Mass that you will say tomorrow is spoken of as your first Mass, but the first Mass is the Mass you have just said on the day of your ordination, with your Bishop."

RUSSIA PLANS TO ENTER LEAGUE IN AN EFFORT TO AVERT WARFARE

Political Circles Awaiting Another Sensational Move by Japan.

POLAND OBJECTS

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
(Copyright by Central Press Canadian and Examiner)

PARIS, May 26—Soviet Russia is about to make one of the most sensational moves of recent years in the international political field. She is about to enter the League of Nations for the purpose of strengthening the menaced cause of peace in the world. Negotiations to this affect are being carried on in Paris between M. Alexander Rosemberg, political counsellor at the Soviet Embassy on the one hand, and M. Louis Barthou, France's minister of foreign affairs on the other.

The negotiations, I learn on the best authority, have progressed to the point where only the mode of Russia's entry into the League is to be settled, that is whether France will formally invite the Moscow government to come in or whether Moscow will make application at Geneva. Whichever way is decided upon, it is through the efforts of French statesmen that the Soviets will adhere to the international body.

At present the Polish government is the only major power which opposes the admission of the Soviet Union into the League of Nations. I call Poland a major power because that is the sense of the appointment to Warsaw of an ambassador instead of a minister plenipotentiary by the Hitler government recently. This move is to be followed by the other states. Poland objects to Russia, because she fears, so it is said, a preponderant influence of the Soviets in European and world-affairs.

I learn further that when Russia enters the League of Nations she will almost immediately be elected to a seat on the council, thus giving her the status of a major power. Coming into the League at this time will be Moscow's answer to pressing invitations from the side of France and the Little Entente for a military alliance. Moscow will not conclude a military alliance with any power, deeming the present system of two or three rival sets

HIGHWAY LEVY COST FARMERS $121,000 EXTRA

William Newman Addresses Liberal Rally in Keene Town Hall.

$19,147 IN AUTOMOBILES.

Barn to House 72 Head of Cattle Cost $37,140 at Orillia.

The twenty per cent. levy for provincial highways during the four years since the election of the Henry Government had cost the farmers of Peterborough County $121,000, which would not have been charged against them if W. E. N. Sinclair had been placed at the head of a Liberal administration in Ontario. W. A. Anderson, ex-M.L.A. stated at last nights Liberal meeting at Keene in behalf of James Hawthornes candidature in the provincial campaign.

Fred A. Eason was chairman of the meeting, and the other speakers were Dr. Munro of Warsaw; Mr. Hawthorne; William Newman of Lorneville, representative of North Victoria in the last Legislature, and J. J. Duffus.

"I was defeated in 1929," Mr. Anderson said, "and one of the things that caused it was the elaborate promises of road expenditure and construction in Peterborough County. Mr. Lancaster has been your servant for four years and a half. Those promises have been largely neglected during that time. What would you have thought of me if I had waited until the last few months and weeks of my term before I got things started.

I would like Mr. Lancaster to tell the people when Mr. Henry's change from the 20 per cent levy on provincial highways to 10 per cent is going to take effect. Unless something unusual is in sight, I don't see how the Government can avoid levying the 20 per cent on this year's construction. How can the change be made effective until after the next session of the Legislature?"

William Newman

"We have all had to get along without a lot of things we used to think were necessary before the depression," Mr. Newman said, 'but

It was announced to-day that Miss Smedmor will receive the John Roberts Scholarship of $100 and the first general proficiency gold medal for standing highest in the final examinations at Pharmacy. Standing again at the head of her class she recently passed the final examinations of the University of Toronto for the degree of Bachelor of Pharmacy.

GRASSHOPPERS FACE REAL WAR CANADIAN WEST

U. S. Joins Forces With Dominion in Effort to Curb Plague.

$2,700,000 TO BE SPENT.

Hope to Save 14 Bushels to Acre Out of Normal 15 Bushel Yield.

OTTAWA, May 26 (C.P.).—An international onslaught on the grasshoppers which have ravished the wheat fields of Southern Manitoba and Saskatchewan in increasing numbers during the past few years is under way. This year the humble hoppers, hundred of millions strong, will have to fight the concentrated might of two nations, Canada and the United States.

A few details of the war which is now getting under way were revealed in the House of Commons last night when the agriculture department estimates came up. The United States Government has already provided $2,000,000 to secure men and poison to put an end to the grasshoppers and Canada's expenditures will run to $700,000.

The plan of campaign was mapped out last winter at an international conference of entomologists at Fargo, N.D., and Prairie Province officials are now co-operating with United States experts in putting it into operation.

In Canada the grasshopper fight is the primary business of the province, but the Dominion Government is providing them with all the money they need.

Last year, Mr. Weir said, the United States did not do much, although an active campaign was waged in Canada. The result was the destructive hoppers bred and thrived south of the international border and then descended in clouds on the Canadian side to devour the crops.

Save 14 of 15 Bushels.

Through concerted effort this year it is hoped almost completely to save the crop from the menace. On a normal crop of 15 bushels to the acre the Minister thought 14 bushels would be saved.

When the agriculture estimates were last before the House, Hon. W. R. Motherwell, former Minister of Agriculture, charged the Government with inactivity in the grasshopper war. Last night he attributed an Order-in-Council providing $500,000 for grasshopper control which had since been tabled to his earlier effort.

This was denied by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, who said the $500,000 had been spent long before Mr. Motherwell's speech. The Saskatchewan Government had obtained the money from the banks with assurance of help from the Dominion, had spent it on poison and the Order-in-Council merely indicated the sending of the money to enable the province to repay the banks.

After a long struggle with three or four French-speaking members providing the only opposition, the House last night passed the Translation Bill through the committee stage. E. R. E. Chevrier (Lib., Ottawa) and J. F. Pouliot (Lib., Temiscouata) between them managed to hold the bill in committee for two days. They fought every clause and were joined at times by George Bouchard (Lib., Kamouraska) and Hon. Peter Veniot (Lib., Gloucester).

Police Balk At Polecat Hunt Under Barn So Family Call For Skunk Dog As Last Hope

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 26.—(AP)—There is a skunk under the barn in the Joseph Tobins' backyard, and what they want to know is whether there is such a thing as a skunk dog. There are coon dogs, rabbit dogs, bird dogs, but did you ever hear of a skunk dog?

The Tobins want to know if you did, because a skunk dog seems to be their last hope. Take Mrs. Tobin's word for it. She called on the city police, the Humane Society and the Conservation Department, and all said getting skunks out from under barns was not one of their duties.

She told them how to do it, too. It seems they asked how she would have them go about it, and she said the hole under the barn was big enough for a man to crawl under to shoot the skunk.

Practical enough, but they said it was not part of their duties.

Something will have to be done. The neighbors are complaining among other things.

LONG BEACH, Calif., May 26 (C. P.). — Oscar R. Cott, 63, member for several seasons of the Rochester and New York Symphony Orchestras and several famous bands, is dead to-day. He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Marion E. Cott. He was born in Buffalo, N.Y., and came here in 1924 from Huntsville, Ont.

During the past 50 years there has been a steady decrease in the number of farms, but a small increase in the acreage under cultivation in Eastern Canada.

Agricultural Notes Of Interest To Farmers In District

Judging by the number of enquiries that are being received at the office of the Agricultural Representative, coupled with the high price of seed potatoes, a great number of farmers are using or plan to use potatoes for seed that show some form of scab.

Potato scab can be identified by the rough corky brown spots that appear on the surface of the potatoes. The organism causing scab will stay in the soil over winter and may even be carried in farmyard manure and for this reason it is wise to change potatoes around in the regular rotations as well as other crops and also not advisable to apply fresh barnyard manure shortly before planting time.

Common potato scab can be controlled by treating the potatoes with either a formalin or corrosive sublimate mixture.

The formalin treatment which is the most commonly used consists of dipping the potatoes for two hours before they are out in a solution of formalin of the strength I pint to 30 gallons of water.

Corrosive sublimate (mercuric bichloride) can also be used but it is deadly poison to humans and animals. For this treatment 2¼ ounces of corrosive sublimate is first dissolved in 2 gallons of hot water in an earthen jar or wooden pail and then after 10 to 12 hours, the solution is mixed with 13 gallons of water.

When this solution is used the potatoes need only be left in for 1½

STORAGE PLANTS ARE PROMISED FARM PRODUCE

Be Aid to Farmer in Getting Better Prices Says Hepburn.

MANIFESTO NOT READY.

Entire Cost of Enumerators to be Borne by Province Says Humphries.

TORONTO, May 26.— (C.P.)—If the Liberal party gains power at Ontario General elections, June 19, the farmer will have storage plants to hold his produce until he obtains what he considers a reasonable price, Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader, has promised the farmer his party will establish such plants.

Before 1,000 persons at Barrie last night the Liberal leader said engineers had been studying the project. He said these small cold storage plants built throughout the province, would not only use "excess Hydro power" but help the farmer obtain a better price for his produce. Negotiable receipts would be given the farmer for his products and he would be able to exchange them at once for cash.

Mr. Hepburn intends delivering two addresses a day until the election arrives and with Premier George S. Henry and his cabinet ministers entering the campaign next week, political oratory will increase throughout Ontario until the citizens march to the polls.

Henry In Hamilton

Monday night Premier Henry will speak in Hamilton. Hon. Leopold Macaulay, Minister of Highways, will address a meeting in Galt the same day and Hon. Dr. J. M. Robb, Ministerof Health, will appear at Aurora. Hon. Thomas L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, is scheduled to deliver an address at Keene, May 30 and at Essex, June 4.

Hon. Charles McCrea, Minister of Mines, journeys to Collingwood for a Conservative rally on May 31.

Election enumerators will complete their work tonight, according to Ira A. Humphries, K.C., chief election officer. In a statement yesterday Mr. Humphries set at rest fears of the municipalities that they might have to bear a share of the cost of the enumerators' tasks. He declared the entire cost would be carried by the province.

Mrs. George Henry intends to take the platform in her husband's behalf. She will speak at St. Thomas May 31 with a plea for support of the present government. The premier's wife launches her campaign in the riding of Mitchell F. Hepburn, the Liberal chieftain.

Manifesto Today?

Yesterday while passing through Toronto Mr. Hepburn conferred with his supporters on the Liberal election manifesto. No decision was reached regarding its issuance but it is expected a statement of policy will be forthcoming today or Sunday night. Two candidates, a Conservative and a Liberal were nominated last night. Fred V. Laughton, member in the last legislature, was chosen unanimously at London as Conservative candidate for North Middlesex, and George Bethune was the unanmous choice at Hamilton as Liberal candidate for South Wentworth.

The standings of candidates at present follows: Conservatives 81, Liberals 84; C.C.F. 21; Independent 8; Communist 5; U.F.O. 1.

Hon. W. G. Martin, Minister of Public Welfare, spoke at the London Conservative convention and challenged the opposition to point to one incident of mal-administration on the government's part. He maintained the administration had a clean record during its career.

Hon. Peter Heenan, Labor Minister in the Liberal government of Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, charged at Iroquois Falls that the Henry government had displayed "incompetence and indifference" in connection with lumbermen's strikes in the north. He described as "preposterous" the government's action in having provincial police investigate these strikes where the men asked better wages and improved working conditions.

TOLEDO STRIKE CROWD REJECT PEACE PROPOSAL

Heywood Broun, New York writer and once a Socialist candidate for the United States congress, and an unidentified newspaperman were among them. Broun explained he was obtaining material for a story, and the two were released, Captain Cooper said.

The fighting since last Tuesday has caused at least $150,000 property damage and has brought nearly 1,000 Ohio National Guardsmen to Toledo.

The peace proposal was submitted at a meeting of 1,900 strikers in Memorial Hall, by Charles P. Taft, federal mediator. It was rejected as a whole, and then by sections.

It was learned that two-thirds of the strikers were ready to end the strike if the Auto-Lite Company, along with the Bingham Stamping & Tool and Logan Gear companies, would maintain a closed plant until the Automobile Labor Board could settle the dispute.

Withdrawal of troops was another demand.

Crowd Raids Plant

While the meeting was in progress, a crowd of 2,000 rioters was busy at the Electric Auto-Lite plant, where all street lights were broken. Occasional skirmishes occurred in the area, held by the National Guardsmen.

Under cover of darkness, hails of stones and all available missles rattled again through the guard lines.

Rifle volleys over the heads of the crowd were resorted to by guardsmen last night when the rioters threw smoke bombs and followed them with a barrage of stones.

Nell's rise in the Roman Catholic Church was rapid. He took a great interest in education on which he wrote several booklets. His 22 years as head of the Toronto archdiocese was marked by advances in the church activities.

PRIEST FOR 50 YEARS

When a young boy he left the blacksmith forge to lose himself in school books and then become a priest which he was for more than 50 years. He obtained his education at St. Francis Xavier's at Antigonish, N.S., at the College of Propaganda in Rome and at the University of Marseilles. He was ordained 1879 and a year later became a teacher at St. Francis Xavier's College of which he became rector. His 15 years as Bishop of Nicpolis and Vicar-Apostolic of St. George's in Newfoundland found him making weary journeys in row boat and sail boat up the rugged storm-swept coast to visit his flock. He also journeyed over the rough trails of the Canadian Rockies when he was Bishop of Vancouver, a post he held for two years during which he built schools and increased the educational facilities.

Archbishop McNeil left Vancouver for Toronto Archdiocese in 1912 and his 22 years in the Ontario capital found him still active and although the years took their toll he worked diligently to erect 30 new churches, a number of schools and other institutions.

Mount Julian

On account of there being no service in Eden United Church on May 10th, Mother's Day was observed on Sunday last, May 20th. In the absence of Rev. W. F. Riding, who took a service in Cavan on that date, Mr. Samuel Carr of Apsley took the service here. For the text he chose John 19, 27, "Behold Thy Mother," delivering a very interesting and appropriate sermon. White flowers decorated the church for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reid and Mr. Malcolm Hastings of Apsley spent Sunday visiting with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John McCauley.

Messrs. William and Edward Bronson spent the week-end visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Shewen, Burleigh Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Hunter of Lakefield are spending a few days at their cottage on Stoney Lake.

King's Wharf

Work has started on the county road which is going through this district this year. It is going east of Foxes' Corners to the lake, then it follows the lake shore road until it meets the highway at the Scotch Line in Verulam. Alexander Elliott is foreman and he is getting Flynn's swamp cut out and the road widened, he is cutting all the bushes west of the school and putting up signs at the bad curves and corners of the road.

The severe winter and deep frost was bad for the farmers as all the fall wheat in this district had to be plowed up as it was completely killed; also all the seeding down. The farmers in this district have waited until now to see if the meadows were all right as there was no growth until a few days ago, but now they find they are all killed out. That will leave a scarcity of hay for this year and as it is so late it will mean acres of buck wheat where the meadows are killed. It was never known before to have fall wheat and meadows killed out entirely along the lake as the lake seems to protect the land from the severe frost. It is a great loss as labor is scarce, all the men have gone back to work on the highways in the north.

The recent rain was a great help for the grass as the pastures were not growing and very poor; also the ground was getting hard. Water was also getting low in the wells. With the scarcity of water and poor pastures the milk supply was small around here.

There certainly is no scarcity of cream trucks coming through here this year: Mr. Conway of the Bobcaygeon Creamery, Mr. Sanderson, of Omemee; Mr. Downey for the Canadian Packers; Mr. Lowes, for Campbell's of Peterborough; Mr. Myers from Lindsay and Mr. James from Dunsford, and they are all getting some cream.

A number from here are waiting for the Ennismore cheese factory to open for Mr. Fitzgerald, the cheese maker for there, is sending over a truck for the milk.

Sabbath Message For The Shut-Ins

Written for The Examiner by the Ministers of the City.

REV. EDWARD R. JAMES.

WE meet him for the first time at an execution, a public execution, and that most awful of all public executions, a religious. Apparently he is the officer in charge to see that the judgment of the court is carried out and to make his official report to the Sanhedrin. The victim, the Martyr, is a young man about his own age, brilliant and able, but voicing opinions which to that stern young man are positively blasphemous. He looks coldly upon the face of the dying man and never forgets his look. The dying man has something he has not. The dying man has discovered something about God he has not. This is the thought that goes to the very depth of his being and causes him to enter still more earnestly into the persecution of the Sect.

Then comes the great change at the gate of Damascus. A spiritual convulsion takes place in the life of Saul of Tarsus, and he becomes afterwards St. Paul, the Apostle.

Let me dwell for a moment upon his personal appearance, which we have from a little book written during the lifetime of the great Apostle, called "The Acts of Paul and Thecla." "A man small in size, with meeting eyebrows, with a large nose, bald headed, bow legged, strongly built, full of grace, for at times he looked like a man and at times he had the face of an angel."

A spiritual convulsion took place. Something happened to St. Paul which was not outside all law, but which is necessary to all spiritual life.

The first essential element was that St. Paul was faced by the reality of a Divine Person. The whole change in his life depended on that. This Jesus, whom he looked upon as a pretender, a false teacher, suddenly became to him a real living Person. The light, the falling to the ground, the voice from heaven, were all accidents of his experience. The experience did not depend upon them. He became convinced that Jesus of Nazareth was a Divine Person, the Son of God, God and Man, THE CHRIST, the Anointed of God. It was that conviction that made the change.

Then followed the choice. The convulsion of his spiritual life consisted of two things, the revelation of a Divine Person, and the choice whether he would follow his own will or the will of that Person.

To every soul there comes, some time or other, the conviction that there is a real living Person known as Jesus Christ. It may come in various ways. At prayer, or in divine worship, there comes to the soul the Reality of the Divine Presence, the sense and awe of His Presence and the soul is conscious in some mysterious way of the nearness of God. It may come through contact with some person, whom he realizes has a Divine revelation he has not. It may come through dissatisfaction with his own life. But whatever or however it is, there comes the Divine revelation, the Reality of a Divine Person, and that is always followed with the necessity of a choice. The choice is the turning point. "Shall I follow my own will, opinions, or the new will and the new opinions of this Divine Person?" With St. Paul, as with all who follow in his footsteps, the decision is made through the influence of a PERSON, "LORD, what wilt THOU have me to do?"

Let me sum up in the words of an English poet in "The Church Times":

"I in my wilderness must make my choice
Deliberately, alone;
And if I there prefer the Father's Voice,
Nor seek to turn a stone
To softness, then
I am born again—
My will, then free,
I'll give to Thee."

Industrial Palestine

PALESTINE is rapidly becoming a centre of industry. At Haifa, Britain is spending five millions to make it the principal harbor. Here also are railway workshops, sugar refineries, match factories, flour mills, etc. At Jaffa is an electric power station. At Tel Aviv are brick works producing fifteen million per year. At Bethlehem are candy factories, furniture and knitting works, also textile mills. At Nazareth are engineering, printing, ice and mineral water works. Near Jerusalem is the red marble industry. There are 265 flour mills now in Palestine. This doesnt tell the whole tale. Exports to the United States were 34 times greater in 1932 than in 1921.

It is claimed that there is less unemployment in the Holy Land than in any other place in the world. Agricultural and industrial prosperity underlie the financial stability and ability of a nation.

Palestine is forging ahead. — Church of Christ Advocate.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Religious and Social Questions Answered
By DR WYLIE CLARK

Why is it with so many divisions in the church that the church still continues to exist? Should it not have become extinct long ago?—S. R.

Let us remember that the church does still exist. Let us be sure that it is yet a great factor in human life and in the history of the world. The reason of this is that all these different branches of the church have their centre in Christ and each has a sufficient connection with His vitality to keep at least the spark of life from going out altogether.

Dr. Wylie Clark

So long as the churches maintain some likeness to Christ they will live, when they entirely lose it they will die.

What kind of a man is one who has a social conscience?—K. S.

To have a social conscience is to be interested in the conditions of the community and to work for the welfare and happiness of all its members. The opposite is the individual onscience where self comes first in all things.

The cultivation and growth of the social conscience is being strongly urged as the only method whereby the affairs of the world may be straightened out and the nations find a common ground for peace.

What is a Palm Sunday Christian?—A. C. T.

Palm Sunday is the Sunday before Easter and is kept in remembrance of the triumphal riding of Jesus from Bethany into Jerusalem when the people sang and spread branches and garments before Him, so as to hail Him as a conqueror. It is likely that some of these joined in the cry to crucify Him.

Now, a Palm Sunday Christian is one who would be on Christ's side in the singing and riding, but would not be with Him in His sufferings —great in talking and shouting, but nowhere in working and giving.

Some weeks ago a preacher said, "Faith in God gives men a view of life and a way of life, the latter guided by the former." Would you explain what he meant?—F. L.

To have faith in God is to be sure of a plan of life which has within it a purpose which is good and an end which is victorious.

If this be assured by faith, then the way of life must be so ordered as to fit into the plan and produce the result. That is, the whole life is one and hangs together. The view and the way cannot be separated, the way is directed by the view.

In John's Gospel, Jesus is called the Prince of Peace. In His day the world threw Him out. What is it doing with Him to-day?—B. S. W.

If at the present there is much talk of war and much money is being spent on the equipments of war, yet the nations are afraid of war. If there could come the assurance that war was forever past, there would be a great feeling of relief.

If there were a vote taken between the Prince of Peace and the Prince of War, I am quite sure the Prince of Peace would win. We do not want another war.

Cathedral Musings

EVERY-DAY humanity as it walks the earth may be divided roughly into two classes, the mystically "living" and the mystically "dead," or as the occult schools term them, the "living dead."

Unless this fact is recognized many of the passages in our Scriptures in reference to the "living" and the "dead" have but little meaning.

When we come to really think about it, how can a man be said to be alive when he is not even half alive, when he is totally unconscious of his real inner self, and is absolutely ignorant of the powers and faculties of his soul. To be conscious only of the outer material self is to be conscious only of a small fraction and that not the most important fraction of one's total self. Nor can it be said that there is any instantaneous awakening of the inner self. There is, it is true, sometimes an instantaneous realization of the soul, but the actual powers and faculties of the Divine Indweller have to be developed very carefully and gradually before they may wisely and safely function in harmony with and through the outer man.

There are some who deny the existence of the occult powers in man, but their denial is of ignorance, for the curious part about it is, that they deny that which they will not take the trouble to prove for themselves, for in their ignorant arrogance they have no humility, nor are they willing to undergo the necessary training and self-discipline by which the dormant powers of the psyche can be awakened.

Their position is exactly like that of one unable to read who cannot see how black marks on paper can actually convey words and thought and yet will not trouble to master the art of writing or ever learn his alphabet.

The truth of the matter is in the Kabbalistic maxim, "As above, so below," for within the human organism, the microcosm, is everything in little that exists in the greater universe, the macrocosm. Within himself can man find both God and the powers of God, both the angels and the ministry of angels. The mystic sun, and moon, and planets are all within us as well as without. And it is of no use whatever to seek outside until one has realized the kingdom of the heaven that lies within every man of woman.—Frater IX, Rosicrucian Order, San Jose, Calif.

A Dollar Speaks

YOU hold me in your hand and call me yours.

Yet may I not as well call you my own?

See how easily I rule you.

To gain me you would all but die.

I am impersonal as rain, essential as water.

Without me men and institutions die.

Yet I do not hold the power of life for them; I am futile without the stamp of your desire.

And I go nowhere unless my masters send me.

I keep strange company in serving life's exchange: I am here today a holy offering to a risen God; but yesterday I lured vile men into a sick room to snatch a sleeping baby from his crib and tear the heart of a nation.

For me men mock love and scorn God.

Yet God appoints me to the service of His saints—to give education to the growing mind and food to the starving bodies of the poor.

My power is terrific.

Wherefore, I beg you, stamp me with your faith and send me out to tasks of happiness and peace and life.

For, mighty as I am, I must depend on you for character. My use and service is determined by the kind of men who gain me, hold me for a while, and send me forth into the fields of their desires and aims.

Now that I am yours, I beg you let me serve the best impulses you can feel.

I hunger, just as you, for goodness; but I must, like flesh, respond to evil impulse if not used for holy works.

I beg you let my best self serve and live.—Southern Christian Advocate.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Last Judgment

Scripture—Matthew 25:31-46.

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

Our Lord's address to his disciples on the Mount of Olives on the Tuesday before his death set forth his coming in glory, first, in its relation to his people Israel (Matt. 24:6-44); then in relation to the Church (24:45-25:30) and finally in its relation to all nations (25:31-46).

His judgment upon these nations will be determined by these nations' attitude of friendliness or hostility toward Jesus' own nation of whom he here says, "Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of these my brethren, even these least, ye did it unto me."

Of those who have exercised a kindly attitude he says, "Then shall the king say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world; for I was hungry, and ye gave me meat, etc."

Of those whose attitude was hostile and who omitted these kindnesses, he says, "Then shall he say also unto them on the left hand, Depart from me, ye cursed, into the eternal fire which is prepared for the devil and his angels".

HELPING CRIPPLED CHILDREN.

The task to which Rotary has devoted itself of taking care of the crippled children whose parents are unable to provide the necessary treatment is an undertaking in which the organization should have the sympathy and the practical support of the community generally.

As a news item in another column to-day shows a survey has disclosed the fact that there are some 6,000 crippled children in Ontario, and it is the case that the vast majority of these handicapped little ones are being or have been helped by the Rotary Clubs of the province.

Here at home the Peterborough Rotary Club has looked after one hundred crippled children, twenty-two cases being cared for during the past year.

That is work that is entirely commendable, for it means that many a child who was facing life with a decided handicap has now been given a fresh start and the hope of growing up into an independent, self-sustaining citizen.

While the surgical work in connection with all these cases has been done without any charge, at the same time there must necessarily be considerable expense associated with it in the provision of splints, hospital treatment and other things, and it is for this reason that the Rotary Club asks for the co-operation of the public in securing the necessary funds.

With the knowledge that every dollar contributed to this cause means the helping of some crippled child, it should not be difficult for Rotary to secure the support for which it is asking.

THE TREND TOWARD RECOVERY.

The current business summary of the Bank of Montreal confirms the mass of evidence from other sources that Canada's march back to better times is being definitely continued, many encouraging figures in support of that statement being given.

Conditions during April were, we are told, more active from a business standpoint than they were in March, and that month had shown a very sharp rise from February.

"Though the advance was not so rapid or general," says the statement, "nothing in the way of a reaction was anywhere indicated, and the trend toward recovery may be said to have continued without interruption."

The weekly economic index computed by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics stood at 93.8 for the week ended May 5th, compared with 78.8 for the corresponding week of 1933, a gain of 19 per cent.

External trade made a striking increase in April when imports rose $14,358,000 or 70 per cent. over the corresponding month last year, and domestic exports increased $11,571,000 or 57.5 per cent.

These are remarkable figures.

They reveal, as the Bank of Montreal statement says, the largest volume of commerce since 1931, attributable in the case of exports largely to the Empire preferential tariff agreements, and in the case of imports to the rising tide of business activity in Canada.

Federal revenues are sharply increasing, and the value of retail sales for March of this year shows an increase over the corresponding month of last year of nearly 12 per cent.

In nearly every department of business and industry the same encouraging story is told and the outlook distinctly justifies optimism.

WHEN HE NEEDS A FRIEND.

One of the most pertinent things that has been said about prison reform is the following remark of Napoleon Seguin, governor of Bordeaux jail in Quebec:

"If people would only extend the pity to the ex-convict that they extend to him while he is behind the bars there would be fewer ex-convicts going wrong again;

". . . The general public should try to be as merciful to the released prisoner as they are to the one actually behind the prison walls—more so, in fact, for the ones behind the prison walls have every reasonable comfort and are well cared for at all times."

A great deal of fuss has been raised about conditions in the penitentiaries, and considerable sympathy wasted upon the law-breakers who are behind prison walls, but we fail to notice any signs of enthusiasm in the matter of giving a helping hand to any of these men after they have discharged their debt to society and are once more at liberty.

"It is easy," says the Ottawa Journal, "to work up sympathy for the unfortunate human confined behind stone walls and iron bars, easy to forget his crime and his victims. But there is nothing either romantic or picturesque about the plight of a man just out of jail competing for a job when his prison record is a frightful handicap."

Less worry over the convict when he's being fed and cared for inside the penitentiary and more concern over his fate when he is released would seem to be required.

If some of the energy, newspaper and otherwise, that is at present being thrown into the effort to improve conditions in the prisons were to be diverted to helping to make a self-sustaining and useful member of society out of the discharged convict, it is to be imagined more useful work would be accomplished.

NEW DEMOCRACY.

Professor Stephen Leacock, addressing a joint dinner of the Canadian Political Science Association and the Canadian Historical Association in Montreal, declares that the present system of electing to government people who know absolutely nothing, a method that was the triumph of humanity a century ago, is due to become history.

All over the world, he adds, are signs that government is going to be changed. A revised democracy is the professor's hope. "Our kind of government must be revised," he exclaims.

* * * *

It is easy to counsel the election of people who know, but practice is difficult. Each election brings many new faces into public life. Some of them belong to men who have given much study and thought to public questions. Others represent the ultimate in inexperience. Unfortunately the personal qualities of a candidate often play a small part in most contests. The party to which a nominee belongs is a greater factor. And the party's policies, of course, mean much.

It will be found that men who are best qualified, from the standpoint of training and education, to participate in public affairs, are, in countless cases, least likely to secure election. They have the knowledge, but they lack the ability to present themselves, successfully, before the crowd. They are like some young men who pass brilliantly through various schools and colleges and then set up, say, in the practice of medicine. They have everything necessary to a successful and lucrative career—except the selling skill to impress potential patients. And when they fail to do this there can be little success, in the ordinary meaning of the term.

* * * *

Our political system saves us from having, at almost any time, a complete new set of inexperienced elected officials. Legislatures change, but each new one contains many of the men from the House that preceded it. As a result experience is available. Continuity of administration is maintained. Under our system, also, most permanent officials—deputy ministers, commission heads and the Civil Service generally—are unaffected by changes of administration. They watch Governments come and go and carry on their duties in uninterrupted fashion. It is well that this is so. Otherwise the frequent changes would make for disorganization and lack of efficiency.

We feel that in this respect the Canadian system is much better than that obtaining across the line where, for instance, there is a wholesale change of postmasters every time a Federal Government loses and where such offices as county treasurer, etc., are elective rather than appointive.

* * * *

Professor Leacock, it seems to us, is going too far when he speaks of the present system of electing people "who know absolutely nothing." Occasionally a person of this type manages to attain office, but, fortunately, such cases are few and far between. On the whole, we believe, Canadians, whether by accident or instinct, get a reasonably good class of men in public offices, and reasonably good, even if too much, government follows. In a democracy, governments are an adequate reflection of the people who choose them. And just as cream rises to the top in a milk bottle, so does our system result, as a rule, in the cream of those elected to office securing cabinet preferment and occupying seats of high responsibility. There are exceptions, but as in so many other things, they merely serve to prove the rule.

* * * *

We decline to worry over Canada's future in a political way. Canadian common sense is so well grounded that it is not possible for electorate to go very far astray in choosing Governments. Individual mistakes will be made, but the result of a general election is spread out over so many candidates, even of one party, that the national or provincial interest is well protected if by nothing more than the law of averages.—Border Cities Star.

KIDNAPPING DOES NOT PAY.

The outcome of two recent kidnappings in the United States which held the news spotlight and roused public opinion afresh against this crime should serve as a fresh warning to the underworld that this crime does not pay. In on case, that of a wealthy Californian, his abductors were captured and within a few hours of his release had been convicted and sentenced to life terms. In the other, that of a six-year-old girl, the supposed kidnappers revealed where she was hidden and she was recovered without any payment of ransom. Apparently the kidnappers found the trail too hot for them.

A summary of ten recent kidnappings in the United States shows the following results:

One man sentenced to death.

Twelve sentenced to life imprisonment.

Four given 99 years in prison; one, 50 years; two, 25 years; two, 20 years; three, 15 years; one, 10 years; one, 2 years; four, 5 years.

One committed suicide.

In one of these cases six indicted persons still await trial. In two other cases, nine arrests have been made, and the chances are that some of those arrested will be convicted and receive severe penalties.

Judged by these statistics, kidnapping does not pay. The chances are not good. First, there is the chance that the attempt to seize and carry away the victim may go wrong. Then there is the difficulty of collecting the ransom. Finally, there is the task of remaining safe and free after it has been paid. There have been a few cases in which kidnappers have made a big haul, outwitted and kept free of the police. But these cases are exceptions. The record of the last year suggests that the police and law authorities in the United States have made some effective headway in coping with this crime. They have had the support of an aroused public opinion. —Kingston Whig-Standard.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The political campaign will be all over in a little more than three weeks, which is perhaps the one favorable feature it presents.

Mr. Smith says that while there are a number of Communist candidates there are no Communist party candidates, a distinction which is important legally if not generally.

The suggestion of Capt. Philpott that in all cases where there are three candidates the Liberal and Conservative standard-bearers should toss a coin to see which will drop out of the race will cause a chuckle if nothing else.

Among those who are left out on the end of the well-known line in the present election campaign may be mentioned those people who do not favor freer beer and wine.

Some how the NRA does not seem to be completely successful in relieving the United States of labor disputes and riots.

Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King recalls that as a cub reporter on the Toronto Globe he was paid $5 a week, which was later increased to $8. And he could probably get his old job back any time.—Border Cities Star.

READ THIS FIRST

Talking to her sister Etta, Alysia Naylor is resentful over the approaching marriage of their cousin John Tait and Lucy Burnham, a widow, because the sisters will have to leave Tait's home where they have been living. They relate the news to Reggie Claridge, Alysia's fiance. At Alysia's suggestion Reggie agrees to go to Vichy where their wealthy Aunt Norah is stopping with her stepson, Tait, and his fiancee. Reggie is to try to win Lucy's attentions away from John and prevent the marriage. Lady Tait, who is "Aunt Norah" to the Naylor sisters and their brother, Claud, is seated in the hotel lobby at Vichy. Lady Tait and her friend, Lucy, who she has met through an automobile accident, discuss the Naylor sisters. When John Tait arrives in the lobby, Lady Tait notices him speaking to a beautiful young girl whom she dislikes at once. They are discussing a financial transaction. After Tait agrees to pay again—obviously blackmail for a past indiscretion—the beautiful girl, who is revealed as Gillian Dundas, relates the incident to a strange-looking young man in another hotel.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 7

"So he doesn't like the style of my letters," the young man said, lighting Gillian's cigaret with a lover's lingering, a lingering she put an instant end to by throwing her head back with an impatient flip.

"They do the trick," she observed, and, picking up a weekly, turned to the fashion page and was at once absorbed in it.

"You don't think he suspects the truth?" he asked, after lying back, with his unhappy, creased face turned to the ceiling above him.

"Why should he? Innocent little lamb straying into strangely wicked places . . . bleating to be let out again . . . that was me that night."

"I wonder what would happen if he did suspect me though?" She asked the question idly, the underlying stupidity in her face showing for a second.

"Prison," he said shortly. "Penal servitude. Long spell." She flung the magazine from her, jumped to her feet, and whirled around on him in terror. Then her mood changed, she threw back her head and laughed incredulously.

"Quite right," he said approvingly, "something unpleasant would be much more likely to happen to him than to you. . . . Much more!"

"I'm off," she said to that, drawing a lovely coat towards her with her foot. She had tossed it down on the floor beside her chair. "I hate talking about being found out, and silly things that will never happen."

"You're an extravagant little spendthrift," he said reproachfully, picking it up for her and holding it. "I don't treat my clothes that way."

"Half the time you don't have any, probably." She laughed again and flung out of the room before he could reply.

Meanwhile Tait had taken Lucy Burnham for their drive. His stepmother sat on a while, then she went to the desk.

"Who was that young lady who was talking to you just now? Very pretty. I heard her mention the name of a Mrs. de Souza."

"Her name is Miss Dundas. Is she not beautiful? They are but just arrived. From the Splendide, noisy place quite unfitted for visitors of distinction. She is traveling with the elder lady. A relative evidently."

"Dundas. . . ." Now Lady Tait knew some Chentenham Dundases and some Dublin Dundases, and some Northumberland Dundases. . . . Do you happen to know her first name?"

The reception clerk opened the visitors' book and pointed to where, in a sprawling, slovenly hand, was written Gillian Dundas. The place from which she came was given as London. Just before hers was the name of Caroline de Souza. Also from London. Lady Tait was handing the book back when a name leapt out at her. Reginald Claridge—from London.

"And when did this gentleman arrive?" she asked, laying a finger on the name.

"Early this morning. Milady knows him?"

"I've seen the name before." Lady Tait turned away.

Obviously Mrs. de Souza and the young girl were traveling about to capture a wealthy husband for Miss Dundas. Lady Tait thought it must be the maid who had been instructed to find out particulars of all young men arriving at the hotel, so as not to let the lovely Gillian waste her time. But that exchanging with John of a quick fertive sentence was not so easy to understand. Not by any means. As a picture painted by a master becomes more and more intricate, shows more and more lights and shades the longer it is studied, so this little scene grew more and more complex to the woman who had inadvertently watched it.

After a rest in her own rooms, she decided to have tea in the lounge. John and Lucy might go on to Montdore. Lady Tait was stirring her cup meditatively when a young man dropped into the chair near her. He was very good looking indeed, she thought, quite unusually so. She caught his eye on her, and he bent forward with an effect of youthful impetuosity.

"They tell me you're Lady Tait. I happen to know two nieces of yours quite well. Alysia and Henrietta Naylor."

"Oh, so you know the Naylor girls, do you?" Lady Tait by a look invited him to take the chair beside her.

"I saw them only a couple of days ago, and when I told them I had booked a room here, they told me that Naylor and Tait were both staying here with you. I hope your accident has left no ill effects? By the way, I should have introduced myself at once. My name is Claridge. Reginald Claridge," he murmured as he took the seat. "I say this is jolly! Making your acquaintance, I mean. I've so often heard the two girls speak of you," and Reginald Claridge began his best entertainment form. He amused Lady Tait with his easy chat and talk of mutual acquaintances, of which they seemed to have several.

"Knows some good people" returned to her mind more than once. As for Claridge, he was desperately bored. Lady Tait was not at all the kind of spiteful raffish old thing he liked to talk to. But there was still the young widow. So when, a little later, Mrs. Burnham came in, smiling from her drive, he looked at her with interest. But his heart, or, rather, his astute little brain, sank. She was quite pretty, this little woman with the charming complexion and the shining gold in her hair, but she was not his kind either. Simple. Foolish. Good. He summed her up to himself. The first two were all right, but they were quite wiped out by the last. You might as well make love to the curate's wife, he told himself disconsolately, as he smiled and bowed, and did his best to be interesting when Lady Tait introduced him.

John was detained, Mrs. Burnham said, but would come in shortly. Claridge noticed the way in which Lady Tait's eyes at once roamed the lounge as she heard this. He wondered why. But at that moment a young man and a girl came into view, at sight of whom Claridge nearly swallowed a gulp of tea. Here was something worth coming to Vichy for. What looks! What style! Nothing goody-goody about this damsel. His glance flicked contemptuously over "bread-and-butter Mrs. Burnham," as he called her to himself, and Lady Tait. The young man talking to the girl was Naylor. His clever, rather hatchet face was alight, and yet his eyes as they rested on the girl beside him were critical. There was something a little off-hand in his manner too as he walked over with her to the group around the tea table. Claridge felt that he was stressing the offhandedness, as a man might struggle against his bonds, or pretend that they were not there.

Lady Tait was gracious but a trifle persistent in her inquiries as to which of the Dundases Gillian belonged. The girl modestly claimed a distant kinship with the Northumberland family. She spoke easily, she said the most correct things, yet Claridge felt even surer than ever, that this lovely young creature was no prude.

Italy After Eleven Years of Fascist Form of Government Tested by the Record.

(By H. W. L. MAHOOD)

Article One

This is emphatically a testing century. No feature of the life of a nation can escape the most intimate scrutiny. Every government and every form of government is being weighed in the scales of public opinion. Russia and Germany were found wanting. Theories of government are now in the crucible.

In this article a study of Fascism in Italy will not be out of place. Italy was the first nation to undertake to build up a Fascist State. For more than seven years control has been almost absolute. The conditions for a test could not have been more favorable. Italy is not loud in its bragging about accomplishments. Nor have the Italians given the world much information in the form of statistics. The raw material, for the study of a foreigner, is rather scarce. More material in the raw can be obtained from any department of the Canadian government than can be secured in printed form from all the departments of the Italian government combined.

However, the reports of international business furnish data that are of valuable import. The department of mines in the Canadian government throw wide open all the information that any student of modern affairs could wish. The United States Department of Commerce is pleased when printed information is sought. The research student must dig to get inside information about the working and record of Fascism in Italy.

Some things are out in the light. The complete history of Fascism for the eleven years will be written before many decades. Assertions for the present must be written with caution and reserve.

This can be said without any hesitation. Fascism in Italy has fared no better than Democracy in Britain or in the United States during the depression. It has not fared as well in the agricultural and industrial areas. The heavy taxation burdens have been shifted from big business to the under Italian masses. There are a few large-scale farms. Bigness in Italy has the upper hand. The little farmer has been driven to the wall. With him has gone the little business man.

Italy is over-burdened with debts. These debts are the heritage of excessive investments in boom times. Boom times are dangerous. They cannot last. The sag period is sure to come. When it does the losses are likely to be more than the gains. Then comes depressions. Unemployment is sure to be not far behind. Italy has had her share of this contrast. Fascism has been as helpless as other forms of government to cope with the inescapable problems.

MARKETS, MARKETS that has been the cry of every nation for at least four years. Products of many kinds have been abundant. Tariffs and overproduction and nationalism have made international trade impossible. In vain Italy has looked out of her window over the world to find markets for her surplus goods. Fascism has not found a way out of depression to recovery.

The depression began in Italy four years before any of the other great nations felt its force. The depression in Italy reached a crisis in 1926. The crisis was nation wide. Fascist financiers attempted to stabilize the lira at 5.26 cents. The world depression began in 1929. Like a person in feeble health and responding with but little resistance to a new disease, Italy was almost bankrupted by the world catastrophe. If the United States had not come to the help of the Italian government with large loans the Fascist ship of state could not have weathered the storm. Inside fact information will give the reader an idea of the precariousness of the Italian situation as of 1926-1929.

Figures tell the tale of internal conditions. Banknote circulation fell from Lire 18,940,000,000 to Lire 16,774,000,000, and monthly exports fell from Lire 16,695,000,000 to Lire 15,228,000,000 and freight traffic dropped from 1,076,000 ton-kilometers a month in 1926 to 1,017,000 in 1929.

Bankers will recall that foreign loans for the most part ceased with the world crash. Italy looked in vain to borrow more money. None would loan.

1931 was a fateful years for Italy. The Lire had dropped in value. Export markets were disorganized. The first post-war crisis was on. Workers occupied Italian factories. Anarchy was in the air. The property owning classes were shaken. Mussolini was their one chance. To him they flocked like sheep. Thus rose Fascism in Italy. Temporary safety came to the propertied. With the passing of Mussolini from the scene will go Fascism. The Italians are weary of his crawling to the capitalistic baron. Fascism is making the working classes of Italy more and more democratic in heart yearning.

The intelligent of the working classes are studying the results of Fascism with the proficiency of other forms of government. They have found that with Italian decline of export trade of 60.7 per cent in 1933 Germany, torn by political turmoil, suffered a decline of only 61.5 per cent; and France 63.1 per cent; and Britain only 49.5 per cent. The United States maintained a good export trade, and has no debts of any kind that cannot be met promptly.

Mussolini has given his best thought to the development of a larger home market for all that Italy can produce. His has been a program of economic nationalism. With a mapped out program he has attempted to meet the crisis. The people for a time gave themselves to him as to a Messiah. But the complete abandonment of the human will and mind to any man soon becomes tiresome. In the nature of things it cannot last. Fascism does not fit human nature. The obedience demanded is as complete as if it were of a God.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

A SERMON IN TWIGS

We came into an ugly, a humble room, hidden away from the street, to see a little exhibition of Japanese flower arrangements.

And, as we came up the creaking stairs and passed through the doorway into the plain room, we saw, 20 feet away from us, a beautiful thing.

It was a little tree, standing so perfect, so exquisitely proportioned, that it almost took away the breath. It stood still, not a breath of air stirred the needles of that pine tree. Not a butterfly fluttered near, not a bird sang in the branches. But it was a fair delight for the eye to behold....One branch struggled skywards, another swept gracefully toward the earth, and at the base flowers grew. Out of the pebbles that filled the great pot from which the tree rose, had come this harmonious arrangement of bark and twig and leaf and petal....No man had made this we knew. It had grown by itself through the many years, subtly and strongly. And it was almost too precious for mortal eyes.

A young Japanese standing year explained it to us. He told us that the arrangement symbolized heaven and earth and humanity. That rising branch was heaven, that low sweepin branch was earth, those flowers were mankind....We had known it, almost, without being told.

And then he showed us that this was no natural pine tree at all. It was put together out of grape stumps and wire and nails and cut from a larger pine. It was cunning deception, a work of art and not a growing thing. Not anything that could live sweetly in that pot for years to come, but something that could not live at all, but would fade and die tomorrow....And yet, this did not matter. The beauty was there and could not die. Its memory would stay with us. Always it would stand, as fresh, as fair, as perfect as our first glance had shown it to be. The artist who it had given it to us, and even the knowledge of his tricks and devices could not take away the richness of his gift....It was ours to keep forever, a comfort in any moment of doubt or bitterness, reminding us that out of meager materials any man may create a glory and a joy.

Eggs Quoted At 15 Butter 17 And 18

A warm sun made for a large market today, particularly the outside section. A profusion of plants heaping boxes of apples and bunches of rhubarb lent color to the solid background of staple foods offered for sale. A large crowd thronged the upstairs hall, while outside a smooth - talking Indian beguiled hundreds with a medicine guaranteed to cure anything from blackheads to rheumatism. An auctioneer, later in the morning, also was surrounded by a large number of interested listeners.

Plenty of potatoes were on display, ranging in price from $1.30 to $1.50 a bag. Eggs were selling generally for 15 and 16 cents a dozen. There was a wide spread on the small number of chickens offered, one lady asking 15 cents a pound while a short distance away another's price was 30 cents. Butter was 17 and 18 cents per pound.

RUSSIA PLANS TO ENTER LEAGUE IN AN EFFORT TO AVERT WARFARE

of military alliances in Europe more of a menace to peace than a preventive. Yet anxious to show her desire for peaceful collaboration with the other powers, the Soviet government will not leave a single effort untried, and therefore is prepared to come to Geneva.

France Wants Alliance

France, however, had a very different objective in view when M. Barthou and M. Paul-Boncour before him, began pulsing the Moscow government on closer international collaboration. France wanted to draw the Soviets into a military alliance with herself and her allies. This the Soviets refused point-blank. For there is no question either that such a move on the part of Moscow would produce a tremendous change in the international lineup. It would in the first place give the Hitler government an additional reason to clamor for armaments and push its rearmament process with even more determination than is the case at present, secondly the enemies of Russia everywhere would have an opportunity to point out that Moscow's declarations about peaceful intentions are contradicted by her participation in the French system of alliances.

Some weeks ago Stalin said to Walter Duranty, then Moscow correspondent of the New York Times, that Russia was by no means hostile to the League of Nations "if the League really worked for peace." The present negotiations in Paris brought out, I learn, that Moscow considers the absence of Japan and Germany a heavy blow to world-security as it takes away the opportunity to discuss before the tribunal of international public opinion such questions as secret armaments

Expect Move by Japan

The Trotsky newspapers, of which there are now a dozen in Europe, who have got wind of the important move to be made by Moscow, assert that Moscow is deeply concerned about developments in the Far East. Nobody doubts now in well-informed political and diplomatic milieus that we are on the eve of another sensation move by Japan. After the series of non-aggression pacts, concluded by Maxime Litvinoff, Soviet Commissar for foreign affairs, the Trotsky papers assert, Moscow feels herself not secure at all, and dreads an imminent incursion into her Far Eastern territories by the armies of Japan, which are slowly mobilizing in Manchuria and Mongolia.

Coupled with Japan's preparations, is Germany now openly defying the clauses of the Treaty of Versailles by increasing her military effectives at a phenomenal rate. Last week alone the Berlin government placed a big order for aeroplane motors with the United Aircraft Corporation in the United States. Encouraged by Berlin's boldness and the apparent inability of France to prevent the rearmament of the Reich the British firm of Wright-Motors has established a factory in Berlin and is negotiating for a large order. Vickers-Armstrong representatives have also left for Germany to get a share of the big contracts that are to be signed this week.

Belgium Gains Both Ways

The incomprehensible attitude of the Belgian prime minister, Count de Broqueville, who has come out in favor of Germany's right to rearm, although this means a grave danger to Belgium, is explained by Germany's heavy purchases of iron-ore, copper and leather in the Belgian Congo. The knife cuts two ways with Belgian big business, of which M. de Broqueville is the leader; they are heavy sellers to Germany, and at the same time can point to the danger of Germany's re-arming and cause the Belgian state to increase her own war-material and "defensive" uneasiness.

Moscow seems to be quite well aware of the fact that the Hitler government is buying itself a free hand in the matter of armament. As purchases from Germany's rearmament is dwindling away. The entry into the League is, therefore, a supreme measure of self-defence of the Soviet Union and an effort to defer as long as possible the war that is being cooked up against her.

The British government, I learn, is not opposed at all, but will welcome the entry of the Soviet government in the League of Nations. Mussolini, who has more than once threatened to leave the League, now favors Russia's entry and a strengthening of the international body at Geneva.

never made any mention of a heart condition. He saw Behan last evening and he was in perfect spirits. Yesterday Behan had exercised for an hour. Early this morning, however, Behan was ill and within a very short time he died with a nurse at his side.

So far as could be learned, Behan's condition was such that he might have died suddenly at any time, said the warden. He scoffed at outside rumors that Behan's death was in any way linked with unrest at the penititentiary. Conditions were quiet, he declared.

TORONTO, May 26.— (C.P.)— Sam Behan, who died suddenly in Kingston penitentiary, where he was serving a life sentence, had nothing but warm praise for the officials of the institution and the manner in which they had carried out reforms inaugurated following the prison riots of 1932, said Frank Regan, K.C., to-day.

Regan, who met Behan during the riot trails 1st summer, had since been endeavoring to secuer a new trial for Behan on the bank robbery and conspiracy charges of which he was convicted in Montreal in 1931. He saw Behan on Saturday last, at which time the convict was in good spirits, and this morning received a letter from Behan in which the convict spoke cheerfuly of the prospect for a new trial.

Behan, according to Regan, was deeply grateful to Brig-Gen. D. M. Ormond, superintendent of penitentiaries, and to Warden W. B. Megloughlin of the penitentiary for their efforts toward facilitating a new trial for him. Regan added that these officials had given himself every facility in his efforts for a new trial.

According to the Toronto counsel he considered there were sufficient grounds for a new trial. The Crown evidence had been based largely on identification, he contended, declaring a principal witness was a woman who identified Behan as the robber she had seen 68 feet distant, through a plate-glass window. This witness identified Behan by a scar on the right side of his face at this distance, Regan added, whereas the scar was on the left side and, he claimed, was indistinguishable 10 feet away.

Regan said he had formed a high opinion of Behans capabilities.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

TORONTO MINING

TORONTO, May 26.—CP)—A demonstration of firmness was given by the mining section of the Toronto Stock exchange in the closing session of the week. Some of the senior and base metal shares edged forward a little while the silver shares held their ground.

Advances of 5 to 25 cents were registered in the big gold group for Dome, Teck Hughes and Wright Hargreaves and Lake Shore was up 50 cents, the others holding unchanged. Noranda was the strongest of the base metals, closing at 43.50 for a net gain of 70 cents.

Action was slow in the silver group with Eldorado and Premier showing the best trade. Both closed unchanged and White Eagle finished a cent up at 32.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, May 26 (A.P.)—The stock market continued its creeping progress to-day and a number of issues recorded relatively substantial gaps in subnormal activity.

Although sentiment was noticeably improved traders were still cautious and public participation was at a minimum. The close was steady, and the turnover approximated only 260,000 shares.

TORONTO INDUSTRIAL.

TORONTO, May 26 (C.P.).—Improved buying accompanied by a stiffening of prices continued in the distillery shares in to-day's short session of the Toronto Stock Exchange, industrial section. The strong tone in the group encouraged the rest of the board and the result was a generally firm close.

Walkers Common was the leader, with a gain of more than a point to 35 on heavy turnover. Fractional advances were also registered for distillers Seagrams and Canadian Industrial Alcohol.

Interlisted issues reflected only partly the show of buoyancy on the New York board. International Nickel added about 5 cents, Ford 'A' ¼, closing at 21, and C.P.R. ¼, but Brazilian continued its decline, touching 9¼ and closing at 9⅜ for a loss of ⅛.

MONTREAL EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, May 26 (CP) — Prices on the Montreal Stock Exchange held irregular during to-day's short session.

Winnipeg Electric Preferred dipped a point to a new low for the year at 9, while Bank of Montreal and Hamilton Bridge were both down a point. Brazilian Traction eased ⅛ to 9⅜, equalling its new low for the year established yesterday.

International Nickel was up 10 cents at 26.35, while McColl-Frontenac, National Breweries and B.C. Packers were up fractions. Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal Power, Shawinigan Power, Canadian Industrial Alcohol and National Steel Car were unchanged.

NEW YORK, May 26. — The creeping advance of the stock market had moral support yesterday from commodities, and if the strength in commodities can be sustained the let-down of business throughout the agricultural areas will presumably be checked and the up-trend of wholesale prices will resume.

Completion of the process of making a slow botom in the stock market will come sooner with strong commodity markets than without. The stock market does not appear to have weakened by the slow advance since Wednesday. The rally has been slow and deliberate and accompanied by a light volume. One after another important issues have reversed negative suggestions and looking over the entire market in point of strength was especially indicated in American Smelting, Der, Goodyear, Noranda, Sears, United Aircraft, Western Union and the tobaccos. There were suggestions of vulnerable short positions in four of the popular leaders—Chrysler, U. S. Steel, Dupont and Beth. Steel. Although the rallying power does not appear to have been exhausted as yet, the action of the commodity market is likely to be an influence. If wheat should further extend its rise the farm implement and mail oredr stocks undoubtedly would extend their rally and other issues less directly tied to agriculture would feel the influence in a secondary way. The tobaccos, the silver, the oils and the distilling stocks look promising just now for the longer term.—Waldo Young.

Trucking Is Resumed Again In Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS, May 26 (A.P.).—Truck service was resumed to-day after striking drivers voted to accept at a mass meeting last night an agreement which had been worked out at a series of conferences of strike leaders and employers, ending an 11-day walkout marked by bloody riots, in which one man was killed and scores injured.

At an early hour to-day trucks began moving and the market district began filling with trucks and cars, as farmers moved into the trading area without interference for the first time since May 25.

Merchants were on hand with their trucks and private cars to rush provisions to their stores which had been almost depleted of perishables.

The final step in negotiations will be the fyling by strikers and employers of a signed agreement with the Regional Labor Board.

The official statement was made after thte Daily Mail had declared that a man who knew Dillinger "well" in the United States had given Scotland Yard a statement saying he saw the criminal in London two days ago.

ARABIAN STRIFE TO BE RENEWED

Yemenite Prince Threatens to Depose Father if Dishonorable Peace Signed.

SAUDI TROOPS MOVING.

CAIRO, May 26.—C.P.-Havas).—The renewal of the Arabian war appeared imminent to-day as reports received from Taif in the Hedjas and from Jedda indicated that the Princes of Yemen and of Saudi Arabia were ready to resume hostilities.

Emid Saud and Emir Feisal informed their father, Ibn Saud, ruler of Hedjas and the Nedjas that they were prepared to renew the attack upon the Yemenite capital Sana.

Prince Ahmed of Yemen was reported at odds with his father. He was said to have threatened to depose the Imamb Yahya if he should sign a dishonorable peace with the Saudi ruler.

The Jedda report stated that Emir Feisal had given orders to his troops to begin the march on Sana.

Two Taximen Held In Hull Cafe Killing

HULL, Que., May 26. (CP). — Until the formal inquest is opened, probably on June 1, into the death of Arthur C. Street, young Ottawa business man, two men now held as material witnesses will remain in custody. The names of the men are George Charron, 28, former taxi driver, and George Boulay, 22, taxi driver. The former lives in Hull and the latter Ottawa.

Arthur Street died in Sacred Hear Hospital here after a brawl in a cafe, early on Friday morning. With serious head wounds, he was brought to the hospital by a taxi driver who left without giving his name. Subsequently the police found and questioned the driver, afterwards releasing him.

Detectives working on the case today expressed the opinion that no further arrests would be made. It is expected that the formal inquest will bring out details.

JAPAN IS READY TO DROP CLAIMS NAVAL PARITY

Fears Anglo-American Combine at 1935 Conference in London.

ASKS HIGHER RATIO.

Willing to Discuss Preliminary Steps to Prepare for Parley.

By Glenn Rabb.
(Copyright, 1934—By the A.P.).

TOKYO, May 26.—Japan, fearing an Anglo-American combine at the 1935 naval conference, is ready, it was indicated to-day, to abandon any claims to naval parity with Great Britain and the United States.

These claims never have been enunciated by responsible officials. They have been hinted so strongly, however, that most observers had come to anticipate a vigorous demand for parity.

Instead, it was inferred by some officials and in editorial comment, the Empire now is willing to forego parity claims provided Japan is given a higher ratio and theoretical equality.

Tokyo leaders have repeatedly emphasized their determination to oppose maintenance of the present 5-5-3 treaty naval ratios among Great Britain, United States and Japan.

The new trends cropped out today as a high official source made known London likely will be notified within the next 24 hours of Japan's willingness to engage in discussions preliminary to the 1935 naval conference.

Tokyo's three leading vernacular newspaper—The Asahi, Jiji and Hcohi—were united to-day in the well-known contention for "new agreements fairer and more reasonable."

Eggs Quoted At 15 Butter 17 And 18

A warm sun made for a large market today, particularly the outside section. A profusion of plants heaping boxes of apples and bunches of rhubarb lent color to the solid background of staple foods offered for sale. A large crowd thronged the upstairs hall, while outside a smooth - talking Indian beguiled hundreds with a medicine guaranteed to cure anything from blackheads to rheumatism. An auctioneer, later in the morning, also was surrounded by a large number of interested listeners.

Plenty of potatoes were on display, ranging in price from $1.30 to $1.50 a bag. Eggs were selling generally for 15 and 16 cents a dozen. There was a wide spread on the small number of chickens offered, one lady asking 15 cents a pound while a short distance away another's price was 30 cents. Butter was 17 and 18 cents per pound.

RUSSIA PLANS TO ENTER LEAGUE IN AN EFFORT TO AVERT WARFARE

of military alliances in Europe more of a menace to peace than a preventive. Yet anxious to show her desire for peaceful collaboration with the other powers, the Soviet government will not leave a single effort untried, and therefore is prepared to come to Geneva.

France Wants Alliance

France, however, had a very different objective in view when M. Barthou and M. Paul-Boncour before him, began pulsing the Moscow government on closer international collaboration. France wanted to draw the Soviets into a military alliance with herself and her allies. This the Soviets refused point-blank. For there is no question either that such a move on the part of Moscow would produce a tremendous change in the international lineup. It would in the first place give the Hitler government an additional reason to clamor for armaments and push its rearmament process with even more determination than is the case at present, secondly the enemies of Russia everywhere would have an opportunity to point out that Moscow's declarations about peaceful intentions are contradicted by her participation in the French system of alliances.

Some weeks ago Stalin said to Walter Duranty, then Moscow correspondent of the New York Times, that Russia was by no means hostile to the League of Nations "if the League really worked for peace." The present negotiations in Paris brought out, I learn, that Moscow considers the absence of Japan and Germany a heavy blow to world-security as it takes away the opportunity to discuss before the tribunal of international public opinion such questions as secret armaments

The Trotzky newspapers, of which there are now a dozen in Europe, who have got wind of the important move to be made by Moscow, assert that Moscow is deeply concerned about developments in the Far East. Nobody doubts now in well-informed political and diplomatic milieus that we are on the eve of another sensation move by Japan. After the series of non-aggression pacts, concluded by Maxime Litvinoff, Soviet Commissar for foreign affairs, the Trotzky papers assert, Moscow feels herself not secure at all, and dreads an imminent incursion into her Far Eastern territories by the armies of Japan, which are slowly mobilizing in Manchuria and Mongolia.

Coupled with Japan's preparations, is Germany now openly defying the clauses of the Treaty of Versailles by increasing her military effectives at a phenomenal rate. Last week alone the Berlin government placed a big order for aeroplane motors with the United Aircraft Corporation in the United States. Encouraged by Berlin's boldness and the apparent inability of France to prevent the rearmament of the Reich the British firm of Wright-Motors has established a factory in Berlin and is negotiating for a large order. Vickers-Armstrong representatives have also left for Germany to get a share of the big contracts that are to be signed this week.

Belgium Gains Both Ways

The incomprehensible attitude of the Belgian prime minister, Count de Broqueville, who has come out in favor of Germany's right to rearm, although this means a grave danger to Belgium, is explained by Germany's heavy purchases of iron-ore, copper and leather in the Belgian Congo. The knife cuts two ways with Belgian big business, of which M. de Broqueville is the leader; they are heavy sellers to Germany, and at the same time can point to the danger of Germany's re-arming and cause the Belgian state to increase her own war-material and "defensive" uneasiness.

Moscow seems to be quite well aware of the fact that the Hitler government is buying itself a free hand in the matter of armament. As purchases from Germany's rearmament is dwindling away. The entry into the League is, therefore, a supreme measure of self-defence of the Soviet Union and an effort to defer as long as possible the war that is being cooked up against her.

The British government, I learn, is not opposed at all, but will welcome the entry of the Soviet government in the League of Nations. Mussolini, who has more than once threatened to leave the League, now favors Russia's entry and a strengthening of the international body at Geneva.

never made any mention of a heart condition. He saw Behan last evening and he was in perfect spirits. Yesterday Behan had exercised for an hour. Early this morning, however, Behan was ill and within a very short time he died with a nurse at his side.

So far as could be learned, Behan's condition was such that he might have died suddenly at any time, said the warden. He scoffed at outside rumors that Behan's death was in any way linked with unrest at the penitentiary. Conditions were quiet, he declared.

TORONTO, May 26.— (C.P.)— Sam Behan, who died suddenly in Kingston penitentiary, where he was serving a life sentence, had nothing but warm praise for the officials of the institution and the manner in which they had carried out reforms inaugurated following the prison riots of 1932, said Frank Regan, K.C., to-day.

Regan, who met Behan during the riot trails ist summer, had since been endeavoring to secuer a new trial for Behan on the bank robbery and conspiracy charges of which he was convicted in Montreal in 1931. He saw Behan on Saturday last, at which time the convict was in good spirits, and this morning received a letter from Behan in which the convict spoke cheerfuly of the prospect for a new trial.

Behan, according to Regan, was deeply grateful to Brig-Gen. D. M. Ormond, superintendent of penitentiaries, and to Warden W. B. Megloughlin of the penitentiary for their efforts toward facilitating a new trial for him. Regan added that these officials had given himself every facility in his efforts for a new trial.

According to the Toronto counsel he considered there were sufficient grounds for a new trial. The Crown evidence had been based largely on identification, he contended, declaring a principal witness was a woman who identified Behan as the robber she had seen 68 feet distant, through a plate-glass window. This witness identified Behan by a scar on the right side of his face at this distance, Regan added, whereas the scar was on the left side and, he claimed, was indistinguishable 10 feet away.

Regan said he had formed a high opinion of Behans capabilities.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

TORONTO MINING

TORONTO, May 26.—(CP)—A demonstration of firmness was given by the mining section of the Toronto Stock exchange in the closing session of the week. Some of the senior and base metal shares edged forward a little while the silver shares held their ground.

Advances of 5 to 25 cents were registered in the big gold group for Dome, Teck Hughes and Wright Hargreaves and Lake Shore was up 50 cents, the others holding unchanged. Noranda was the strongest of the base metals, closing at 43.50 for a net gain of 70 cents.

Action was slow in the silver group with Eldorado and Premier showing the best trade. Both closed unchanged and White Eagle finished a cent up at 32.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, May 26 (A.P.)— The stock market continued its creeping progress to-day and a number of issues recorded relatively substantial gaps in subnormal activity.

Although sentiment was noticeably improved traders were still cautious and public participation was at a minimum. The close was steady, and the turnover approximated only 260,000 shares.

TORONTO INDUSTRIAL.

TORONTO, May 26 (C.P.).—Improved buying accompanied by a stiffening of prices continued in the distillery shares in to-day's short session of the Toronto Stock Exchange, industrial section. The strong tone in the group encouraged the rest of the board and the result was a generally firm close.

Walkers Common was the leader, with a gain of more than a point to 35 on heavy turnover. Fractional advances were also registered for distillers Seagrams and Canadian Industrial Alcohol.

Interlisted issues reflected only partly the show of buoyancy on the New York board. International Nickel added about 5 cents, Ford 'A' ¼, closing at 21, and C.P.R. ⅛, but Brazilian continued its decline, touching 9¼ and closing at 9⅜ for a loss of ⅛.

MONTREAL EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, May 26 (CP) — Prices on the Montreal Stock Exchange held irregular during to-day's short session.

Winnipeg Electric Preferred dipped a point to a new low for the year at 9, while Bank of Montreal and Hamilton Bridge were both down a point. Brazilian Traction eased ⅛ to 9⅜, equalling its new low for the year established yesterday.

International Nickel was up 10 cents at 26.36, while McColl-Frontenac, National Breweries and B.C. Packers were up fractions. Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal Power, Shawinigan Power, Canadian Industrial Alcohol and National Steel Car were unchanged.

LEEMING AND LEEMING

NEW YORK, May 26. — The creeping advance of the stock market had moral support yesterday from commodities, and if the strength in commodities can be sustained the let-down of business throughout the agricultural areas will presumably be checked and the up-trend of wholesale prices will resume.

Completion of the process of making a slow botom in the stock market will come sooner with strong commodity markets than without. The stock market does not appear to have weakened by the slow advance since Wednesday. The rally has been slow and deliberate and accompanied by a light volume. One after another important issues have reversed negative suggestions and looking over the entire market in point of strength was especially indicated in American Smelting, Der, Goodyear, Noranda, Sears, United Aircraft, Western Union and the tobaccos. There were suggestions of vulnerable short positions in four of the popular leaders—Chrysler, U. S. Steel, Dupont and Beth. Steel. Although the rallying power does not appear to have been exhausted as yet, the action of the commodity market is likely to be an influence. If wheat should further extend its rise the farm implement and mail oredr stocks undoubtedly would extend their rally and other issues less directly tied to agriculture would feel the influence in a secondary way. The tobaccos, the silver, the oils and the distilling stocks look promising just now for the longer term.—Waldo Young.

Trucking Is Resumed Again In Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS, May 26 (A.P.).— Truck service was resumed to-day after striking drivers voted to accept at a mass meeting last night an agreement which had been worked out at a series of conferences of strike leaders and employers, ending an 11-day walkout marked by bloody riots, in which one man was killed and scores injured.

At an early hour to-day trucks began moving and the market district began filling with trucks and cars, as farmers moved into the trading area without interference for the first time since May 25.

Merchants were on hand with their trucks and private cars to rush provisions to their stores which had been almost depleted of perishables.

The final step in negotiations will be the fyling by strikers and employers of a signed agreement with the Regional Labor Board.

The official statement was made after thte Daily Mail had declared that a man who knew Dillinger "well" in the United States had given Scotland Yard a statement saying he saw the criminal in London two days ago.

ARABIAN STRIFE TO BE RENEWED

Yemenite Prince Threatens to Depose Father if Dishonorable Peace Signed.

SAUDI TROOPS MOVING.

CAIRO, May 26.—C.P.-Havas).— The renewal of the Arabian war appeared imminent to-day as reports received from Taif in the Hedjas and from Jedda indicated that the Princes of Yemen and of Saudi Arabia were ready to resume hostilities.

Emid Saud and Emir Feisal informed their father, Ibn Saud, ruler of Hedjas and the Nedjas that they were prepared to renew the attack upon the Yemenite capital Sana.

Prince Ahmed of Yemen was reported at odds with his father. He was said to have threatened to depose the Imamb Yahya if he should sign a dishonorable peace with the Saudi ruler.

The Jedda report stated that Emir Feisal had given orders to his troops to begin the march on Sana.

Two Taximen Held In Hull Cafe Killing

HULL, Que., May 26. (CP). — Until the formal inquest is opened, probably on June 1, into the death of Arthur O. Street, young Ottawa business man, two men now held as material witnesses will remain in custody. The names of the men are George Charron, 28, former taxi driver, and George Boulay, 22, taxi driver. The former lives in Hull and the latter Ottawa.

Arthur Street died in Sacred Hear Hospital here after a brawl in a cafe, early on Friday morning. With serious head wounds, he was brought to the hospital by a taxi driver who left without giving his name. Subsequently the police found and questioned the driver, afterwards releasing him.

Detectives working on the case today expressed the opinion that no further arrests would be made. It is expected that the formal inquest will bring out details.

JAPAN IS READY TO DROP CLAIMS NAVAL PARITY

Fears Anglo-American Combine at 1935 Conference in London.

ASKS HIGHER RATIO.

Willing to Discuss Preliminary Steps to Prepare for Parley.

By Glenn Rabb.
(Copyright, 1934—By the A.P.).

TOKYO, May 26.—Japan, fearing an Anglo-American combine at the 1935 naval conference, is ready, it was indicated to-day, to abandon any claims to naval parity with Great Britain and the United States.

These claims never have been enunciated by responsible officials. They have been hinted so strongly, however, that most observers had come to anticipate a vigorous demand for parity.

Instead, it was inferred by some officials and in editorial comment, the Empire now is willing to forego parity claims provided Japan is given a higher ratio and theoretical equality.

Tokyo leaders have repeatedly emphasized their determination to oppose maintenance of the present 5-5-3 treaty naval ratios among Great Britain, United States and Japan.

The new trends cropped out today as a high official source made known London likely will be notified within the next 24 hours of Japan's willingness to engage in discussions preliminary to the 1935 naval conference.

Tokyo's three leading vernacular newspaper—The Asahi, Jiji and Hcohi—were united to-day in the well-known contention for "new agreements fairer and more reasonable."

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright,
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet
Or dims the radiant light
No unkind word our lips shall pass
No envy sour the mind;
But each shall seek the common weal—
The good of all mankind

MILLBROOK

"In these days of spring cleaning, gardening and endless other extra duties, how to care for our hands properly is an urgent problem," declared the president of an Institute branch, located in a village and having also many rural members. The May meeting was in progress, and by request this subject was to take up a goodly portion of the program.

"There are so many silver teas and talent teas lately for our church funds, and naturally we want to have our hands in condition that we are not embarrassed as we reach for the fragrant cup," the presiding officer went on; "so I have jotted down some things I have found helpful, and the rest of you must add your bit, and we will see if each does not go home with practical ideas for help along this line we are discussing."

Some folk have hands that are naturally easy to care for; and whose work possibly does not harm the hands as much as does that of farm women, or village women like myself who do all their own work, make their gardens, flower and vegetable, help 'hubby' to keep the family car clean—in fact bear all the damaging effect of the day's exposure to dust and water; hence extra care, vigilance and persistence, are necessary for of course we like to have well kept hands as well as any other women."

"Now for my personal plan; as soon as I finish one piece of soiling work I wash immediately, using a good pure unscented soap, working it well into the pores, and removing all stains with lemon, tomato, or oxalic acid. It is well to plan the day's work with the idea in mind of doing the most soiling tasks first, then proceeding to others less hard on the hands. Rinse the suds off and without drying rub a bit of lemon juice into the skin—pure lemon juice will darken the skin; diluted vinegar will do if you are out of lemon, and did all of you know that the skin from the breakfast grapefruit with a dash of salt is an excellent whitener?"

"If I have a bit of leisure I push back the cuticle with an orange stick, and I never wash my hands without using the lemon vinegar, or grapefruit rind to finish off, and at least three times a day I put on a dash of quick drying lotion and also at night. You may be thinking this all takes too much time, but it does not really; two minutes, or three at the most, are all I spend each time, and it pays a hundred fold in appearance, comfort and peace of mind."

"Buttermilk is good for the hands also whey, and once a day at least take a little cornmeal (oatmeal will do, too), pour over it some boiling water, let cool, and then rub your hands with a washing motion the thin paste; let dry, and rub off, and they will feel like velvet afterward. Now and then a good cold cream is necessary, and if we can afford do so use it instead of water to cleanse the hands occasionally, wiping off, and at night allowing a second application to stay on. Wear loose gloves, muslin or cotton, with plenty of holes for ventilation."

"The men sometimes make fun of us but nevertheless I do urge the use of a dish-mop to save hands from the feddening effect of hot water; and use a stick to lift the clothes to the wringer. Wear old gloves when sweeping or dusting at any cleaning (dry) tasks you can, and when working in the garden; then I find it good to protect the forefinger and thumb when peeling potatoes, apples, etc. by wearing the fingers of old gloves, or if these are not available making them out of strong cotton. There are so many glove patterns now for the wash goods that one may have a supply at practically no cost."

"Some of us suffer from swollen or enlarged veins—avoid letting the hands hang down; keep this always in mind and at night fold them up near the chest the last thing before you drop off to sleep. Knitting, or other fancy work, helps too to keep them up with the blood running away. In time you will find, as I have, that the veins are lessening in size. Of course there is no need to emphasize keeping the nails in perfect condition. Perhaps we may close with the suggestion that one is justified in doing all possible to have nice hands without sacrificing their usefulness; then forget all about them, for I know by experience they always look worse to their owner than to any one else."

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, May 26. — Butter and eggs were higher on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market yesterday, potatoes being slightly easier.

Fresh No. 1 butter in cartons or less gained ¼c to ½c a pound at 20c to 20½c a pound. To retailers solids were 21 cents and prints 22 cents a pound. Receipts were only twenty boxes. The first weekly auction of butter will be held Tuesday, it was announced.

Graded shipments of eggs in cartons or less were slightly higher, A-large being quoted at 20½c; A-medium at 19½c, B at 18½c and C at 17 to 17½c a dozen. A total of 3,488 cases arrived.

Prince Edward Island Mountain potatoes eased five cents at 95c to $1 per 90-pound bag. Quebecs were unchanged at 75c to 80c per 80-pound bag as were New Brunswick Moutnains at 85c to 90c per 80-pound bag.

Ontario colored cheese held unchanged at 9½c to 9¾c a pound. Arrivals were 1,210 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, May 26. — Soaring 3¼c a bushel yesterday, wheat reached topmost prices since Feb. 5, hoisting also corn and oats to the highest point witnessed in months.

Broadened speculative demand became manifest for wheat in particular, largely owing to intensified drought damage conditions over the Canadian and American spring crop belt, and because of sharply reduced estimates of European crops.

Wheat closed strong at virtually the day's maximum prices, 2⅝c to 3¼c above Thursday's finish; corn, ⅞c to 1⅜c up; oats, 1¼c to 1⅝c advanced, and provisions, unchanged to a rise of 7c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 26. — Parched wheat lands of Western Canada, United States, and important areas of Europe brought an influx of purchasing orders on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday, shooting futures prices up for net gains of 2⅞ to 3 cents.

Quotations started upward at the opening bell and never looked back They finished at top levels, with the May option at 73¼c, July at 74¼c, and October at 76⅛c.

Little Export Trade.

Buying from eastern and southern interests accounted for most of the support, but there was also evidence of a little export business in Canadian wheat. Offerings never exerted much pressure on the market, and this condition was a large factor in sustaining the advance.

Weather for Western Canada showed sharply higher temperatures and the forecast indicated no relief in the immediate future. Rains of the past two days in United States were insufficient to arrest the decline of crop prospects. In Europe the weatherman was equally stingy with moisture.

Cash grains idled and coarse grains displayed strength.

hours but great care must be used in handling and mixing the preparation and a tin or galvanized pail or can must not be used.

In view of the trouble in handling, the formalin treatment is usually recommended. If the potatoes are put in astrong banana crate they can be dropped in a barrel—of the solution and then by means of a rope and pulley drawn out without any inconvenience, the potatoes can be left right in the bags but are disagreeable to handle when wet and a quantity of the solution is lost in each operation.

Protect Cabbage Plants

About this time of year when cabbage plants are being set out, is the time to protect the young plants against the cabbage maggot that attacks and destroys the roots of so many early cabbage plants.

Control—Much the best method of control is to treat the soil around the base of the plants with corrosive-sublimate solution of the strength of 1 ounce in 8 to 10 gallons of water. Dissolve the corrosive sublimate by mixing it first with a stick in a little water so that it will be thoroughly wet and all lumps broken; then add more water and stir thoroughly until it is all in solution. It requires about half a gallon of water to dissolve an ounce readily. When all is in solution dilute to the proper strength. The liquid should always be applied to the plants shortly before or as soon as the eggs have begun to hatch; for it controls by killing the eggs and the young maggots before the latter have entered the roots. Therefore, if cabbage or cauliflower have been set out very early do not apply it until European plums are in full bloom, as very few eggs will have been laid until this time. If the plants are not set out until that date or later apply the solution the third or fourth day after planting and repeat in a week. Two applications are usually sufficient but many growers prefer to give three the third being a week after the second. The poison should be poured directly on the soil right against the stem, using about 1-3 to 1-2 of a tuupful to each plant. On small plots this may be done easily by carrying the mixture in a wooden pail and applying it with a cup or dipper. A handy dipper can be made from an empty tomato can by tacking a lath about 14 inches long to the bent-bok lid and then squeezing the top to form a sprout. On large fields a barrel may be placed on a cart or wagon and filled with the solution, and two lines of soft rubber hose fastened to this. Then two men, one to each hose, can apply the liquid by walking along behind the outfit, pinching the hose between plants to prevent the escape of the liquid and releasing the pressure at each plant. They should always take care to see that the soil is thoroughly wet for about an inch around each of the plants.

In the case of radishes, too, the corrosive sublimate solution should not be applied until European plums are in full bloom if the radishes have been planted and are through the ground before that date. If the radishes have not come through the ground until after the plums are in full bloom apply the poison on the third or fourth day after they appear above the ground. If, however, the weather is cold it will be wise to wait a day or two until it warms up, as the flies are not active in cold weather. Repeat the application in five or six days. A watering can with the knob or rose removed is a handy to apply the liquid. Pour it along the rows right upon the plants, and wet the soil for half an inch or more deep. The radishes, of course, should be planted in rows to make treatment easy.

Never treat radishes when they are nearly ready to use. It will do no good and may poison those who eat them; but there is no danger of poisoning if treated at the time mentioned above.

In treating cabbage and cauliflower seed beds saturate the soil thoroughly by means of an ordinary watering can. Wash the can out thoroughly after using to prevent its being corroded, as corrosive sublimate will injure any kind of metal vessel though it does not injure wood. It is a good plan to paint the can inside before using.

Caution—Remember that corrosive sublimate is a deadly poison; hence be sure that none of it is left in any vessel where children or livestock may have access to it. Keep the substance itself labelled POISON. The antidote is to cause the patient to partake freely of white of egg or milk, and in ten minutes give an emetic.

STAMP CORNER

By M. A. BESSEY

Stamps of the Belgian Congo always attract me. Practically all issues, to date, are pictorial, and it's hard to find a more diversified or instructive group of pictorial stamps.

One doesn't have to journey to far away Africa to have a look at the different types of natives, to see how they live, dress, build their houses, and amuse themselves. Instead, all one has to do is to make an effort and get together a good collection of stamps of the different African colonies of Belgium, France, Great Britain and Portugal. When you have a nearly complete collection of all these stamps, if you study them, you will have an exceptionally good idea of what Africa and her people look like. About the only thing we cannot determine from our stamps is the climate, and even this we can make a shrewd guess at, by the amount of clothing worn or not worn by the different native types portrayed.

In Congo the elephant apparently replaces the horse, as we see him, illustrated, all harnessed up.

The Okapi, a strange-looking animal, just recently discovered in the northeastern forests of the Congo. He is related to the giraffe and the pronghorn antelope.

Mangbethu Chief. A rather serious and proud looking old chap.

Next we see the witch-doctor, all dressed up, and ready to chase a few devils or what have you.

The native women certainly do work in the Congo; one is shown who collects rubber.

The three lower illustrations show us a complete six-piece native orchestra, whether they specialize in modern or old-time music we are a little uncertain, but they doubtless have a brand all of their own.

PLAY PRESENTED LAKEVALE CHURCH

Enacted by Members of Christian Endeavor Society of Lily Lake Sunday School.

"Eyes of Love," a comedy drama in three acts, was very skillfully presented to a large audience on Friday evening in Lakevale Presbyterian church by members of the Christian Endeavor Society of Lily Lake Sunday School.

So well was the play presented and so good the memory work, it brought forth plenty of appreciation from the congregation, and reflected upon the two ladies who directed: Mrs. William Steinkrauss, and Mrs. Gordon Hancock.

To introduce the play the characters were grouped on the platform and sang two "catchy" numbers, which the audience enjoyed, the cast afterwards being read by Arthur Hancock, superintendent of the Sunday school.

The drama took place at the Barry's country home, on the Hudson. Act I—an evening in summer; Act II—a rainy day, one month later, and Act III, three months later.

Miss Margaret Falls had the main role as the heroine of the drama, and as Gailya, a sweet and tender girl of 18, and adopted daughter of the Barry's, was splendid.

The very difficult role of Carolina, a middle aged negro servant, devoted to Gailya, taken by Miss Reta Darling, showed some very fine acting, as did those of Lora, a lively housemaid, with a pert manner, enacted by Miss Enid Hancock and Clark, who first appears as a butler in the employ of the Barry's, but who is really a detective, played by Len Anderson.

The part of Jim Rankin, Gailya's real father, taken by Cecil Hancock, who in Act I appears as a convict, and in Act II disguised as a wandering Italian musician, was a clever bit of acting.

Judge Barry, Gailya's foster father, a pleasant man, who always looks on the bright side of things, was very naturally enacted by Ferdinand Rowland. Equally well done were the parts of Reeta, a well-educated girl and friend of the family, played by Miss Dorothy Rowland; But, her brother, and ardent suitor for the hand of Gailya, by George Middleton; Mrs. Barry, a refined woman and wife of the Judge, played by Miss Helen Stuart.

Roy Hancock was very good in the stellar role, as Royal Manton, Burt's rival and favored suitor to Gailya.

At the close of the presentation, Mrs. Steinkrauss moved a vote of thanks to the church officials for their kind permission to use the church to stage the play, and Arthur Hancock moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Steinkrauss, and Mrs. Hancock for their untiring efforts to make the entertainment the success that it was.

Between acts Miss Elizabeth McFarlane sang a solo accompanied by Miss Dorothy Rowland, and Mr. Bert Alcock received a big hand from the audience with his monologue, "The Trials and Tribulations of a Hen-Pecked Coon," as did the Misses Viola Sanderson and Dorothy Rowland with their instrumental selections on the guitar.

The proceeds of the entertainment amounted to more than $30.

How Life Insurance in Canada Is Building Up the Nation, While Administering a $1,800,000,000 Estate for 3,000,000 Policyholders

By W. A. WILLISON

Administered in trust for over three million Canadians—paying one hundred cents on the dollar through war, panic and epidemic—woven into the very warp and woof of the national fabric — the story of life insurance in Canada is a story of miracle money.

Comforting the aged, protecting the defenceless, guarding homes, developing city, town and country, life insurance utilizes the savings of hundreds of thousands of Canadian men and women to their advantage and to the advantage of the Dominion. Tested in the past four years as it was not tested even during the world war or the epidemic that succeeded that war, it has proved more standard than even the gold standard. Superior to the hazard of markets when stocks were crashing down and bringing the savings of a multitude down with them; paying one hundred cents on the dollar when even Dominion Government bonds were at a discount; true to every promise and fulfilling every obligation, it has been a safe refuge under storms that have threatened even fundamental things.

Well off, comfortably off, poor or needy, millions of Canadians believe, and put their trust, in it. It has been the secure repository for wealth; the sure and profitable place for savings; the certain refuge for scores of thousands of those in financial distress.

Building Up Canada

At the call of Governments, life insurance funds have gone to federal and provincial coffers to carry on public improvements and vital works of administration. Municipalities all across Canada have turned to these funds for money to build up cities, towns and townships. Public utilities, federal, provincial and municipal, have used them to develop their enterprises. Commerce has called upon them. Industry has called upon them. Agriculture has called upon them. On behalf of three million or more policyholders, life insurance administers an estate in Canada today of no less than $1,800,000,000—and while administering this estate, it pays to its policyholders and their beneficiaries no less a sum than $500,000 a day, to meet their needs, relieve their distress, sustain their families, pay their pressing obligations. While it builds bridges and paves highways, extends transportation facilities, helps in carrying the myriad obligations of city and town and country, and stimulates employment, it is at the same time sending children to school, keeping roofs over homes, purchasing the necessities of life and comforting the afflicted.

Life insurance in Canada represents the earnings and savings of individuals in all walks of life; it constitutes 70% of all estates; it represents a holding per capita of $624 of insurance for every man, woman and child in the Dominion.

For the Common Good

The life insurance story is a story of multitudes of premiums from multitudes of people put to co-operative work to the advantage of the individual and of the nation. It is a story of the money of the people and what it is doing for them and for Canada.

In the four distress years, 1930 to 1933, life insurance companies operating in Canada paid out to Canadian policyholders and beneficiaries nearly $700,000,000; pouring out money during the severest depression in the world's history at the rate of over $500,000 every working day, week in and week out, and month in and month out for four years. Of this huge sum, less than one-third went to beneficiaries; the sum paid to living policyholders in matured endowments, disability claims, cash surrenders, dividends and annuity contracts amounting to over $500,000,000. Some $240,000,000 were paid in cash surrenders alone; $180,000,000 in death claims.

And while they were pouring out millions a week to policyholders and beneficiaries, they were investing scores of millions in national undertakings. The policyholders in life insurance companies operating in Canada have behind them $1,800,000,000 in investments in the Dominion.

How is this immense sum invested? At December 31, 1932, the Canadian companies reporting to the Dominion Department of Insurance, had investments in Canada in Dominion, provincial and municipal securities, including township, county, village, rural telephone and school debentures, as well as public utility and corporation securities, amounting to $778,900,000. To these should be added like investments in Canada of British and foreign companies operating in Canada, of$381,568,000—a grand total of over $1,160,000,000. In mortgage loans, these Canadian, British and foreign companies, reporting to the Dominion Department of Insurance, had over $365,000,000, the total amount of mortgage loans for the Canadian companies being $325,467,000, of which $67,947,000 was in farm mortgages. In addition to these investments, policy loans of the Canadian companies amounted to $295,134,000, of which it is estimated that at least one-half—$147,367,000—was loaned in Canada to Canadian policyholders. Loans by British and foreign companies operating in Canada to their Canadian policyholders, totalled another $60,000,000.

On this basis, the total investments of the Canadian life companies in Canada amounted to over $1,252,000,000, and of the British and foreign companies, to another $500,000,000. If there is added to these figures the amount invested in Canada by those Canadian life insurance companies which are operating under provincial charters and which are under the supervision of the various provincial insurance departments, the total amount of investments in Canada of all life companies operating in Canada on December 31st, 1932, was well in excess of $1,800,000,000. What is the meaning of these investments to the Dominion?

Developing the West

On the Pacific Coast, Vancouver looks overseas to Australasia and the Orient and dreams of great days ahead, with an ever-growing sea-borne trade to swell her own domestic riches, increase her population, and realize her heritage. And three million policyholders in life insurance in Canada help her to build for this future, as they are helping all Canada to build. For proof, look at the city and city-guaranteed investments of any life insurance company. Here is one that backs Vancouver to the tune of a million; here is another that has taken two millions of her bonds. Here is a third that has invested in her to the extent of $5,000,000 —and there are 43 active Dominion-registered life insurance companies doing business in Canada,—(28 Canadian, 6 British, and 9 Foreign)—to say nothing of Provincially-licensed companies and fraternal societies. Their total investments in Vancouver represent millions upon millions of dollars.

And how about Winnipeg, first city of the Prairie West; Edmonton, gateway to the great Peace River country; Calgary, nestled in its foothills under the shadow of the Rockies; Regina, in the centre of its leagues of golden grains? The answer is—millions of life insurance policyholders' funds invested in all of them—millions to help build sidewalks, and extend sewage and waterworks systems — millions behind their public utilities and local improvements — millions for their schools.

Town and Country

As it is with the larger cities, so it is with the smaller ones—Victoria, Cranbrook, Chilliwack, Kamloops, Kelowna, Nanaimo, Revelstoke, New Westminster, Brandon, Wetaskiwin, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, Moose Jaw, Weyburn, Saskatoon,—on the prairies or on the Pacific Coast — each centre, through the life insurance companies of Canada, gets financial backing to an aggregate total that runs into scores of millions. So with the towns. One life company alone holds debentures in nine prairie towns to the extent of $345,000 and has township, district and county bonds in forty centres to a value of nearly $1,000,000. And, as it is with the towns, so it is with the schools—not 100 but 500 school districts in British Columbia, Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan have the support of life insurance funds and life insurance also helps to provide parochial capital for a host of other educational and religious institutions.

Stimulating Employment

The story of the West is the story of the East, and the story of the Maritimes. To community after community, from great metropolitan centres and thriving towns to farming districts and little hamlets, life insurance lends its financial support to help run the machinery of administration, pay wages to municipal employees, stimulate work on public utilities. It makes the waterworks work, and the street cars work, the electric light and power plants work, and stimulates all those manifold activities that give life to communities and jobs to those who live in them. It helps to feed, clothe, educate and employ dwellers in all urban and rural places. The consideration of life insurance companies is the common good; their concern is for the safety of the money they invest for their three million policyholders.

So much for the municipal field. How about the great world of transportation, and commerce and industry? Let us look at the investments of one company alone, and it neither the largest nor the smallest.

In the transportation and industrial fields, it has millions invested in railway bonds; in power, oil, pulp and paper; in bread, biscuits, tramway, laundry, gas, electric, telegraph and other companies.

As this life company invests, so all the companies — Dominion-registered, Provincial-licensed, fraternal — invest the accumulated funds of their millions of policyholders, and the total of their investment in Canada is $1,800,000,000. The sum is so vast that it is almost just another figure. But it is a dollar figure —made up of dollars that give employment, that buy groceries, that pay rent, that clothe bodies.

In the National Interest

And these accumulated and invested assets of the 3,000,000 and more policyholders in Canada are just the incomes of Mary's sons and daughters, and the wages of Martha's sons and daughters, set to profitable employment in their own interests, that the interests of other millions of workers in Canada may in turn be stimulated. The domestic, the shop girl, the stenographer, the secretary, the nurse, the teacher—thousands of women in all walks of life contribute their premium "bit" — just as the artisans, the clerks, the manufacturers, the doctors, the wholesalers, the retailers, and the professional men in their hundreds of thousands contribute theirs—and these "littles that are so much" go out in their turn "to serve their kind in their common need" and individual happiness is conserved and national development encouraged for the good of all.

Of such is life insurance in Canada.

A steer, as Joe Harris, M.P., was allowed to assert in the House without challenge from that famous cattleman, Col. Harry Mullins, is anywhere from seven to nine feet long, depending on whether the tail is down, or straight out. And from that interesting fragment of bovine information the member for Toronto-Scarborough proceeded to calculate that if all the additional steers shipped to England last year (as compared with the previous year) were tied head to tail they would reach from Ottawa to Montreal. Any good cattleman could have told him that if all those steers had been tied head to tail they would make the Calgary stampede look like a bridge party.

Joe Harris, in that reverberating voice which makes the Speaker's chair rock gently at the other end of the chamber, added, a bit unkindly, that if all the extra hogs were corralled together in one pen, the members on the opposite side of the House could not possibly make as much noise as they would. All of which was in course of demonstrating how valuable the Imperial trade pacts have been to Canada.

A western member vouches for the following incident.

He was standing in one of the halls with his ten-year-old son when a prominent Senator came along from the east end of the buildings, greeted the member, and began to sing the praises of Mackenzie King, who had recently made an address in the House.

At the end of his flattering remarks, he turned rather expectantly, a bit like a school inspector, to the ten-year-old son of the western member:

"My boy," he said. "Tell me—who do you think is the greatest man in the House of Commons?"

The young lad was ready with his reply: "My daddy!" he said.

"Ah, yes," continued the senator patiently. "But after him, who would you say was the greatest?"

But if the Liberal statesman expected a compliment for his leader, he was out of luck.

"Mr. Woodsworth," replied the youngster, with equal alacrity.

I don't know how true it is, but it sounds very human....before Percival Price's symphony "The St. Lawrence" achieved so much notice by winning the Pulitzer award and becoming the centre of a storm of controversy in Toronto, he offered it to the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission for presentation . . . They declined it, so I am told, with the observation that radio audiences would find little interest in it .... Shortly after the Pulitzer award was made, the broadcasting commission aproached the Dominion carilloneur, with the suggestion that they broadcast the now famous work. This time it was Price's turn to be high and mighty. He demurred. The commission's symphony orchestra, he said, was not good enough....Just the same, I'm willing to bet it will be broadcast, and that "Ted" Price and his wife will be very proud about it.

Since Walter M. Stewart, the unique witness of the Sevens inquiry (just as John Aird Junior was of the Beauharnois inquiry) threw his firecracker (which fizzled out rather badly afterwards) into the committee room, plenty of interesting data has been unearthed and published about this recluse.

The best of them all is the discovery that, although the largest single holder of Bank of Montreal stock in the world, and reputed also the largest cash depositor of that institution, he had never even met the general mangaer of the bank until he came to Ottawa to testify at the Stevens inquiry.

The late Hon. A. L. Sifton gained a reputation on parliament hill for being the most frugal and saving minister in many years, if not all time. He wouldn't even waste a sheet of paper.

As minister of justice, he was called upon to review a capital case to decide whether the clemency of the crown should be exercised, or the law allowed to take its course.

The justice officials, receiving the copious file back again, expected to find attached to it the minister's recommendation. It came back, however, to all appearances exactly as sent, with no paper clipped on and no separate enclosure.

However, one more-than-ordinarily-thorough official spied, at the upper left hand corner of sheet one, in neat handwriting the following not:

"Hang him."—A.L.S.

Convention Reports Are Read At Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Mark's Church, Otonabee, was held at the home of Mrs. John Collins on Thursday afternoon. There was almost a full attendance of members present, with Mrs. W. Robinson, president, presiding. After the regular business, interesting reports on various portions of the annual meeting held in Toronto were given by the delegates, Mrs. W. Robinson, Mrs. J. Collins, and Mrs. F. Graystock.

Mrs. J. L. Hughes also reported on parts of the conference. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in packing a bale of articles which was afterwards sent to the W.A. in Toronto. The articles, which were chiefly clothing, underwear, mitts and a pretty quilt, included a number of "Mothers' bags" containing a varied assortment of notions and toiletries. The June meeting will be of a special nature, when a number of visitors are expected to be present, and a guest speaker will give a missionary talk.

Old Bicycle Comes Into Everyday Use

The removal of the accumulation of ten years dust, and the inflation of the tires was t he only attention which an old Cleveland bicycle required again to fit it for the open road.

Resurrected from the attic where it had lain neglected and almost forgotten for a whole decade, the wheel which is at least twenty-five years old, has given its present rider just about twelve months of convenient and cheap transportation.

Alfred Cameron, 738 Stewart street who last Spring decided to make use of the old wheel, has found it to be invaluable to him in his business as a market gardener—particularly at this season of the year, when time is such an important factor.

As proof of the cycle's age, Mr. Cameron showed The Examiner a picture of the original owner of the machine, which judging by the fashion of the day, as revealed in the style of clothing worn by people in the picture, identifies it with the early part of the present century.

NO DISARMING SAYS FRANCE

Barthou is Also Adamant Against More Arms for Germany.

DENIES WAR ON WAY

PARIS, May 26 (A.P.)—Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, yesterday bluntly proclaimed a French policy of "No immediate rearmament of Germany."

The foreign minister sought to silence war talk in the chamber of deputies, where he was under interpellation, by making an emphatic rejection of the idea that a conflict was coming.

However, he pleaded a strong stand on the matter of German border clashes.

A galaxy of French military chieftains, including War Minister Petain, Air Minister Demain, and Naval Minister Pietrie are expected to accompany M. Arthou to Geneva next week to back up the French demand for a showdown on the question of armaments.

M. Barthou openly declared his opposition to the British proposal of partial rearmament for Germany and the disarmament of France.

He declared to the deputies: "Believing in the policy of saying yes when you mean yes and no when you mean no, France told England its proposal is not acceptable.

"France is for disarmament with security, but security is only possible if we take into account semi-military formations."

The minister denied, however, that he believed war was on the way and stated: "I emphatically reject such a belief."

HIGHWAY LEVY COST FARMERS $121,000 EXTRA

one of the first things the Government did in 1930 was to create a new Cabinet Minister and add $2,000 a year to their salaries. It is true that for a year and a half they took a reduction, but it amounted to $2,000, so they were not actually affected by that cut."

"What do you think of an administration which in the midst of the depression spent $2,750 to have a picture of Howard Ferguson painted? The first picture showed Mr. Ferguson in a white vest, but he didn't like that, so he asked them to have the vest painted black. They also spent $5,000 for a painting of Lieutenant-Governor Ross, but we learned that pictures of the last three preceding Governors had cost around $1,000. But, in the time of depression they were willing to spend $5,000 for a portrait of the Lieutenant-Governor. These are the people who talk about Drury's coal scuttle. The Drury Government couldn't hold a candle to them when it came to spending money.

We noticed a lot of furniture being unloaded and going up to the Conservative lounge room. It included one table costing $309.75; six tub chairs, the kind you can fall asleep in without any danger of tumbling out, that cost $113. They liked them so well they got six more for $204, and then another six of the same tub chairs for $186; four chesetrfields that cost $528. The whole load for the Conservative caucus room cost the people of this province $2,349, depression and all.

$19,147 for Automobiles

When James Whitney was the leader of the Conservative Government he used to ride a bicycle to the Legislature buildings. Sometimes he hired a cab. I am not suggesting that the Ministers should not have automobiles, but I do think with their $10,000 salaries plus the additional $2,000 they voted themselves they could buy their own cars. But, in 1932, they spent $19,147 for automobiles, money that was collected from the people.

The Government built a barn at the Orillia Asylum to house 72 head of cattle. It cost $37,140, and one of the members of the House who said he had built barns and knew what they cost declared that he could build eight barns for the price of that one. They built an Assembly Hall at Hamilton in connection with a public institution at a cost of $140,740. These items are proof of what the Hon. James Lyons of Sault Ste. Marie, former Minister of the Conservative Government, said in an address a year ago that for every twenty million dollars spent in Northern Ontario, $6,000 000 went for patronage.

The Government is spending $7,000 a day in my riding, but last summer there was no work in Haliburton. They had built a road to Eagle Lake, and had spent $95,000 on it and needed $35,000 more to finish it. The township of Dysart was unable to pay its share of one-third of the cost, so the men were asked to work for $2 a day and give back $1. Last year the township and county councils were told to cut down expenses to bare necessities of road work. The people paid $20,000,000 in automobile and gas taxes, and the Government spent $6,000,000 and used the rest in an effort to balance the budget. Then after the fiscal year closed on October 31 the word went out to spend all the money you like. And the way it is being spent is nothing but downright stupidity.

I think Mr. Lancaster's road from Apsley to Bancroft should have gone around Paudash Lake to Cardiff, because there are more people living there. The route that has been chosen cuts through a timber limit that is owned by a fairly wealthy lumber company, but there is no one living in that section. It looks funny to me that they had to build that road through a limit where nobody lives.

Two years ago the Government went into debt $53,750,000 in one year, even after we had paid the $30,000,000 in gas tax. The interest on that year's debt is $12.70 every minute of the whole year, or the value of one veal calf that has to be sacrificed every minute throughout the year. The Government has no money except what it gets from the people by raising veal calves, chickens, and so on.

Farm Loan Interest

My opponent in Victoria County, Mr. Frost, has been telling the electors that he has a scheme for refinancing farm loans at a lower rate of interest. I have been urging lower rates on the Farm Development Board, because of the reduced values of farm products. Even if it did cost $9,000,000 to lower the interest, I contend that it would do more to revive hope among farmers and to increase their buying power than the road-building program they are putting on.

Recently, Mr. Frost's leader, the Hon. Mr. Henry, announced that the Government will reduce farm loans by ½ of 1 per cent. So Mr. Frost might as well be quiet about the scheme he is talking about because his leader is his policy. That is the Conservative slogan. And there is no use of Mr. Frost or Perce Lancaster or anyone else trying to differ with Mr. Henry. My experience is that no member of the Government has the gall to contradict the Prime Minister."

"My quarrel is not a personal one with Mr. Frost, or with Mr. Lancaster or with Conservatives, many of whom have told me that they are going to support me. It is with the Government as a whole. If the Government had tried to save money on their own salaries, on the various expenditures, some of which I have mentioned to you; if they had spent money without party heelers getting a big share of it, as Mr. Lyons admitted, I'd go easy on them at this time; but I intend to oppose the kind of administration we have had under this Government with all the strength I have."

In his address Mr. Duffus referred to James Hawthorne as a farmer who was favorably known throughout the county.

"I have often heard the remark," he said, "that there were too many doctors and lawyers elected to Parliament. The people of Peterborough have an opportunity of electing a farmer, who by hard work has made a success of his farm, and who proved himself successful in the management of municipal affairs as the reeve of his township and warden of the county."

CRIPPLE CHILD CARE OF ROTARY

Many Thousands of Children Helped by Rotary Clubs.

6,000 IN ONTARIO

The Rotary organization throughout the world recognized some years ago that there were a great many crippled children who were not getting the necessary care. The struggle for existence is no idle dream, even for those who are physically and mentally fit, but what must it be to a youth handicapped by some crippling disease?

In order to relieve this situation the various Rotary Clubs undertook this work as their special task with the result that many thousands of children have been helped to such an extent that they are now able to earn a comfortable living.

A survey of Ontario disclosed the fact that there were over 6,000 crippled children in the Province of Ontario alone. The great majority of them have been or are being looked after to-day as the result of Rotary activities.

In Peterborough City and County there have been over 100 crippled children cared for by the Peterborough Rotary Club. During the past year 22 children were looked after or an average of one child every 2½ weeks.

While all the work is done gratuitously there is a great deal of expense connected with the getting of splints, hospital treatment, etc. Funds are required to carry on this work and the club is looking for your support. Every dollar contributed to Rotary means the helping of some crippled child.

100 MEN START WORK MONDAY

men will be employed on each highway. William Lytle will be foreman of the group on Highway 28 and Jack Carroll will have the same position over the workers on Highway 7.

Conveyed By Truck.

The men will be paid 25 cents an hour for an eight-hour day, Mr. Lancaster said. Dump trucks will be used because of the long haulage in supplying materials for filling, but otherwise the whole work will be hand labour, the men using picks and shovels. Trucks will convey the workers from the market square each morning so they will be on the job at 8 o'clock and will return them to the same point after quitting time. Twenty-five North Monaghan men will be employed on Highway 28.

By the filling in of the ditches under the adopted plan, Mr. Lancaster said, from the paved portion of the road to the fence boundaries there will be a decline of only six inches in every ten feet. "As far as traffic is concerned the sides of the highways will be practically level," he explained. "This is important because it will permit of the free movement of tractors and decrease the danger to horse drawn vehicles and pedestrians. Also in the winter time the sides of the road will be splendidly adaptable to the use of farmers with sleighs; they will not have to drive along the cleared paved portion of the road at all."

The delay in starting the work of paving the Lakefield road was due indecision on the part of the Department's engineers regarding the dangerous double-turn in the road near Nassau. It had been decided to straighten the road at this point and so remove both bad turns, Mr. Lancaster said.

Men's clothing makers in England number 30,200 more than in 1924.

FINLAYSON PAYS ROAD CAMPS VISIT

Assures Men Work in Haliburton Will Not Be Stopped After Election.

LINDSAY, May 26 (Examiner Correspondence).—Hon. Mr. Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests, has completed his inspection of the road camps in Haliburton County. He was warmly received by the men, with whom he dined during his visit, and assured the workers that they need not worry about the work being stopped immediately after the election. The work in Haliburton was part of the government policy and would be continued. Hon. Mr. Finlayson, who was accompanied by L. M. Frost, K.C., the Conservative candidate for Victoria and Haliburton, was met by the Haliburton brass band when he reached that village. He spoke to an overflow meeting in the Community Hall.

John Wicks, a resident of Somerville Township, appeared before Magistrate Jordan yesterday morning on a charge of brewing beer without a permit, laid by Constable J. Woods, R.C.M.P. The accused was fined $50.00.

FEAR ONLY THING HOLDING IRELAND UNDER BRITAIN

Would be Republic, But Want No Repetition Civil War of '21, Says Valera.

3,500,000 DISSATISFIED

Bill to Abolish Free State Senate Passes Dail by 54 to 38.

DUBLIN, May 26 (C.P. Cable)—The Irish Free State has not declared a republic simply because "repetition of the Civil War of 1921 is not wanted" was the assertion of President Eamon de Valera in the Dail Eireann yesterday, when his bill to abolish the Free State Senate was passed by a vote of 54 to 38.

The president declared Ireland had the right to absolute freedom. If "threats of hostile action against the Irish people," were withdrawn "they would see how long Ireland would be without a republic."

Frank MacDermott on behalf of the opposition declared 1,000,000 Free Staters had racial and other ties with Britain to which the president retorted 3,500,000 were disatisfied with membership in the British Empire.

Many Interruptions.

Mr. de Valera in the course of his speech was frequently interupted by the opposition. Replying to one interjection suggesting the Free State follow the example of South Africa in her status within the empire the president said: "If South Africa is satisfied that is their affair—we were a nation before South Africa was thought of. We are as old as the British."

"If the British people had been conquered and become subject to Germany would the British people be satisfied," de Valera asked.

Mr. de Valera expressed himself quite forcibly also in regard to the senate. Second chambers in parliamentary government form effective safeguards for neither the constitution nor the liberties of the people he said. Many second chambers in Europe existed only for the preservation of ancient rights and privileges.

It is expected the presidents abolition bill will be rejected by the senate but in any case it can become law by proclamation in about a year.

Certificates Given Junior W.A. Workers

The closing meeting of St. George's Junior W. A. for the season was held last evening in the church basement with a good attendance of parents and friends. After the opening hymn and prayers, Rev. J. L. Hughes, rector, extended a word of welcome to the guests. A short program was presented by the Juniors and every item was thoroughly enjoyed. The numbers included a dialogue, "Our Pledges" by seven girls; recitations by Betty Cooper, Doris Styles and Leonard Stfles, a violin solo by Aileen Hughes, selections on the guitar by Marguerite Welch; a Swiss song and drill, Aileen Hughes taking the solo part, and a missionary playlet, "We'll Have Katinka" given by the girls with Elsie Martin as Katinka.

During the evening awards of pictures, certificates and pins were presented to the fourteen girls who had taken the examination in missionary study, all having passed successfully. Mrs. Hughes explained how the awards are obtained for each year, and spoke of the high percentage of marks gained by most of the branch this year.

Names of those receiving awards are as follows: Doris Styles, Elsie Martin, Gwennie Doleman, Mary Doleman, Margurite Welch, Aileen Hughes, Isabel Bettes, Ethel Gibson, Elsie Jones, Betty Cooper, Doris Hamilton, Frank Ferguson, James Ferguson, Leonard Styles.

Whom we cherished as divine.
But softly as a sunbeam
She slipped from off life's deck,
And we yearn so much for her tender touch
Of her arms around our neck.
It is not the tears at the time we shed
That told of the hearts that were broke,
But the lonely tears in the after years,
And remembrance silently borne."

OFFICERS SLAIN BITTER BATTLE AGAINST INDIANS

Blood Stained Yoke Believed Instrument Used in Murders.

4 OF B.C. TRIBE HELD.

Part of Constable's Scalp Found Near Reserve—Blood Over Boulders.

MERRITT, B.C., May 26 (C.P.).—Viciousiess of the struggle which resulted in the presumed slaying of two police officers at Canford late on Wednesday or early on Thursday was further emphasized to-day as new evidence came to light.

A piece of scalp and hair was found near the gate of the Canford Indian Reserve and was tentatively identified as having come from the head of British Columbia Provincial Police Constable Percy Carr.

Carr and Dominion Indian Department Constable Frank H. Gisborne have been missing since they went to the Indian Reserve on Wednesday to investigate the wounding by stabbing of an Indian woman.

A thick yoke about four feet long carried by Indians over their shoulders to convey buckets of water, was also found, thickly stained with blood. Police expressed the belief this was used to club the officers to death.

Wild and zig-zagging tracks of the police automobile led for some hundreds of yards from the Indian reserve to a point where Police Inspector John Shirras believes the struggle began. Gisborne, driving the car, fought virtually to his death, police believe. At this spot huge pools of blood on the sagebrush and rocky ground had been covered over by a felled tree.

Murder Evidence

Bloody exhibits are being gathered in the Provincial Court House here—bloodstained articles taken by the police from the Indian Reserve, Indian houses, and from where the car was found. These include shirts, trousers, sections of trees and sundry other articles.

Four Indians are held in jail here for investigation, but no charges have been laid in the case. One Indian is suffering from serious wounds and bruises.

A careful search is being made for the bodies of the two officers, believed to have been thrown into the Nicola River.

Unemployed from relief camps are patrolling the rapid waters of the river on both sides, throwing wire nets across the stream at bridges and other strategic points.

Massage Your Gums, Advises Gladys, If You Would Keep Teeth Beautiful

Pat Paterson, that charming young English actress, who recently came to Hollywood to play in American films, has a very lovely smile. When Pat smiles, she does it wholeheartedly. And her smile reveals a set of really perfect pearly teeth.

White, lustrous teeth enhance the winsomeness of any gal's smile, of course. But even perfect teeth can prove more of a liability than an asset if they are topped by pale, unhealthy-looking gums. Most people try always to keep their teeth clean and sparkling. But they often forget entirely about the condition of their gums.

Today the toothbrush really has a dual role to perform. It originally was designed for the sole purpose of cleansing the teeth. And many women use it for this purpose alone. But the tooth brush should also be used as an implement for massaging the gums. Pale, colorless, receding gums are as unhealthy as they are unattractive. And to keep them firm, healthy and pink, daily massaging is of the utmost importance.

A daily massaging of the gums is particularly essential for us moderns, because of the large percentage of concentrated foods that our diet contains. Primitive people are said always to have had healthy teeth and gums because they had to do some pretty thorough chewing if they wished to keep from starving. But we eat so many soft foods that we do not provide our teeth and gums with sufficient exercise to keep them firm and healthy.

Massage your gums every day if you wish to preserve an attractive pink setting for your teeth. Stir up a brisk circulation of the blood through them. You may brush and massage your gums at the same time that you cleanse your teeth. Or, as some dentists advise, you may use one of those small rubber brushes to massage your gums after you have cleansed your teeth.

Also, make it a practice to include in your daily diet some foods that will provide exercise for your teeth and gums. Eat hard foods, fibrous foods that require thorough chewing. Crusty foods such as crisp toast, rusks, hard rolls, celery, fibrous vegetables and apples are particularly effective in providing the teeth and gums with the exercise so essential to their health and to their continued loveliness.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Fallacy

Worried: I have never heard of a case in which a solution of glycerine and rosewater has caused the growth of hair on the face. That is a groundless superstition.

Powder Base

Leonore: Sponge your face with a good astringent before applying your powdder. This forms an excellent powder base for an oily skin.

Cocoa Butter

Barbara: Cocoa butter is not a mixture of cocoa and butter. It is made from the oil of the teobroma tree. It can be procured in cake form in any good drug store.

Vinegar Rinse

Sally: The vinegar rinse invigorates and enlivens the hair, and helps to bring out the highlights. It should be made of half a glass of cider vinegar and a pint of clear water.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

The return of fringe in upholstery is one of the striking features of furniture fashions. It has been nearly a generation since it was in style. It marks a return of softer qualities in upholstering. Recently this has been decidedly severe to suit the straight lines and pronounced angles of modernistic styles in the furniture. It will be remembered that some time ago I told about the incoming vogue of curves in what is sometimes termed the Modern Classic type of furniture. Fringe suits this style well, and it is interesting to follow the trend.

* * * * * * *

Curves have a softening effect, lines of grace as they are, and certainly fringe has this same element. There is nothing hard or set in the fall of fringe. It sways when in even a slight breeze, or when furniture is moved to change its position, and the motion is graceful.

* * * * * * *

Furniture fringe comes in several styles, heavy straight fringe, shorey wirely fringe, tied and fancy fringe, ball fringe, etc. It is distinct from dress fringe, even when fine for furniture it would be coarse for costumes.

* * * * * * *

The chief use for fringe on furniture is to finish the bottom edge of upholstery on chairs, davenports, footstools, etc. This fringe is very heavy, twisted fringe, quite long and matching the color of the upholstery fabric. When there are two or more colors in the fabric, it is customary to have these same colors introduced into the fringe. Ball and fancy fringes are well-adapted to this edging use.

* * * * * * *

One of the very latest novelty uses for short fringe is to have it edge seams of upholstery around the back and arm seams and around the lower part of the chair. One such chair I saw recently was in a medium bluish green satin-finished upholstery material and the fringe was of creamy white about 1¼ inches deep. It had body to its twisted fronds, so that they flared out from the seams in a perky way, not always straight by any means, yet never drooping. It was a striking bit of upholstering.

3 YOUNG MEN ARE ORDAINED

ough, addressed the three young men who presented themselves at St. Peter's Cathedral this Trinity Saturday morning to receive the rite of ordination to the priesthood, at his hands.

Those taking part in the triple ordination service were the Rev Hilaire Archambault, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Archambault of Murray Street; the Rev. Frank Grant, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Grant of Rubidge Street, and the Rev. Joseph Walsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Walsh of Douro.

Blessings Bestowed.

Commencing at eight o'clock, with a Low Mass celebrated by His Excellency, assisted by the Rev. J. T. Finn and the Rev. V. Corkery, the ceremony proper was over shortly before ten o'clock, after which the blessing of the newly-ordained priests was bestowed on their parents and families, the Sisters of St. Joseph, many of whom were in attendance, and finally on the congregation which filled the big church to capacity, with the front pews occupied by a large number of relatives of the young men.

Beautiful Morning

The morning smiled benignly on the ceremony. The High Altar, with its Gothic white spires, glowed with gorgeously beautiful crimson roses, and the golden points of lighted tapers. According to the rubrics of the day it was draped in rich crimson. The Bishop also was clothed in crimson, with a gold-embroidered velvet chasuble, a golden mitre lined with red, and crimson shoes and gauntlets. He carried the golden shepherd's crook of his office.

Sunlight from the east window in the apse illuminated the sanctuary and brought out in brilliant points of light the mosaic decorations in rich blues, greens and gold, of the western wall.

The triple ordination ceremony progressed with the Mass. The Bishop seated, reading in Latin from a book richly bound in crimson and gold, addressed the young candidates, who knelt before him in their white surplices, and later prostrated themselves to the floor of the sanctuary as the priests in the sanctuary joined with the Bishop in the responsive recitation in Latin of the Litany of the Saints.

In turn, later, invested with their stoles, the visiting priests gave their blessing to the three young men, who received from the hands of the celebrant the holy chrism, anointing their hands for the sacred offices of the Mass.

During the final ceremonies, the chasubles with which the candidates were first invested, with fastenings holding them, were released signifying in the symbolism of the Church the fact that the young men are "priests forever, according to the Order of Melchisedech".

After the Benediction by the Bishop, His Excellency addressed the young men in solemn and thoughtful words:

"It is the primary function of the priesthood to offer sacrifice for the living and the dead. Always say Mass well. If you never do anything else well, say Mass well. Say Mass daily across all the years, unless you are prevented by some serious reason. Let our daily lives be a preparation for Mass.

Need of Discipline

"You have come into this sanctuary as deacons and seminarians. You go out of it priests, but remain seminarians as well. Cast off the restraint and discipline of the seminary and often your priestly virtue goes with them.

"Next, you are ministers of the sacraments, those seven channels of grace which Jesus Christ has placed in the hands of His servants, whereby the redemption which He purchased for us is conveyed through your individual ministration to the individual souls of your fellow creatures.

"And in the third place, you are purveyors of the word of God, to bring the bread of wholesome doctrine and convey the eternal truths of revelation to your people, through your sermons and by preaching the catechism, in season and out of season.

"In your hands also has been placed the use of the sacramentals of the church, which are among the holiest things we have. Use the Roman ritual and use it frequently.

"There are too, the corporate works of mercy. With all these prerogatives, you are wonderfully equipped and it is your business to make that equipment available to the souls committed to your charge.

"You are not priests for yourselves. You are priests for the souls committed to your care by Holy Church and by your Bishop. Here, then, is the equipment with which you are endowed and which it is your business to use for the benefit of others.

"In other words—let me put it plainly, crudely, if you will—there is need for zeal in the priesthood. Work at the work of the priesthood, and work at it under the direction and guidance of your Bishop. The Bishop has been appointed by the Holy See, and Holy Church refers to you again and again as the helper of your Bishop.

"The criterion of the success of your ministry will be the fruit it bears. May your years of priesthood be lengthy, may they be happy, may they be fruitful. In the last analysis, the test of your career is its fruit. 'You have not chosen Me', said the Lord, 'but I have chosen you'."

At the conclusion of the Mass, the procession of priests fyled from the sanctuary to the vestry, by the eastern door, with little Richard Corkery bearing the Bishop's train, while the children's choir sang, "Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God of Hosts."

Among the clergymen present from the city and district were the following: the Very Rev. Dean O'Sullivan, the Rev. J. J. O'Brien, the Rev. P. Costello, the Rev. J. V. McAuley of Ennismore, the Rev. J. T. Finn, the Rev. V. Corkery, the Rev. C. J. Carroll, the Rev. J. B. Masterson, D.D., the Rev. P. Butler of Kinmount, the Rev. V. G. McFadden of Downeyville, the Rev. Earle Grant of Bracebridge (brother of the newly ordained priest, the Rev. Frank Grant), also the Rev. M. McGuire of Douro, the Rev. C. Begley, the Rev. E. Welsh of Lindsay, the Rev. J. Collins of Parry Sound, the Rev. W. P. Meagher, the Rev. C. Maloney, the Rev. C. McCarney of Lindsay.

The Rev. H. Archambault will celebrate his first High Mass to-morrow at St. Peter's Cathedral, the Rev. F. Grant will say Mass to-morrow mornin at the Chapel of Mount St. Joseph and will officiate at High Mass on Sunday, June 3rd, at the Cathedral, and the Rev. J. Walsh will say Mass to-morrow at his native parish church in Douro.

AUSSIE APPLES ENGLAND BOUND

Millions of Bushels on Way From South Seas to Markets of Old Country.

MELBOURNE, May 26 (C.P.)—Thousands of cases of Australian apples are now on the way to the English markets, Tasmania, the smallest of the six states of the Commonwealth, furnishing more than half the quantity exported to the United Kingdom.

Each year Australia exports on an average more than 4,000,000 bushels of apples, Tasmania always looming up as the chief Commonwealth apple exporter. Usually there are three exporting months, beginning about May 1.

Pickers, packers and casemakers work with feverish haste in the orcharding districts during the export months to deliver their consignments to the wharves of Hobart, the Tasmanian capital, where great passengers liners and cargo steamers call regularly each season to fill their refrigerated holds.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

People talk about being "liverish" and that their liver is out of order, and by this they mean, perhaps, that poisons have accumulated in the system.

It is very reasonable to suppose, from what we saw yesterday of the working of the liver, that such conditions should arise. All the blood from the intestines with the absorbed food, goes through the liver first, to the amount of 700 quarts a day, and naturally if there are any poisons in this blood the liver will be affected.

One of its chief functions is to detoxicate the blood before it gets elsewhere in the body. And the liver naturally suffers from its exposed position to destruction from the action of these various poisons. Thus the liver can be totally destroyed by the absorption of phosphorus, such as phosphorus match poisoning or the accidental or purposeful (with sucidal intent) eating of rat poison containing phosphorus. In such cases it is the total destruction of the liver cells which is the cause of death.

Fortunately the liver is a strong and active organ, and it can and does remove a large number of minor and less destructive poisons from the blood, thus protecting us constantly from their effects, without damage to its own cells.

One poison which has over and over been accused of causing liver disease is alcohol. The chronic use of alcohol is thought by most physicians to result in cirrhosis of the liver. I say "most physicians", because recently there has arisen a school which believes that cirrhosis of the liver is not caused by alcohol. That school had its day a few years ago, but lately the opinion of nearly all widely experienced doctors seems to me to be veering around again to the original idea.

In this connection, I note in Dr. J. F. Montague's recent interesting book called, "I Know Just the Thing for That," a discussion of the American cocktail hour. He points out that our British cousins have a habit of gathering socially for what they call "tea", and in the United States this is rapidly becoming supplanted by a regular social gathering which is known as "cocktails." Certainly there is no question that the British tea is a far more salutary social event than the American cocktail hour.

The artificial stimulation which seems to be necessary to us with our high-powered, engine-driven life, is harmful to the nervous system and the ability to adjust oneself to wholesome living. For that reason, perhaps, we crave the relaxation of cocktails. But I wonder sometimes as I see young people, and especially women, guzzling at this period in the day, what the harvest is going to be in the way of cirrhotic livers 20 to 30 years from now.

Every year during the summer months thousands of Peterborough citizens have enjoyed each Sunday evening, the very fine Gospel Song Services conducted by the members of the Gospel Hall under the leadership of G. VICE-REGAL PARTY LEFT WAITING ON REVIEWING STAND IN TORONTO

Governor-General Annoyed at Having to Wait for Civic Officials.

"POOR STAFF WORK"

OTTAWA, May 26.—In official circles here regret is expressed over the misunderstanding in Toronto which resulted in the Governor-General being kept waiting on the reviewing stand in front of the City Hall Thursday while Mayor Stewart and other dignitaries awaited the arrival of His Excellency in the Mayor's office upstairs.

Prime Minister Bennett has received no first-hand report about the matter, but will hear about it during the week-end. It is considered doubtful that he will make any comment on the incident for publication.

"Poor Staff Work."

The feeling on Parliament Hill is that there was "poor staff work" somewhere in the City Hall. It is observed that the Mayor should have been waiting for the Governor-General at the front door of the City Hall, and should not have left it to some one else to escort His Excellency to the Mayor's office upstairs.

A high official said His Majesty the King would not have waited five minutes for the Mayor of any city. In the opinion of this authority the Governor-General fully performed his duty when he arrived at the City Hall in Toronto punotually.

At Government House last night, His Excellency's secretary said they had no comment to make on the Toronto incident, nor did they expect to have any comment later.

Statement Issued.

A statement dealing with the failure of civic officials to meet His Excellency the Governor-General at the City Hall on the occasion of the Centennial parade was issued yesterday by Mayor Stewart, after a conference with departmental heads. Asked later in the day if he had any desire to elaborate on the statement, His Worship replied: "I have nothing further to say."

Mayor Stewart in his statement said he was ready if called on by Premier Bennett, "the head of our elective authority which is the adviser to His Majesty's representative," to make a full and detailed report. It is said that Mayor Stewart, when he realized what had happened, hurried to the reviewing stand at the City Hall, where His Excellency was sitting, and extended civic apologies. His Excellency, it is said, retorted sharply and referred to the "Mary Pickford show."

Annoying.

Mayor Stewart in another portion of his statement, said, in referring to the mix-up which led to the appearance of His Excellency at the City Hall with no one to meet him, "I can readily understand, irrespective of any one's station in life, such occurrences are annoying. We are all human."

His Worship carefully prepared statement did not reveal who was responsible for the blunder. It admitted that arrangements had been made to receive the Governor-General and his party at the James Street entrance of the City Hall. The Mayor said that, through some misunderstanding, the official party, while motoring, was directed to the front entrance.

Officers of the Police Department accompanying His Excellency were interrogated yesterday, and, it is said, explained that it was always customary to escort His Excellency and distinguished visitors to the front entrance. It is said they knew of no other plan

632 FAMILIES ARE ON RELIEF

Number on Relief Year Ago Was 770 and Month Previous 701.

C.G.E. EMPLOYED 87 HEADS

At the last meeting of the Relief Committee, it was reported the number of families on relief was 632 as against 770 a year ago and 701 a month ago. The betterment in relief conditions is due to quite an extent to the co-operation of local industry, which has taken back on its payroll quite a number of old employees, and raised others from part time to practically full time 40 hours per week

The road camps too have taken on quite a few from the city and seasonal work has helped, but the call from the factories to old employees has been mainly responsible for the betterment in relief conditions. During the past three months the Canadian General Electric Company has been responsible for the re-employment of 87 heads of families. This plant has steadily increased the number of employees month by month.

In appreciation of the consistent co-operation of the heads of factories in the city with the Relief Officer and the Relief Committee, the following letter was mailed to a number of plants including: Canadian Packing Co., Western Clock Co., Dom. Woollens & Worsteds, Auburn Mills, Dom. Woollens & Worsteds, McDonnel St., Quaker Oats Co., Canadian Johnson Motors, Canadian Raybestos Co., The DeLaval Co., Brinton Peterborough Carpet Co., Colonial Weaving Co., Peterborough Canoe Co., Peterborough Lock Mfg. Co., Adam Hall, Limited, Canadian General Electric Co.

Peterborough, Ont. April 25, 1934

Dear Sirs:

The Special Relief Committee wishes to acknowledge the co-operation you have given and are giving with the Relief Department.

This co-operation so cheerfully given is highly appreciated, as it is of great assistance, and the Committee thanks you for it.

Yours very truly,

S. R. ARMSTRONG,
Secretary.

2-NO TRUMP HANDS AMAZINGLY FLEXIBLE

When a hand is so filled with honors that each of four suits is twice stopped, at least, from leads coming from the left, and the hand contains 7 playing tricks, nobody can well doubt that game is assured when dummy holds almost anything. A little experience also shows that the hand is capable in nearly every case of winning game at no trumps, even when dummy appears to hold nothing of value, as was the case with the hand shown below, which I saw dealt less than a week ago.

	♠ 6 4 2 ♥ 10 6 5 ♦ 10 9 6 4 ♣ 9 8 5
♠ 10 9 8 7 ♥ 3 ♦ 9 7 4 3 ♣ K	W E N. S.	♠ Q J 5 ♥ A 8 ♦ 8 7 5 3 2 ♣ 10 7 4
	♠ A K ♥ K Q J 2 ♦ A Q J ♣ A Q J 2

Bidding went: South, 2-no trumps; North, 3-no trumps, as he was bound to bid when unable to name a suit of at least five cards.

The 7 of spades was the opening lead. Things looked blue when dummy was spread. North remarked: "Partner, if you game with this trash, I'll swear by the 2-no trump force the rest of my life." Both opponents laughed. East played the J of spade, and declarer was in with his K.

There were visible the following tricks: 2 spades, 3 hearts, 3 diamonds and at least 1 club, enough for game in case West did not get in too many spade tricks before South could establish diamonds and hearts. The ace of diamonds was led, merely to start establishing that suit, but the lone K dropped at the left, absolutely insuring fulfillment of the game contract. South ran off his 2 lower diamonds. West let go a heart and a club, as if he did not hold the K.

Having established a good diamond in dummy, South led his K of hearts. East won the trick and led his clearing Q of spades. South won with his ace. Then South ran off a single top heart from his own hand. Dummy won the next heart trick with the 10, taking West's last heart. Dummy led the good diamond at the ninth trick. South discarded his lowest club. West showed that he held the K of clubs by his discard of a good heart.

Having won 8 of the 9 tricks played to date, the declarer led dummy's top club. He put up his ace for his ninth trick, then he took a good heart trick, obliging West to discard another good spade. West won the last two tricks of the hand with his K of clubs and remaining good spade, giving the declarer just 4-odd. Of course the declarer was lucky. Also he played the hand well. Don't expect luck alone to yield games.

11 HAMILTON FAMILIES HEADED FOR HOMESTEADS

HAMILTON, Ont., May 26. (CP). Eleven Hamilton families, having passed every test, will leave early next week to take up homesteads in Northern Ontario under the relief land settlement plan. About 12 families have failed to meet the physical requirements and seven families have yet to be inspected. Welfare Commissioner A. P. INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

WHEN THESE lines appear in print, the spring meeting at Woodbine will be a matter of past history. It was a very successful meeting taking things all around. The weather was the usual Woodbine brand which is plenty of sunshine and the contention in the different races was spirited. The starting of Nipper Rowe was excellent and the crowds were large. These all go to make up a successful meet, together with two or three long shots to waken the boys up and the form players also saw their favorites pop down in front enough to satisfy them. Old Mr. Gaiety won a heat during the week which makes his record for this year two starts and two wins. Not bad for a ten-year-old veteran whom they all said only had three legs last season.

Big Third Inning Serves White Sox in Beating New Yorkers 7-5.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.)

When they're all hitting, as they frequently have been lately, these Cleveland Indians can be a set of exceedingly tough customers for any of their American League rivals.

By way of impressing that fact upon any remaining doubters, the Indians stepped out yesterday and ran up the second-highest score of the major league season, burying Boston Red Sox under an 18-3 count. The Indians were on the short end of the only larger tally when the White Sox beat them 20-10 on April 30.

The Redmen started by scalping Gordon (Dusty) Rhodes for five hits, including Joe Vosmik's tremendous homer, and five runs in the first inning. Then they pounded Herb Pennock a while, and when Henry Johnson took the hill in the fifth they met him with a seven run outburst. By that time Manager Bucky Harris of Boston was ready to concede the victory, so he left Johnson stay in while Cleveland went on to pile up 24 hits, the season's largest total, for 43 bases. On the other side Monte Pearson limited the Hose to seven blows for his fifth mound victory.

While all this was going on, Chicago White Sox caught the fever, landed on George Uhle for six runs in the third when Manager Jimmy Dykes hit his fourth homer in eight games, and lasted to defeat the Yankees, 7-5.

At the same time Washington checked the St. Louis winning streak by battering out a 9-3 victory and Philadelphia's Athletics smacked out a 9-7 decision over Detroit. The Senatorial attack featured homers by Manager Joe Cronin, Johnny Stone and Buddy Myer to back up Earl Whitehill's five-hit flinging. The A's made good use of a handful of walks and five Detroit errors to win out with a late spurt.

Jumble Up Standings

The combined effect of these four games was to bunch up the standing in a way which must have bewildered a few American leaguers who thought they were having a close race. The Yankees, defeated in seven out of nine games in the West, found their lead reduced to a single game, while the cellar-dwelling White Sox were only six games off the pace. Washington, Detroit and St. Louis again joined in a triple tie for third, with .500 averages, while Boston sank into a sixth place deadlock with the Athletics.

The entire National League program yesterday was rained out.

MILL TAKES WIN FROM CLERKS 8-5

Last Year's Softball Champions Lose Opening Game in Town League.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 26. (By Examiner Staff Correspondence).—Last year's softball champions, the Clerks, lost their opening game in the Campbellford town softball schedule last evening, when they fell before the Mill in a game that was a real exhibition of the sport. The score was 8-5. Played on the High School grounds a very large crowd watched the game and enthusiastically supported the teams, who through seven innings of fine ball held practically even tally.

The game was a close fielding, tight pitching affair, with but few errors and all players taking advantage of every base and play offered. Opening the play with an even one run apiece, the Mill drew ahead in the second, only to be tallied and passed by one run in the third. In the sixth innings the teams stood five all. Going to bat, the Clerks made a brave stab to register, but failed, the Mill running up three counters in the last of the seventh.

Both Bill McComb and L. Holmes however weakening a little in the the fourth when the Clerks registered a two count, and only by the Mills' close infielding was prevented from getting in another three runs, a double play on first and second queering their pitch.

The teams:

Mill—T. Owens c, Peake lf, Runnions ss, Ingram 2b, Pelliquin 1b, Montgomery rf, Keating cf, D. Holmes 3b, McComb p.

Clerks—Hendy rf, Bush 2b, MacArthur c, Morton ss, L. Holmes p, Upton 3b, Gillessie 1b, Reynolds cf, H. Atkinson lf.

Umpires: Plate, W. Scanlan; bases, H. Tinney.

Score by innings:

Rochester Bats Toronto Leafs' Pitchers Freely for 8 to 4 Victory.

BISONS TAKE A FALL.

(By The Associated Press)

Rochester Redwings are off on another impressive winning streak and once more are coasting well in front of the best of the International League field.

The erratic Redwings' recent 12-game winning splurge was followed by a slump during which they dropped five decisions in a row, but they are back in winning stride now. They spilled Toronto Maple Leafs for the fourth successive time yesterday and increased their lead over the second place Newark Bears to three full games. Toronto remained in third place 2½ games further back.

The Leafs gave Walter Hilcher a three-run lead to work with in the first three innings but Rochester rallied in the late innings to win handily 8-4.

Norbert Kleinke, young Redwing pitcher, was taken out of the box with none down in the seventh but Dykes Potter stopped the Leafs cold the rest of the way.

The only other game that escaped the rain gave Montreal Royals a chance to earn an 11-8 decision over Buffalo in a heavy hitting duel. Buffalo sent Orilin Collier to the showers inside of two innings and held a 5-1 lead at that time but the Royals won out with the aid of four-run rallies in both the third and eighth innings.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, when I said some time ago that our senior ball club would have a lotta color this year I sure was shooting right at the mark. Victoria Day the boys trotted out there in their new outfits and neighbors, they come near knocking the customers' eyes out with their red windbreakers and their red, white and blue caps and socks. Boy, they looked hot enough to justify a stranger sending in a general fire alarm, and the lads is certainly not going to be overlooked this season.

The holiday ball program, Mac. brung Mister Buck McKenna's smooth going G. and W. Grads here for 2 games, them winning 1 and us 1. In the morning fixture our athaletes didn't take very kindly to the offerings of Mister Art Upper, with the crooked arm, who tossed them in for the Grads, and while the visitors didn't give Mister Deyell's alants a very vigorous pummelling, our tallest pitcher helped them along with 3 misplays that, along with the 3 more tossed in by his pals that pretty near handed the old ball game over to the invaders, who win 7 to 2. The after dinner affair was something else again. On the mound for the Petes was none other than Mister Spook Scriver, who blew a fast breaking curve in at the McKenna boys, and some of them acted like they didnt quite know what to do about it. Anyway the Spook held the opposition to 2 runs, while Mister Lee's boys chased 6 over the platter to give the home town fans a pleasant afternoon. The lads beat a good ball club when they beat the Grads. They're the class of the Toronto outfits, and they showed it the same day by going back to the Queen City Thursday night right after the 2nd game here and beating Malvern Grads 5 to 0 in a flood-light game. Right here I wanta hand it to Mister Buck McKenna. Although his league forced him to play that evening game on the holiday after arranging a trip here, the Grads' pilot brought a full squad to Peterborough, about the 1st time a Toronto club has landed here with a regular line-up for a exhibition contest. Thanks, Mister McKenna, hope we meet your lads in the Ontario play-offs, and may the best club win.

By and large, I think we're in for a good season in the Central loop. The local lads is shaping up fine, old Jack Williams is back with Belleville to give that team fresh strength, and the Kingston Ponies is always dangerous and full of fight. They oughta be a mess of lively ball games across the river this summer or I miss my guess.

Well, old-timer, they tell me some of the softball moguls is trying to bar hardballers from participating in their loop. That looks like a good way of putting mushball right on the hummer and wouldn't help to make it popular with the fans, believe you me.

No use of us getting excited over it, however, so I'll get off at this corner, kid.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

SCOT BEATEN 14-13 COUNT IN 36 HOLES

Little Shoots a Sensational 66 to Break All Records for Prestwick Course.

TAKES LEAD IN A.M.

PRESTWICK, Scotland, May 26 (AP)—W. Lawson Little, 23-year-old San Francisco golfer, won the British amateur championship today, defeating James Wallace, Scottish carpenter, 14 and 13 in the 36-hold final.

After gaining a 12-hole lead in the morning round by shooting a sensational 66 to break all records for this strenuous seaside course, Little put an end to the one-sided match at the 23rd hole with another display of sub-par golf. He was three under par for the five holes of the afternoon round and eight under par for the match.

Third American to Win

In becoming the third native American to win the title—Jess Sweetster won in 1926 and Bobby Jones in 1930—the 23-year-old California husky set up four records. His margin of victory was the most one-sided ever registered; his lead of 12 holes after the first 18 was the largest any finalist ever enjoyed; and his first round 66 shattered the professional record of 69 held by Macdonald Smith as well as the amateur standard of 71 set by F. Blackwell.

Never Had a Chance

In the face of this sort of golf, Wallace, the "dark horse" sensation never really had a chance. Wallace failed to display the same steady, skilful game that he showed in eliminating George T. Dunlap Jr. yesterday and four other Walker Cup players on previous rounds.

"Sorry, Old Man," Little said, as they left the course, and the American hurried to pack his bags and leave for Liverpool to board the Laconia to-night.

It was a grand experience to play against such a great golfer," the 30-year-old Scot replied.

CLERKS EASY VICTIMS FOR OUTLAW CREW

Clapper Clan Has No Trouble Taking 20-2 Victory in Hastings Game.

OPENING CEREMONIES

HASTINGS, May 26 (Examiner Correspondence).—Softball returned as the major summer sport in Hastings on the holiday when the Hastings and District Softball League was officially opened before a big crowd. Mayor H. N. Carr of Campbellford, Liberal candidate for Northumberland, pitched the first ball to Reeve George B. Stevenson, who got a healthy clout and made first on a hard run, much to the enjoyment of the crowd. Councillor J. L. Doherty was behind the bat. F. J. McArthur of Cobourg was to have assisted in the opening ceremonies, but was unavoidably delayed on his way from Cobourg.

In the opening game of the double-header, "Dit" Clapper put over a surprise package, when his youthful bunch of "Outlaws" took Dr. Doug. Hays' highly fancied Clerks into camp by the lop-sided count of 20 to 2.

"Andy" McGee, on the mound for the winners had the Clerks at his mercy all through the seven innings, no less than seven of the Counter Dusters swinging wildly at the third strike; he issued only one base on balls and allowed but three hits. Urged on by Clapper, the youngsters put on a smart exhibition of fielding and smothered anything that came anyways near them. Dr. Hay elected E. Whitred to burn them over for the Clerks but his offerings were just what the Outlaws wanted, and they nicked him for a grand total of sixteen hits which includes six home runs, two each by Philips and Bond and one each for Sargent and Clapper. The Clerks gave their pitcher poor support, muffing up many chances.

In the second game the Tanners lined up to their names, and tanned Elgin, 13 to 9, in a hard-fought battle. Hahn, on the slab for the winners, had a little trouble on the start, but after the third inning had the rural boys eating out of his hand; he allowed eight hits and had six strike outs to his credit. Richardson was touched up for sixteen safeties, but his teammates showed lack of practise.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse, Soccer
Softball, Bowling, etc.

By C. J. P.

Ladies were throwing hysterical fits hither and yon with the utmost abandon, and strong men wept quietly into their handkerchiefs, long before the men's softball what-is-it dragged itself to a bitter close at Central last night. The score, as close as anyone could come to it, was around 17 to 9 for Johnston's Tires over Fashion-Craft, but no one kept much track of that. The usual diamond drama had given way to a comedy—yeah, a comedy of errors—and laughter held sway. Johnston's didn't provide so much of the merriment, though they kicked in with lots of boots, too. But they also showed some snappy softball behind good pitching.

But Johnny Russell's lads—and ye pilot himself—were ballooning around for a new altitude record till darkness forced a landing. Chuck Butcher (he still works in our shop but we're not bragging about it any more) was not so hot on the losers' mound. In fact he wasn't as hot as a frozen herring, and the only support he got was from his elastic suspenders. His teammates kicked the ball around more than the Tottenham Hotspurs would in two weeks, and several times wanted to call the fire truck to put out the side. At least they handed the customers more laughs with some of their bungles than Wheeler and Woolsley.

We agreed with Umpire Bob Batley who grunted once between innings, as he hung weakly to the backstop: "This is the craziest game I've ever handled—everything's happened in it!" Of course, that's the way it goes in softball. Let a team start to go wrong and it'll go wrong as long as that game lasts. Nothing will stop the fumbling or boners. The same crew will step out there next time and it's an even money bet they'll look like a million bucks as they knock off the loop leaders. A bad game out of their systems might start the Fashion-Crafts on a winning streak now. The Deck boys played nice ball all right, without exception.

Girls' Softball League schedule appears in today's paper. First four games are away from here, and then they play at Central School and in Armour Field—which is, strictly speaking, the Ashburnham Memorial Park, or part of it. We call it Armour Field so sport fans will know where it is, at the foot of Armour Hill at the east end of Douro street. Only the first half of the schedule is out yet and it will be revised whenever the Bowl is finished and ready for play. Dyed-in-the-wool fans might clip out this schedule and know where all the games are.

Elsewhere in this paper appears an account of the City Baseball League meeting. Looks like four bantam teams and three juveniles, starting play about June 12th. As usual, Peterborough will likely have a couple of minor teams in the finals or close to the Provincial playoffs. These teams should phone 2841W for permission when they want to play exhibition games with outside teams. A number of donations have been received with thanks, and anyone else wishing to help the loop can do so through us or directly with President Jack Deannard.

Manager Darcy Foster won't have his E.P.L. team finally picked and signed up till after Monday night's workout, but these are some of the players he expects to line up this season Dinesen, J. Bailey and Maudsley for pitching; Doug Mowry for catching; an infield including Hutchison, Hartley, Maudsley and Smith; and in the garden, Bert and Joe Bailey, Gilmour and J. Dunkerley. A few more additions and this snappy, youthful outfit should prove bad medicine to opponents in a lot of E.P.L. games this summer. Fosters were no weaklings last year but lost a few important fixtures by close scores. They open the '34 schedule against C.G.E. Tuesday.

From Stoney Point down Windsor way, comes a letter from Jack Creighton, local lacrosse enthusiast. Among other things, he says: "If I were in town now, I would start up a girls' lacrosse club and get in with Orillia and the others, and I bet it wouldn't be long before I would have a real Girls' Lacrosse League." Come, come, Jack, is that nice? After all, imagine a girl's boy friend watching her tearing around a field waving a lacrosse stick—it must be very disquieting, and might give him food for thought before climbing into the matrimonial ring. We like to imagine our girls gentle, kind of dumb on sports, and watching with wide-eyed admiration their huskier boy friends on the field of battle. We like to think that—even if we do know better.

The ghost of that recent Men's Softball League edict to the Southend Loop—re "no can play unless, etc."—won't lie down. It continues to walk about and scare people. Naturally the Southend League didn't like it. Then, the Omemee tournament officials were worried about it. Later, C.G.E. Shop Circuit wondered how 'twould affect them. And now we get this note from the Church League: "How will this City League ruling affect their players who also play in the Church League? Six of our teams have Southend League players on them. Church League players do not lose their status until they play three City League games." As all these other loops are independent, it looks like that City League ruling was a boomerang.

E.P.L. WILL OPEN ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Darcy Foster Fielding Fair Squad to Meet Electrics in Initial Game.

Darcy Foster expects to have his E.P.L. team all lined up following a last workout Monday night in the Exhibition Grounds. He will have to have at least a fair outfit to open the season with C.G.E. the following evening, and he hopes to field his complete squad, as it will be for the season, then. On paper, this team looks good and should give the other outfits a battle every time out. However, Manager Foster admitted he was angling for the signatures of a few more players and was confident he would have them for the first contest.

While some of these are not signed yet, and others—not listed here—are on his "hopeful list" the following are some of the prospective players likely to wear the Foster uniforms this summer: Bus Hutchison, 1b; Scotty Maudsley, 2b; Marvel Hartley, ss; Arnold Smith, 3b; Steen Gilmour, Bert Bailey, Joe Bailey and Joe Dunkerly in the outfield; Doug Mowry catching; with Walter Dinesen, Maudsley and J. Bailey ready for pitching assignments. It is a young and potentially powerful team.

AUSTRALIANS GET DRAW WITH HANTS

Sussex Beats Leicester to Score Sixth Win in County Series.

LONDON, May 26.—(C. P. Cable)—The match between Hampshire and the touring Australian cricketers was left drawn yesterday after the Aussies had been given a rude shock by Hants' young amateur bowler, A. E. G. Baring.

The Aussies had only a slight lead on the first innings—13 runs. If the time limit had not forced conclusion of the match the visitors might well have suffered the first defeat of the tour, in view of the collapse of first-class bats before the trundling of Baring, fastest bowler in England outside of Harold Larwood himself.

When stumps were drawn the scores were Hampshire, 420 and 169 for seven wickets declared; Australians, 433 and 10 for one wicket.

Resuming today the Aussies had 426 for nine. When they were dismissed, young A. E. Chipperfield topped the scoring with 116 not out. Arnold, with 109 not out, was best of the second-inning bats for Hampshire. Baring finished his innings with a total of five wickets for 121 runs.

Sussex defeated Leicestershire by an innings and six runs, rolling up their fourth complete victory in six starts in the county cricket championship.

Kent defeated Gloucestershire by 235 runs, and Derbyshire defeated Northamptonshire by an innings and 147 runs.

Three other county matches were all decided on the first innings, Middlesex winning over Somerset, Essex over Lancashire, and Worcestershire over Glamorgan.

The match between Yorkshire and Warwickshire was left drawn, as was the non-county tussle between Nottingham and Cambridge University.

FOXBORO HOLDS BIG FIELD DAY

Calithumpian Parade to Fair Grounds Precedes Sport Events.

BALL SEASON OPENS.

FOXBORO, May 26 (Examiner Correspondence).—A big field day was a centre of attraction for a large crowd on Victoria Day at the village of Foxboro. Headed by Foxboro band, a procession paraded main street at 1.00 o'clock and marched to the school grounds, where baseball games and sports were put on. Prizes for outfits in the parade were donated by merchants of Foxboro and Belleville.

The opening of East Hastings Hardball League games were played between Melrose vs. Shannonville, the latter winning by a high score, also between Latta vs. Foxboro, Latta winning, the score being 8-7. Rev. Mr. Hill of Roslin and Mr. McLaren of Melrose umpired the games.

The other sports consisted of ladies' nail-driving contest, ladies' throwing slipper, jumping and running and sack races, all prizes for which were donated by Woolworth's of Belleville.

Booths were erected on the grounds, where lunches and ice cold beverages were served. The streets and many residences were gayly decorated with flags and banners. At night a drama, "Lighthouse Nan," was given by Foxboro talent, a comedy-drama full of fun and laughter held in the United Church.

BARNEY ROSS ENDS TRAINING

Lightweight Champion is Ready for Title Bout With Jimmy McLarnin. ON MONDAY NIGHT.

NEW YORK, May 26.—Barney Ross packed up his things at his Ferndale training camp yesterday and headed for New York to box Jimmy McLarnin fifteen rounds for the welterweight championship in Madison Square Garden's bowl on Long Island Monday night.

The lightweight champion from Chicago wound up his training ordeal as fit as a man can be for a task ring history says can't be done, but 65,000 people are expected to pay some $300,000 for the privilege of seeing him try anyway.

Only once before did a lightweight king ever challenge the ruler of the heavier division and in that match Benny Leonard lost on a foul to Jack Britton in 1921. But there was this bit of bolster to Ross's cause as far as that one was concerned—Leonard, the lightweight champion, was far in front and had Britton on the floor when he committed the foul of taking another punch before Jack got up.

McLarnin To Work To-Day.

McLarnin boxed easily at his camp in Atlantic City and planned to work right through to-day and possibly Monday morning, so as to be certain of making the weight he has agreed upon, 145 pounds at noon Monday. The Vancouver belter has posted a $10,000 forfeit that he will be two pounds under the class limit.

Any weight probdem that faced Ross, however, was located entirely on the person of McLarnin. Weighing 137 pounds after boxing four rounds yesterday, Ross faces the big task of conceding ten pounds and still beating the hardest hitter below heavyweight poundage in the ring to-day. Barnet expects to weigh in Monday at 137. Even though McLarnin weighs 145 at noon, he will be back to 148 or 149 by ring time, about 8.45 (E.S.T.) Monday night.

JUNIOR BALL LEAGUE OPENS ON JUNE 12TH

Four Bantam and Three Juvenile Teams Will Make Up Summer Circuit.

JUNIORS CHECK OUT.

The City Baseball League will open on or about June 12th, it was decided at a meeting held in Duffus' last night at which President Jack Deannard occupied the chair. Four bantam and three juvenile teams are expected to make up the circuit this summer. St. Peter's School, King Edward School, Maple Leafs and possibly Canucks will be the bantam entries; while Terriers, an East City squad and possibly Jack McIlmoyle's team, will comprise the juvenile section. The two possible entries are fairly sure and will be checked upon this week.

In order to not interfere with the School League, it was decided to wait till about June 12th before commencing play. Team managers were reminded that they should have permission from the loop president to play exhibtion games with teams outside the league. This may be obtained by 'phoning 2841W. Bantam games will be played on the King Edward school diamond, while juvenile contests take place in Stevenson Park. The following prizes—to be decided by the league later—have been offered players: Running shoes by the R. Neill Shoe Store; a Spalding bat by Louis LeClaire, and a complete tonsorial job by Robertson's barber shop.

Donations have been thanfully received from: G. A. Gillespie, $5.00; Canadian Department Stores, $2.00; Louis Yeates, $1.00; Warne Bros. Jewelers, $2.00; Schneider Bros. Jewelers, $1.00; Colonel Bradburn, $1.00; Moncrief's Dairy, $1.00; Percy Hooper, $1.00. Further donations will be welcomed, and may be sent to the Sports' Dept. of the Examiner.

Employment in Switzerland is increasing.

Now that the bowling season for 1934 has been officially opened, the first competition is that of the President vs. Vice President. The event takes place on Monday evening commencing at 7.45 p.m. The skips are requested to get their rinks out and start off the season on the right foot. The games will be sixteen ends.

PREMIER HENRY WILL SPEAK AT CAMPBELLFORD

To Address Conservative Rally in Davidson Arena on May 29th.

EVENING MEETING.

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, May 25.— Opening the Tory campaign in Campbellford and the district, the first large rally since the announcement of the election date, will be held on Tuesday evening next, May 29 when Premier George S. Henry will feature as the main speaker at a mass meeting scheduled to be held in the Davidson Arena in Campbellford. Other speakers will also address the gathering, including the members for Northumberland, Fred J. McArthur, M.L.A. and W. B. Horkins, K.C., of Toronto. It is understood that arrangements are being made by the local Conservative committee, to give the premier an enthusiastic welcome to Campbellford, included in which will be the meeting of Ontario's premier politician at the town limits, with the town band, which will escort him to the Arena. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. loud speakers being installed in the building so that the speakers can be heard in any part of the building.

As a result of natural and historical conditions, the industrial activity of Ireland is largely confined to agriculture.

Missionary Speaks At Millbrook Meet

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, May 25. — Featuring the meeting of the Y.P.S., of St. Andrew's church, on Monday evening, was a stirring address by the Rev. F. W. E. Storey, a returned missionary from South America, whose field covered Buenos Aires, Argentine and Bolivia.

In his lecture material Mr. Storey spoke of the fact that South merica is chained hand and foot by ignorance; "in a country that is 60 times the size of the British Isles there is but one Protestant preacher for every 70,000 square miles." The fine work done by the Bible Society was strongly emphasized, its wagons, autos and gasoline launches being always busy.

More than 100 slides were shown ..most of them colored—giving a vivid idea of the beauty and fine buildings of the larger cities, though the speaker stated that "Civilization did not mean Christianization; also the natural resources of Argentina—tons and tons of wheat and beef shipped to Britain; sugar cane plantations in the north of this vast country, and needing to be planted but every fifteen years, yet yielding enormous crops for home use and export. "Fruits are abundant; in my own garden I grow over thirty varieties. South America boasts 180 varieties of snakes, among them the Anaconda, the largest in the world. Yet a blot on this big land is that women are licensed by the government to live lives of shame. Orphanages and small churches are thriving, however; lives are being completely changed, and no church member may either drink or smoke."

Beatrice Jones wore the dress of an Indian South American girl, red in color, hanging straight to just below the knees, sleeveless, pinned on the shoulders, and with a white towel above her head. Some curios were also shown by Mr. Storey, who made a strong appeal for missionaries for South America. The offering, $10.25, was given the speaker; there was a large attendance. Next Monday, May 28, will be a banquet as the concluding meeting for the present season. Out of town speakers will be present.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, May 27

Sunday's horoscope holds augury of fairly prosperous and pleasant activities in all spiritual, mystical, ecclesiastical and philanthropic matters. With concentration in this direction all may flourish, but there is an element of restlessness, uncertainty and a yearning for strange adventures or associations to be wisely deat with.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of rather fair progress and prosperity, winning the notice of those in important positions or affiliated with rings, combines or secret societies.

A child born on this day may be capable and ambitious, inclined to curious or strange adventures, to be original and independent in thought and action, making good success of its life.

For Monday, May 28

Monday's astrological forecast is for a day of difficulties and problems, with many annoyances, setbacks, postponements and disappointments to be contended with. But this should be done with patience, perseverance and composure as an indulged tendency to rash, impulsive, quarrelsome and violent actions would only end in aggravating a difficult situation.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of some setbacks, opposition, hostility with difficult situations to compose.

A child born on this day may be determined, aggressive and courageous but with an exaggeration of these traits leading it to confusion and turmoil. Its rash, ruthless and turbulent nature should be given early discipline.

Dairy Notes

CAMPBELLFORD, May 25 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — The prevailing price for cheese on the boards of Eastern Ontario last week was nine cents.

On May 26 last year 221 boxes of cheese were graded at the grading station here. There will be some cheese in this week, but probably not so many as last year.

Attempting to operate a hand power whitewash spray in whitewashing the make-room of the Roseneath cheese factory, nearly ended with tragic results. It appears that the outlet of the machine was slogged and the pressure being applied caused the air chamber to burst. Mr. Immel, the maker, escaped with slight injury to his hands, but his assistant, Mr. Duff, was more seriously injured about the head and face, requiring medical attention.

New dairy regulations require that all doors, windows and openings in the cheese factories makerooms must be screened to exclude flies. Also that thermometers, when floating in the milk or curd, must be placed in a wooden protector or made of shatterless glass.

The certificate of a very successful maker in Hastings County was cancelled last week, because of a report from the United Kingdom that a fly had been found in cheese made at his factory.

CROSS ERECTED CURRIE'S HONOR

Memorial is Unveiled at Point Claire, Que., by Lieut.-Gen. MacDonell.

TRIBUTE PAID.

POINTE CLAIRE, Que., May 25 (CP)—A permanent memorial to the leader of Canada's overseas forces now stands here, further evidence of the high esteem in which the Canadian people hold the memory of General Sir Arthur Currie.

A memorial cross in memory of the great leader, later Principal of McGill University, who died last November after a valiant fight against an illness that held him in its grasp for weeks, was unveiled here yesterday—on the exact spot in the field of honor where he stood last year to deliver an address during the commemoration ceremonies.

The grey stone cross was unveiled by Lieut.-General Sir Archibald Cameron Macdonell, former Commandant of the Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont., who succeeded Sir Arthur as Commander of the First Canadian Division. Leading military officers and army chaplains attended the ceremonies.

High tribute to the memory of his former chief was paid by Sir Archibald. Sir Arthur, he said, exemplified better than any man he knew the motto of the Royal Military College, although he had never attended the college: "Truth, Duty, Valor!"

With a real flair for battle, he was full of the milk of human kindness toward his officers and men, but inexorable as fate if anyone failed to deliver the goods."

Lt.-Col Gault McCombe, President of the Quebec Branch of the Last Post Fund, whose memorial service coincided with the unveiling of the cross, spoke of the double significance of the day, honoring of Sir Arthur and of the men who died during the war.

Others present included Colonel the Venerable Archdeacon J. M. Almond, Dominion Chaplain of the Fund; Col. the Hon. Murray MacLaren, Minister of Pensions and National Health, and Lt.-Col. L. R. Lafleche, Ottawa, Deputy Minister of the Department of National Defence, all of whom joined in paying tribute to the late leader.

The memorial cross was presented by Major John Molson, M.C., of Montreal.

Patriotic Concert Is Successful Event

A very successful Empire Day program was given to a full house on Friday evening in the True Blue Hall, Halls Bridge.

MOUNT HOPE, ONTARIO, SAID SITE OF FAMOUS "CREAKING OLD MILL"

Brother of "Maggie" Recalls How Heart-broken Johnson Was at Her Death.

CREEK NOW DRY.

CALEDONIA, Ont., May 26.—(CP)—George Washington Johnson wrote the song "When You and I Were Young, Maggie" in memory of his wife, 76-year-old J. W. Clark believes.

Mr. Clark, a younger brother of Maggie Clark, says his sister was born in Glanford Township, Ont., and that Johnson was born in the same district. Johnson taught at the country school his sister attended, fell in love with her and married her in 1864.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Mr. Clark says, moved to Cleveland where Johnson became associate editor of the Cleveland plain dealer. Mrs. Johnson died a year later and her body was brought back to Glanford for burial.

Mr. Clark can remember when he was seven years old how "Johnson visited our place shortly after the death of my elder sister, Maggie and how he was heart-broken."

Yesterday Col. C. R. McCullough, Wentworth county historian, said he believed the "creaking old mill" mentioned in the song was the old mill at Albion.

Old Mill At Mt. Hope

Mr. Clark, however, disagrees. He says the "creaking old mill" was an old sawmill near what is now the village of Mount Hope on the banks of Twenty-Mile Creek, a short distance from the Clark homestead.

Along the banks of this creek the couple used to stroll. The site of the mill was shaded by tall maple trees. "Very little of the mill remains," Mr. Clark says, "except a small portion of the brick foundation and the creek is now dried up."

After the deathof his wife Johnson returned to Canada and resumed teaching as professor of language at the University of Toronto Mr. Clark says the words of the famous song were published first in 1864 a book of verse by Johnson entitled 'Maple Leaves' and were set to music in 1866 by J. A. Butterfield of Detroit.

2 WEEKS MORE FOR CONGRESS

TWO MAIN DECISIONS.

By D. HAROLD OLIVER.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—(A.P.)—Senate leaders saw a "good possibility" to-day that the United States' Congress will adjourn in two weeks.

They based this forecast on the agreement by Senator Huey Long (D-La.) to end what they had termed a one-man filibuster against the tariff bill.

Senator Pat Harrison (D-Miss.), obtained an agreement from Long and the Republican Opposition late yesterday to limit debate on the reciprocal tariff measure beginning Wednesday, bringing a final vote Thursday, exactly two weeks from the time the bill was taken up. It already has been approved by the House of Representatives.

Adjournment by June 9—a date tentatively agreed on—would mean that many important bills President Roosevelt favors would have to be cast aside. Only the silver purchase and the big deficiency bill are definitely slated for action before adjournment. That leaves the following proposals up for 11th hour consideration.

The Wagner Labor Dispute Bill; the Administration Housing Plan; the Copeland Food and Drugs Proposal; Unemployment Insurance; Cash Bonus; Oil Control and several others.

President Roosevelt was reported authoritatively to have capitulated to the demand of Senator Carter Glass of Virginia that a special agency rather than the Federal Trade Commission should regulate United States' stock exchangs.

Queen Alexandra nosed out the Prince of Wales 26 to 25 on the former's grounds in a hard-hitting School Softball League game yesterday. Packenham relieved Palmer of the winners' mound, but three hurlers were used by the Princes. Some fair fielding and hard clouting marked this fixture which was not settled till the final frame. Comedy Of Errors In Softball Fracas

In a loosely played game at Central School Grounds last night Johnston's Tires easily defeated Fashion-Craft by the score of 17-9. Both teams displayed some very sloppy fielding, a total of 21 errors being made. Each of the Fashion Craft infield made two or more bobbles.

Elliott, on the mound for the winners, pitched nice ball till he weakened in the eighth and was replaced by Massey. Butcher started for Fashion-Craft but was wobbly from the start and finally blew up in the seventh. Naish relieved him and finished well. On the whole the gas was a poor exhibition of softball.

Prisoner Escapes During Prayer Hour

ST. JOHN'S, Que., May 26 (C.P.).—Slipping away quietly while prisoners were at prayer and scaling a 20-foot wall that surrounds the St. John's County Jail by using four long splints of wood, Louis Stanley Mudgett, 30-year-old prisoners serving a three-months' term on a liquor charge, escaped from the jail last night. To-day he was still at liberty.

Roman Catholic prisoners were kneeling in prayer when Mudgett slipped quietly out a side door. His escape was only noticed when the prisoners were filing back one by one to their cells. Guards immediately notified Sheriff A. Forget and a posse was organized to scour the countryside.

Ferrell And Ferrell Boston Sox Battery

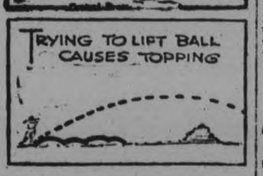
CLEVELAND, May 26. — "The batteries for to-day's game: For Boston—Ferrell and Ferrell."

The ump's call, significant of the first brother battery the major leagues have seen in years, may soon ring through the stadia of the American League.

Wes Ferrell, Cleveland's boy "hero" of '29, who in his first four years of major league experience established himself as the first pitcher in history to win 20 or more games each season, to-day became the property of Boston Red Sox, where his brother, Dick, does the back-stopping.

A holdout, as usual, this year, Wes Ferrell went on the voluntary retired list rather than accept a contract offered by the Indians. His suspension was lifted when General Manager Billy Evans completed a deal wth Owner Thomas Yawkey of Boston for a trade of Ferrell and Outfielder Dick Porter for Pitcher Bob Weiland and Outfielder Bob Seeds of Boston and a cash sum said to be in excess of $25,000.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES! By ALEX. J. MORRISON



The other day I was playing with a fellow who said he couldn't use his wood clubs. I persuaded him to use his brassie off one tee.

About 50 yards in front of this tee there was a knoll six or eight feet high. The fellow paid no attention to my instructions as to how the brassie should be swung. In four tries he topped every shot.

"I was trying to lift the ball," he explained, "over the knoll."

I then told him that straining to lift the ball was a sure way of topping it.

Too many players suffer from a similar complex. They struggle during the swing to scoop up the ball, thereby spoiling the swing.

The proper swing will raise the ball automatically.

LAKEFIELD'S PUBLIC SCHOOL HONORS LATE ISABELLA DUFF TEACHER FOR FIFTY-ONE YEARS

Many Noted Citizens Attend For Unveiling of Memorial Tablet.

7 EX-PUPILS PRESENT.

Stirring Addresses Given—Pupils Put on Fine Victoria Day Program.

LAKEFIELD, May 26 (Examiner Correspondence).—Wednesday was a gala day at the Lakefield Public School, when the annual Empire Day program was combined with the public recognition of a service record in the teaching profession which has few if any equals in Ontario. The latter was the unveiling of a memorial tablet to honor the memory and service of the late Isabella Duff, who for fifty-one years was a teacher in that school. The weather was bright and sunny but the high wind made it difficult at times to hear the speakers. The whole School Board, the principals and staff of both Public and High Schools, the invited guests and the general public all put their best into its success, and the result was a triumph as much was accomplished in bringing together a large number to honor one whose characteristics were loyalty, efficiency and service.

The Pupils' Part

The first part of the program was put on by the children, under the direction of Mr. T. W. Chaplin, Principal of the Public School, and his staff, and was varied, snappy and appropriate. The first number was the High School Glee Club, directed by Mrs. Nellie M. Stinson, singing "Land of Hope and Glory," with Lulu Smith at the piano. It was a fitting opening and the fresh, clear young voices echoed among the trees of the southeast section of the grounds, where the platform was erected.

The chairman of the afternoon was Mr. H. R. Wagar, chairman of the Public School Board. Three young girls gave declamations which had an important bearing on the day and its importance: Lois Yale gave "Empire Day"; May Blewett gave "Breathes There a Man With Soul So Dead" (a challenge at patriotism), and Phyllis Webster gave "Our Heritage," a soul-stirring recounting of what we, as Canadians, have to be proud of.

Four boys gave addresses on leading Fathers of Confederation, and in listening to the eager-faced youths relating their achievements and records, one could not help feeling that if that august body of great Canadians could have heard them they would have felt that their efforts to build a great united Canada had not failed. Donald Smith gave George Brown; George Wong (a Chinese pupil) gave Sir John A. Macdonald; Freddy Hudson, Sir George Cartier, and Kenneth Morris gave Dr. Charles Tupper.

Four pupils of the third book, Miss Payne's room, gave a recitation, "Jacques Cartier," commemorating the four hundredth anniversary of his landing in Canada. The pupils taking part were Betty Brown, Gladys Allen, Charlie Earnshaw, Elmer Graham.

A pageant, "Canada, East and West," was given in which eleven little girls took part, representing the provinces and territories of our great Dominion: Ontario, Doris Chittick; Quebec, Betty Stock; New Brunswick, Veronica McFadden; Nova Scotia, Doris Charlton; Manitoba, Frieda Webster; British Columbia, Virginia Shearer; P.E.I., Muriel Miles; Alberta, June Burrows; Saskatchewan, Alvida Pearson; Yukon, Jean Millar; Northwest Territories, Murietta Hull.

The pageant wound up with the singing of "The Land of The Maple" with Mary Blewett at the piano.

Inspector Copp

Mr. L. W. Copp, Public School Inspector, gave an address, commending the high ideals expressed in the foregoing program, and urging a deeper realization of what those ideals mean. We took Canada by force. When Jacques Cartier planted the Fleur de Lis of Frances' king on Canadian soil, he claimed the land and took it from the Indians; later the British won it by conquest of arms, and now we have it, and are we going to bar out of it people from other lands who wish to came and make their homes here?

A story illustrating sportsmanship was told which had an appeal especially to the youth and showed fair play in life's duties and pleasures alike really counts. Mr. Copp paid a tribute to those outstanding qualities in Miss Duff, who was so well known among the teachers of this county.

Citizens Give Addresses

The second part of the program opened with the singing of "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," with Lois Yale at the piano, and a number of citizens called to the platform: Mr. Richard Lees, ex-Public School Inspector; Mrs. W. M. Graham, a former member of the staff and later of the School Board; Rev. A. W. Mackenie, D.D., Headmaster of The Grove; Mr. R. F. Downey, and Mr. L. W. Copp, Public School Inspectors; Mr. J. F. Harvey, Principal of the High School; J. W. Ridpath, ex-Chairman of the School Board; Mr. J. M. Simpson, former Principal of the High School; Rev. W. J. Creighton, Mr. W. H. Casement, and Mr. J. E. Galvin (Miss Duff's oldest ex-pupil).

Mr. Wagar gave a brief but pithy address, paying a tribute to the late teacher. It is not given to many to teach for more than half a century in one school, and the record is a truly remarkable and noteworthy one. Miss Duff lived for her scholars, she made them work and they loved here; her personal magnetism and her stern sense of duty which abhorred shirking; she was regular and punctual in attendance and never bragged of her achievements. This celebration is seven years too late, and should have been held while Miss Duff was here to occupy the central place. In connection with this honoring of her memory, the School Board will give a full set of books to the pupil of the Lakefield Public School who takes the highest marks at the Entrance Examination each year as a perpetual memorial.

Dr. A. W. Mackenzie

Dr. A. W. Mackenzie, headmaster of The Grove, and who has done so much in encouragement of a friendlied and better feeling between the schools, replacing rivalry by friendly competition, also spoke briefly. It is a serious and important occasion to pay a tribute to one we all honored and many loved. It is rather sad that this tribute to Miss Duff comes so late, for it was so well deserved. Her pupils found her exacting, never satisfied with slovenly work, and never content with less than the best effort. The village lost a valuable citizen who had contributed much to the character of the community. When Miss Duff passed away and while we were mouring her death she heard the Master's voice saying, "Well done, good and faithful servant; enter now into the joy of thy reward."

Seven Ex-pupils Attend

For the unveiling of the tablet a guard of honor was formed of those who had won the county prize at the entrance as members of Miss Duffs' class. In nineteen years Miss Duff's pupils had won this twelve times and of this number six answered to the roll call and paid their silent tribute to one who had been both teacher and friend. A seventh arrived just too late to take her place but not too late to witness the closing ceremony. A telegram was read from Inspector Trude Leggot, of Belleville, the first in the prize winners (1909), regretting his absence and sending his best regards to ex-class mates. Miss Sadie Young (1920) wrote from Holland Landing sending regrets and good wishes. The six who took their places around the table were Florence Little (1913)—Mrs. W. Steinkraus; Rev. Gordon Porter, M.A., B.D., (1922); Yvonne Stuart—Mrs. Davis-Knowles (1923); Margaret Tanner, B.A., (1925); Helen Porter (1926) Robert R. Spence (1927) and Mary E. Galvin—Mrs. Lowery (1912) arrived from Windsor, Ontario just in time for the closing ceremonies.

Other winners not present were Jack Milne (1910); Phyllis Cumberland—Mrs Hayes (1911) and Richard Graham, B.S.A., (1914).

The tablet was unveiled by J. W. Ridpath, who is one of Miss Duff's large army of ex-pupils and one of the oldest (Mr. Ridpath located an old class mate, Mr. Robert Charlton in the audience). Shortly after the death of Miss Duff it was felt by the members of the school board that an effort be made to honour her memory and to perpetuate the remembrance of her unique record. The tablet which was mounted on an easel and covered with the Union Jack, will be erected in the hall of the Public School.

The Oration

Mr. Richard Lees, M.A., gave the oration in appreciation of Miss Duff. As teacher and inspector their relations were friendly and extended over a long period and no one was better fitted for this part than Mr. Lees.

Miss Duff's work was performed very faithfully and she gave excellent service in a humble position it is not necessary to occupy an exalted position to give good service. She never attended a teachers' training school and her education was not as wide as the teachers of the present day, but she performed a service which very few of the present day teachers have rendered. She was an extraordinary teacher fith a remarkable gift for imparting knowledge.

There is to-day much talk of the duty to the Empire and our heritage and these are very important and we have a great responsibility in keeping them inviolate and to pass them on better than we got them. Conditions are changing and in a few years these young people will have the responsibilities. Some one said that the Great War was to make the world safe for democracy and some wise person said it was to make democracy safe for the world. It is on trial to-day and has broken down all over the world except in the British Empire and the United States and in the later country it is on trial and is breaking down. In the U.S. last year there were 12,000 murders and 3,000 abductions. The speaker closed by impressing on the young people to keep in mind their great heritage and to pass it on better than they got it.

Mrs. W. M. Graham, ex-member of the School Board and also ex-member of the staff of the school, referred to the rare gift of imparting knowledge possessed by Miss Duff whose thorough grounding has enabled her pupils to succeed in other schools and in many walks of life. She would have been proud to-day to have seen the guard of honour, all honour graduates who appreciate her love and loyalty to them. Mrs. Graham closed with an anecdote of Miss Duff, characteristic of her. As an incoming class came to her room after promotion from a lower grade she met them, saying: "I don't want to hear anyone say 'I can't,' but I want you to say 'I'll try'."

Mr. R. F. Downey, Public School Inspector, congratulated the Board and the citizens on the splendid idea of perpetuating the memory of such a splendid woman and excellent teacher. Teachers don't get much credit these days, especially while they are on active service. He admonished the trustees to exercise care about the moral qualities of the boys and girls. He made the excellent suggestion that this memorial tablet be annually displayed on Empire Day to recall to future pupils the memory of this splendid teacher. And on this Empire Day when we stress our loyalty, let us not forget that "England expects that every man will continue to do his duty."

Mr. J. W. Simpson, ex-principal of the High School, referred to twelve years of happy associations with Miss Duff. The results of her thorough grounding were apparent in the High School. The speaker often told her that she was the youngest teacher on the staff, always so alert and eager for new ideas.

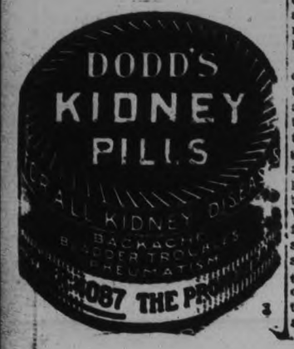
Rev. W. J. Creighton, M.A., was a member of the School Board which gave Miss Duff the entrance work following the establishment of the continuation school. The question of getting a man for this position was debated but all will agree that no mistake was made in giving it to Miss Duff. She drove her pupils, but look at the results—they won the county prize year after year and had more than mere respect, but a genuine, sincere affection.

Mr. J. E. Galvin, the oldest ex-pupil of Miss Duff, in the knowledge of the committee ,expressed his appreciation of the occasion and all that it meant, and spoke of the widespread reputation Lakefield has for having a good school and much of its worth was due to the efforts of Miss Duff who for more than half a century taught in it and left a great impression on the minds of ex-pupils.

The ceremony closed with the National Anthem with Lois Yale at the piano.

Splendid Co-operation

The committee of the School Board who arranged the event had the heartiest co-operation of Mr. Chaplin and his staff of the Public School who worked very hard to have all the arrangements complete and succeeded admirably. There was co-operation from Mr. Harvey and his staff and a fine spirit displayed by dozens of citizens who knew and honoured the modest woman whose name was synonomous with the Lakefield Shcool and whose ex-pupils, numbered by hundreds in all walks of life, scattered over all Canada, pay tribute to one who served well and who followed the path of duty to the very end, giving loyal service and deep affection to her community and especially the Lakefield Public School.



Cavan

Mrs. W. H. Clegg and son Murray spent a few days of this week with her sister, Mrs. Russell Bonner, Centreville.

Messrs. Ray Staples and Melville Perrin were visitors in Bethany on Tuesday evening.

50 YEARS A MARTYR TO CONSTIPATION

But Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought Welcome Relief

Read this splendid letter from Mrs. Haynes:

"For 50 years I have been a martyr to constipation. Have tried every remedy under the sun.

"One day I read an account of some one who had been relieved by ALL-BRAN, but I thought 'What was the use of me trying anything more when all else had failed?'

"A while after, I read it again. That time I thought I would try it, it would do no harm anyway.

"I began with a small dish of your ALL-BRAN for breakfast, and wonderful to say, I never need to take any physic at all now. How I wish other poor sufferers from constipation could be persuaded to try it."—Mrs. Sarah Haynes (address furnished upon request).

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regular habits. Also iron for the blood.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. It's so much safer than taking patent medicines! Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. Severe cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get this delicious ready-to-eat cereal from your grocer. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

THE FIRST SURVEYS OF UPPER CANADA

On this date in 1783 Sir Frederick Haldimand at Quebec ordered Samuel Holland, surveyor general, to proceed to Montreal and thence to Cataraqui (Kingston) as it is necessary that I should be informed of the nature of the country from the north side of Lake Ontario." Holland was also instructed to enquire into the condition of the old French forts and see whether it could be restored, being instructed also to give full data on the character of the country which was to soon become the cradle of the Loyalists in Upper Canada. A month later Holland reported that he had selected three men to proceed along the shore to Niagara, and it is on record that the bulk of the survey of the country around and above Kingston was done by John Collins, the deputy surveyor general. During that summer Collins outlined the Townships of Kingston, Fredericksburg, Ernestown and Adolphustown, the front of which was divided into lots in 1784 when the Loyalists came.

There is a movement on foot among the land surveyors of Canada to erect a cairn to John Collins on the spot where he first inserted a marker and which was later the first lot granted to Captain Grass in 1784, now the part at Kingston, in which stands the monument of Sir John A. Macdonald, the boy who, trained in the Loyalist settlement of Adolphustown, rose to the highest office in the gift of both the Province and the Dominion of Canada. Surveyor Collins was one of the makers of Canada who had been too long neglected by historians. He died at Quebec April 15, 1795.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

CAMPBELLTON, N.B.

This pretty town, situated on the Restigouche river, with the Sugar Loaf mountain in the rear, has an historic background, dating back to 1793, when settlement was first effected. For many years it was known as Martin's Point, taking its name from Capt. Martin, who conducted a shipbuilding yard at that point.

Some years later it was renamed Campbellton, in honor of Lord Campbell, one of the distinguished governors of the province in the early days.

Although it was twice destroyed by fire—the first time in 1861 and the second in 1910—Campbellton has courageously arisen from its ashes to build anew to greater lengths than before.

NEW TRUCK TIRE IS ON MARKET

Tire for Use on Trucks and Buses Known as Goodrich Triple Protected Silvertown.

THREE NEW FEATURES

KITCHENER, Ont., May 26.—A newly developed truck and bus tire, with improvements over previous construction, is announced by Canadian Goodrich Company Limited of Kitchener, Ontario as now ready for sale through its nation-wide dealer organization.

The new tire known as the Goodrich Triple Protected Silvertown has three new production features. Plyflex, Ply-lock and Full Floating Plies, the manufacturer says.

Plyflex is a new, tough, sturdy rubber material and the new tire has a layer of it protecting the side-wall. It bears the brunt of the strains caused by the tire flexing several hundred times a minute, distributes stresses throughout the carcass and prevents local weakness.

Ply-lock is a new process of locking the continuous plies of the tire around the bead, anchoring them in place and floating the tapered ply ends in rubber. Its use prevents the plies tearing loose just above the bead, a trouble often found in tires using short reinforcement plies, instead of this new type construction.

Full Floating Plies are thoroughly impregnated with rubber .... cords are insulated by thick rubber cushions....cords can't touch each other—rub—get hot—break. Friction is reduced. Fabric wears longer.

LIFFORD LINE

The hostess' family served dainty refreshments and the remainder of the evening was spent in recreation of various kinds.

ATTEMPT MADE ON ENVOY'S LIFE

U. S. Ambassador to Cuba Escapes But Guard is Wounded.

POLICE COMB CITY.

HAVANA, May 28. (AP)—Cuban national police searched to-day for four men who made a daring attempt yesterday to assassinate Jefferson Caffrey United States ambassador to Cuba.

The cabinet shaken by the affair, met in a special session to discuss the plot against Caffery's life. The explosion of two bombs in a residential section shortly after midnight added to the excitement which gripped Havana.

Authorities expressed a determination to put an end to terrorism which has harassed Havana for months. Police raked the city and its environs for the assailants. All authorities were searched in the vicinity of the diplomat's home.

Caffery spent the night there. A heavy guard surrounded the residence.

The attempt, made in gangster fashion, did not harm Caffery, but may cost the life of Francisco Ortega, a soldier on guard at the Caffery home.

First Served

CHICAGO, May 28. — (CP) — Max Blumenthal, owner of a liquor store, was putting the day's receipts, $170, in his pocket, when a man with a pistol entered.

"Give that to me before somebody steals it from you," the man ordered.

Blumenthal obeyed.

ELECTRIC IRON CAUSE OF FIRE

User Failed to Disconnect Iron in McDonnel Street Home.

REAR PORTION GUTTED.

An electric iron, which had not been disconnected after use, is attributed by Fire Chief George Gimblett, as the cause of extensive fire and smoke damage at the residence of Bruce Patterson, 59 McDonnel street last evening.

The fire originating in the kitchen virtually gutted the rear portion of the brick residence, and before it was checked the flames swept the rear passageways and staircase with disastrous effect.

Loss, it is unofficialy estimated amount to $1,000, while insurance only covers the building and does not compensate for the damage to smoke-blackened household effects.

The residence is the old Carnegie homestead, which was at one time owned by Robert N. Ruddy now County Court Judge of Ontario County, and in temporary charge of the judicial duties in Peterborough County pending appointment of a successor to the late Judge E. C. S. Huycke.

ALLWARD DEATH IS UNEXPLAINED

Coroner's Jury Returns Open Verdict on Son of Canadian Sculptor.

FATAL FALL IN FRANCE.

LONDON, May 28 (C.P. Cable).—An open verdict was returned by the coroner's jury at Paddington to-day in an inquest on the death of John Allward, son of Walter Seymour Allward, Canadian sculptor, who came to his death in a fall from an apartment window at Dinard, France.

The coroner said there were many possibilities. Allward might have jumped out of the window in a sudden fit of depression, but there was no definite evidence.

It is unusual for an English coroner to hold an enquiry into a tragedy that happened abroad, but the coroner pointed out apparently no inquest has been held at Dinard. The body was brought to England for cremation, and as a record of the case was attached to the coffin, the undertaker to whom the body was taken, reported it to the coroner.

Mrs. Adele Rogers, the principal witness, testified she had been in France with Allward, who was married but living apart from his wife. They visited Vimy Ridge, where the elder Allward has been working on the great Canadian war memorial, and then went to Dinard. She said she knew nothing of what occurred on the evening of May 19, when Allward came to his death. He was found, clad in pyjamas, lying dead, beneath his bedroom window. She declared Allward had been quite sober and there had been no trouble, but that he was very nervous and excited "owing to a nervous heart."

A London doctor said there was no sign of disease of any organs.

The coroner pointed out that Allward suffered from insomnia, being worried about his heart. He might have gone to bed and, finding himself unable to sleep, have gone to the window and fallen out. he suggested, or he might have jumped out in a sudden fit of depression owing to inability to sleep. Again, he might have been sleep-walking. In view of the fact there was insufficient evidence to show how he fell, he would return an open verdict, he said

WORLD EFFORT AT DISARMING NEAR SHOWDOWN

Nations Rally at Geneva for Accomplishment or Admit Camouflaged Failure.

GERMANY ABSENT.

Canada Stands for Abolition of Private Manufacture of Arms.

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer

GENEVA, May 28.—(C. P. Cable.)—Disarmament efforts to-day were reaching a showdown. After two years of negotiations, the world disarmament conference, due to reassemble to-morrow, faces the plain issue of accomplishment or camouflaged failure.

Arthur Henderson, conference president, Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary, Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, Norman Davis, American Ambassador at Large, and other leading delegates all spent a busy morning in preliminary talks, but buzzing rumor was none too hopeful.

Germany reamins away from the conference and the League. Britain, her two detailed plans for disarmament, virtually discarded by other powers, is inclined to await France. France declines to sacrifice any of her armed security unless she gets an effective quid pro quo, and the world rattles with armaments greater than when the conference began in February, 1932.

Russia Active

On the outskirts of the League, Maxim Litvinoff is pressing the Russian scheme for non-aggression pacts. She has already concluded about 18 of these and Litvinoff is reputed to be endeavoring to convert them into pacts of mutual assistance. The Russian scheme would, in effect, be another form of the Geneva Protocol but limited to the countries of continental Europe.

Men Refuse Work Of Filling In Ditches

Reports received by A. G. Metheral, city relief officer, that some of the 50 city men given employment on the work of filling the ditches along the highway had failed to report for duty this morning, could not be confirmed this afternoon.

Mr. Metheral stated that his information was that some of the men had not shown up on the market square to be transported to the highway job, but he had no opportunity to ascertain the correct number. Several men on relief had refused the highway work, he said, and their names would be struck from the relief rolls. Those who failed to go to work to-day, he added, will be asked to give reasons for absenting themselves.

Mayor Denne said, "This highway work presents a big opportunity to the unemployed to help themselves and they should be prepared to seize upon the opportunity for gainful employment thus afforded them."

$5,000 BELGIAN STALLION DIES—POISON SUSPECTED

BRANTFORD, Ont., May 28 (CP) —The death of Carmondale, $5,000 Belgian stallion, who was never beaten in the show ring, at the farm of his owner, Haas Brothers, Governors Road, has been reported to police. Veterinaries who conducted an autopsy, have expressed the belief that he was poisoned.

Veterinaries Dr. W. J. Fowler, instructor in anatomy and surgery at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, and Dr. R. P. W. Devereux, stated that the poisoning apparently was due to mercury given to the stallion. Traces of what appeared to be mercury were found in the stomach.

Carmondale was known all over Ontario and in other parts of Canada, and was probably the finest Belgian stallion in the Dominion.

A Black Cat

VIENNA, May 28. — (CP) — Bad luck came instantaneously when a black cat crossed the path of Peter Sussbauer as he was driving near Klagenfurt.

The cat leaped from the road into the car and began biting and scratching the driver's neck.

Sussbauer succeeded in keeping the car on the road while two companions pulled off the cat. Then he was taken to a hospital.

FOREST FIRES OUT OF CONTROL

Wind Sweeps Flames Towards Skead in Northern Ontario.

HUNDREDS ACRES ABLAZE.

SUDBURY, May 28—Three bush fires are raging out of control in Sudbury district this morning, Ontario Forestry officials report here.

The fire at Falconbridge, which fire fighters hoped to have controlled this morning is still spreading. The fire fighters were hampered in their efforts by a heavy wind which blew the flames in the direction of Skead, a small town near the source of the fire About forty men are fighting it

The other two fires are at Blewett and Buelah townships. One is on the boundary of Blewett and Buelah townships and covered an area of more than 400 acres. The other is in Buelah township about a mile east of the railway tracks. No recent report has been received here, but forestry officials say that both fires are out of control and cover a much larger area than when last reported Saturday afternoon. Over 100 men are working on the two blaes.

FRANCE, BRITAIN DISCUSS DEBTS

Officials Expected to Meet Davis of United States During Week.

PARLEY IN GENEVA.

PARIS, May 28 (AP) — What France and Great Britain propose to do about their war debts to the United States will be discussed in a three-cornered chat at Geneva.

To participate in the conference, expected to dispel some of the uncertainty shrouding weighing problems, are Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister; Norman H. Davis, United States Ambassador-at-large; and Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary.

All three are now in Geneva to attend sessions of the World Disarmament Conference and it was presumed they would put their heads together this week.

Barthou reported to the Cabinet, it was revealed, that he had sounded Davis out on the meeting and that the latter was agreeable. His report indicated that settlement of the debt is not out of question, although Parliament is opposed.

A default in the payment due June 15 appeared almost inevitable, Barthou said, but he expressed hope that some definite action might be taken.

Great Britain is expected to make another token payment, but has taken the attitude that reopening of the question should be brought about by the United States.

Toronto Woman Hurt Crash At Colborne

COBOURG, Ont., May 28.—(CP) —Mrs. W. Schessel, Toronto, was taken to Cobourg hospital early this morning, suffering from injuries sustained in a motor accident east of Colborne. She is badly bruised and cut but no bones are broken. Mrs. Schessel was riding with her son William, who was driving. W. A. Eggleton, R.R. No. 3 Belleville, was driving west in the same direction as Schessel and when he swerved out to avoid a dog. Schessel's car collided in passing. Eggleton's wife and Mr. and Mrs. James Doig were in the Belleville car. John Hughes and his 3-year-old child were passengers in the Toronto car. Provincial Constable Spencer investigated.

LAND BIG SHIP BENNETT FIELD IN BROOKLYN N.Y.

Forced to Halt Dash to California as Wings Begin to Weaken.

COVER 3,700 MILES.

Pair Fly From Paris in 38 Hours—Plenty of Gas Left.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., May 28.—(AP)—The French flyers, Rossi and Codos, brought their trans-Atlantic plane Joseph Le Brix to a safe landing at Floyd Bennett Field at 1:38 p.m. E.S.T. today.

They appeared over the field from the northeast at 1.32 p.m. and circled the airport three times, dumping gasoline in preparation for their landing.

They came down in a long graceful glide and rolled their big plane for a considerable distance before bringing it to a stop.

A crowd of several hundred persons had gathered at the field in preparation for the landing which the flyers had said they would make in messages picked up during their trip down the New England coast.

Wings Weaken.

Rosso said undue vibration of the wings had caused them to decide upon a landing at Floyd Bennett Field instead of going on to the Pacific Coast. The heavy load of gasoline was thought to be responsible for the wing strain. Mechanics immediately began an inspection of the ship.

A large detail of police was on hand at the field to cope with the crowds.

Rossi and Codos no sooner stopped their motors than a crowd of officials and mechanics and others numbering about 1,000 surrounded the plane.

Immediately a motorcycle escort was rushed to he plane to pick the flyers up as soon as they alighted and escort them to a hangar for a little rest while the repairs were being made.

When they brought their plane to land, Rossi and Codos had been in the air 36 hours and 28 minutes since their takeoff from Le Bourget Field, Paris, and had covered a distance of approximately 3,700 miles of their projected flight to the West Coast.

After Pot of Gold.

NEW YORK, May 28.—(C.P.)—Flying in from the sea with the dawn, Paul Codos and Maurice Ross sped their silver monoplane over the Maritime provinces of Canada early to-day, pointing toward the Pacific and a pot of gold.

The airmen, bent on such a nonstop flight as never has been attempted before—the spanning of the Atlantic ocean and the North American continent—sighted last just as the sun, racing from behind, came up over the eastern horizon.

Kicked along by obliging tailwinds and favored by excellent weather, the monoplane, which lifted its great weight of gasoline from Le Bourget Field at 11:10 o'clock (Eastern Standard Time) Saturday night, sent a cheering 'all's well," and shot along into the west.

The only moments of anxiety came during the dead hours of night when the plane ploughed into the "fliers' graveyard"—the fog-bound Newfoundand banks. For a time the Frenchmen appeared to be having difficulty getting their bearings. Later, however, their wireless was heard, working with a Canadian station, and a clear skyway beckonoed them down the Nova Scotia coast.

San Diego was their destination, and if they had reached the Pacific Ocean without a stop, a French Government prize of $66,000 would have been theirs.

WHOLE BUSH ABLAZE.

Hundreds of Men Battle Flames in Half Dozen Sections.

(By the Canadian Press.)

Bush fires fanned by high winds threatened destruction of a village in Northern Quebec and caused considerable damage to Northern Ontario timber limits over the week-end in a series of outbreaks which spread terror by the lightning-like rapidity with which it spread.

With no rain for over a fortnight in Northern Quebec the bush was a veritable mass of tinder. The Stanley-Siscoe extension plant in the Siscoe gold mine area was destroyed by flames and the village of Provencher, 15 miles west of Rouyn-Noranda was evacuated by scores of its 30 residents who moved their effects to Rouyn. A small saw mill was gutted in no time.

Nudist Movement Plans Conference

LONDON, Eng., May 28. (C.P.-Havas). — The growing nudist movement will hold a "with or without clothing" conference in Surrey in late July it was learned to-day.

While nudism is dying in its European birthplace and nursery, the report noted, it appears on its way to conquer Puritan England. Nudist 'sunbathing clubs' are springing up everywhere and most of them have federated in the "Council of Sun Societies."

A southern beach town has decided to devote a certain section of the beach to men for nude bathing this summer, recalling many protests against "indecent bathing costumes" which were heard last year.

Nudist families will benefit from a plan of the sunbathing society to provide free holidays to nudists this summer.

London Press Gloomy About Disarmament

LONDON, Eng., May 28. (AP.)—Gloomy anxiety ruled the comment of London newspapers to-day on the reassembly of the World Disarmament Conference at Geneva.

Some of the excerpts:

Times.—"The air of Europe is charged with war rumors and lightning flashes of angry provocations."

Telegraph. — Mussolini "who throughout has been one of the strongest advocates of disarmament, is now convinced that the opportunity has passed."

Mail.—"Since all prospect of international disarmament has vanished, the hope of all sane people is that dilatory and dangerous proceedings of the conference will be concluded at the earliest possible time."

Mirror.—"Disarmament is now an abstract theory. Even the peace lover is thrown back on the aphorism: 'If you want peace, prepare for war'."

LOAN IMMEDIATE SUCCESS

LONDON, May 28 (CP Cable). — The new Canadian $50,000,000 loan offered to-day was an immediate success, the lists closing an hour and a half after the opening.

The loan was very largely oversubscribed, but this did not affect prices on the "gilt-edged" market.

The issue, in 3½ per cent. bonds, was made at a price of 96½.

FIVE DAUGHTERS BORN TO WOMAN NEAR SUDBURY

First Quintuple Birth in Canada Medical Officials Believe.

ALL ALIVE, HEALTHY.

Mother 24, Not Eligible for Millar $520,000 Prize —6 Other Children.

CORBEIL, Ont., May 28 (C.P.).—Five baby girls, the largest weighing three pounds and four ounces, and the smallest a pound less, were born this morning to Mrs. Oliva Dionne. All are healthy and expected by the physician attending the birth, Dr. A. R. Dafoe, to live.

Mrs. Dionne, 24 years old and the mother of six other children, one of whom died, was stated by the physician to be in good condition.

The birth of the quintuplets, announced by Dr. Dafoe, created no great fuss on the Dionne farm two miles from this Northern Ontario settlement, which is nine miles south-east of Sudbury. When reporters arrived this afternoon, everything was quiet at the home, and the 31-year-old father was busy about his usual tasks.

The babies had not yet been weighed, but a potato scale was produced and each of the crying youngsters placed in the pan and weighed. Their total was 13 pounds six ounces, with the first born leading in poundage with three pounds four ounces. The two lightest registered two pounds four ounces.

While a newspaper photographer clicked his camera, Mrs. Dionne laughed and joked in French with her nurses. She said she felt "Oh, pretty good."

INCREASE SHOWN IN GARDEN PLOTS

Twenty-five Per Cent More Gardens This Year Than Last.

PLANT 300 BAGS POTATOES

An increase of twenty-five per cent. in the number of relief gardens was reported by A. B. Cunningham to-day.

"The total number is 225." Mr. Cunningham said, "but this does not include the citizens not on relief who are working their home gardens. We have distributed more than 300 bags of seed potatoes, and our supply is exhausted. In fact we didn't have quite enough. Those who have been waiting for tomato and cabbage plants are asked to call at once for them at the relief store north of The Examiner, for after Tuesday afternoon we will give out the surplus to people having home gardens.

We also received a supply of flower and general garden seeds from Mr. Runions, agricultural representative, and these are being distributed from the relief store without orders. All the lots that we had listed have been taken except two or three near the Golf Links, and from the way the work has already started we should see greater results than last year from this endeavor."

Mr. Cunningham is chairman of the Garden Plots Committee of the Central Relief Board.

Six Meetings To-day—Regan Issues Challenge on Beauharnois Slush Fund.

ENUMERATOR CHARGE.

TORONTO, May 28 (CP)—Six political meetings are scheduled for to-day as Ontario party heads continued their speaking tours of the Province for the Ontario general elections, June 19. Premier George S. Henry will speak to-night at Hamilton, while Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal Leader delivers addresses at Kapuskasing and Smooth Rock Falls.

Two of Mr. Henry's Cabinet Ministers will appear on the platform in appeals to the electors. Hon. W. G. Martin, Minister of Public Welfare, addresses meetings at Fenelon Falls and Bobcaygeon, while Hon. J. M. Robb, Minister of Health, will appear at Galt.

Mr. Hepburn spoke at Midland and Orillia yesterday before leaving for his Northern tour. While he was on his way North, Frank Regan, C.C.F. candidate in Toronto St. David's, issued a challenge regarding what he said was the Liberal "Slush Fund" from Beauharnois. Mr. Regan said if Mr. Hepburn was unable to state how the alleged $800,000 Slush Fund was distributed, he could tell him where he could find a memo containing the "whole information."

An Injunction?

Intimations an injunction might be issued in connection with the activities of enumerators in Toronto Riverdale riding came from E. A. Carroll, official agent of Robert A. Leslie, Liberal candidate. He charged the enumerators were "not qualified and are careless." Names had been left off the lists, he added, and if it continued, his client might seek an injunction.

Mr. Carroll said 250 names had been left off the lists in 12 subdivisions. He alleged he had information that the enumerators' lists had been drawn up on "the recommendation of the executive of Ward One Conservative Association, despite the fact the returning officer is sworn to be impartial." He said the enumerators were wives and children or relatives of "well paid" civic employees.

SUCCESSFUL RALLY IS HELD BY OXFORD GROUP IN CITY

More Than Dozen Stories of Sinful, Wasted Lives Told by Groupers.

FOUR ABSOLUTES.

More than a dozen stories of sinful, wasted lives being salvaged and reclaimed for dedication to the work of God through the influence of the Oxford Group Movement were told by witnesses as the doors of the Regent Theatre were thrown open for a public testimonial meeting last night. In addition to a team of eleven men and women from Oshawa, three local followers revealed their experiences.

It was the first occasion on which provision for a really large public response to the movement has been made in Peterborough, although Oxford Group meetings have been held regularly here in the Y.M.C.A. and the various churches for some months past. More than six hundred people crowded the main floor and the baloony of the theatre. A great many of those in attendance had been attracted by curiosity, yet a fair portion of the crowd represented the following which the movement has won during its short career in the city.

Rev. C. D. Daniel

Rev. C. D. Daniel, pastor of Mark Street United Church, served as chairman of the meeting. According to his outline of the nature of the movement, the Oxford groupers are people who are "betting their lives that there is a god." They have found God through Jesus; He is a precious reality to them. Their discovery means so much to them that they want to share it with others.

The Oxford groupers abide by four absolutes, he continued. They are: honesty, purity, unselfishness and love. They believe that they can not live up to these absolutes without completely "surrendering themselves to God." And it is one of the essential principles of the Group that a "quiet time" should be spent each morning in order that God may hear their prayers and offer His guidance in the course to be pursued through the day.

Norman Graham of this city was one of the fourteen who revealed their experiences. If anyone had told him two weeks ago that he would be addressing an Oxford Group meeting, he declared, he would have laughed at the idea. He was leading a dissolute life of gambling and drinking, he related. He had fallen into his sinful ways while overseas and, on his return, kept sinking deeper and deeper into the mire.

Last Drink

"A week ago this morning I had my last drink," he continued. "I got very drunk that Saturday night and, when I woke up on Sunday morning, I was still thirsty for liquor. I went to a bootlegger and had a few drinks and when I got home, went to sleep. When I woke up, I could see the children passing on their way to Sunday School, and I knew there was something I was missing. I went to an Oxford Group meeting that night, and, on Wednesday I gave myself to Christ."

Mr. Graham declared that never in his life had he spent as happy a week as during the past week.

Kenneth Brown, also of this city, related that he had been brought up against the background of a religious home, but that the religious background had not affected him very much. He had always had the idea that religious people were very dull and went about with long faces. He did not believe in God and used his disbelief as an excuse for his misdoings.

Chance for Good Time

Continuing his testimony, Mr. Brown said that his home was on the point of breaking up and there were several broken hearts in the city when he happened to pay a visit to Toronto. In Toronto, he heard of an Oxford Group party in the King Edward Hotel. He thought it was another chance for a good time and attended. "There I first learned the power of God," he asserted.

"The thing that first struck me about the Oxford Group was that there are no 'don'ts' in their doctrine. Instead of 'don'ts' I found four absolutes. I took stock of myself and found that I didn't measure up to any of the four. I then decided to make myself measure up to them. I am reaping my reward every day."

In offering his own testimony, Rev. Daniel said that it is erroneous to believe that the Oxford Group movement has nothing for the minister. On his initial contact with the Groupers, he related, he discovered that he had never "let himself go."

"I had consecrated myself to God at my ordination, but so many things have happened to me during the past ten years that I was beginning to lose sight of the fundamentals. For me my association with the Oxford Group has been a re-consecration. It is as though an unused room at the back of a house had been opened to let Jesus in."

Life Happier

Rev. Daniel declared that his life has been happier during the past sixteen months as a result of his discovery. He has found that he can give more hours of service to God each day, for he needs less sleep. "When God is in your life, you do not need so much sleep," he said.

"There comes a time in life when a man has to shoot square," Harry P. Bull of Oshawa said. "I hadn't been shooting square. When I found out what the Oxford Group offered, I made my decision. Since that time I have been absolutely free from worry and fear."

Mr. Bull asserted that there had been no real religion in his life until he came in contact with the Oxford groupers in Oshawa. He has had successes as well as failures, but there would have been a great difference in his life if he had discovered the "plan" in the beginning, he declared.

The second speaker of the Oshawa team, Charles Baxter, said that there has been a great difference in his home since he became a Grouper. He is now setting an example which he will be proud to have his children follow, he said, and is thanking God for making it possible. His outlook on the world has changed completely and he no longer maintains an attitude of resentment toward his fellow men.

Good Christian

Mrs. Florence Wilson of Oshawa related that she lived a life which she had thought was that of a good Christian. She had served eleven years in the Ladies' Aid of her church, and was acting as superintendent of the beginners in the Sunday School when she discovered God through the Oxford Group. She then realized that she had not been giving her best.

The awakening of Mrs. Mary Bradley of Oshawa came through her husband. Her husband, she told the assemblage, joined the movement first and she observed that a great change took place in him. It troubled her greatly, as she had always thought herself an exemplary Christian, so she allowed him to take her to one of the group meetings. She then discovered that she fell down on all four of the Group's absolutes and surrendered herself. Speaking of the benefit she has received from a morning consultation with God, she said, "I find that when I have a quiet time with Him in the morning, my day goes along very smoothly."

Another of the Oshawa team, Robert Drummond, declared: "Previous to my experience with Jesus Christ, whom I found through the Oxford Group, I wasn't 'playing cricket.' Now I find that I no longer have to fight my evil desires."

Others who testified on the Oshawa team were Howard Bradley, Merle Edmonds, Gertrude Brown, Margaret Baxter, Bill Eddie and Tom McTaggart.

LIVELY, VARIED WEEK IN HOUSE

Easier Path Predicted For Market Act—Report on Shipping Bill.

Companies' Act To Come Up.

OTTAWA, May 28. (CP).—Parliament has the prospect of a lively and varied week before it as it resumes its sessions to-day. The marketing bill is the first order of business in the House of Commons and while it was dogged with steady opposition on its previous appearances there is a belief it will make better progress to-day. A number of sections remain to be approved in committee of the whole.

When the Senate resumes its sittings it will receive the report of the banking committee on the new shipping bill, the most voluminous piece of legislation of the session.

Included in the shipping bill is a clause calling for a new Canadian marine flag with a large green maple leaf replacing the Canadian shield on the blue of the present flag.

Ranking with the shipping bill in importance from a legal standpoint and like it, lacking in material for political controversy another bill is due for discussion in the Commons right after the marketing measure. It is the companies act which provides for stricter control over the incorporation and operation of companies which sell stock to the public. Little opposition is expected for it.

Major interest still attaches to the bill to provide for a public works program which will likely be introduced in the Commons without delay. A total expenditure of $50,000,000 has been freely mentioned as the sum parliament will be asked to vote to start building and other jobs to give work to some of the unemployed and speed up the revival of business and industry.

ARCHBISHOP O'BRIEN IS TAKEN SUDDENLY ILL WHILE IN OTTAWA

Suffered a Hemorrhage From an Internal Ulcer—Condition Serious.

BEEN IN GOOD HEALTH.

OTTAWA, May 28. (CP).— The condition of Archbishop M. J. O'Brien of Kingston, was somewhat better this morning, according to hospital reports. He was resting "fairly well." The Archbishop became ill suddenly last night while attending the banquet of the state convention, Knights of Columbus, in Hull.

OTTAWA, May 28 (CP)—Archbishop M. J. OBrien of Kingston, Ontario who was to have delivered the funeral oration at the burial of Archbishop Neil McNeil of Toronto this week, was taken suddenly ill here last night. His Excellency collapsed while attending a banquet of the convention of the Knights of Columbus from Ontario and Quebec.

After receiving medical attention he was taken to the Ottawa General Hospital. It was stated he has suffered a hemorrhage from an internal ulcer. Prior to the attack he had been in good health. He is 60 years old.

All the archbishop's engagements for the next few weeks have been cancelled. While his condition is serious he is expected to recover.

He is chaplain of the Knights of Columbus.

The archbishop complained of feeling ill to those near him and a few minutes later rose to leave the room. He had only taken a few steps when he collapsed. Dr. Hubert J. Poocck of Toronto, one of the delegates, assisted him and after an examination took him to the hospital.

"Mucus Colitis" is the name given to an intestinal condition in which large amounts of mucus are formed. The patients are usually nervous, underweight, with drooping or "fallen" stomach and intestines. And most important of all in the causation of the disease, they are inveterate cathartic consumers.

In order to investigate the production of mucus in the intestine, two research workers at Rochester, Minn., made an especially planned study of the question. They believe that a certain amount of mucus is a valuable thing because it acts as a lubrication. They found that normally after an evacuation a certain amount of mucus is formed. Any kind of diarrhea apparently increases the amount of mucus.

This, as we may say, "normal" response, is followed in an only slightly exaggerated form in the action of certain cathartics such as senna and rhubarb. Here the action of the drug itself does not produce any mucus but as soon as evacuation has occurred a considerable quantity of mucus forms in the bowel. Castor oil did the same thing, but the production of mucus was larger.

These investigations certainly can be interpreted to show that mucus colitis can be produced by heavy self-dosage with cathartics, and a great many of these patients have brought the disease on themselves because their naturally sensitive bowels felt that they should be emptied and demanded stronger and more drastic cathartics as time went on, finally producing a state of irritation which simply defeated the result they had started out to obtain.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

T.: "Will putting warm water on your head every time you comb your hair make your hair thin and brittle?"

Answer: No. I know people who have put water on their hair every time they have brushed it for years, without any damage.

E. R.: "Please tell me how an inflamed gall bladder acts and where the pain appears."

Answer: The pain is sometimes pretty general in the abdomen, but is usually located either in the pit of the stomach—that is to say, in the middle, high up—or under the edge of the right ribs. It sometimes moves to the right shoulder and the right side of the neck. It is also accompanied by fever, chills, jaundice, vomiting and loss of weight.

C. R. H.: "Will one teaspoon of epsom salts in hot water each morning before breakfast reduce one?"

Answer: No, not unless accompanied by diet.

Brown well on both sides in a heavy frypan. Add one-half cup water reduce the heat and cook slowly for an hour. About 15 minutes before serving time put thick slices of tart apple into the pan. FACTS AND FANCIES

Soften Water

The old rain barrel for soft water was a grand thing, when we had no better way of obtaining soft water in our homes. And it still may be good for scrubbing, washing the automobile, and various utilitarian tasks. But the barrel is a dirt receptable in most instances. We can't get around that very easily. And we have a host of mechanical water softeners available, which might surprise us in a number of ways if we would investigate their merits and costs.

Bacon Muffins

Break into small pieces of one-half to one inch enough cooked bacon to make three-fourths cup. Sift together one cup corn meal, one cup flour, one teaspoon salt, four teaspoons baking powder and one-fourth cup sugar. Combine one slightly beaten egg with three-fourths cup milk and add to first mixture. Then add one-fourth cup melted butter and the cooked bacon. Pour into muffin pans which have been well greased or lined with paper muffin cups. Bake for 25 minutes at 400 degrees.

The bagpipe, up to the eighteenth century, was common in almost every county in Europe.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Neglect in sending regrets or acceptance to certain invitations is an almost inexcusable negligence on the part of the invited guest. The hostess must have a certain number at the party or the requisite pairing off into couples is spoiled. This is recognized as imperative at card parties. A whole table will be thrown out of the prize-winning contest if just one out of four persons fails to respond, thereby letting the hostess know whether a substitute must be found. It is also a discourtesy to be so late in replying that a hostess, much against her wishes, you may be sure, is obliged to call up the invited guest to get the response to the invitation.

* * * * * * *

It is equally important for dinner invitations to be accepted or regrets sent. At a formal dinner, whether small or large each person has a partner. If a woman cannot go to the function, the hostess must see that another woman is invited to fill the vacancy. If a man cannot be present, the hostess must find another man to substitute.

* * * * * * *

It is a bit odd that being asked to substitute at a card party is considered all right while being asked to substitute at a dinner party is taken rather as indicating a neglectful omission to invite the substitute in the first instance. As a matter of fact a dinner table restricts the number of guests at a dinner party since only just so many can be seated comfortably about it. The only right an individual has to feel slighted in either instance is when a hostess entertains frequently and she fails to receive an invitation to any of the parties.

* * * * * * *

Whenever R.S.V.P. or Please Reply is on an invitation it is a discourtesy to the hostess not to reply. It may be for pairing off couples that the knowledge is needed. It may be for ample catering to be provided or the number of extra helpers needed. It may be for reasons known only to the hostess. But never neglect to reply when a reply is requested. It is always a courtesy to respond to an invitation whether requested to or not, even for such a function as a tea or reception, which invitations are often slighted in being replied to. An early reply is especially appreciated by a hostess, whatever the entertainment may be.

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., May 26.—... Filmdom's younger set is buzzing with the news that Dick Powell is planning to form a bachelor's club with membership limited to Hollywood's eligible male actors.

Dick Powell

There will be nothing anti-feminine in the idea of the club, Dick explains. He wants to organize it for social purposes, the main object being to throw a series of swank annual parties.

Plans are still in their first stages, but Dick has talked the project over with several fellow bachelors and they're all keen to go through with it.

Some of the young-men-about-Hollywood whom Dick intends to invite to be charter members are Lyle Talbot, Donald Woods, Randy Scott, Phil Regan, Jack Oakie and Fronchot Tone—providing, of course, that Franchot is still a bachelor when the club gets under way.

'THE HOUSE OF ROTHSCHILD' George Arliss' first vehicle under his new contract with 20th Century Pictures, comes to the Capitol Theatre on Monday and, here indeed is a picture of which Hollywood may be justly proud.

Thus, the family life of the Rothschilds—the love of Nathan for his wife Hannah and their lovely daughter, Julie, and Julie's beautiful romance with Fitzroy, the Duke of Wellington's aide, play a major role in the picture and imbue it with added warmth and life.

The cast is so huge and imposing that it would be impossible to give individual credit to each of the supporting actors who contributed an outstanding portrayal, but special credit must be given to Boris Karloff as the villainous Ledrantz; Loretta Young as Julie—she has never looked as enchantingly beautiful;—Robert Young as Fitzroy; C. Aubrey Smith as Wellington; Helen Westley as the mother of the Rothschilds; Florence Arliss as Hannah; Reginal Owen as Herries; and Alan Mowbray as Metternich.

MAKING THE rounds of Hollywood, I find nothing more warming than the palship that exists between Isabell Jewell and her father. Although the former Montana physician has become completely blind in the last few months, he is Isabel's constant companion in the gay evening rendezvous of the film colony. And so deft and unobtrusive are her attentions that the average reveler is unaware of her fathers infirmity.

Alice Lake

One of the ironies of the day is the situation on the Paramount picture, 'The Great Flirtation.' Elissa Landi and Adolphe Menjou are the featured players and playing a bit part is Alice Lake. A SOUND SHIFT

An informatory double shows strength in at least three suits, without specifying which suits are strong. Usually the strength lies in the three unbid suits, but this is not always the case, as South soon discovered. Fortunately he had enough courage to live up to what he had learned.

	♠ A Q J 3 ♥ A K 7 ♦ A Q 10 5 ♣ J 6
♠ K 2 ♥ 8 6 5 2 ♦ K J 9 8 ♣ 6	W. E. N. S.	♠ 10 9 7 6 ♥ 4 3 ♦ 7 4 3 ♣ 8 7 5 4
	♠ 8 5 4 ♥ Q J 10 9 ♦ 2 ♣ K 10 9 3 2

Bidding went: West, 1-diamond; North, doubled; South, 2-clubs; North, 2-no trumps, to show that clubs were his weakness; South, 3-hearts, calculating that he could win at least four tricks and depending upon partner to win not fewer than five tricks, with his double and no trump shift; North, 4-hearts, which ended the auction.

West hesitated whether he should lead a trump or a diamond. He decided on the latter lead, as opponents had not bid different suits and then compromised upon a third suit, to indicate cross-ruffing. West put up his J of diamonds, losing to dummy's Q.

If West held two and one-half quick tricks, these must consist of the A-Q of clubs, and the missing K's of diamonds and spades. Evidently clubs had to be established, as the six missing trumps (probably divided 4-2) would not admit of ruffing.

The J of clubs was led. It lost to West's Q. A low heart was returned. Dummy won the trump trick, and its last club was led. South's 9 lost to the ace. Back came a trump. Dummy won the trick and the declarer won two added heart tricks, pulling all opposing trumps. Then South ran off his three established clubs. West had to let go all his diamonds except the K. Leaving him with the guarded K of spades as the balance of his three remaining cards. Dummy was down to the lone ace of diamonds and the A-Q of spades. East held only three spades. Even if East had the missing K of spades, game was assured. South spread his hand, announcing a spade lead, and the finesse of the Q, unless the K appeared. He made five-odd, because he had sense enough to read his partner's hand. The holdings were not at all fitted for no trump play, although game should result from that call. North could win three spade tricks, four heart tricks and two minor suit tricks against any defence.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

I recently heard a very funny story about Pearl White, that famous serial queen who starred in "The Perils of Pauline," and like serial thrillers. Pearl, it seems, during one Deauville season, decided that she'd like a suntan. She was afraid that the sun would freckle her skin, however, so she started taking henna baths in order to tint her skin. One day she used a little too much henna in the bath. When she emerged from the tub, she was a brilliant red color. And her maid had to scrub her for hours before her s... was toned down to a fairly presentable hue.

There are a good many gals who, like Pearl, freckle badly when exposed to the sun. And although I'd like to say that it's possible for the girl who freckles easily to acquire a smooth, even tan, I'm afraid that I honestly can't. For if she does acquire a tan, she's also bound to reap a crop of freckles at the same time. Of course, if such a girl gets a very deep tan, the freckles won't be very noticeable. But they'll be there, nevertheless.

Freckles are an alteration of the pigment under the skin due to exposure to sun and wind. In some individuals, sun exposure results in a lovely, uniform tan, because the protective pigment permeates the tissue of the outer skin uniformly. But in freckle-susceptible gals, the pigment forms in irregular, spot-like accumulations.

If you want a suntan, of course, you've got to expose yourself to the sun's rays. And when you do expose yourself, if you freckle easily, that spot-like alteration of your pigment will take place regardless of what you do. Your tan may become deep enough to render these freckles unnoticeable. But at the end of the season, when your tan begins to fade, the freckles will become most obvious.

The best course for the girl who is susceptible to freckles, and who wishes a suntanned appearance, is to resort to the artificial suntan achieved by make-up. If she protects her skin properly from the sun's rays, as described in by "Beauty Outlure" booklet, she can ward off any unpretty freckling. And yet, through the proper use of suntan make-up, she can present the appearance of having a most attractive coat of tan.

And don't worry about a few golden blobs across your nose. They're cute, the boys will say, and even you "severest critics" won't be able truthfully to say they spoil your charm.

Rector Of St. John's Opposes Pew Rentals

Church pew rentals were yesterday morning spoken of by Archdeacon Dr. R. C. Blagrave, rector of St. John's Church, as being a "pagan custom," which he supposed had originated in a less enlightened day when people had not come to realize the full joy and privilege of making free-will offerings to their church.

Archdeacon Blagrave stated his opposition to pew rentals, he said, on the "basic idea that the church is the house of God." Pew rentals, he believed, had a tendency to "commercialize the inside of the church."

THE BASEBALL OPENING.

The officers of the Peterborough Baseball Club are to be congratulated upon the success of the official opening on Saturday, despite the fact that the visiting Kingston team took some of the joy out of the occasion by defeating the home club.

However, the outcome of the game is not after all so important as the fact that the season has been opened with due ceremony, and that the sport-loving people of Peterborough can look forward to a long series of interesting games this summer, which is a matter for general satisfaction. A city that is not represented in major sport is usually a decidedly dead spot, and so it is gratifying to feel that Peterborough is to the front in senior baseball.

The whole setting for Saturday's affair was perfect. The verdant ball park with its charming background of graceful trees, the bright uniforms of the Rangers' Band and the teams marching in Indian file down the foul lines to criss-cross at the home plate, made a memorable picture, and the presence of political, municipal and O.B.A.A. dignitaries was a fitting recognition of the importance of senior baseball.

To complete the happiness of the fare a home victory was necessary, but this time the fortunes of war smiled upon the invaders. However, there will be other days and other games, and the local team will give their many supporters a multitude of opportunities to cheer before the leaves begin to fall.

A WORTH-WHILE PROJECT.

The announcement that the ditches along provincial highways in this district are to be filled in is a matter of satisfaction to The Examiner, which has long stressed the point that in many places these ditches were veritable death-traps for the motorist unlucky enough to drive off the road surface.

We have never been able to understand why in the interest of safety road engineers did not seek to solve the drainage problem without lining the highways with eight and ten-foot ditches, a drop into which by a car out of control means serious injury or death.

That they have at last recognized the seriousness of the situation and are taking steps to remove the ditch menace will be gratifying to the travelling public.

This work, entirely justified from a safety standpoint, involves, of course, other important advantages.

The much wider road shoulder will prove a route for horse-drawn vehicles during the winter months, making it possible for the centre of the road to be kept clear of snow for the benefit of motorists, while it will also solve the tractor problem as those machines will be able to travel along the side of the highway and thus will not impede traffic.

In addition, of course, is the very desirable benefit that this work will provide employment for a large number of jobless men, and along with the various other road enterprises now being carried on, should take care of a large portion of the city and district unemployed.

FINANCIAL INDEPENDENCE.

Of all material considerations, financial independence is the supreme desire of most human beings, and life insurance companies operating in Canada are properly stressing the fact in connection with the campaign that opened to-day that one of the safest and surest ways to such independence is through life insurance.

Every man and woman engaged in any gainful occupation should provide at least some financial protection for old age and some financial reserve against the vicissitudes of life. The war, the epidemic that followed the war, and the depressed business conditions of the past four years have surely sufficiently emphasized the necessity for saving and thrift.

Now that business is improving and there are indications of returning prosperity, Canadians everywhere will do well to review their financial position and to take steps to replace the losses of recent years. In doing so, one of their first considerations should be life insurance. It not only provides a safe and profitable place for savings but it has the unique advantage of creating an estate realizable at once in case of death.

It is a striking fact that through all the financial trials and business disturbances of recent years, life insurance has proved itself the supreme investment—superior to the hazards of markets, paying one hundred cents on the dollar, meeting every obligation promptly and in full.

INVITE THEM TO PETERBOROUGH.

The Examiner would suggest to the civic authorities that they take advantage of the "Maple Leaf Tour" of British representatives of food distributing trades arranged by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson in co-operation with the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways to have these visitors from overseas see something of Peterborough's manufacturing plants, especially those engaged in the food trades.

Canada's High Commissioner has planned this tour to let British business men get a first hand knowledge of Canadian food-producing plants, and the party will spend over a month in Canada, arriving around August 1.

They will cover a large part of the Dominion, and it is felt that their visit will do much to stimulate British-Canadian trade, because it cannot fail to create a new interest in Canadian products among the members of the Maple Leaf Tour party.

The Central Ontario Commerce Crusader, through the instrumentality of Mayor Tice of Belleville, have already extended an invitation to the British party to include the Bay of Quinte district in their itinerary in order that they may have an opportunity to inspect the cheese factories and canning plants in that section of Canada.

It would be good business for Peterborough to endeavor to bring the Maple Leaf Tour here, because the city possesses a number of industries vitally interested in the British export trade, and they are well worthy of inspection by the British delegation.

DISCIPLINE NEEDED.

In recent years we have heard much about "reforming the criminal," and there are those who would convert our penitentiaries into institutions where the work of reformation would be the first consideration.

There is no doubt that changing the heart of the criminal is a most worthy and desirable ambition; and it should not be lost sight of in the management of all houses of correction and punishment. But at the same time there should be no lessening of the stress placed upon the fact that sin deserves and must receive punishment. Men make their own lives. They know when they are wrong-doers; and it would be a mistake to lead them to believe that when they stray from the straight and narrow path the whole object of the state is to put them back on the path and set them free. Such a system of social reform would lead to many fake conversions. It is still advisable for men to be warned that if they become criminals punishment fitting the crime will be meted out to them. This sort of reward is still the greatest source of protection enjoyed by respectable society.

It is quite evident that the Kingston Penitentiary is not progressing as rapidly as some would wish in reforming the prisoners incarcerated there. Recently fire broke out in three different sections of the "pen" at the same time, and it is strongly suspected that the conflagrations were of incendiary origin.

Investigations will be conducted, and it is hoped that if convictions are registered there will be no repetition of the sob sentiment which accompanied other trials of prisoners held some time ago. Public opinion is quite right in insisting upon humane treatment, even for criminals, but discipline is something absolutely necessary in penal institutions. After all, these men are there because they disregarded the rights of others, and while their course of treatment there should take into consideration the reformation of their characters, they should be made to realize that they are not social guests of the country, but rather men deserving of punishment.—Chatham News.

A LEAK THAT SHOULD BE STOPPED.

(From the Sault Ste. Marie Star)

One of the anomalous situations which has been revealed by the business investigation which has been taking place before the committee headed by Hon. H. H. Stevens is that President Walter M. Stewart of the Macdonald Tobacco Company has been able, quite legally, to withdraw $5,000 per week from the business without having to pay income tax on it. And his is said to be not the only case.

The probabilities are that one result of the investigation will be an effort to tighten up the loophole of which Mr. Stewart took advantage and which is the result of some changes made in the act of 1930.

Income tax officials, says a despatch in the Montreal Star, were not at all surprised at Mr. Stewart's evidence; their attitude, instead, was on the "I told you so" variety. They implied that under certain conditions—which had operated in Mr. Stewart's case—it was the easiest thing in the world to have an income of $5,000 per week and not pay any tax upon it—if you had the $5,000.

How it was done was as follows: Prior to 1930 the income tax law provided that upon the winding up, discontinuence, or re-organization of any incorporated company, the distribution of the property of the company in any form was deemed to be a dividend to the extent that the company had undistributed income on hand, and was taxable as income. In 1900, however, an amendment was made to the statute to provide that undistributed income earned prior to 1930 should be exempt.

The effect of the change was not to tax dividends paid out of profits earned prior to that year in the case of a company reorganization. Upon the passage of the new law, Mr. Stewart simply reorganized the Macdonald Company and set aside $2,500,000 out of its undivided profits as a fund from which to draw his $5,000 per week income—not salary.

Why the change in the law was made is declared by those who have been inquiring into the matter to be surrounded in obscurity. The income tax branch recommended against it. The reason advanced by the Government of the day was that many companies had profits piled up which they would not release for purposes of circulation in general business because of the high income taxes. If the taxes were removed, it was contended, the money would be distributed and would stimulate industry. The income tax branch pointed out that the principal effect would be to have the monies which could be disbursed tax-free distributed, but that current profits, upon which taxes would have to be paid, would be accumulated instead. This is said to have been exactly what has happened.

There is always difficulty when it is proposed to make legislation retroactive, but perhaps popular support will strengthen the hands of the Government now.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

One thing is already apparent in regard to the present election, and that is that it is not going to be a whispering campaign.

Now is the time to check up the enumerators' lists and make sure your name is there. Don't take it for granted that you are listed.

The latest offer from the politicians is a system of small cold storage plants throughout the province, promised by the Liberals. Now the Government will come back with the promise of something else.

Voice Of The People

THE CHEESE INDUSTRY.

To Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir:

Is the cheese industry worth saving? At the present time approximately 26,000 farmers are depending for their principal cash income on milk that is being manufactured into cheese, yet our principal market, Great Britain, is rapidly being lost to our chief competitor, New Zealand. For instance, as shown by a recent report of the dairy commissioner our respective positions on that market for the year 1923 to 1932 are:

	1923 lbs.	1932 lbs.	Increase P.C.	Decrease P.C.
Canada	112,180,544	83,694,464	....	25.4
New Zealand	153,289,248	207,507,216	35.3	....

The chief reason for this condition may be attributed to the price at which New Zealand is willing to sell their cheese as compared to what we are asking, or is it because the New Zealand producers are spending more money to advertise and bring their goods before the British public. In 1932 New Zealand spent $50,000 advertising various New Zealand products and this year $150,000 is to be spent, the principal type of advertising followed is the giving of prizes for the best dressed grocery window displaying New Zealand products. This not only keeps before the British consumer the New Zealand cheese, but it is stimulating the good-will of the grocery manager, who is the direct contact between the consumer and the distributer. Against this we have a superior quality of product, due principally to the fact that our cheese is made from unpasteurized milk, whereas that of New Zealand is made from pasteurized. Pasteurization is detrimental to a favourable development in the maturing process. The premium asked for our cheese over the counter is around two cents per pound, and with a quality that approaches that of the finest English and Scotch cheddars it appears that by taking a leaf out of the book of New Zealand we would undoubtedly be able to market our goods more advantageously for the producer.

The cheese industry—a very old branch of the dairy industry in this province—is at the present time facing the most critical period in its history. Factories are closing down because of lack of milk; factories that are burned are not being rebuilt; others are becoming so small in output that they are near the point where it is uneconomical for them to operate; with the result that a large percentage of the milk that was used for cheese is finding its way to creameries. Butter on an export basis is not profitable to the farmer. Ontario butter in Great Britain has no place in so far as quality is concerned. Our Cheese is considered the finest, along with Scotch and English Cheddars, yet the position that faces us to-day is that the trend is towards decreased production in cheese and increased production in butter. Will this trend be stopped this year? If so, what will stop it? Before answering this question let us deal with solutions for the existing conditions as viewed by some authorities.

One school holds to the opinion that by doubling or trebling our production we would retain our position on the British market. This opinion is based on the argument that, due to our low production, the British importers have become disinterested because of a lack of continuity of supply. Another school maintains that increased production through better bulls and the elimination of poor cows would put our producers in a better position to compete with New Zealand, whose production per cow is greatly in excess of our own. The next school adheres to the policy that development of the home market is the solution, pointing out that our consumption per capita of 3½ lbs. is greatly below that of other countries; Great Britain, for instance, consuming 12½ lbs. per capita. The opinion of the writer is that all three are essential, but as considerable time is necessary to develop them, and as something of a more immediate nature is absolutely essential if we are to save the industry, we will have to look elsewhere.

This brings me to the question in the previous paragraph: 'Will this trend be stopped this year? If so, what will stop it?" My answer to this most difficult question is just 'interest'—interest on the part of the producer for his industry. The cheese industry is and has been, suffering from lack of interest by the producer himself for the past fifteen years with the result that it has been neglected and other channels for the disposal of milk have been utilized with have not always proved profitable to the farmer.

The writer in his capacity of secretary-treasurer and organizer for the newsly-formed Ontario Cheese Patrons' Association has had the privilege during the past three months of addressing large meetings of cheese patrons in every cheese-producing county in the province. These meetings have been held in afternoons and evenings and farmers have travelled long distances to attend them at the sacrifice of their time, which is so valuable to them at this season of the year. They are looking for leadership to-day because they realize now that the time has come when more interest must be shown by themselves in their own industry. This newly-formed organization has been given financial assistance by the provincial government. The Ontario Dairy Department has given the association the assistance of its instructors, and the agricultural representatives are also assisting in the work of organization. Never before has there been such intense interest shown by the producers in the cheese industry, and never before has there been such an opportunity for them to organise for the purpose of looking after their own business. With such an organization functioning, the cures for the unfavourable condition of the industry as previously mentioned, viz. continuity of supply, increased production, and the development of the home market, will undoubtedly follow.

What is the reason for the lack of interest by the producer? In answering this question the writer does so from his own personal observations. First, lack of uniformity in marketing. The marketing of cheese in the province is disgraceful. It is estimated that only 25% is sold in open competition which is setting the price for the balance. Private arrangements for sales are made, which in the end reacts to the disadvantage of the producer. No uniformity exists in annual statements returned to the producer, and in many cases no statement is returned at all. Comparison between cheese factory returns and returns from other sources through which the milk might be disposed of is practically impossible for the average producer to make. These conditions are not the fault of any particular class engaged in the cheese industry, but rather the fault of a system that has developed through many years of indifferent and haphazard methods of marketing by the producer. An overhauling is absolutely necessary and if any progress is to be made in trying to bring this old and well-established industry back to a place near its former position it will be absolutely necessary for all to work together for the common weal.

S. L. JOSS,
Secretary-Treasurer, Ontario Cheese Patrons' Association.

THE UNANSWERED LETTER

There's a letter on my desk. It used to lie on top of the other scraps of paper, publicity releases, catalogues and letters that accumulate there. I used to keep it on top to remind me to answer it....And I wanted to answer

I WANTED to answer it, too. It was from a dear friend and it's good to get his letters, because they are always humorous and wise and understanding, and since he lives hundreds of miles away we cannot talk to each other except through written words.

But I didn't answer it. I put other letters on top of it and other things on top of those leters. And now it's buried deep. I can't see it, but I know it's there...It reproaches me. It looks at me with a baleful X-ray eye. It shames me. It calls me unworthy. It asks me over and over, "Why don't you answer me? What kind of a friend are you, anyway? Don't you value friendship at all? Don't you understand how precious it is to have a friend like that? Wry do you treat him so carelessly? Oh, you poor, driveling idiot!" If that letter has a thousand tongues it could not scorch me more cruelly, more deservedly than it does as it lies buried so deeply on my desk.

So I MUST write that answer... But it's difficult. You intend to answer a letter and you don't do it The days drift along and multiply into weeks and weeks. You become ashamed of yourself. You can't think of a decent excuse....Finally, a letter that should be as natural as friendship itself becomes a strain and a reproach and a difficult endeavor....You shrink from it. You postpone it endlessly. You let it go forever and a friendship goes with it. Slips out into the dark deep and drowns and floats palely in the past. You don't intend to do this thing. You never wished to be such a benighted fool....And yet, here you are, staring forlornly at an old unanswered letter....and wondering if you'll every reform your ways and wondering, to, if other people do all the silly things that you do.

A Thought

IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

In handling men your own feelings are the only ones that are of no importance. I don't mean by this that you want to sacrifice your self-respect, but you must keep in mind that the bigger the position, the broader the man must be to fill it.

A man can't do what he pleases in this world, because the higher he climbs the plainer people can see him.

I want you to learn right at the outset not to play with the spoon before you take the medicine. Putting off an easy thing makes it hard, and putting off a hard one makes it impossible. Procrastination is the longest world in the language, but there's only one letter between its end when they occupy their proper place in the alphabet.

I don't know anything that a young business man ought to keep more entirely to himself than his dislikes, unless it's his likes. It's generally expensive to have either, but it's bankruptcy to tell about them. It's all right to say nothing about the dead but good, but it's better to apply the rule to the living, especially to the house which is paying your salary.—From "Letters of a Self-made Merchant to his Son," by George H. Lorimer.

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

THE EGREMONT SETTLERS

On this date, in 1832 the ship Evelyn arrived at Quebec bearing the first of what were known as the Egremont settlers; a second ship the Lord Melville arrived on June 2; and a third a little later. This was probably the best organized and the most fruitful of any of the immigration plans of the period. The progenitor of the scheme was the Earl of Egremont, who decided that the only way to solve the over-population in Sussex of that day was emigration. Accordingly he organized the Petworth committee, so called because that was the name of its locale, which set about its work in a thoroughly business-like manner. His lordship offered to bear the whole of the expense of person of approved character who desired to proceed to Upper Canada. Few details were overlooked; sanitation and comfort (such as it was in those times) on board ship; provision of suitable clothing and implements. In all 767 were selected and crossed the Atlantic. They travelled from Montreal to Prescott in Durham boats, which were drawn through the rapids by oxen. At Prescott they boarded a steamer for York, where they were put on three schooners. Two went to Hamilton; these people settled at Galt, Ancaster, Dundas, Guelph and vicinity. The third schooner passed through the Welland canal to Buffalo and then to Port Stanley, or Kettle Creek as it then was. The destination of these was Adelaide Township, Middlesex, which they reached by overland journey from the Port. So many people went to Adelaide that the surveyor general, probably as a joke, suggested that the name should be changed to "Glatcher" after the leader of the Egremont people.

Naturally conditions were hard; they became harder when the government stopped supplies and the peope were dependent upon potatoes and Indian corn. A few deserted and went across to Michigan, but the majority stayed; the Sussex tenacity proved itself and the hope of the Petworth committee that it was not "perhaps going too far to indulge the expectation that some of the settlements formed by these Sussex emigrants "would eventually become of great importance to the province" has been realized. Many of the old Sussex names are to be found on tombstones in the old graveyards, and are borne with pride by the present day descendants of the Egremont settlers.

WESTASKIWIN, ALBERTA.

Westaskiwin is a Cree Indian word, or combination of Indian sylabes, Wees-Tas-Ki-Win, meaning "the hills of peace." The derivation of the word goes back to a 45-year-old story of the Crees fighting the Blackfeet, in the course of which operations they came to a stand on the adjoining hills immediately north of the city.

It was there the chief of the Crees made a treaty with the Blackfoot chief. Together they smoked their peace pipe and together they buried their hatchets on the top of the hill, forever giving the locality the designation: "hills of peace."

MINE BUILDINGS ARE WIPED OUT

ROUYN, Que., May 28 (C.P.).—Word was received here to-day that buildings of the Aldermac Mine were ablaze, ignited by sparks from a roaring forest fire sweeping through the region. The information was that there was slight chance of saving the mine buildings.

Other mine buildings were right in the path of the bush fire. Mine buildings at Lake Fortune, including the bunkhouse, the camp boarding house, mine office and assay office were gutted during the night, together with an unused sawmill and the machinery it contained. The mine at Lake Fortune was controlled by Towagmac Exploration Company. Loss was estimated at several thousands of dollars. The mine was inactive at the time it was burnt, but operations were to have been resumed shortly.

INDUSTRIALS ALSO ADVANCE

Gains Well in Lead Over Losses Although Profit-taking Sets in Late.

WALKERS COMMON ACTIVE.

TORONTO, May 28 (CP)—Buying in volume better than the recent average lifted the price level on the industrial section of the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. While late afternoon profit-taking shaded the day's best quotations, gains were well in the lead over losses at the close. Distillery, oil and food stock harbored a preponderance of gains with Walker's Common holding the leadership for volume.

New York buying was reported in Walkers, and the price touched 37 before it began to recede under profit-taking. The close at 36 was up a point net, while Distillers Seagrams failed to hold an early lead, closing unchanged at 17. Brewer and Distillers gained 10 cents.

Leading interlisted shares held to the upside, including Nickel, Ford "A" and C.P.R. Most of the brewery issues firmed on fair volume.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WINNIPEG, May 28 (C.P.). — Pushed skyward by a blazing sun on Western wheatlands and only moderate offerings, wheat prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today ended with net gains of 4¾ to 4⅞ cents.

At Chicago, wheat climbed its maximum gain of five cents. The limit for a trading session. Winnipeg, however, saw wheat prices jump 5⅛ cents at the maximum gain with only a slight recession at the close.

LIMIT AT CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, May 28 (C.P.). — Unseasonably high temperatures and continued drought in the grain belts hoisted wheat five cents a bushel to-day, the limit permitted in a single day's trading on the Chicago Board of Trade. Corn and oats were also sharply higher.

May wheat reached the peak at 98¼ cents.

Wheat opened as much as two cents higher and continued to advance during the session. Wheat closed within a few cents of the $1.00 a bushel mark for all deliveries, establishing new high records for the season, as did corn and oats.

As reports of continued drought and temperatures of 106 in the Dakotas reached the pits, trading became feverish. It was a buyers' market and additional adverse reports of insect pests and grain destruction continued to force prices up and hold them at the highs until the close.

July wheat ended at 96¾c and Septembre at 97½c. May corn closed at 55⅝c. July at 57¼c, and September at 69c. The close for May oats was 40¼c and September at 41¼ cents.

MONTREAL EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, May 28 (CP)—Securities on the Montreal Stock Exchange finished to-day's session in buoyant fashion. The early gains were gradually extended as the session progressed.

Dominion Glass Preferred rose five points at 125, while St. Lawrence Paper was up a point at 23½. Consolidated Smelters rose 1½ points at 154. International Nickel advanced 15 cents at 26.50, while Dryden, Power Corporation, McColl-Frontenac and Canadian Industrial Alcohol "B" were fractionally higher.

Brazilian Traction dipped ⅛ to a new low for the year at 9¼, and Montreal Power, Dominion Bridge, Steel of Canada and National Breweries were off small amounts.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, May 28.—(AP)—After rallying moderately in the forenoon today, the Stock Market levelled off and held a narrow price range. Trading was quiet throughout. Shares that got up 1 to around 2 points included Case, Du Pont, American Sugar Refining, American Telephone, Santa Fe and Allied Chemical. Armour shares were active. Transfers approximated 600,000 shares.

McMillan Gold is making progress with mill construction at its property. Expects to be into production at the end of June. Electrical equipment also is being installed and power will be turned on within a few days.

The annual meeting of Island Lake Mines will be held in Winnipeg June 6th. Due to the break up season little news has appeared from the property recently.

Long Lac Lagoon Mines is continuing drilling operations at its property in that gold area. The last hole completed is said to have shown two ore sections showing visible gold, while another narrow section ran medium grade.

Central Manitoba Mines has started a drilling campaign at its property and one hole put down some 1200 feet from the Couchinour shaft is said to have encountered good values over a width of 18 inches which returned assays of .48 ounces of gold per ton.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 28.—The lows of last Wednesday, a little above 85 in the Standard Industrial Stock Index are apparently going to hold as a boundary for the lower side of the current trading range. The news too is a little brighter including the more seasonal pick-up in freight car loadings reported last week, stability in power output and prospect that the labor bill now being put through Congress will prove satisfactory to employers. Recovery moves are not likely to go far as long as the general situation is uncertain but a cheerful interlude is over due and could occur without the aid of a full reversal in the business outlook.

CHICAGO, May 28.—World conditions appear ripe for an upturn in grain based on the continued drought in North America and a lberal part of Europe and an imminent need of rain in Australia. For the first time in a great many years the world is threatened with drought in practically all is leading grain producing countries.

WORLD EFFORT AT DISARMING

Reports reaching Geneva speak of increasing war preparations in the Far East between Japan and Russia. Reports multiply that while strengthening her western frontiers, Russia wants to join the League.

Wednesday the League council meets in a special session to discuss the actual warfare between Paraguay and Bolivia in the "green hell" of the Gran Chaco.

In all this turmoil the position of Canada may be clearly summed up. She stands for:

Abolition of the private manufacture of armaments.

General acceptance of the British disarmament plan.

Recognition of the German claim to equal rights, but on the basis of a general reduction in armaments.

The Steering Committee of the Disarmament Conference met this afternoon to pave the way. The conference itself is expected to sit about a week, when the Steering Committee will again meet and digest the conclusions of the conference, and fix the future course —if any.

Possible Trend

The conference might take any one of the following directions:

1.—Fail to find a new trend or development and so inform the League Council. This would virtually end disarmament efforts for some time to come.

2.—Discover that new factors have intervened since its former adjournment permitting resumption of discussions on a somewhat firmer basis.

3.—Relinquish its mandate and return it to the League Council for possible new instructions. This, if adopted, would probably take the shape of new efforts at "limitation" of armaments, rather than "limitations and reduction," the aim when the conference was called.

4.—Further consideration might be postponed until the League Assembly meets in September, the intervening time to be occupied in bilateral discussions through diplomatic channels. It must be admitted this method, adopted since the German break of last October, has resulted in no progress.

Delegates themselves appear to be divided into two camps. One group favors return of the mandate to the League Council for possible new directions, and the other inclines to adjournment until September.

Meanwhile, the fact that 15 foreign ministers are included among the delegates, is ample evidence—if any were needed—that disarmament efforts are at a crisis.

The Franco-German deadlock of course is at the root of the difficulties, but there are many other stubborn factors.

FIVE DAUGHTERS

self?" the father was asked.

"I'm the kind of fellow they should put in jail" he answered.

Mr. Dionne said he had been married since September 15, 1925, and his oldest boy, Ernest is seven. He has not yet had time to think up names for the new arrivals and he was hazy about the ages of the other children.

Questions he relayed to the mother, however, brought out that the youngsters were: Pauline, 11 months; Danie, two years; Theresa, five; Rose, six, and Ernest.

The father said he was glad to see all the baby girls looking so well but admitted the financial burden was not going to be easy to bear. He is buying a farm and it is still heavily encumbered. He said he was having none too easy a time getting by now and did not know exactly how he would manage to bring up his now large family as he would like to.

Canadian Record.

TORONTO, May 28.— (C.P.)— Birth of five daughters to Mrs. Oliva Dionnee near Callander, Ont., is the first quintuple birth in Canada, so far as he knows, Dr. F. C. Routley, general secretary of the Canadian Medical Association, said to-day.

"If it is not a world record, it is Canadian record, so far as I can recall," said Dr. Routley. "At any rate, I would say 'congratualtions' to the mother and father."

S. J. Manchester, registrar of vital statistics for Ontario, found the quintuple birth so unusual he could scarcely beelieve the news report.

Dr. W. A. Dafoe, demonstrator in obstetrics and gynaecology at University of Toronto, said it was the first time in his experience he had heard of such a birth. Dr. A. R. Dafoe, who was in attendance at the birth, is a brother.

"It is a rare occurrence," said the Toronto physician, "and as far as I know there has never been a similar case here."

G. R. Sproat, an executor of the will of the late Charles A. Millar, who bequeathed an estate valued at $520,000 to the women bearing the most children in the 10 years after his death in 1936, said Mrs. Dionne was not eligible under the terms of the will and that it applied only to Toronto mothers.

ELIGIBLE FOR KING'S BOUNTY.

OTTAWA, May 28 (C.P.). — The mother of five children born to a North Bay woman may be eligible for a "King's bouity" of three pounds, it was learned at the Department of Secretary of State today.

Qualifying provisions for the bounty specify mothers of triplets. If these regulations are fully met officials of the Department intimated they saw no reason why the mother of quintuplet should not be eligible also.

Marriage certificate of the parents must be received by the Secretary of State, together with a certificate of the medical attendant or midwife, a declaration the mother is in needy circumstances, and a certificate the childrn were alive. These papers must be in the hands of the Secretary of State, and forwarded to London, England, through the Department of External Affairs, within four months after the birth of the children.

Subsidy Needed

TORONTO, May 28.—(CP)—Payment of a subsidy to mothers is necessary if we are to keep the population at the present level, said Dr. W. A. Meighen of Perth, cousin of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, in an interview today.

Dr. Meighen, who is attending the convention of Ontario Medical Health officers, suggested a system approximating the English Insurance plan which provides a $10 and $20 grant to all mothers who have been insured under the terms of the Act. With the minimum attention and care now it costs at least $50 for a mother to have a baby, Dr. Meighen figured.

KINGSTON, Ont., May 28.—(C.P.)— The body of Sam Behan, Portsmouth penitentiary convict, who died suddenly Saturday of a heart condition, has been claimed by his widow and has been sent to Brooklyn, N.Y.

LAND BIG SHIP BENNETT FIELD

Their plane is the same one in which they flew from New York to Rayak, Syria, to establish the present non-stop, distance record of 5,630 miles. The ship weighed more than nine tons when it climbed laboriously from the French flying field and started one of the most daring adventures of the air.

Disappointed

PARIS, May 28 (AP)—Some slight disappointment was expressed in French aviation circles to-day at the news that Codos and Rossi had been forced to land at Brooklyn, 3,000 miles short of their California goal, but there was joy that they were safe after crossing the Atlantic.

Fly South Atlantic

NATAL, Brazil, May 29 (C.P.) — The French tri-motored mail plane, Are-en-Ciel, landed here at 3.05 p.m. to-day after a flight across the South Atlantic simultaneous with the North Atlantic flight of the Joseph LeBrix.

PITCHFORK SALAD.

KENT, Wash., May 28.—(C.P.)—Good housewives here plan to serve lettuce salad June 9—with pitchforks.

The salad will contain about two tons of lettuce, grown in the Kent district, and several barrels of mayonaise.

The occasion will be Kent's first lettuce festival.

GOLD ISSUES MOVE AHEAD HEAVY TRADE

Report Washington Would Advance Price of Gold Responsible for Buoyant Tone.

BASE METALS FIRM.

TORONTO, May 28 (CP)—Gold stocks moved ahead to-day in the mining section of the Toronto Stock Exchange, aided by a heavy volume of buying, some of it coming from New York sources. A report that Washington would advance the price of gold within the next week was said to be responsible for the buoyant note. Base metal and silver shares also firmed, and showed more gains than losses at the close.

Advances up to 1.25 were registered in the senior gold group. Dome closed at 39.25, up 1.25; McIntyre at 45.75, up 75 cents; Lake Shore at $51, up 95 cents while gains of 20 to 35 were recorded for Hollinger, Teck Hughes, Wright Hargreaves and Pioneer. Bralorne closed unchanged at $13.

Several of the cheaper gold issues were definitely bullish. Little Long Lac had heavy turnover about $5 for a gain of 35 cents. On substantial turnover Noranda added about 20 cents, closing at 43.70.

SLAIN OFFICER'S BODY IS FOUND IN RIVER WATERS

B. C. Police Believe Two Men Killed, Attempt Made to Sink Car.

WRECKED ON WAY.

Indian Brothers Held for Murder—$500 Reward for 2nd Constable's Remains.

MERRITT, B.C., May 28. (CP). The body of Frank Gisborne, Indian department constable, lay in a morgue here to-day, grim evidence of the startling sequel to the investigation of a stabbing affray at the Canford Indian reservation. Two persons were under arrest charged with murder and two others were held in custody.

Wire nettings were thrown across the Nicola River which yielded the body of Gisborne ,while searchers patrolled the river banks in search of the body of Provincial Constable Thomas Carr, co-investigator in the wounding last Wednesday night of Mrs. Enos George, Indian woman.

Enos and Richardson George, Indian brothers were in Kamloops jail, charged with the murder of both constables.

After a brief presentation of charges against them Sunday Magistrate A. G. Freeze remanded them for eight days. A third brother, Joseph George, is in custody and a fourth Indian held as material witnesses.

Body Caught in Tree.

The body of Gisborie, a native of Ottawa, was found in the branches of a willow tree, five miles below the reserve where a blood-stained automobile was found last Thursday. Police believe the two officres were clubbed to death, placed in the car, and an attempt made to drive the vehicle into the river. It lodged against a tree.

No arrangements have been made for the funeral of Gisborne, a son of Chancellor Gisborne of the Anglican Diocese at Ottawa, pending an inquest. Meanwhile police said they were seeking a fifth Indian in connection with the crime.

Police were spurred in their drive to solve the mystery by announcement by Attorney-General Gordon Sloan of British Columbia of a $500 reward for recovery of the body of Constable Carr.

APPLICATION IS REFUSED

Judge Refuses to Extend Time in Fyling of Appeal.

FRUITS ACT CASE.

An application by the prosecution, for extension of time, for the filing of an appeal in the case of Rex vs. John Symons, has been refused by His Honor Judge Robert N. Ruddy.

The application, made by J. R. Corkery, solicitor for the appellant, was sequel to a complaint in City Police Court, in which a charge against John Symons under the Fruits Act, with having apples for sale in open containers without grade designation, and containing culls in excess of the amount permitted by law, was dismissed by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C.

The prosecution not having served notice of appeal within the time required by Statute, failed under Judge Ruddy's ruling, to secure an extension of time for the filing of such appeal.

In refusing the application, His Honor states: "It does not appear that these apples were packed for export purposes, but that they were only found in a local store. The charge appears to have been fully tried out by the magistrate and all evidence for the prosecution was given at the trial."

"The magistrate reserved his judgment and appears to have given very careful attention to the matter as shown by his written reasons for dismissing the charge..."

"I think in these circumstances leave for an extension of time ought not to be given."

"The prevention of the offence for which the accused is charged is what is intended by the Statute, and this prosecution shows that the Inspector, Mr. Robinson, is on his job, and will probably have as good an effect as a conviction; the fine being a small one."

"I therefore refuse the application and am making no order as to costs," Judge Ruddy concludes.

The Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., was solicitor for the respondent Symons.

MARY STRONG ENTERTAINS HER BALLYDUFF FRIENDS

BALLYDUFF, May 26. (Examiner Correspondence). — Miss Mary Strong was hostess on Wednesday evening to a number of young people of this community on the occasion of her birthday. About seventy-five guests were present and a jolly evening was spent in card playing and dancing. Messrs. Bert Porter and Jack Galloway provided excellent violin music for dancing. Refreshments appropriate to the occasion were served at midnight.

Guests from outside points included those from Millbrook, Garden Hill, Bethany and Cartwright.

Boys Tame Young Seadog

This young seadog is the unique pet of Edward and Edgar McLaughlin of Saint John, New Brunswick. The lads lassoed the amphibian on the beach near their home, and, after keeping it captive overnight, decided to return it to its home in the sea. It swam away, but next morning awakened the neighbors with its barking (or whatever seadogs do) at the McLaughlin's door. It continued the uproar until the boys turned out and caught it a breakfast of fish. Now it is as tame as a real canine, flops about after its masters wherever they go, swims after their boat, when they go to tend their nets. Edgar and Edward, with an eye on a circus engagement think they'll teach Fido tricks.

FAVOR CREATION OF SEPARATE MINISTER EXTERNAL AFFAIRS

Portfolio Separate From Prime Minister is League of Nations Society Proposal.

ANNUAL RALLY

OTTAWA, May 28. (CP).—Creation of a portfolio of minister of external affairs, separate from the Prime Minister, and establishment of active committees on external affairs in both Houses was urged by the League of Nations Society in Canada at the 12th annual general meeting Saturday. Fifty-two delegations from all over Canada were present.

The text of the resolution moved by Mrs. H. P. Plumtre, Toronto, and seconded by Senator Cairine Wilson, Ottawa, was as follows:

"That in view of Canada's external responsibilities in the League of Nations and as a signatory of the pact of Paris, this society puts itself on record as favoring the further development of the machinery for directing Canada's external affairs, such development to include the consideration of—

"—1 The creation of a separate minister of external affairs and the setting up of parliamentary committees in both houses for the discussion of external affairs.

Extend Personnel

2. The extension of the personnel of the department in keeping with its growing importance.

3. The appointment, well in advance, of Canadian representation at the League of Nations and the heading of the delegation by the minister of external affairs or by the leading Canadian representative in Europe.

4. The establishment of the principle of continuity in the appointment of delegates and the selection of delegates for their competence and training international matters."

Speaking to the resolution, Miss Agnes McPhail, M.P., said that it embodied ideas she had advocated for some time. She was impressed with the futility of the method of league representation Canada was now using. If Canada was to do anything in the league at all she must have a minister who would attend at Geneva.

Direct participation by Canada in international affairs by way of sanction was suggested in a resolution introduced by Prof. F. H. Angus of Vancouver. "Canada should set a good example by recognizing the duty in certain circumstances of Canada, participation in international action by way of sanctions or otherwise which would require immediate and decisive acts by the Federal Government," the resolution read.

Limit Interest

J. S. Woodsworth, M.P., was of the opinion that Canadian participation should be only in economic sanctions. So far, he believed, the league's jurisdiction and effort had essentially been concerned with Europe. It had accomplished little in the Orient or the American continent. It was based really upon armaments.

Although he was impressed with the great need for co-operation and collective action, when faced with the European situation as it now is, with the futility of pooling "police" methods because of rampant jealousy, he could not help but think there was something in the United States principle of not interfering in European affairs.

The report of the treasurer, H. J. McNulty, showed receipts of $9,-191.76 and expenditures of $10.474.-26. The newly-appointed national secretary, T. W. L. MacDermott, reported that over 900 direct replies had been received for a syllabus for the creation of study clubs, and told of a trip he had made to the Pacific coast.

The present necessity for action, rather than failing interest in the league, was pointed out by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, M.P., with the presidential address.

The society commended the Prime Minister and the Government for their attitude towards the suggestion that Canada withdraw from the league, supported the position taken by Hon. R. J. Manion at the league assembly, and commended the government for its prompt and effective action with the proposed embargo of shipment of arms to Bolivia and Paraguay.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe presided.

Gentle Hint

WEST STOCKBRIDGE, Mass. May 28.—(C P)—John Powell has found out how to keep the neighbors' chickens out of his garden.

He bored holes in kernels of corn, ran strings through the holes and attached to each string a note reading: "Please keep your chickens at home."

The chickens ate the corn but could not swallow the string or the notes which apparently reached their intended destination, as Powell says the chickens no longer visit his garden.

DIGBY DECIDING BEER BY GLASS

Wet Victory Will Make Town First in N.S. to Approve Licensing Hotels.

LAW IS ATTACKED.

HALIFAX, May 28.—(CP)—Electors of the town of Digby went to the polls today to decide whether or not hotels should be allowed to sell beer and wine by the glass. If the result of the plebiscite under the Nova Scotia Liquor Act shows a desire to extend the sale of alcoholic beverages, this town will be the first place in Nova Scotia to approve of licensing hotels.

But in Halifax Dr. John J. Power, K.C., noted Canadian criminal lawyer, is contending that the Nova Scotia Liquor Control Act and all liquor acts in the Dominion are ultra vires the provincial legislatures Saturday Dr. Power moved an application before the full bench of the Supreme Court for leave to appeal a liquor case direct to the Privy Council, basing his argument on constitutional claims.

Upset All Acts

He declared that if he was successful in his appeal to this, the highest court of appeal in the empire, it would upset liquor control acts in every province of the Dominion and added that if the full bench refused permission to appeal, he would apply to the Privy Council for leave of a hearing.

The test case is that of Chester Slaunwhite in which the accused was convicted and sentenced to four months imprisonment under the Nova Scotia Liquor Control Act.

"That act and the Liquor Acts of all the provinces are ultra vires," declared Dr. Power, who is a graduate of Osgoode Hall, Toronto, and was given the honorary Degree of Doctor of Laws by Leval University, Quebec. The only way that the province could obtain money from the sale of liquor under the British North America Act was by licensing saloons and taverns under subsection 9, section 92, he contends. Other more general sections of the act dealing with property and civil right and with matters of a private or local nature could not be construed to cover the sale of liquor in connection with subsection 9, Dr. Power claims.

TRIO HELD FOR THEFT.

BRANTFORD, Ont., May 28.—(C. P.)—G. C. Slemin, turnkey of the Brant county jail was reported today to have spent a fair night after receiving injuries when he was beaten and kicked by three Montrealers as they overpowered him and escaped jail last night. During the night Western Ontario police scoured this section of the province, stopping transport tucks, and all suspicious looking persons on the highways, in an attempt to recaptunre Donet Lemieux 22, Salvadore Grayco 30, and Georges Laframboise 27, of Montreal, who staged a spectacular and daring escape from the jail.

The three men were arrested Saturday night by Provincial Officer Ben Milligan, Acting Detective George Kerr and County Constable Howard Markham on charges of stealing an automobile somewhere in Quebec povince. They were riding in the car that was stolen and allegedly had stolen goods in their possession.

It was the first jail break to occur here since 1923, when Lawrence McGuinnis, who is now in the jail waiting to be removed to the Ontario reformatory at Guelph to serve a two year term for breaking and entering, and Reo. Brown overpowered Turnkey Slemin and took the keys of the jail from him, making a break for freedom.

LONDON' FAMOUS LIMEHOUSE BOWS TO MARCH OF PROGRESS

Dope Dens and Tong Wars Only Legends as 'Modern Thoroughfare Built.

TOURISTS EXPLOITED

By CHARLES A. SMITH
Central Press Canadian Correspondent.

LONDON, May 28—Famed Limehouse Causeway, London street of a thousand wierd happenings, furtive people and not-so-furtive smells, is to disappear before the advancing march of Progress.

Thomas Burke spread its name throughout the world when he wrote of its gambling points, its dosshouses, opium smoking dens, its tong wars, and its hundreds of half-caste children.

But for years the Causeway has been in decline and very soon a broad, modern road will takes its place in order to relieve traffic congestion in the waterfront area.

The Causeway is eminently respectable these days, as though aware that its swan song has been sung and that soon it must disappear.

True, tourists continue to be inveigled to go away down east under the impression they will see the Causeway that Burke portrayed so vividly in his writings. But the Limehouse Causeway that Burek wrote about no longer exists. The opium dens shown the tnurists are fakes, and the Chinese show places exist especiallly for ther benefit.

Weird Memories.

The Causeway holds many weird memories for those who have lived during the last half-century, and none more qualified to talwk about them that Charlie Brown, known all over the world as the son of the late Charlie Brown, "Underworld King of Limehouse," or former Divisional Police Surgeon H. J. O'Brien.

"The tongs were identified by their different colored scarves during the last Tong wars in this area about 20 years ago," Charles Brown said. "Their weapons were composed of stout iron bats fitted with handshields, empty whiskey bottles filled with sand, and a few firearms. It was hot work while it lasted."

O'Brien mentioned that thirty years ago it was possible to see opium pipes in the Causeway.

"As one dropped off under the influence of the drug another would take the pipe from him and carry one the good work," O'Brien said.

For some years past there has been little opium smoking in the Causeway, but there are those who can remember when the local English sailors used to hold competitions to see how many opium pipes could be collected during a night from the Chinese lascars, and Japs frequenting the area.

Then there was the famous Riggers' Club, whose members were ship riggers. It was the custom to serve the members with rum in two gallon pails, followed by a total of some 20 gallons of coffee, which was drunk by the riggers before they went to work.

Limehouse Causeway is going, and with it will go memories past the belief of moderns.

William H. Meldrum, 54 McDonnel street fell and injured his head. According to Mr. Patterson, it is believed that Mr. Meldrum an aged resident, was running across the street to put in a fire alarm when he tripped and fell. He sustained a cut across his forehead and also injured one of his fingers, according to Mr. Patterson.

The Fire Chief said that a box alarm received by the Department at 8.05 p.m., was followed a few seconds later by a telephone alarm directing the brigade to the rear of an address on Murray street. The kitchen was a raging furnace when the firefighters entered the Patterson house, and smoke was pouring into every section of the house.

NATIONS LOOK TOWARD RUSSIA

Believe She May Be Able to Break Present Arms Deadlock.

CANDIDATE FOR LEAGUE.

By JOSEPH E. SHARKEY
Associated Press Foreign Staff.

GENEVA, May 28.—(A.P.)—Nations of the world, in a deadlock over the question of reducing armaments, turned toward Communist Russian to-day as another disarmament conference opened.

Delegates expected the Soviet, now believed to be a candidate for membership in the League to produce some positive proposal in an effort to break the arms impasse.

"We have a policy," said a Russian spokesman, associated with Maxim Litvinoff, Commissar of Foreign Affairs. Litvinoff was expected to concentrate on the policy of political securities as the sanest foundation for disarmament.

Private conversations between members were carried on to-day. Important figures in them were Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary, and Louis Barthou, Foreign Minister of France. Many believed the fate of the League of Nations as an agency for peace hinged upon the present moves.

The steering committee was scheduled to meet this afternoon, with the first formal session of the conference to be held to-morrow. Pressing problems facing the diplomats include the Chaco war between Paraguay and Bolivia and efforts to get Germany to return to the conference, from which it withdrew last fall.

CANADA LEADS THE WORLD IN INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITIES

Increase of 40 Per Cent for Dominion Against 30 for U.S., Germany 25.

UNEMPLOYMENT DROPS.

(By George Hambleton, C.P. Staff Writer.)

GENEVA, May 28 (CP Cable). — Canada leads the way in industrial trade activity.

League of Nations figures for the first quarter of last year, show these percentage increases in industrial activity:

Canada, 40 per cent; United States, 30 per cent; Germany and Poland, 25 per cent; Sweden, 18; Japan, 11; Norway, 6; France, 3.

Unemployment is decreasing in all the principal countries of the world except France.

World production of certain important commodities shows an appreciable increase, the figures also reveal during the first quarter of 1934, production of coal increased by 20 per cent, of gasoline 13 per cent, pig-iron 51 per cent, steel 54 per cent, and zinc 37 per cent, in comparison with the same period of last year.

On the other hand the gold value of world trade again shows a decrease for the first quarter of 1934.

Carolina Dock Men Continue Rioting

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(C.P.) —Calm prevailed to-day in the riot area of strike torn Toledo. But New Orleans' Longshoremen and textile mill workers in Laurinburg, N.C., were counting the injured after yesterday's riots.

Eight were reported wounded, one possibly fatally in Laurinburg, in a night riot. Guns and brick-bats were brought into play, after a parade by scores of strikers through the mill section.

The Prince mill—last of the four units of Waverly Mills, Inc., to be affected by strikes—was "temporarily closed."

In an atmosphere of tension, United States' government mediators in Toledo worked to avert a threatened general strike. State militia men patrolled the strike area, where five days of violence resulted in a list of two dead and nearly 200 injured.

HEPBURN IS SURE LIBERAL VICTORY ON ELECTION DAY

Confident Despite Govt's Offering of Road, Other Concessions.

RAPS FINLAYSON.

Promises Auction Sale of Present Cabinet Ministers' Autos.

(By Jack Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

COCHRANE, Ont., May 28 (CP)—Opening his election tour of Northern Ontario, Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal Leader, arrived here to-day and will address Liberals of this area at Kapuskasing this afternoon. To-night he speaks at Smooth Rock Falls.

This is the second week of his campaign. Last week he started his speaking tour in Welland and district, journeying across to the Kingston area and then spent two days in Central Ontario and the Muskoka district before leaving for the north.

I see a certain Liberal victory at this election,' he declared here today. "Ontario has had a Conservative administration for many years, but there'll be a chance this year. People are taking great interest in the issues of the election and all meetings have been exceptionally well attended. The Liberal Party has come back to life, and although the Government is offering road work and other concessions in all parts of the province, the people will express their sentiment in our favor on election day."

At Midland Saturday, Mr. Hepburn renewed his criticism of Hon. William Finlayson, Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests. He charged Mr. Finlayson with driving in luxurious limousines bought with taxpayers money. Mr. Hepburn said the upkeep of the machine cost more than $4,000 a year and he claimed Mr. Finlayson also had a boat on a northern lake.

Auction Sale

If the Liberals were elected to power, he declared, cabinet ministers would drive their own cars. He promised there would be an 'auction sale' of cabinet minister's autos.

The Liberal leader added that the government's defeat was certain at the polls although they had started road work which he described as unnecessary highway labor.

We are increasing our debt at the rate of $80,000 a day and it must and shall be stopped," he continued. All the money used for government in Ontario with the exception of a federal subsidy of $2,500,000 comes directly from your pocket." he told the meeting.

"It is our business to control this. Corporations may be taxed but you pay that tax. All taxes directly affect you for you pay them. Mr. Hepburn said.

Mr. Hepburn also spoke at Orillia and Bracebridge and repeated his promise that a Liberal Government would reduce cost of administration by 50 per cent.

DYER ORCHESTRA PLEASES AUDIENCE

Silver Collection Taken at ...ona Gardens Goes Towards Relief.

Reg. Dyer's symphony orchestra delighted an assembly of some four hundred music lovers in the Summer Gardens, Brock street, Sunday night. Their program included a group of favorite classics, the overture "Poet and Peasant," the descriptive "In a Monastery Garden," "Onward Chirstian Soldiers," selections from "Pinafore," Raymond overture, and several Sousa marches. Augmented for the occasion, the orchestra afforded a pleasant surprise to those who had not realized its development. The instrumentation was notably good, and the whle program was played with a fluency and assurance that indicated its capabilities.

The silver collection amounting to $16.16 at this Sunday night concert, (after church,) was for the assistance of the relief Garden's fund.

The orchestra was assisted by Walter Farr and Miss Marion Ralston. Their solos were pleasingly sung, and the duet "Watchman What of the Night?" was a feature of the program. A trombone solo, "Holy City," by H. Hutchinson, was another interesting instrumental number.

The beauty of the Summer Gardens' decorations provided a highly attractive background for the concert, and were the subject of many complimentary remarks by those who had not seen them before.

R.C.M.P. OFFICER DIES IN QUEBEC

Cortlandt Stornes Spent Years Developing Old Northwest Mounted.

RETIRED IN 1931.

ST. HILAIRE, Que., May 28.—(C.P.)—Former Chief Commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Cortland Starnes 70, died at his home here to-day.

Since his retirement as head of the famous force a few years ago, Col. Starnes had not been in good health, but his death was unexpected.

In 1931, Col. Starnes retired after 45 years of service, during which the highly organized Royal Canadian Mounted Police developed from the old Royal Northwest Mounted Police.

A man of quiet and unassuming manners, Cortlandt Starnes was noted for great tenacity in dealing with criminal matters and it was largely due to his leadership, the force attained so high a reputation.

He went west in 1865 as adjutant of the 65th Regiment and served with distinction in the Riel Rebellion. He joined the Royal Northwest Mounted Police as inspector and spent many years in maintaining law and order in the unorganized territory of the west of that day.

Prairie Showers Aid Parched Crops

WINNIPEG, May 28 (C.P.). — Scattered showers in Northern Saskatchewan and Alberta brought a measure of relief to parched prairie farm areas over the week-end, but higher temperatures were the rule in Manitoba and southern portions of sister provinces to the west.

Light rains and lowered temperature readings were reported at Prince Albert, Saskatoon and Edmonton. Southern portions of Alberta and Saskatchewan reported sweltering heat with no assurance of moisture.

Winnipeg made a bid for heat honors with an official registration of 94. It was 91 at Regina and fractionally below that throughout Southern Alberta. Rain is needed across the southern belt to check 'hopper hatching and provide moisture to grain shoots now showing a green blade.

Officer Wounded Chasing Suspect

LONDON, May 28 (C.P. Cable).—Police scoured a wide area of the Sussex Downs to-day in one of the most intensive man-hunts in England in recent years, seeking the man who shot and seriously wounded a young Worthing police constable, James Jex.

Jex, with another constable, went by car during the night to investigate a reported robbery. Shortly after dawn they challenged a man riding a bicycle at an isolated spot. The man on the bicycle jumped and ran, but when the officers gave chase he drew a revolver and fired three shots. One of them struck Jex, who was found to be in a serious condition on his arrival in hospital.

Police of Brighton and all Sussex joined in the search and flying squads from Scotland Yard began operating on the outskirts of London. All cars on the London and Worthing Road were examined.

English police take a grave view of shooting affrays, and indications were that every effort possible would be made to apprehend the constable assailant.

The first recorded observation of the bodies we now recognize as bacteria was made about the middle of the seventeenth century by Anthony van Leeuwenhock, a Holland lens grind-

CHOIR VISITS TORONTO CORPS

Salvation Army Songsters Win New Laurels Over Week-end.

WELCOMED BY MAYOR.

The Songster Brigade of Peterborough's Corps of the Salvation Army won new laurels in Toronto over the week-end. They were the guests of the Dovercourt Corps, and were the feature of the week-end services with special choral programs on Saturday and Sunday nights.

The Brigade made an excursion of their visit to Toronto, and more than three hundred people were aboard the C.P.R. Saturday morning. On arriving in Toronto, the Peterborough choir was received by Mayor Stewart in the council chamber. Greetings from Mayor Denne were extended to Mayor Stewart by Major Frank Ham, Divisional Officer of the Salvation Army in Toronto, and formerly in charge of the Peterborough Corps.

"You have done good work in the past, and my message to you to-day is to carry on," said His Worship, in welcoming the Songsters for the Centennial week-end engagement. The Brigade had supper at the Dovercourt citadel, and their concert that night was crowded to the doors. They were featured in the morning, afternoon and evening services Sunday, and their concluding appearance was the presentation of the sacred cantata, "The Thorn-Crowned Head," following the regular Sunday night service. The Dovercourt citadel could not accommodate the crowds that greeted the Peterborough choir, conducted by Benjamin Smith whose singing was acclaimed in a sustained demonstration of appreciation.

The Songsters arrived home on the late train Sunday night, and it is understood that the success of their Dovercourt programs was such an outstanding success that it may become an annual event.

JUST A GOOD CAR COST ONLY $18.00

Mather's Corners Man Charged With Reckless Driving on City Street.

A good car remains a good car to Derman Lindsay, of Mather's Corners, no matter how old it is or how badly wrecked it has become as result of a collision.

Lindsay appeared before Magistrate Langley today charged with reckless driving. Police allege that at the corner of Hunter and Stewart streets early Saturday evening, he neglected to stop at a stop sign and drove his car into the side of another car driven by James Petrie, R. R. 8 Peterborough. Arthur Phillips, passenger in the Petrie car, received a badly gashed left arm which necessitated his removal to hospital from where he was discharged today.

Despite the fact that officers who investigated the crash reported that Lindsay drove 'full tilt' into the side of Petrie"s car, Lindsay pleaded not guilty. He was remanded until June 6 for trial.

Bail was asked for by Lindsay and it was then that he listed among his assets a 'good car'. Police explained that the 'good car' was an ancient Ford which Lindsay had purchased two weeks ago in Toronto for $18 and that its whole front had been stove in by the crash. Bail was fixed as $200 but it is doubtful if Lindsay will be able to put up his car for part of that amount.

Garnet Stalker, farmer, pleaded guilty to speeding across an intersection on George street and was fined $5 and $2.75 costs.

Erie Beach Cottagers Urge Fire Protection

FORT ERIE, Ont., May 28 (CP)—When Bertie Township Council visited a meeting of property owners, mostly Buffalonians, at Erie Beach Community Hall, severe criticism was offered over the alleged failure of the council to provide adequate fire protection to hundreds of homes in Erie Beach.

Reeve Melfort Hershey explained to the property owners that in areas of the township where fire protection is provided, such as Ridgeway and Stevensville, special taxation is made. A committee of the owners, consisting of Harry Hetherington and Dr. John La Placa, was named to draw up a petition which must have the signatures of 50 per cent of the owners. If this is procured township officials promised construction of a fire hall and purchase of equipment. Fires in the past year in Erie Beach have caused damage of $60,000.

TERRY SAFE—Manager Terry of the Giants slides safely into second after hitting double against Cards.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

THE SMALLMAN stable were in the limelight at Woodbine on Saturday when they accounted for the first two races on the card. Golden Fate winning the first and Quickly the second number . . . There was quite a surprise in the feature event when Crofter hung it on the hitherto unbeaten Horometer, which again clearly shows that nothing is sure in the racing game. There should be some nice races in store this summer for Canadian breds. Imagine a field composed of Horometer, Young Kitty, Shady Well, Crofter, Spey Crest and Pitchblende. Try and separate that bunch and pick the ultimate winner, it would all depend on the weights.

When Thorncliffe throws open its gates this afternoon there should be a real crowd on hand. They have Frumper up at this track and believe you us he will make many of them say uncle before the meeting is over. The clockers tell us he is back in the same form as he was three years ago when he was the outstanding horse in Canada. Another one to keep in mind at this oval is Speycrest who we also hear is rapidly rounding into top form. Sam Abbott is a third hide that is ready to take a trip to the winner's circle and Thorncliffe is going to be the location of the killing.

ONE NICE thing about the Leaside course is the liberal prices that are usually hung up there. It is an old saying that if you can bet on one winner a day at Thorncliffe you will go home with the Cobalt on the right side. Quite different from Woodbine where it was possible to wager on three winners in one afternoon and still be a loser. The difference is that Thorncliffe always have a lot of entries in each race and the winner could come from any source.

Singing Wood won the historic Withers Stakes at Belmont Park on Saturday. The race was not truly won however as High Quest, the recent Preakness winner threw her jockey Mac Garner shortly after the start, but as they pay off on the horse that goes under the finishing wire first we will have to admit that Mrs. Whitney's smart three year old must be rated with the good ones . . . Yesterday was moving day at the Woodbine, practically all the horses from there being vanned up to Woollatt's plant except the jumpers and some that could not find accommodation, as all available stalls are filled at the latter park

BAILIEBORO GIRLS BEAT STUART HALL

Visitors Fall by 20-5 Count—Homesters Also Defeat Fenella 15-6.

BAILIEBORO, May 28. (Examiner Correspondence).—Two games of ball were played on the local diamond on Thursday when the local girls clashed with Stuart Hall girls and trounced the visitors to the tune of 20 to 5. McGregor and Hall made up the battery for Stuart Hall, while W. Watt and A. Barnard acted as a local battery. W. Howson was umpire at the plate and G. Dean on bases.

Fenella and Bailieboro hardball teams clashed in the initial game in the West Northumberland League fixture. From the first to the ninth innings the game was ragged and both teams showed lack of practice, but both clubs look as though some experience would put them in condition.

An outstanding feature of the game was the splendid work of the local public school battery, which added to the game by holding the visitors to a 15 to 6 game.

Credit for the locals' win was largely given the kid pitcher, N. Fry ,who kept the husky Fenella players guessing and in the fifth inning struck out three batters in succession. H. Lang, a junior catcher, also turned in a good game during the four innings he worked behind the bat.

The lineups:

Bailieboro—Barker rf, H. Dean lf, A. Dawson cf, G. Stuart 2b, G. Dean 1b, E. Earnshaw ss, H. Jewison 3b, M. Wood p and c, N. Fry p, H. Lang c, T. Griffith lf, W. Howson rf.

Limestoners Bunch Hits In 7th Frame To Score Six Runs

Petes Almost Tie Count With Two Run Rally in 8th, But Ponies Clinch Victory by Adding to Total in Ninth — 1,500 Fans See First Home Fracas.

GOVERNMENT AND CITY OFFICIALS TAKE PART IN OLD TIME OPENING CEREMONIES

Blasting Bill Calladine from the hilltop in the seventh inning in Stevenson Park Saturday, the Kingston Ponies opened the C.O.B.L. season locally by handing the Petes a 9-6 reverse in front of nearly fifteen hundred fans. The bunched hits in this one frame spelled defeat for Knotty Lee's hopefuls and spoiled an otherwise perfect day for the home crowd. It was a good ball game to usher in the season.

The Petes had a 4-1 lead, and looked the better team, going into the seventh, Calladine pitching excellent ball to hold them to three hits till then. But they hammered out five clean wallops in that inning which, with a walk and fielder's choice, sent six runs scampering across the plate. Deyell finished the seventh. The Petes rallied to score two more in the eighth and almost tie it up but last year's champions had enough punch left to shove home two more in the ninth.

Large Opening Crowd

With perfect weather for baseball, the opening-day crowd was large. A parade, headed by the Rangers' Band, brought the players to the park and before the game started they marched across the field, the rival athletes meeting and shaking hands at the plate while the band played. The time-honored opening ceremony saw T. P. Lancaster pitching, Mayor Denne at bat, Bill Kay of the O.B.A.A. catching, and E. A. Peck, M.P., umpiring. The Mayor singled and the game commenced.

Neither side scored in the first, though Konopka doubled for the Petes. The locals got a run in the second, Ash singling, going to second when Scrutton dropped a fly and scoring on Len Hollingsworth's rap to right field. They got two more in the third. Batten singled to left and raced to third on Murray's hit to centre, the latter reaching second on the throw-in. Both reached the plate on Whatley's bingle to centre. Konopka started the fourth with a safety to left, moving up on Batten's Texas Leaguer and tallying on Foley's clout to left. Meantime, Kingston had only one hit till then, Smith's single to centre, and no one had reached third.

They got a run in the sixth when St. Louis doubled to right and scored on Boyd's two-bagger to centre. With one out in the seventh, the barrage started. Quinn singled, followed by Stone. The bases were filled on Roberts fielder's choice which Whatley threw to third. One scored on St. Louis's singled to right, and another two on Scrutton's double to left. Archie Deyell replaced Calladine then. Boyd walked to again fill the bases. Foxton singled to centre and three more counted when Foley slipped and booted the ball.

Two Back In Eighth

Batten hit safely to start the seventh but nothing came of it. In their eighth, the Petes got two back. Ash doubled to right and scored on Deyell's single to left with two out, Archie getting around to third on a bad throw-in. He scored on Konopka's double to centre. But the visitors put the game in the bag with two more counters in the ninth. An error at short put Scrutton on and Boyd also got a life on a misplay at first. Both moved up on an out and both jogged in on Joyce's screaming single to right field. The Petes failed to threaten in their half.

Calladine allowed seven hits, fanned two and walked one in the six and one-third innings he worked. Deyell gave two hits and a walk while striking one out the rest of the way. "Speedy" St. Louis, Kingston hurler, was nicked for thirteen safe blows while fanning four and giving no walks. The whole Kingston infield, and Batten, Ash and the Petes' pitchers fielded well. Konopka and Batten, with three hits each and Ash with two, and St. Louis with two for Kingston topped the hitters.

LEAFS SPLIT DOUBLE BILL WITH ROYALS

Montreal Gets to Blake for 7-4 Win, But Schoot Triumphs 13-6.

BEAT WINGS SATURDAY.

(By the Associated Press)

Heavy hitting coupled with effective pitching by Charley Devens had carried Newark Bears back into the thick of the International League pennant fight. The bears tossed Baltimore Orioles for a double loss at Baltimore yesterday, 6-1 and 4-3 and picked up a game and a half on the pace-setting Rochester Red Wings who were shut out by George Milstead and Buffalo, 6-0. Newark now trails Rochester by only two games.

Devens turned in a fist-rate pitching job in the first game at Baltimore, holding the Orioles to four hits and blanking them until the ninth. Home runs by Jesse Hill, Dale Alexander, Bob Gibson and Vince Barton, the latter's 13th of the season, made Devens' job easy. George Selkirk's homer with two on in the fifth decided the nightcap in Newark's favor. After Vito Tamulis had been pounded for eight hits and three runs in the last three frames.

Milstead stopped Rochester cold with six hits while Jake Plummer and Jack Smith led a Buffalo attack on Ray Harrell that gave the Bisons five of their six runs in the seventh, and eighth innings. Plummer contributed a double and two singles, Smith a home run and a single.

Divide Double Bill

Montreal and Toronto divided honors in a double bill, the Royals taking the opener 7-4 behind Johnny Salveson, and Toronto the nightcap, 13-6 by virtue of an eight-run drive on Chad Jimsey, Orilin Collier and Clarence Fisher in the first inning. Harry Race, Leaf infielder, got four hits during this wild game, including a double and a single in the first inning.

Moves Up to 5th

Syracuse jumped from seventh to fifth place in the standings by trimming Albany twice, 5-4 and 2-1. The chiefs were outhit, 10-5, in the opener but made their safeties count while Fred Fussel was effective in the pinches. Bill Cronin's single in the sixth drove in both Syracuse runs in the nightcap. A pitching duel between Ralph Judd and Art Jones in which each allowed four hits. Albany's tally was a home run by Del Bissonette.

Split Again Saturday

On Saturday the Leafs and Red Wings split the points. Hollingsworth curtailed Rochester to four safeties in the opener and the Leafs won 6-4. In the first inning of the second game, Pitcher Frazier threw wide on an attempted double play and before the Wings were sent back to the field four unearned runs were across the plate. Retaining the lead, the Wings won by 7-4

At Montreal Hal King Drove in seven runs alone as the Royals submerged Buffalo 11-1.

SPYING ON SPORTS

"GOSSIP AND SUCH

OLD-TIME FIGHT fans, and some not so old, who are getting all steamed up over the New York clash of Jimmy McLarnin and Barney Ross, world welterweight and lightweight champions, respectively, may remember quite vividly another scrap between a world welter king and a lightweight monarch who, incidentally, was and still is, by some, regarded as the greatest of his kind.

We refer politely to the bout between Jack Britton and Benny Leonard, almost 12 years ago. The battle was held on June 26, 1922, to be exact.

Benny Leonard lost on a foul, in the thirteenth round. The McLarnin-Ross affair can hardly end that way.

THE McLARNIN-ROSS fight should be, in every way, a better scrap than was the Britton-Leonard battle.

Britton, when he met Leonard, was an old, old man. He was in his eighteenth year in the ring, his age was 37. Britton's punch was gone. Though he was to fight three more years he had already scored the final knockout of his career.

Leonard, himself, was 26 and near his first retirement.

There was 11 years difference between Britton and Leonard. There is only three between McLarnin, who is 27, and Ross, who is 24. McLarnin still has his punch and Ross has been improving instead of having reached his peak.

HOWEVER, while they may produce a much better fight than did the old timers, McLarnin and Ross must travel a long way to equal the feats of Britton and Leonard.

Britton's longevity in the ring was truly remarkable. He fought for 21 years, from 1904 to 1925. Jack was fighting in the final days of the career of Mysterious Billy Smith, first welterweight champion, and he was still fighting when McLarnin, himself, last of the welterweight kings, entered the ring! Match that, James, if you can!

From the time he won the lightweight title from Freddy Welsh in 1917, until he retired in 1924, Benny couldn't be licked, though in that period, he fought 79 times. Of course, he lost the decision to Britton, but that was on a foul and not through any superiority on the part of his welterweight foe. Match that, Barney, if you can.

LOCALS SCORE 144 FOR SEVEN

Against 67 for Strong Trinity College School Eleven at Port Hope.

KEEN FIELDING.

The locals continued their sequence of wins by beating T.C.S. at Port Hope on Saturday, May 26; the final score being T.C.S. 67, Peterborough 144 for 7 wickets.

The School batted first and F. Smye and C. Seagram made a good start; the score reaching 26 before Seagram was out; but, with the exception of J. Kerr (17), the rest did little against the bowling of Lawrence (4 for 20) and Mitchell (4 for 25), and the total only reached 64.

On Peterborough going to bat Lawrence left at 7, and Gore was unfortunately run out at 12, but on R. Mawhood (29) joining Worrall a good stand was made taking the total to 46. On Mitchell joining Worrall another stand was made and at 5.10 Worrall made the winning hit on a fine stroke to boundary. On the century going up Worrall retired, having scored a steady, well-played 30. With the match won, Dyer later scored freely, getting 48 in quick time, including one 6, five 4's and only 4 singles, and when time was called the total had reached 144 with seven men out. J. Kerr (4 for 54) was the only School bowler to meet with success.

DAY BY DAY

By C. J. P.

Those pesky Kingston ball players hold nothing sacred—as was clearly demonstrated to a large crowd at Riverside Saturday. You'd think they'd be impressed with all the parading, band music and the pomp of opening-day ceremonels and not try too hard to cop the very first game of the season here. But, no, they had to go out in the seventh inning and ruin it all. They weren't even content to get a few bingles just to show the customers they could still hit. Not a chance; they had to carry it to extremes and snatch a victory right away from Knotty Lee and his Petes. It wasn't at all nice; in fact, it's things like this that start wars. We even suspect that they had fell designs on our lads at the very moment they were going through that dandy hand-shaking gesture at home plate before the game started.

• • • • • • •

Well, whether it was with malice aforethought or not, the Ponies handed ups a 9-6 setback to start the season. It'll take at least a week to get out of the red ink, as the Petes don't play again till Belleville is here Saturday. Too bad, but at least the fans saw a good game. It was all Peterborough for six innings, then all Kingston, then a local rally, and finally another two-run splash for the Ponies to make sure of the verdict. Good and bad ball was dished up by both sides both offensively and defensively. Konopka, Batten and Ash were the best Petes' hitters and Ike also did some neat fielding.

• • • • • • •

Bill Calladine pitched fine ball for five frames but they began to reach him in the sixth. And 'twas just too bad in the seventh. Deyell relieved him and did okay but two errors in the ninth paved the way for two more runs. "Speedy" St. Louis proved a fast pitcher but the Petes easily outhit Kingston. However, bunched hits by the Ponies in the seventh explains it all. Those lads could always hit in the pinches and when they start getting to a hurler, he'd better be yanked in a hurry. Bill had trouble with his curve-ball all day. He couldn't control it and sooner or later they were bound to get to his fast, straight throws.

• • • • • • •

Well, it's the wrong start but doesn't mean much. It's only the first game and showed the Petes have the material for a championship squad if they can just come through in the right spots. At least, we're glad to see the old enmity still exists between these two outfits. It makes for better ball. Ash and Foxton nearly tangled once when the latter "hipped" him. Foxton came in to the bench remarking, "No player in this town can pull anything on me!" And Hewit Smith—who tangled with Ash in the playoffs last year—was burned to a crisp when the Petes' captain caught him out on the line at first. Smith said: "I'm going to ride that guy hard some of these days." Both sides missed no opportunities to insult each other. There'll be fireworks yet.

Dave Leether, secretary of the Men's Softball League, writes us: "Dear Sir—I am answering your three paragraphs of May 23, taken from J. Copping's letter, more clearly. Their ruling certainly does stop players from playing in the City League because they cannot go back once they have played in that league. As regards their teams barring City League players, which I think is quite right, but why not follow it through properly, not aim at only the best of the players, as only a couple of years ago they willingly accepted City League teams to enter their league as did All Saints and Dominion Woollens to the said league. But City League did not complain even though, since the Southend has operated, City League entries have dropped from eight teams to three last year and four this year.

• • • • • • •

"Even if the whole situation hinged around C.G.E. and they did try out some of the Nationals' team, why keep them out of softball if they did not make the grade, as your ruling would do? But with the Southend League barring its players from City League and Knotty Lee his baseball players, we have nowhere to draw from, but the Southend League has at its disposal all Church League and School League teams. Our ideas is to give everybody a chance to play City or Southend League with no restrictions. Admittedly, your organization was not invited personally but it was wide open through the press for anyone of you to attend our last meeting. City League officials are certainly willing to come to any kind of working agreement for the betterment of softball players in general; and in regard to Shop or Factory Leagues, no organization can dictate to them what to do. It is certainly their own private business. If softball is to be maintained on the map in Peterborough, we need the cooperation of all sporting organizations in the city. Hoping this will clear up any feeling remaining within those interested, I remain, etc."

• • • • • • •

Ha, action at least from the O.A.L.A.! Local lacrossers have been notified that the Ontario president and the secretary will be at a meeting in Cobourg next Friday evening to try to get intermediate and junior leagues organized up this way at once. Peterborough, Campbellford, Norwood, Millbrook, Belleville, Port Hope and Cobourg will all have delegates invited to attend. And Fred Waghorne, Sr., will try to visit all these places before then to urge them to get organized and send competent delegates. Something is finally coming of the local officers' efforts.

Bunny Morgansen in the Tely says: "Oshawa trouble is causing a bit of alarm in the executive chambers of the Ulster Stadium Baseball League. The old guarantee question for Toronto teams visiting Oshawa is the sticker again. Oshawa wants the guarantee cut. Toronto teams 'no can see'. Word comes from the Motor City that the executive behind the Dukes are about to 'toss the works' due to lack of support. Operator 98765442 reports that Ulster Stadium officials are already making plans to include a fourth Toronto team. It may operate under the name of 'Dominions'." Here's a chance for the C.O.B.L. to give the prodigal son, Oshawa, a break and say, "Come back, pal, all is forgiven." After all, Oshawa is a C.O.B.L. town and it's up to us to keep senior baseball alive there. Why not let bygones be bygones while they're in a jam?

LAKEFIELD, May 28. (Examiner Correspondence)—A team composed of Grove School Masters and boys played the Whittaker team from Peterborough at The Grove on May 26th and won by 37 runs in a one innings decision. The visitors won the toss and fielded first. The School opened their innings with Finlayson and G. W. Smith against the good bowling of Messrs. Jefferson and Wild. The School's final score was 84. Finlayson and Fletcher batted well, as also did Strickland and Dench, the last named being highest boy scorer with 15. Mr. Goldsmith made 27 but was lucky on more than one occasion.

Whittakers' commenced their innings at about 5 p.m. and with Dench and Strickland bowling well the wickets fell fast, the score being 28 for 6. Mr. Wild made a very valuable 24 out of a final score of 46. Mr. Winder Smith and Mr. K. A. Mackenzie ably assisted in the attack. Dench took 5 for 18, Mr. Smith 3 for 8. Whittakers' followed and made 50 all out by 6.45 p.m. The fielding was keen on both sides and in the second innings six good catches were held by the school fielders.

South-End Review

Results last week: All Saints 17, Cogs 13; Albions 8, Orioles 14; Cogs 5, Nationals 4.

Standing to date:

	P.	W.	L.	P.C.
Cogs	4	3	1	.750
Nationals	4	2	2	.500
Orioles	4	2	2	.500
Albions	4	2	2	.500
All Saints	4	1	3	.250

Monday's fixture saw All Saints win their first game, beating Cogs 17-13. Fisher made his debut as a pitcher for the Saints and threw good ball. Todd for the Cogs was relieved by Leggitt, with Ridley finally finishing.

Albions were again shorthanded for their game Wednesday with Orioles but put up a game fight before losing, 14-8. Cavanagh for the Albions and Hunter for the Birds both pitched well.

Cogs and Nationals staged the best game of the season on Friday, Cogs finally nosing out a win. Wedlock for the Nats had a slight edge on Todd pitching, allowing only seven hits as he walked four and fanned five. Todd gave eleven bigles, struck out three and issued seven walks. Bunched hits in the fifth and sixth gave Cogs the nod, while they had only one error in the field to the Nats' two costly ones.

The teams hit the home stretch for the first half this week and with the teams all having a chance they should put up some hard-fought battles. To-night, Nationals play Orioles, while Albions and All Saints tangle Wednesday, and Orioles meet Cogs on Friday.

PACKERS LOSE LEAGUE POINTS TO ELECTRICS

Stan Clark Scores Winning Goal to Give C.P.C. 2-1 Victory.

LOSERS MINUS PLAYERS.

The Canadian General soccer team collected two league points at Canada Packers' expense, on Saturday afternoon, before a fair attendance of spectators. The losers were minus three players in the first half and added two more at the interval and deserved a draw as a fitting criterion of the game.

Packers Shorthanded

With a full eleven available, the Canadian General faced a nine of Packer's, to centre their activities inside losers' goal area where the Downer brothers held the attack outside the shooting zone. Eventually Buchan transferred the play to the other end where G. Downer slammed a hot drive over the bar, from close range. For the next few minutes, the C. G. E. kept the ball in the vicinity of Chamberlain's charge who saved some smart drives from the foot of Earle and McPhate. While A. Downer robbed McMaster of many opportunities as he was set to score. Bromley beat three up in the corner and travelled down the wing until a timely slip out to G. Downer ended in a rocket drive that Curtis saved.

Todd Scores

The goalie punted clear but Todd ran in to make the count one-up for the Packers. From the centre, the C.G.E. team began to function like a machine and were rewarded with an equalizer by McMaster after the Packers' goalie had saved a low grounder but failed to stop the next low drive that found the inside of the post. Play run from end to end with the goalkeepers being tested frequently at long rang and play was in mid-field when half time was announced. Packers 1, Canadian General 1.

Deciding Goal

Foster started the second half to make the Packers ten men. They had the better of the argument in the opening exchanges and forced the issue until Burgess nipped a dangerous attack to send Quinn along the wing who compelled Bromley to concede a flag bick. The winger placed a perfect centre into goal where it was headed clear but it dropped to the foot of S. Clark. He met the ball as it touched the ground and with deadly accuracy landed the winning counter in below the crossbar. The C.G.E. added pressure through their half back line, following up the close formation attack, that endeavoured to break up the stalwart defensive play of full backs. In fact, the defensive system was more productive than the attack, while Buchan tried hard to carry his teammates to get the equalizer that was not forthcoming through poor marksmanship around goal. C.G.E. had six goal kicks in a row and Packers' three flag kicks that went abegging which was indicative of the losers' attempt to get a point out of the game. Jim Mitchell and his brother Alex at full defense, saved their team while the onslaught continued as the closing minutes drew nigh. Canadian General 2, Canada Packers 1.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

By ALEX. J. MORRISON

It's always a great surprise to women when they learn they're not so popular on the golf course. And they want to know why.

"Well, here's one explanation: Most men playing golf have only a limited amount of time to spend on the course. To them a round, just like a business routine, must be carried out on schedule.

Women, the dears, carry more of the holiday spirit. Between shots they saunter along, chatting about nothing with the result that they very often hold up men who walk faster and tend strictly to their golf.

Women can play as rapidly as men, get just as much fun out of the game—if they'd only stop "visiting" on the course!

LINDSAY BEATEN IN LEAGUE TUSSLE

Losers Not Notified Until Friday Night, Hence Players Absent.

Through lack of proper notification the Lindsay football club were unable to field a proper team against Caledonians at Lindsay, on Saturday, in a league game and were defeated, seven to nothing.

There was no advantage to be gained in the selection of the spin of the coin. Play was confined to mid-field for a long time until Craig outwitted the defense to open the scoring. He gained another counter a little later from a scrimmage in front of goal where Taylor had no chance to stop. Lindsay made many individual attempts to break through but Dinesen and Creighton were punting and checking closely. Just before the interval, the Scots' front rank broke away to finish their attack with Craig registering his third counter. Caledonians 3, Lindsay 1.

Second Half

The second half found Bacon in goal and Lindsay re-arranged their team to make the tussle more interesting. Dyer made it four. Then Craig got his fourth counter, Leggitt and Dyer increasing the tally to seven. Caledonians 7, Lindsay 0.

Lindsay—C. Bacon, goal; J. Springhall and G. Hunt, full backs; A. O'Halloran and T. Dobie, halves; Alex. Moir, George Moir and R. Worthington forwards.

Caledonians—D. Green, goal; R. Creighton and W. Dinesen, full backs; D. Whatman, W. Webb, halves; G. Clark, S. Leggitt, T. Craig, F. Dyer and J. Mayett, forwards.

FOSTERS-ELECTRICS IN E.P.L. OPENER

Strong Club Will Hook-up in First Game at Exhibition Grounds on Tuesday Night.

Manager Doug Hatton, playing manager of the C.G.E. entry in the East Peterborough Baseball League this summer, has a strong team lined up to open the Intermediate season with to-morrow night against Cogs. They play at six at the Exhibition Grounds. Following a stiff workout Saturday, the team was selected and few changes will likely be made through the season.

For pitching, Doug has Lefty Field, Busby and Barry, the latter two right-handers. Field may pitch Tuesday's game. H. Mowry and Hatton will alternate as catchers. Archie Weir, Corbett and Dugan are all trying out at first, with the former probably starting at that bag. Young and Jay are the second base candidates, with Nicholls on short, and Saunders playing third. The outfield will consist of Hope, Huggins, eHtherington and a pitcher or two.

This, on paper, looks like a stronger team than last year's Electrics, finalists in the E.P.L. playoffs. There is youth, pep and ability there under a popular manager, and the 1934 C.G.E. squad should win a lot of games, and perhaps the title, this summer.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

READ THIS FIRST

John Tait, stepson of wealthy Lady Tait is engaged to marry Lucy Burnham, a widow. This is resented by Alysia Naylor, John's cousin, who has been making her home with her sister, Etta, and her brother, Claud, at Tait's abode in England. Alysia tries to spoil the romance by using her own fiance, Reggie Claridge, to win Mrs. Burnham's affections. Lady Tait sees her stepson talking to a beautiful young girl, whom she dislikes at once, in a hotel lobby at Vichy where she and her new friend, Mrs. Burnham, are stopping. The girl, revealed as Gillian Dundas who has been blackmailing Tait through a past indiscretion, talks of Tait to a strange-looking young man in another hotel. Meanwhile Claridge arrives from England, introduces himself to Lady Tait, and is immediately taken by Miss Dundas' beauty. (NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 8

But prude or no, Claridge found that Miss Dundas would have none of him, when he tried later on to improve the acquaintance. Not being Lady Tait, he had no clue as to why she barely tolerated him, refused to laugh at his most risque jokes, and generally stiffened whenever he joined her.

As to Mrs. Burnham, further acquaintance only deepened his conviction that he would never be able to cut John out from the little widow's affections, nor would want to achieve that feat. She bored him stiff, and apparently he had the same effect on her. So the journey to Vichy was a washout as far as the plan was concerned, but it had shown him Gillian Dundas, and to her he devoted himself. He was playing false with the woman who had sent him to Vichy, did not trouble Claridge in the least. He was always playing women false. He determined that he would yet make an impression on the cool, disdainful beauty whose yellow gray eyes fell away from his own passionate ones so indifferently. Something hot and ugly stirred in him at her ignoring of him. An ignoring that told him, quite rightly, that for some reason or other she did not take him at his own face value. It stung Claridge. He had hitherto found his good looks all that was needed to capture a young woman of Gillian Dundas' type, and he could not understand why these assets of his did not avail now. As to having misread the girl's type, he knew better! That Mrs. Burnham should be quite patently indifferent to him he could understand. She was about to make a much better match, and, moreover, Claridge could not get up any steam where she was concerned. But that this girl, with that in her—black spots—which he felt and knew were kin to his own stripes, that she should pass him over so negligently was intolerable. It could only mean, he felt sure, there was another man. Jealousy flamed and smoked in Claridge. It was not Naylor. The girl exerted herself to please the young barrister, it was true, but Naylor refused to become a victim. However desperately he flirted, his manner always underscored the fact that it was but a flirtation, and Claridge was sure that Gillian herself was not in the least moved by Naylor. That meant that it was some illicit, or at least clandestine, love affair. He had twice come on her and Tait in an out of the way place at the Casino or in the hotel. Each time they had had some easy careless explanation, but each time Tait had looked stirred—moved. Dimly Claridge saw a possibility of pleasing Alysia, justifying his own mission as an irresistible Adonis, without the bother of making love to Lucy Burnham.

Claridge watched Gillian Dundas as a cat watches a mousehole. Unknown to her, he even moved into the next room to hers, the better to spy and listen. There was no result. He decided to leave Vichy as soon as his week was up.

Going down to the lounge to post the letter to Alysia, which would tell her of his return with his mission unaccomplished, he nearly ran into Lady Tait's group which, for once, Mrs. de Souza and Miss Dundas had joined. Mrs. Burnham was chatting pleasantly to the young girl, who met her rather shy advances with an air of bored hauteur. Lady Tait made no advances. She spoke to Miss Dundas as little as possible, and answered her as briefly.

The manager bustled up. Would the ladies and gentlemen be interested to see a real Moroccan sorceter? There was one in the hotel for this evening who had been chief soothsayer to Abd-el-Krim himself. He was said to be marvelous. Paris was wild over him. Later on, he would give a sort of midnight show for all the guests, but if the ladies would like the chance to see and hear him first, perhaps to try him, eh? These things, one did not believe them, of course, oh no! But they were rather amusing, were they not?

Now Lady Tait, oddly enough, was rather interested. She had once met a man in Egypt, a snake charmer, who had told her two events, both of capital importance in her life, which had come true within the year. Mrs. Burnham demurred. She was not quite sure that she approved of such things. Either the man was an out and out fraud, and one should not encourage frauds, or there might be something in it, in which case it rather frightened her. . . .

Mrs. de Souza was all aglow at the idea. She was a rather plethoric, silent woman who eyed any one talking to her with a somnolent good humor that was occasionally belied by a glance of quite unusual sharpness. Gillian Dundas, too, begged to see the marvel.

"Come this way," the manager murmured, leading them around into his private sitting room. He left them there, and a minute later a tall, thin figure in an Arab's flowing robes bowed gravely to the group.

"You wish to know the future," he began, briskly, in perfect French. Without waiting for the affirmation he unrolled a strip of oil cloth that he carried under his arm, and laid it on the table after glancing at a wrist-compass. "I face Messa," he murmured, as he stood behind it rather like a salesman. From his bosom he drew out a little red bag, and opening it, placed it by his side on the cloth. It contained—he said—sand from the desert.

"Now will you all stand around the table?" he asked. "I will then read the sand as it falls, as to the future, and in general terms. After that, I will go into that inner room, and whoever of you likes can have a private reading, when I will tell the whole truth, for I am one who sees the whole truth. But for the moment I speak in general terms, and each of you can judge how much I could tell—in private."

There was no mistaking the fact that Mrs. de Souza now looked distinctly uneasy. It was only when she saw Lady Tait eyeing her with rather malicious enjoyment, and caught the surprised look in Lucy Burnham's eyes, that she assumed an air of indifference.

The Arab dipped his right hand into the sand in front of each. "I will start with you, sir." Tait was the one nearest to him on his right. The Arab bent forward, letting more sand begin to dribble through his fingers. Then he gave a sort of convulsive start, and did the same in front of the next, then rapidly round the circle. In an instant he had stepped back from the table, swept the sand on it back into his red bag, caught up the oilcloth and vanished.

The group around the table waited. This was part of the show. Lady Tait began to laugh, it was so absurd. "How long do we wait here, until cock-crow, or something of that sort? I hope he hasn't gone to sacrifice the cock by the way." Lucy Burnham did not laugh. She had an idea—absurd, of course, that the man had fled.

The door opened, but it was the manager only. And a most apologetic manager.

"Miladi, mesdames, messieurs, I am desolated! Figure to yourselves that idiot has left some important charm behind him in Paris and cannot tell fortunes without it. He has gone to wire for it to be sent him—the toe of some holy man probably—but until it comes he is just an ordinary Arab, he says, and can no more tell the past or the future than you or I."

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, May 29

The lunar aspects presage another day of difficulties and disturbances to be handled with sagacity and calm deliberation. In these adverse conditions treachery, fraud, slander and subtle enmities may have to be brought into the open to be vigorously dealt with. But help from friends and those in place of power and authority may be counted upon, and wise counsel all depends upon good management.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a year calling for all their natural sagacity and good judgment as well as the support and friendly counsel of those of power and prestige in order to meet some treacherous and disintegrating circumstances. All depends on this wise manipulation and alertness to fraud, trickery and subtle enmities. Be careful also in personal relations.

A child born on this day may be efficient and ambitious, popular and have good friends, but it may lean toward expediency rather than open methods of principle.

WOOLER RESIDENT RECEIVES HONOR

Presentation and Address Read Gwendoline Elford at Farewell Party.

WOOLER, May 28. (Examiner Correspondence).—On Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Terrill opened their nome to sixty guests, who gathered as a surprise party in honor of Gwendoline Elford, who is sailing on the Ausonia for England on June 1st, to pay a visit to her mother, whom she has not seen for twenty years. Gwendiline has been secretary of her Sunday school class for seven years and to show their appreciation of her service and loyalty the Y.G.C.'s presented her with an up-to-date brown leather suitcase accompanied with an address.

The chairman of the evening, Percy Gooding, asked for community singing, with Nina Meyers at the piano.

The guests were young people and older people and were expected to sing the old familiar songs in separate groups suggested by the chairman.

Mr. Gooding, having crossed the Atlantic seven times, was prepared to talk on the subject "Ocean Travel."

A reading on "Friendship" was given by Helen Tackabury.

A chapter out of the book, "Three Men in a Boat" was ready by Marguerite Davey. Vocal duett, Beatrice Bragg and Vera Coutts. Miss Bragg played for more community singing.

A presentation and address from the immediate neighborhood of a steamer rug and a box of silk lingerie was also made.

Miss Elford replied in a few words of appreciation of the gifts and such a surprise to her.

Mrs. W. Montgomery of the class (teacher), was called on for a few remarks. Mildred McCall of the Friendship Club; Rev .A. Poulter, pastor; James Terrill, Young Peoples, and Mr. Esll Terrill, who spoke of the high esteem in which Gwendoline was held in the home and how she will be missed.

Nancy and Alfred Gooding (Juniors) presented small gifts. Light refreshments were served and at a late hour the party dispersed.

FARMER SLAYS THREE, SUICIDES

Becomes Enraged When Youth Arrives to Wed Housekeeper's Daughter.

SHOOTS NEIGHBOR.

RAMSEY, Ill., May 28. (AP).—Enraged when a young farmer called to marry his housekeeper's daughter, Thos. Haye, 69, Saturday shot and killed three persons, including the bride-to-be and her mother, then committed suicide.

The dead, in addition to Hayes, are: Miss Rosie Harris, 17, a graduate of the Ramsey High School.

Mrs. Myrtle Harris, 40, Hayes' housekeeper for 10 years and mother of Rosie, and William Roberts, 60, a farmer living near the Hayes home.

Henry Spires, a farmer living in the neighborhood, who was to have married Rosie to-day at Vandalia, escaped by dodging behind his automobile.

When Spires arrived to take the girl to Vandalia to become his bride, Hayes got a shotgun, and Mrs. Harris, her daughter and Spires fled to the nearby Roberts farm. Roberts was working in a field.

When the shooting started he started for the scene, arriving to find Mrs. Harris and the girl dead from shotgun wounds.

Roberts wrested the shotgun from Hayes but Hayes drew a revolver and shot Roberts dead. Hayes then killed himself with the revolver.

If you are going to sell many high-priced eggs, next November and December, the Pullets from June-hatched Chicks have got to start climbing into the nests at 5 months old—and they've got to be big, vigorous and well matured at that time. The Value of an Education

To determine the actual financial value of a college education, disregarding the cultural and social advantages involved, Dr. Everett W. Lord, of Boston University, conducted a nation-wide survey in the United States with the assistance of the Alpha Kappa Psi business fraternity. From averages secured by interviewing many thousands of individuals carefully selected from all walks of life, the following information was obtained:

The average untrained boy goes to work at age 14. He reaches his maximum income of about $1,700 a year at age 40. From 14 to 60, he earns a total of $64,000.

The average high school graduate goes to work at age 18. He passes the untrained man within ten years and reaches his maximum income of $2,800 at age 50. By age 60, he has earned a total of $88,000.

The college man begins his career about age 22. Before he is 30, however, he has caught up with the man who started to work four years earlier. At 60, his income is $6,000 to $8,000 a year. His total earnings at age 60 are $160,000 to $200,000.

From these averages, it is evident that, in the past, the four years spent in high school has been worth $24,000 in increased lifetime earnings. An additional four years spent in college, however, has been worth in the neighbodhood of $100,000 in increased lifetime earnings. The general trend is such as to increase this differential rather than diminish it. Any straight thinking parent who considers these facts in the light of his own son's future, cannot fail but reach the conclusion that a college education will be worth almost any sacrifice in order to assure it.

In the case of a daughter, the situation is practically unchanged. A college education brings the same cultural, financial and social advantages to a girl that it brings to a boy. Should she be planning a career for herself, as many girls do these days, a college education is just as necessary as for a boy, perhaps even more so, as business seems to demand more training from a girl than from the average man.

Should a girl prefer a career as homemaker, at first glance it might seem that a college education is not so necessary. But upon second thought, it is apparent that a college education gives her an overwhelming advantage. The college girl will, in almost every case, marry a college-trained man. Thus, automatically, she places herself on a higher plane, socially, culturally and financially.

Hero Admiral Dying, All Japan Praying

TOKYO, May 28.—(A.P.)—A nation's anxiety was centred to-day upon a simple wooden home in the heart of Tokyo, where Admiral Count Heihachiro Togo, Japan's hero of heroes, battled for his life against cancer and other diseases.

The 86 year old "Nelson of Japan," who commanded the annihilation of the Russian Grand Fleet in 1905, was fully conscious, but physicians admitted his condition was most critical.

Throughout the day thousands bowed and prayed before the home, where leaders of the Empire visited. Japan yesterday observed the 29th anniversary of the crushing victory over the Russians.

DR. WM. SPANKIE DIES IN KINGSTON

Was Conservative Member in the House of Commons for Frontenac-Addington.

PROMINENT DOCTOR.

KINGSTON, May 28 (C.P.).—Dr. William Spankie, Conservative member in the House of Commons for Frontenac-Addington, died in the Kingston General Hospital on Sunday. He was 74 years of age and had been ill for some time.

The funeral will be held under Masonic auspices at 2.30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. J. W. Stephen, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Interment will take place in Cataraqui Cemetery.

Dr. Spankie was born in Kingston, October 17, 1859, son of William Creig Spankie of Scotch descent, and Margaret Ann Lanktre, Irish descent. He was educated in Kingston private and public schools, the Kingston Collegiate Institute and Queen's University, obtaining his degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1882, and the medical degree in 1885.

He settled at Wolfe Island after he graduated, and he later was selected public school inspector for the county, a position he held for 26 years. In 1912, he was elected Reeve of Wolfe Island, and the next year was chosen Warden of the County of Frontenac.

For sixteen consecutive years he represented his township in the County Council of Frontenac, retiring from municipal politics to accept the Conservative nomination after the death of Hon. Dr. J. W. Edwards in 1920. He was successful in the by-election, and the next year at the general elections he defeated Samuel Stinchcombe, Liberal, by 3,371 majority.

Mills and Meteoer Lake district were fought by 150 men with the aid of Ontario Forestry Department gas cars. Equipment from as far as Sudbury was rushed in. Oba and Honepayne fought fires in the bush-lands near there, and other fires burned along the trans-Canada highway on the north shore of Lake Superior close to the Pancake River work camp.

Half a Dozen Outbreaks.

Several fires of more or less serious nature were reported from half a dozen localities in Quebec. Three cottages at the Aldermac Mine were reported destroyed, while fire was said to be raging at Taschereau and in Cadillac Township, in which is situated the Pandora Mine.

Arntfield Mine was in direct line of the fre that swept through Provencher, but a fortunate decrease in the velocity of the wind caused proprietors to breathe more easily. Another fire raged along the Beattie Railway near its junction with the Canadian National Railways.

Throughout the day the entire district was shrouded in a dense cloud of smoke which completely obliterated the sun from view Both in Ontario and Quebec forest rangers and volunteer fire-fighters worked all night in frantic efforts to prevent the fires from spreading and causing further damage.

A forest fire swept across the northern half of Falconbridge Township about 18 miles north-east of Sudbury.

The fire advanced on a two-mile front at the same time employees of the Falconbridge Nickel Mines were trying to extinguish a small fire near the company's smelter.

There are no settlements in the path of the larger fire and providing an east wind that fanned the flames dies down, little danger to communities is anticipated.

Magistrate's Court

AT CAMPBELLFORD

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, May 28.—Adjournment for one week was made by Magistrate J. M. Bygott in Campbellford Police Court on Saturday, in the case of Stanley Carnrite of Trent River, when he faced a charge of unlawfully having liquor in his possession not purchased on his individual permit, to which he pleaded not guilty. J. A. O'Brien of Peterborough acted for the defence, the charge being laid by Provincial Constable Gordon Campbell of Brighton. The case was adjourned at the request of the police to enable them to secure a liquor permit belonging to Carnrite and now in the possession of the Liquor Board, as a means of finding out if a case of beer exhibited, and secured by the police from the Carnrite home on May 15, was purchased by the accused on his permit. Mr. O'Brian registered an objection to the adjournment, wishing the case disposed of that afternoon, but out of a sense of fairness to all concerned Magistrate Bygott held it over for one week.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

CHICAGO GRAIN

Possibilities that this week would witness a general break-up of drought led to wheat setbacks late Saturday that more than wiped out earlier gains.

The United States Government weekly forecast pointed to a period of probable showery conditions, and this with profit-taking on a large scale did much to cause a right-about-face of the market action. Downturns of values, however, did not ensue until after Sepember delivery of wheat and also of oats as well as cash corn had overtopped season high-price records.

Wheat closed easy at the same as Friday's finish; corn ¼c to ½c down; oats, ⅛c to ½c up, and provisions unchanged to 7c decline.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Butter, egg and cheese quotations advanced on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market last week.

After easing in the early part of the week, fresh No. 1 butter in carlots or less finished the week with a gain of ¼c at 20¼c to 20¾c a pound. To retailers solids were 22c and prints 23c a pound. A total of fifteen boxes of butter were exported bringing the total for the year to date to 79, as compared with 363 in the corresponding period of last year. Receipts were 15,805 boxes against 13,280 the previous week.

Graded shipments of eggs in carlots or less advanced ½c, A-large being quoted at 20½c a dozen, A-medium at 19½c ,B at 18½c and C at 17½c. Exports were 500 cases and arrivals totalled 22,627 cases, as compared with 19,828 the week before.

Ontario colored cheese was ½c higher at 9½c to 9¾c a pound. Cheese exports amounted to 2,187 boxes, making the total for the season 10,635 boxes in comparison to 14,637 boxes this time last year.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 28. — Fearing the weather might break over the week-end, long holders were inclined to take profits on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange on Saturday, with the result, prices were hammered down after every advance, to close only ½c higher to unchanged.

The week-end weather forecast was for continued heat over the wheat belt of Western Canada and United States, but profit-taking minimized its effect on the market. May wheat closed at 73⅜c, July at 74⅝c, and October at 76¼c.

Buying was mixed in character, and there did not appear to be much in the shape of export demand. Prices started ⅜c up, but fell 1¼c from the high points, and for the greater part of the session bobbed up and down rapidly.

Demand for cash grains was negligible. Coarse grains futures met heavy profit-taking and held barely steady.

unemployment insurance and "reasonable wage scales and hours of labor."

Mr. Hepburn emphasized that the Liberal Party would concentrate on finding a place in industry for the blind, and improving living conditions through forming industrial standards and preventing "abuses."

The statement pledged the Liberal party to strive for a revival of timber activities. Mr. Hepburn charged that the province's forest resources had been "grossly mismanaged. Agriculture would be given every assistance and the Dominion government would be urged to increase export markets by lowering trade barriers.

Under a Liberal regime there would be regulation of home markets, wholesale markets and there also would be cold storage plants, warehouses and the milk, fruit and vegetables industries would be regulated to benefit the producer and consumer.

The statement charged the Conservative government with attempting "to buy the electors with their own money" by expending public money lavishly on the eve of the election. Under a Liberal government, Mr. Hepburn said, there would be "financial reform" in the spending of public money.

Contracts to "Friends."

The statement declares the government stopped highway work last year as an economy step, but with the coming of an election it proposed to spend $20,000,000 in building roads, awarding contracts to "political friends" and giving thousands employment "until after the vote."

In further reference to election expenditures the statement added:

"The politically-minded Hydro Electrical Commission is spending a million and a half on a palatial building in Toronto; wages in the government camps have been increased to six times the amount paid during winter months, and even relief has been made a little more generous."

The Provincial debt, the statement continued, had been increased to $610,000,000. Hydro purchased power unnecessarily at exorbitant rates and the system generally mismanaged. "The two Aird payments of $50,000 and $125,000 add a more sinister aspect to the proceeding," Mr. Hepburn said.

CAMPBELLFORD

NEWS ITEMS FOR THE TRENT TOWN DISTRICT

A new business has started up in Campbellford with the opening of an electrical shop in the store in the Linton Block on Bridge Street, recently occupied by W. E. Carnahan. This new venture is being run by Frank DeCarrol, who for many years was associated with the Hydro-Electric staff, and will comprise the sale of all electric goods as well as extensive repair and service work. Douglas Maybee is associated with Mr. DeCarrol in this enterprise.

Maynard Watson, son of Dr. and Mrs. O. C. Watson, Queen Street, has passed with honors in the licensing examination of the Ontario College of Pharmacy, Toronto.

And the German guns, trophies of the World War, which decorate the War Memorial, are now undergoing a complete overhauling, repairing and repainting. This is being done by Clarence B. Williams, at his service station on Bridge Street. Mr. Williams is president of the local Legion branch, and takes a keen interest in this work.

St. John's United Church is looking spick and span these days, with a complete new set of steps, installed last week by Harvey Donald. A new cement walk from the base of the steps to the sidewalk will also be made to complete this very necessary repair.

The ladies of the Baptist Church held a very pleasing sale on Saturday afternoon, combined with an afternoon tea. This was staged in the Corkery Block, and drew a very large attendance, proving a great success.

Speakers who will be associated with the Hon. George S. Henry, when he addresses a Campbellford rally on Tuesday, are Mrs. Sanford Henderson, W. H. Ireland, M.L.A., of Trenton, T. P. Lancaster, M.L.A., of Havelock, and Master Sandy McDonald of Hastings.

Call Is Extended To Rev. H. P. Seymour

CAMPBELLFORD, May 28. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent)—A unanimous call has been extended by the United Church congregations of Springville and Fairmount to the Rev. H. P. L. Seymour of Campbellford, to fill the vacancy of mininster of that charge, occasioned by the death of the late Rev. S. H. Moyer.

The Rev. Mr. Seymour for the past year has been the minister in charge of St. John's United Church Campbellford, and during his ministry has endeared himself into the hearts of a large number of people. Popular in the community, his ministry in the town has been very successful. The Rev. and Mrs. Selymour with their family expect to take up their new work at the beginning of July.

Tired, Below Par? Try This "Hospital-Tested" Remedy

If you knew that a remedy had been scientifically tested at a hospital on 40 patients, to prove its value in correcting run-down, always tired, below par conditions, and the results had been so good that they impressed the doctor in charge of the test, wouldn't you, too, be impressed?

Such a test was recently made on that famous preparation, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. At a leading Canadian hospital, 40 students formed the test patients in a clinic to determine the exact amount these world-known Pills increased the haemoglobin and red blood corpuscles in the blood streams of tired out, nervously-exhausted people. (These two vital blood elements carry oxygen from the lungs and nutriment from the food to every cell in the body, and a lack of them is the cause of these rundown conditions.)

In every case where the red corpuscles had been below normal at the start, there was a recorded increase after the treatment on Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—and in 95 per cent. of the cases the haemoglobin content had also improved. The patients had lost their tired-out feeling, had regained their pep and energy, and their general health was again normal."

Are you needlessly putting up with that distressing "tired out" feeling that indicates a run-down condition? Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will benefit you as they benefitted these 40 scientifically-tested patients. This proven preparation will restore your energy, vigor and buoyant health because it revitalizes your blood stream. You are taking no chances, as the hospital test shows. You are bound to feel stronger, revitalized, and more vigorous as you take the treatment.

Start taking this proven blood-builder right away. It is equally good for children, "teen-age" girls and adults. Your druggist has these Pills in stock—50c a package.

"Individual reports on these 40 patients, certified by the hospital pathologist, are on file.

BOY SCOUTS AT DIVINE SERVICE

Annual Church Parade of St. John's Troop and Pack Held Yesterday.

Rector Commends Scouts.

On the occasion of the attendance at Divine service yesterday morning of Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs at St. John's Church, Venerable Archdeacon Dr. R. C. Blagrave commended the Scout laws with their duty to God, King and country, and their high-minded rules of personal conduct, to the entire congregation.

The parade was well attended not only by members of 1st Peterborough (St. John's) Scout Troop and Wolf Cub Pack, but also by visiting Scouts and Cubs from St. Andrew's and All Saints' Churches, as well as by officers of Peterborough Boy Scout Association, including District Commissioner John T. Hornsby and Assistant District Commissioner Albert Hope.

From the pulpit Archdeacon Blagrave, who is Troop Chaplain, expressed his gratitude and pleasure at seeing such a large turnout of boys. To the visitors he extended a warm welcome, and explained to the congregation something of the organization of the local Scout Association, with particular reference to the officers of St. John's Troop and Pack.

In his remarks relative to the Association, Archdeacon Blagrave paid tribute to the work of Commissioner Hornsby, and President H. C. Scotheran. The latter, he said, was a member of St. John's Troop Committee, which was also composed of Colonel D. J. Lawrie and Dr. G. Murray Fraser.

Officers of the Troop, he remarked, were Scoutmaster G. Groombridge, with Assistant Scoutmasters Fred Ford and Warren Turner. He congratulated each of the three officers on their contribution to local Scouting, mentioning Warren Turner as one of the original movers in the organization of the troop.

Archdeacon Blagrave also made mention of Troopleader Clifford Boate and Cubmaster Bill Coleman and his assistant, Albert Stevens.

The color party was in charge of Patrol Leader Tom Hooper, and was composed of Scouts Phil Turner and Jim Beattie. During the service the colors were deposited in the sanctuary.

Visiting Scouts from St. Andrew's were under leadership of S.M. Vic Millard, while the Assistant Commissioner was present with a representation from All Saints' Church.

U. S. WILL JOIN INTERNATIONAL BAN UPON ARMS

Also Ready to Comply With Substantial Reduction of Naval Armaments.

DAVIS TELLS NATIONS.

Refuses, However, to Participate in Solution of Problems Solely European.

GENEVA, May 29 (C.P.-A.P. Cable). — The United States cannot be expected to participate in the solution of problems essentially European, and cannot be expected to share responsibility for enforcement by European Powers of any sanctions that may be written in a disarmament convention.

This traditional policy of the United States was reiterated without deviation to-day by Norman Davis, American Ambassador at large, as the World Disarmament Conference resumed for a critical session that may well see the end of its efforts at limitation and reduction of armaments, for the time being at least.

Davis, however, repeated the United States would not stand in the way of an agreement that might bring political appeasement in Europe. The United States was willing to join in substantial reduction of naval armaments, an international agreement regulating sale of armaments and an effective system for the regulation of their manufacture, he declared.

To a Successful End

The conference had been opened by Arthur Henderson, President, with a strong and earnest plea that the work should be brought to a successful end. "In view of the decisions already taken by the conference," said Mr. Henderson, "it would be unjustifiable to surrender to pessimism and give up what has already been obtained.

It was vital that the conference should endeavor to restore general

GIRL IS FOUND DEAD IN GARAGE

Clothes Partly Burned Off—Police Uncertain Whether Murder or Suicide.

NO SIGN OF STRUGGLE.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 29—(AP)—Miss Verginia Johnson, daughter of State treasurer Charles G. Johnson, was found dead in a garade here. Her body, partly burned, was identified by her uncle, J. A. Johnson, a brother of the state treasurer.

The state treasurer, a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, who was in San Francisco, was notified. Dr. George Fitzpatrick, a dentist, also identified the girl from dental work he had done for her.

The girl was 22 years old. Police were undetermined at the time of the identification whether the girl had been murdered or committed suicide.

The body was found in a garage last night three blocks from the Johnson home. The clothes had been burned almost completely off the body. From the position of the body and lack of evidence of a struggle police believe she was dead before her clothing soaked with kerosene was set afire. A container partly filled with kerosene was found in the garage.

Car Jumps Ditch, Lands On 4-Foot Stump Brantford Student s Escape With Bruises

BRANTFORD, May 29 (C.P.).—A carload of Brantford students jumped the ditch off No. 2 highway about one mile east of Alberton today and the car landed on top of a tree stump four feet off the ground. Lorne Colling, 62 Terrace Hill; Margaret Aldrich, 265 Sheridan Street; Margaret Craddock, Birketts Lane, and Noble Hubbard, 7 Russell Street, being injured in the accident. Colling is most seriously injured, his spine being hurt, while the other three were cut and bruised, Miss Aldrich more severely than Miss Craddock or Hubbard. The car was driven by Hubbard.

The car in which the young people, all students at Hamilton Normal School, were riding, apparently left the road as it was passing a truck and it leaped off the ground to the top of the tree stump, where it stopped and remained balanced.

All passengers were in position in the car on top of the stump.

THIRD CANDIDATE IN FIELD TO STAY AUDIENCE TOLD

Only Dry in Local Election Rev. Sutherland Declares at Rally.

DR. COTTON SPEAKS.

Out for Clean Politics—Sees No Difference Between Old Parties.

Replying to the suggestion of the temperance forces of the riding that either he or the Liberal candidate, James Hawthorne, withdraw from the election in the interests of the temperance cause, Rev. John Sutherland declared himself the only dry candidate in the local contest and announced his intention to run as the C.C.F. candidate at a C.C.F. rally last night. Mr. Hawthorne may talk dry but he can not escape the fact that he i s standing for a party which has already endorsed the beer and wine amendment, he asserted.

The rally represented the first salvo to be fired in the local C.C.F. campaign. A gathering of two hundred persons attended the occasion making up in enthusiasm what they lacked in numbers in comparison with the rallies of the other two parties which have already been held in the riding. Dr. Lorna Cotton, the C.C.F. candidate for Durham, and James Buckley, C.C.F. candidate for West York and at one time the leader of the Labour Party in the Ontario Government, were the feature speakers aside from Mr. Sutherland. W. L. Abbott, vice-president of the local club, held the chair.

Mr. Abbott undertook a word of explanation in regard to charges that Mr. Sutherland had been named candidate without the democratic benefit of an open convention. As it is the policy of the C. C.F. that its candidates shall be approved by the Ontario council, it was hardly in order that an open convention should be held, he said.

TREATIES BLOCK MOVE TO HALT CHACO FIGHTING

U. S. Pacts With Bolivia, Paraguay Guarantee Free Flow of Commerce.

ORDERS NO ARMS SOLD.

Washington Says S. American Nations Must Aid if Plan to Succeed.

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP) — Obstacles in the form of treaties stood to-day in the way of concerted action to cut off munitions from Paraguay and Bolivia, battling in the Gran Chaco.

President Roosevelt, in what was called a step unprecedented in United States history, issued last night a proclamation outlawing the sale in this country of war materials for the belligerents.

It was the first such step taken during the long war, and it placed the United States with other nations in the effort to halt the strife. Thirty-one countries plan to participate tomorrow in a League meeting at Geneva at which a general arms embargo will be discussed.

The President's advisers believed his move might fall short of its goal unless other South American countries joined in the action. Although they are favorably disposed to do so, it was learned, treaties with Bolivia and Paraguay guaranteeing a free flow of commerce are proving a hindrance.

The United States itself has such treaties with both belligerents. Therefore it could not declare an outright embargo, resorting instead to prohibition of sales in the United States.

Two years' imprisonment and $100,000 fine is the maximum penalty for such sales provided in the joint Congressional resolution under which the President acted. He warned that violations would be "rigorously prosecuted."

Violates 1677 Law Paper Dealer Fined

HAVERFORDWEST, Wales, May 29 (AP)—Because he violated a law passed in 1677 against Sunday trading a local dealer was fined the equivalent of $1.25 for selling a Sunday newspaper.

Despite the defence's plea that about 17,000,000 newspapers are sold every Sunday in England and Wales, the magistrate ruled they are not necessities.

It was one of the rare occasions that the ancient Sunday Blue Law has been enforced.

Three Men Escape From Pragge Jail

BLIND RIVER, Ont., May 29.—(CP)—Lucien Villeneuve, Dan Ward and Carl Lawrence arrested here yesterday morning on charge of roobery at Pragge, broke jail shortly after midnight and are now sought by five provincial constables, a game warden and Town Constable Labbe. Arthur Larush, who was on guard in a room above the cells, discovered the break just after it had taken place.

HEAVY SHOWERS SAVE 50 MINERS IN FOREST FIRE

Property Damage of $200,000 Done in North Ontario Since Friday.

New York Officials Threaten to Close All Woods if New Blazes Start.

(By the Canadian Press)

Heavy rains in Northern Quebec and lesser downfall in Northern Ontario today reduced the menace of brush fires sweeping over mining districts. At Malrobic mines in Quebec, where 500 miners were encircled by flames Monday, the fires were completely extinguished and other points reported relief.

Property damage estimated at over $200,000 was caused by the fires which have made serious headway since they broke out Friday.

The Aldermac Mine property 10 miles north of Rouyn, 173, was heavily damaged, while a school and a home in Desnadrouins township as well as another school in Arntfield village, Temiskaming county, also fell prey to the flames.

From the air the Canadian Press correspondent counted no less than 20 different blazes over Cadillac township and Bourlamaque, a distance of about 30 miles.

In Ontario the danger spot was in the vicinity of Sudbury where 300 men worked all day at two large blazes.

A severe fire was also under way in Moffitt Township along an eight-mile area and another was out of control in Falconbridge township.

Village Out of Danger

Provencher, Que. village threatened Sunday with complete obliteration appeared out of danger, the flames licking all about the settlement of 300 residents but never getting a strong enough hold to cause any appreciable damage.

Prospects were also brighter for the Arntfield Mine which appeared yesterday as though it might fall prey to the blaze. The fire about the mine seemed to have died out and officials breathed more easily for the first time since the weekend when the majority of the fires broke out.

Henri Kieffer, chief of the Quebec government fire protection service, reported there were still nine or 10 fires out of control. Mr. Kieffer stated reports from his rangers indicated that the more serious conflagrations were in Abitibi and Temiskaming counties.

Small outbreaks were fought successfully at Riviere Du Loup the farthest spot in an eastward direction in which fire has broken out.

Centre of operation for the firefighters are the twin cities of Rouyn-Noranda. The flames are Former Pembroke Boy Succumbs to Malaria in Royal Air Force.

JOINED IN 1929.

PEMBROKE, Ont., May 29 (C.P.).—Word was received here yesterday of the death in Iraq of Flying Officer Jeffrey Hale Supple of the Royal Air Force. A native of Pembroke, and 31 years old, the airman died of malaria, and his parents were officially notified by cable.

Before joining the Royal Air Force he took an officer's training course at Camp Borden. He attended St. Andrew's College, Toronto, where he was prominent in athletics, and later McGill University, Montreal.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Supple, and one brother, Alan, of Port Arthur, survive.

STATE MEDICINE IS NOT WANTED

Dr. G. Stewart Cameron Addresses Ontario Medical Association.

POLITICAL PURPOSES.

TORONTO, May 29 (CP)—"If medicine is the servant of the State, it may fall into the inertia of a subsidized profession with indifference to those chiefly concerned —the people, Dr. G. Stewart Cameron, Peterborough, told the Ontario Medical Association to-day.

Dr. Cameron doubted whether the medical profession in this province or in Canada wishes to become a State-directed service. He believed that the doctors would rather retain their present status as "partners" of the province, with provincial health authorities concentrating chiefly on preventative measures.

The "shelter of state medicine" was often mooted more for political than medical reasons, he declared. Amendment of the B.N.A. Act might be required, Dr. Cameron, believed, to permit State control of medicine here, but he warned against holus-bolus adoption of other countries' ideas.

Unpaid Taxes to Shut Schools In Moosejaw

MOOSEJAW, Sask., May 29.—(CP)—Teachers of the public schools and collegiate, janitors of the schools, maintenance men and the secretary treasurer and his staff will be notified that on and after June 30 their services will be no longer required.

At a special meeting of the school trustees yesterday motions were passed which said that owing to lack of finances the school boards would be unable to retain the services of the staffs after June 30.

Between now and next September every means of finding the necessary finances to keep the schools open will be explored and every avenue investigated. At the present time the school trustees could see no way of raising the necessary money until taxes are paid.

CAN'T RESIST BEGGING

TORONTO—When Joe Bleavan was arrested a month ago for begging and it was found he had more than $1,600 in the bank he got off with a sentence of $10 or 10 days. He was in police court again today on the same charge and drew a sentence of $20 or three months. He took the three months.

FATHER ACCEPTS FAIR MANAGER'S CASHGUARANTEE

Representative to Arrive by Plane in 48 Hours With $5,000 Deposit.

Babes, Mother Doing Well.

Special Train, Doctors, Nurses to be Chartered When Family Able to Travel.

NORTH BAY, May 29. — (CP)—A guarantee of $50,000 to exhibit his newborn quintuplets was made to Oliva Dionne, Corbeil, at 12:50 p.m. E.S.T. today, according to G. I. Green, merchant of Callander, who did the talking for Mr. Dionne.

Mr. Green gave the name of Mrs. Spiers, general manager of the Chicago world's fair as the person making the offer. He further stated Mr. Dionne accepted and a representative is to arrive by airplane within 48 hours to sign a contract and make a deposit of $5,000 or $10,000.

Mr. Spiers further offered, Mr. Greene stated, to charter a special train with doctor, nurse and other necessary medical attendants, to transport the families to Chicago.

It was stated the Fair authorities will be satisfied to await removal of the family until physician declares them fit to travel.

Babes Gaining Fast

NORTH BAY, Ont., May 29 (CP) —The world-renowned Dionne quintuplets at Corbeil were this morning reported by Dr. A. R. Dafoe, Callander, attending physician, as strengthening after his first visit of the day. All five expanded their lungs considerable by lusty crying throughout the night. Both mother and babes are doing as well as can be expected, said Dr. Dafoe. They are now more than 30 hours old and going strong.

A nurse is attending the mother and babes, but Dr. Dafoe is anxious that this service be a day and night. He appealed to the Ontario Division of the Red Cross, Toronto, last night, and is hoping that help well come from that source. He believes that with proper attention all babes have a good chance of surviving.

Home Is Closed

The home has been closed to all except close relatives, Dr. Dafoe stated this morning. The home was beseiged by sympathetic friends and others prompted by curiosity yesterday, and with this the family was visited by newspapermen and photographers throughout the day. Enquiries and congratulatory messages received by the family and doctor indicated that the "unusual arrival" spread over the continent in a matter of minutes.

"We need another nurse so that the mother and babes will be attended day and night," said Dr. Dafoe. "And we also require another basket—the five little lassies

J. A. Howland Is Fatally Injured

Crushed between two automobiles, J. A. Howland of Scarboro, a former resident of Peterborough, succumbed to his injuries in the Western Hospital, Toronto, yesterday. He was well known in this city and leaves several relatives here.

The unusual accident occurred as he stood in front of his own car parked by the side of a street. A car ahead which started backward without warning, caught him before he could leap clear and pinned him to the front of his own machine. Severely injured, he fought a losing battle for life as efforts to save him were made at the hospital.

Mr. Howland was brother of J. Howland, local butcher, and Mrs. Grace Airriess, 595 George street. He leaves a widow and three daughters. The funeral is to take place from the Washington Church in Scarboro to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

THREE GENERAL STRIKES LOOM UNITED STATES

Textile, Steel Industries, All Toledo Shops, Unions Are Threatened.

VIOLENCE CONTINUES.

Eight Men Seriously Injured in Waterfront Fights at San Francisco.

WASHINGTON, May 29 (CP)—Organized Labor bore down to-day with threats of three general strikes in the United States. In the textile and steel industries, and in Toledo O., shops, unions threatened to strike unless their demands—chiefly for recognition—were met.

The lash of strike violence whipped other sectors—notably Cleveland, where taxi cab drivers are out; and New Orleans and the Pacific Coast, where longshoremen are striking.

Francis J. Gorman, Vice President of the United Textile Workers of America, said a general strike of 300,000 textile workers would be called if an NRA order, reducing cotton textile production 25 per cent, were put into effect.

Sixty-eight of the 103 unions in Toledo had voted in favor of a general strike as negotiations to end the automotive strike, in which two persons have been killed and 200 injured, ended in a deadlock.

"Holiday" Mid-June.

Senator Wagner, chairman of the National Labor Board, called Mike F. Tighe, president of the Steel Workers' Union, to Washington for a conference. Tighe, demanding recognition, has set mid-June as the deadline for a "holiday" in the industry.

Eight men were injured seriously and many others slightly as rioting cropped up on the waterfronts at San Francisco and San Diego yesterday. Employers submitted a compromise in the longshoremen's strike to the union.

Two men were beaten in New Orleans disorders.

Several girl employees were marooned without food in the Pekin, Ill., plant of the American Commercial Alcohol Distilling Plant after a dash through picket lines.

Two unions voted to strike to-day at the Crucible Steel Castle Company in Milwaukee, employing 200, in demands for wage increases and recognition.

Union employees of the Tubize-Hatilion Rayon Plant at Hopewell, Va., stood in favor of a strike if their demands for recognition were denied.

Euler Denies Offer Liberal Leadership

OTTAWA, May 29 (C.P.).—Denial was made by Hon. W. D. Euler, former Minister of National Revenue, that he had been offered the Liberal leadership in Ontario to take the place of Mitchell F. Hepburn. In a speech last night in Hamilton, Premier George S. Henry intimated Mr. Euler had been offered the leadership and refused it.

"There is nothing in it," said Mr. Euler. "I am supporting Mitch. Hepburn," remarking that Premier Henry said the offer was made three months ago. Mr. Euler added that there were rumors about that time along the same lines, and he had issued a denial. This was evidently a revival of those reports.

Two Relief Workers Die In Truck Crash

HOPE, B.C., May 29.—(CP)—Two men, Leonard Beatty and James Drysdale, both relief-camp workers, suffered fatal injuries in a motor-truck accident on the Hope-Princeton trail. CANADIAN JOBS CLIMB 140,000 OVER PAST YEAR

Manufacturing Heads List, Highest Indicated in May Since 1920.

TRANSPORTATION GAINS.

Heightened Activity Shown in All Provinces Except Ontario.

OTTAWA, May 29 (C.P.).—An increase of more than 140,000 was shown in the number employed on May 1, when reports from 8,591 firms showed 856,316 persons on their payrolls as compared with 7,998 reporting 714,891 persons working on May 1, 1933, according to a report issued to-day by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The unadjusted index stood at 92.0 as compared with 91.3 on April 1, and 77.6 on May 1, 1933.

The crude index on May 1 was the highest recorded in any month since December, 1931.

Manufacturing showed important improvement at the beginning of May, says the report, the increase in this group exceedingly the average indicated on May 1 of the years since 1920. Transportation showed decided gains and mining (except of coal), building and railway construction and wholesale trade were also more active. On the other hand, retail trade, highway construction, coal-mining and logging released employees. The losses in bush operations were exceptionally large, partly as a result of the late season, which retarded river-drives.

Ontario Down.

Heightened activity was reported in all provinces except Ontario where the tendency was slightly unfavorable; the Maritime and Prairie provinces showed the greatest gains in personnel. The situation in all five economic areas was better than on May 1, 1933.

Improvement was shown in each of the eight cities for which separate tabulations are made, firms in Quebec City, Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Hamilton, Windsor and the adjoining border cities, Winnipeg, and Vancouver reporting heightened activity. The largest gains were in Montreal, Windsor and Winnipeg. The situation in each of these eight centres was better than on May 18, 1933.

NO ASSESSMENT ON HIGHWAY 7

City Has Not Been Asked to Pay Anything on Highway East of Peterborough.

LAKEHURST RALLY.

A most successful Liberal rally was held in the hall at Lakehurst last night by James Hawthorne the Liberal candidate. The small hall was filled to capacity with many standing outside unable to gain admittance. The candidate was supported by Alex L. Elliott and Thomas J. Carley of Peterborough. In all three addresses the huge provincial debt and the ever increasing taxation on the property owners provided the main topics of discussion. Mr. Elliott also in his address charged that while ratepayers from all parts of the county had been forced to contribute 20 percent towards the improvements and building of Highway No. 7 east of Peterborough not one cent had so far been contributed by the ratepayers of the city. He went on to explain that while the city has to pay 20 percent on Highway 28 for about six miles out and 20 percent on Highway No. 7 from the city to Fowler's Corners as these have both been designated by the government as Suburban King's Highways, yet the department has failed to designate No. 7 highway east of the city with the result that the city gets off without an assessment. The same thing the speaker declared was true in connection with the improvements being made on Lansdowne street and to add another feature to this the government when it let the contract for work stipulated that 50 percent of the labor had to come from the city's unemployed while the city is not contributing anything towards the cost. Archie Wilson was the chairman.

John Joyce, who died recently in Leenane Ireland at the age of 117, was believed to have been the oldest person in Britain.

HEPBURN SAYS TARIFF POLICIES FOUND WANTING

Claims They Lead to Exploitation of Canadian People by U. S. Companies.

NO JOBS ON MERIT.

Note From Tory Leader in District Necessary to Enter Civil Service.

KAPUSKASING, Ont., May 29. (CP).—Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader, to-day carried his election campaign into the Cochrane district of northern Ontario after leaving a warning against Conservative tariff policies with the citizens of Kapuskasing and Smooth Rock Falls.

Mr. Hepburn told meetings at Smooth Rock Falls and Kapuskasing yesterday that the Conservative tariff policies led to exploitation of Canadian people by United States companies. He charged the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey of which Imperial Oil Limited is a subsidiary, had sent $13,000,000 to the United States from its profits of $18,000,000 made in the Dominion.

He urged his audience to vote for Liberals in Ontario as a defeat of the Conservative administration in the province would lead to removal of the Dominion Conservative government.

"We have a policy favoring the few to permit the exploiting of the many" Mr. Hepburn declared. "Outside this hall are dozens of cars for which you pay more than you should because of the Tory policy.

"I bought a car myself and at the same time sold 32 hogs and several head of cattle. The return from all that shipment was not sufficient to pay the difference between the United States and Canadian prices of that car.

"And who gets the money? The U.S. firms which have subsidaries here."

Too Much About Titles

He declared both Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and Premier George S. Henry were "thinking more of titles than of the country's difficulties."

Mr. Hepburn charged that no one could obtain a job on merit with the civil Service Commission but had to "bring a note from whoever has the Tory patronage in the district."

The trans-Canada highway route was mentioned by Joseph Bradette, member in the House of Commons for Temiskaming, who said this section had been "bulldosed" in this regard. No link with the highway had been given this area.

"I want you to visualine the tremendous loss to this community if we are left off the highway" he said. "We will lose our fair share of the tourist trade if the road goes through south of Hearst as at present planned."

He attacked "election jobs which required a man to sell his body and soul to the Tory party". He said men during the winter were paid $1.20 a day but with the election pending this was raised to $2.50.

Sensational young San Francisco golfer, W. Lawson Little defeated an even greater sensation in winning the British amateur golf title in still greater sensational style. James Wallace, unemployed carpenter, was the other finalist. He had knocked out many British and U.S. stars on the road to the finals, then went to pieces in the title match, allowing Little to win 14 up and 13 to go.

EULER MAY LEAD LIBERAL PARTY AFTER ELECTION

Implication Made by Henry at Lively Rally in Hamilton.

PLENTY OF HECKLING.

Challenges Hepburn to State Stand on St. Lawrence Seaway Project.

HAMILTON, May 29 (CP) — Leaving behind an intimation that Hon. W. D. Euler, former Canadian Minister of Revenue and Excise, might take over leadership of the Ontario Liberal Party, Premier George S. Henry moved on to Campbellford to-day, to carry his official election campaign into Northumberland riding.

The Premier sketched at length the record of his Conservative Government for the benefit of a noisy audience in the Savoy Theatre here last night, and expressed confidence it would be returned for "the next five years."

Criticizing Mitchell F. Hepburn for his failure to issue an election manifesto as leader of the Liberal Party, Premier Henry asked his listeners to consider if "Hepburn is making promises that Mr. Euler as leader ultimately will have to repudiate."

Demand to know where Mr. Hepburn stood on such questions as the St. Lawrence Waterway project, was made by Mr. Henry, who wanted to know why the Liberal Chief had his "his lieutenant, Arthur G. Slaght, K.C., to confer with the power barons at Rochester." He also suggested Mr. Slaght was "waiting for the job" of Commission counsel on Mr. Hepburn's promised inquiry into the Ontario Liquor Control Board.

Falling in Line

Detailing their positions and their attitude toward the Liquor Bill, Premier Henry recalled names of Legislative members among the Government Opposition who voted against the measure and asked what these men were doing to-day. He suggested these men "like H. C. Nixon (leader of the Progressive group) had to take the lash and do what they were told."

"Where are they to-day?" he asked. "Has Mr. Nixon anything to say to the people of the province or is he merely attempting to retain his seat?"

"And where is Mr. Euler. His name has been mentioned a lot in provincial politics. Why didn't he accept the leadership offered him

THREE LEADERS GO INTO ACTION PLEADING CAUSE

Premier in Hamilton Hints at Change in Liberal Party Leadership.

HEPBURN HITS TARIFF.

Both Candidates Withdraw in North Essex, Clearing Opposition Tangle.

TORONTO, May 29. (CP).—The Ontario general election campaign's full battery was in action to-day with all the party leaders launched on tours of the province to plead their case before the electorate. The firing started in earnest last night when Premier George S. Henry, Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader, and Harry F. Nixon, Progressive leader, delivered addresses.

Premier Henry hinted in his Hamilton address that Hon. William D. Euler, Minister of National Revenue in the Mackenzie King government, might take over the Liberal leadership in Ontario from Mr. Hepburn after the Ontario general elections, June 19. At the same time in Kapuskasing Mr. Hepburn launched an attack on Conservative tariff policies, claiming they resulted in United States firms exploiting the Canadian people and he believed in the Ontario government met defeat it would ring the death knell of the Dominion administration.

Mr. Hepburn journeys to Cochrane to-day and is slated to appear Wednesday at Sault Ste Marie and on Thursday at Blind River and Thessalon. Premier Henry visits the Peterborough district and June 2 he speaks at Todmorden. His cabinet ministers shortly start an intensive campaign including Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture; Hon. Charles McCrea, Minister of Mines; Attorney General W. H. Price; Hon. Dr. J. M. Robb, Minister of Health and W.

BOARD PLANS MAKE REPAIRS PUBLIC SCHOOL

Work at Campbellford During Summer Months Totals Approximately $250.

INSTAL NEW HEATER.

Accepts Resignation of Miss Helen Bygott as Kindergarten Teacher.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 29 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Necessary repairs to the Public School at Campbellford will be undertaken this summer by the Board of Education, following a report of estimates submitted by the chairman of the Property Committee, T. E. Hall, which called for work totalling approximately $250. This includes the building of a principal's office, repairs to the basement ceiling and plastering in some of the rooms, repairs to the brickwork of the furnace doors and the furnace pipes. The question of the installation of a new heater with pipes running to each flat created a long discussion, it finally being agreed that the caretaker, Clarence Massie, be authorized to bring in an estimated cost of the purchase and installation, by himself, of this heater, to be presented at the next meeting of the board.

The board accepted with regret the resignation of Miss Helen Bygott, kindergarten-primary teacher on the staff of the Public School, and instructed the clerk to write a letter of appreciation to her for her services as teacher on the school staff.

This will make the second vacancy that will be created on the teaching staff at the end of this term, and on motion the board decided to advertise for applications for these positions, applications to be before the board for the June meeting.

On application of Harold Dunk, secretary of the Campbellford Softball Association, the board gave permission for the erection of a score board at the diamond on the High School grounds, and also the placing of a wire back stop at the back of the home base. These erections will be temporary.

The board also decided to purchase ten cord of kindling wood from F. Young, at a cost of five dollars a cord. The meeting was presided over by George O'Sullivan, in the absence of the chairman, G. A. Kingston.

LAST CLAUSE MARKET BILL IS APPROVED

Been Subject of Keen Debate Since Introduction Last March.

BOARD HAS WIDE POWERS.

Miscellaneous Batch of Government Bills Scheduled for To-day.

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP)—With the last clause of the Marketing Bill formally approved by the House of Commons in Committee, the House turns to a miscellaneous batch of Government bills to-day with a view to advancing them a step along the Order Paper.

The end of the long argument over the marketing measure came last night. Introduced last March the bill has proved the most contentious of the session. Days and weeks were spent in debating it and from the first the Liberals bombarded with every known variety of criticism. It was assailed as unconstitutional, as unworkable, as an infringement of liberty, as a long step into state Socialism, and as patterned after the Fascism of Germany and Italy.

On the whole the Government took no high academic ground in pressing for the adoption of the bill. Prevailing conditions in farming with low prices making it impossible for the farmer to live and retain his interest in the land were cited and the necessity of taking some action stressed. It was admitted the bill was of an experimental character, but the main argument advanced was that it was a time for action rather than abstract theories.

Main Points Unchanged

Numerous amendments were made to the bill on its progress through committee, many of them at the suggestion of the opposition, but none altered the essential features in any degree.

It provides for the regulation of the marketing of any natural product of the farm, forest or fishery, through a Dominion marketing board operating with or without the aid of local boards. The boards will have wide powers and wide powers are also conferred on the minister charged with handling the bill and the cabinet in connection with banning the import or export of a particular commodity, licencing producers, processors, or dealers. Limiting or prohibiting the sale of any product or any any particular quality of product.

The House last night also made a start at moving the new companies bill though committee. It is a bulky measure and is intended as a step in the direction of uniform and stricter company laws for all Canada. The provinces have conferred with each other and with the Dominion on the bill and it is hoped eventually they will all enact company laws similar in character.

Demand for new motor boats in Scotland is greater than for years.

AFTER AN ILLNESS you need the "VITAL 3"

THE VITAL 3

IT is the slow recovery from an illness that is so discouraging. But with the help of the "Vital 3" (calcium, phosphorus and iron) contained in Fellows' Syrup, the three vital substances of the body—the bony foundation, the nerve force directing all energy, and the blood which carries nourishment to every cell of the body—are strengthened so rapidly that recovery occurs in a much shorter time.

For more than 60 years, physicians in 52 countries have prescribed Fellows' Syrup to convalescents, run-down people, undernourished children, maternity cases, and to bronchial patients. Long experience has shown that the "Vital 3" are needed when weakened systems have to be rebuilt.

Your druggist has FELLOWS' SYRUP in two sizes. Make sure that you get the SYRUP with the "Vital 3" by looking for the word "FELLOWS" on the label.

1 CALCIUM Vital to life and health. Adequate supplies of calcium are absolutely necessary to enable the intestinal muscles to contract properly, to promote normal action of the body muscles and nerves, and to build and to preserve strong bones and sound teeth. All healing processes need calcium. Ordinary diets are more likely to be deficient in calcium than in any other mineral element.

2 PHOSPHORUS An important element of all cells of the body, of the bones and of the glandular tissues. Phosphorus stands first among all substances as a nerve food. Necessary in regulating and maintaining the neutrality of the blood and in sustaining its normal temperature. Also required in turning starchy foods (bread, potatoes, sugar) into energy. Fresh supplies are constantly needed to replace those daily consumed in the body.

3 IRON The entire store of iron in the human system is only about one-tenth of an ounce, and constant renewal of this dynamic, powerful element is necessary to build energy and strength and to maintain life. A severe illness always depletes the store of iron. If enough iron is not supplied every day the blood will take what it needs from the small reserve stores in the liver, spleen and bone marrow, thus weakening the entire body structure. Anaemia and thin blood simply mean insufficient iron in the system.

FURNACE BLAST FIRES CITY HALL IN THREE RIVERS

Early Morning Explosion is Heard for Blocks Around Building.

$300,000 DAMAGE.

Firemen From Nearby Station Are on Way as Caretaker Rushes Out.

THREE RIVERS, Que., May 29.—(CP)—Explosion of a furnace during the night set the city hall here ablaze early today. Firemen subdued the fire shortly after dawn. Interior of the building was damaged to the extent of $30,000 according to early estimates.

Shortly after 3.30 a.m. today, firemen on night duty in Station No. 1 just behind the city hall were startled by the thud of the explosion which was heard for blocks around. Parts of the heavy furnace hurtled upwards through the floor. Flames followed quickly. Joseph Racette, caretaker of the building, lives in a basement lodging in another corner of the building. He was unharmed as the furnace blew up and was running for the firemen when they met him outside the building.

Flames raced through the Assembly Hall and licked up the walls. A dense pall of smoke rolled from the city hall and enveloped the cathedral across the street. Many citizens rushing to help the firemen thought the church was burning.

Firemen Under Chief Jules Vachon struggled for two hours before the fire was under control. The general council chamber was badly damaged.

The city hall was built in 1911 on the site of the old city hall totally destroyed by fire in 1910.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Carrots are colorful on menus. They can be served raw or cooked. They are easy to prepare and easy to cook. They can be served whole, sliced, diced and shredded. They have a flavor and quality which is peculiarly adaptable to the table since they can be a plain vegetable or a marmalade, a salad or a seasoning, a vegetable, or a touch of gay color used to enhance the appearance of other dishes. Little early carrots, fresh from the garden, are peculiarly tender and dlicate in flavor. They are served whole being merely scraped gefore plunging into hot salted water to cook the few necessary moments before serving buttered peppered and salted. Or they can be steamed and then the skin be rubbed off.

* * * * * * *

CARROT SOUP

Carrots can be served appropriately, if not from soup to nuts at least from soup to dessert. A fine carrot soup recipe follows: Four medium-sized carrots cut thin. Two quarts vegetable soup stock, strained. Method: Cook the parboiled carrots in the strained soup until they are tender. Then press the carrots through a fine strainer. Make a white sauce of one tablespoon butter, two of flour stirred into the melted butter to make a paste. Thin with the soup in which the carrots were cooked, adding the carrot pulp alternately with the soup stock until the consistency of pea soup. Season with salt, pepper, and cayenne. It is recommended that the soup be kept until the following day for a more perfect blend of flavors. Heat and serve. If too thick thin with the soup stock. If rather thin cook down to the right consistency. This is an unusual soup recommended for luncheons and suppers because it is hearty.

* * * * * * *

CARROTS AND ASPARAGUS

Cut off the hard part of each asparagus stalk. Scrape the rest of the stalk and cook until tender. Cut each stalk into one inch pieces. Scrape and cook as much carrot as asparagus. Cut carrots into quarters, slices or cubes. Toss both vegetables together, put into a saucepan and pour over them Veloute Sauce. Cook in double boiler for ten minutes and serve.

* * * * * * *

VELOUTE SAUCE

This is one of what the French call foundation sauces. A very simple way to make it is to use strained soup stock instead of milk for thinning the butter and flour already hot and blended. The stock must be cold and added slowly. Stir constantly over the fire of the right consistency.

FLOWER SHOW PRIZE WINNERS

Many Outstanding Exhibits to be Seen in McBride & Franks Store.

SEASON LATE.

The spring flower show of the Peterborough Horticultural Society strikes a colorful note in the window of McBride and Frank's furnishing store, George Street. Many outstanding exhibits are presented of tulips, especially considering the difficulties encountered in the late and cold spring, many growers unable to compete due to lack of blooms of exhibition standards.

Despite these handicaps, the display is of a high character, this being the opinion of the judge, J. S. McGiffin (editor Horticulturist and Home Magazine), whose task was no light one.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

Back in pastoral times, the only way a gal could catch a glimpse of herself was by seeking her reflection in a pool or rivulet It was.n't until the Roman era that mirrors came into being Those first mirrors were only sheets of polished metal. And I don't imagine that they gave the Roman belles much of an idea of what they really looked like.

Today, of course, mirrors don't lie. They're almost perfect. Just the other day, in quest of new beauty aids, I picked up a unique little mirror that is small, square and two-face. Look in one side, and you see exactly how make-up put on in daylight will look under artificial lights. And look in the other side, and you see just how make-up put on under artificial lights will look in broad daylight.

Mirrors really are most important beauty accessories, for they enable a gal to see herself exactly as others see her. When I see poorly-gowned damsels and carelessly made-up faces, I almost wish that there was a beauty code requiring every woman to have at least one triple mirror and one full-length mirror in her home.

A triple mirror is the best sort of mirror to have at one's make-up table, as it enables a woman to view her face from all angles. When a gal has finished applying her make-up, she should always examine her face not only from the front but also on both sides. This is essential so that she may see if her cosmetics are blended evenly on each side of her face. For if her make-up is not properly balanced, it may give a somewhat disproportionate appearance to her face.

A full-length mirror is also important, for it enables a woman to see herself all in one piece. Some gals look as though they've never seen themselves other than in sections. Short girls, for instance, who wear gowns that only accentuate their short squatness. And tall girls who garb themselves in apparel that accents their tall lankiness. Without a full-length mirror, no lass can study herself, learn to gown herself so that the best lines of her figure are fully brought out. Be fair to yourself in your choice of mirrors at all times, and you'll always appear fair to others.

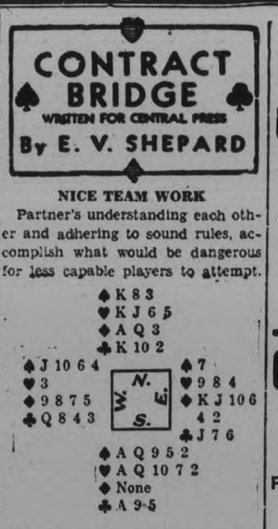
NICE TEAM WORK

Partner's understanding each other and adhering to sound rules, accomplish what would be dangerous for less capable players to attempt.



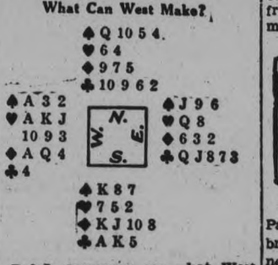
Bidding went: South, 1-spade; North, 3-no trumps, because he held a 4-3-3-3 hand pattern, with six probable tricks, which was a sign-off, so far as he was concerned, but which never closes bidding for a partner who wishes to bid more; South, 6-hearts, to show that he held a powerful two-suiter, with at least six probable tricks, if played at his own best suit; North, 7-hearts, as he greatly preferred that suit to the one first shown. Nobody dared double.

The opening lead was the 9 of diamonds. Dummy's ace won the trick. Three rounds of trumps were required to pick up the outstanding hearts, leaving a single trump in dummy.

Three rounds of top spades, and a ruff by dummy of the declarer's fourth lead of spades, established that suit.

The Declarer had discarded his lowest club on Dummy's ace of diamonds so that South was able to spread his hand for the balance of tricks, making his grand slam with the greatest ease. Dummy won one spade, two trump, one diamond and one club trick. These five tricks plus a ruff gave North the six tricks upon which he had counted. The declarer won three spade tricks, three heart tricks and a single club trick, giving him one trick more than he had esteemed his hand worth, thanks to his partner's powerful holdings. It was nice team work.

What Can West Make?



Before tomorrow see what West can win against the best defence of his opponents. South made an opening bid of 1-no trump. Very properly West overcalled with 4-hearts. South doubled.

ONE WOMAN IN EVERY TEN HOLDS INSURANCE POLICY ON HER LIFE

Proportion of Policies to Women Steadily Increasing.

FREE OF WORRIES

The increasing employment of women in business and professional life is having a distinct effect on Life Insurance. Authorities estimate that one out of every ten life insurance policies issued is on the life of a woman, and a still higher percentage in the case of life annuities. By nature provident and thoughtful, women have responded quickly to the advantages of life insurance for both investment and protection. Often the sole support of a mother or an invalid father, a woman in business must of necessity turn to the life insurance company for the protection needed in case her life should be cut short. She chooses either a straight life policy which will give her the maximum amount of life insurance for what she is able to set aside for insurance; or she will combine life insurance protection for her dependents with a guaranteed cash or income provision for herself later in life.

In the case of self-supporting women without dependents, the choice is more likely to be some form of life annuity payable at the age of retirement, the income being guaranteed on a monthly basis for her remaining lifetime. She is thus assured of the absolute safety of her investment while laying aside something each year from her earnings, and has the happy assurance of a guaranteed life income therefrom for her old age, free of the worries attending so many other forms of investment.

Your Health
By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

A returning delegate from the Pan-American Medical congress has brought some interesting reports of new developments. The Pan-American Medical congress, incidentally, is one of the medical profession's contributions to better understanding between the countries of North and South America. It usually meets in South America, with a delegation of important and famous physicians from the United States, and discusses problems which are of interest to the people of both continents.

The story which struck me most forcibly was the report of investigations on the familiar and common subject of chafed skin, which while commoner in the summer, may occur at any time. It is that sort of red and disagreeable eruption which occurs at points such as under the arms, under the breasts in women, and frequently between the toes and the thighs.

Up to the present time is has generally been supposed that this was an irritation due to excessive perspiration, and the irritation of the perspiration on the sensitive skin. But the ingenious physician who investigated it reports that he selected specimens of perspiration from different parts of the body. He found that in the positions where such eruptions occur the perspiration is liable to contain more sugar than ordinary perspiration. All perspiration contains a very slight amount of sugar, and in those people who have active diabetes it becomes a little more than a trace. It is interesting to note that eruptions of this kind are particularly likely to occur in diabetic patients.

The point about the increase in the sugar in the perspiration in these is that it attracts yeast, which is present everywhere in the air, and the eruption itself is due to the invasion of the skin with the yeast or yeast-like organism. Of course, the fact that perspiration is usually held in place by the folds of the skin causes this to furnish a stable culture medium for the yeast.

The treatment under these circumstances is entirely different from that which we have been employing. The ordinary treatment for chafed skin is to pwoder the part and keep it dry and exposed to air for a while. This has only been fairly satisfactory, but now with the use of such a substance as phenylmercuric nitrate, which has great power to kill off the organisms that grow on sugar, it is obvious that that is the proper treatment.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

M. W.: "Is it possible that a man's finger prints can be changed by surgery?"

Answer: The whorls on the ends of the fingers can be destroyed, but they cannot be replaced by other whorls, although the scars would disguise the finger print. Why don't you use gloves?

A DENTAL CLUE.

AKRON, O., May 29 (C.P.).—A woman's screams brought police to a home which had been entered by a prowler. The officers found beside an open window a clue—a set of false teeth.

Two blocks from the house a suspect was picked up and after a check on his dental work, was held in jail.

SCIENCE STALKS SLAYERS OF TWO B.C. CONSTABLES

MERRITT, B.C., May 29.—(C.P.)—Science to-day stalked the slayers of Provincial Constable Percy Carr and Indian Department Constable Frank Gisborne as police pieced together new evidence to convict two Indians charged with the crime.

Staff Sergt. W. J. Service followed a new theory which, he said, indicated both officers were killed Wednesday night on the Canford Indian Reserve, where they had gone to investigate the stabbing of Mrs. Enos George, an Indian woman. The mutilated body of Gisborne was reecovered from the Nicola river Saturday. Search continues for that of Carr.

PROTECT YOUR FRANCHISE.

The Examiner would respectfully suggest to urban voters that they lose no time in ascertaining whether or not their names are on the voters' lists in order that if any omissions have been made by the enumerators these can be corrected by appearance before the revising officers.

After these officials have completed their sittings no more urban names can be added to the lists, and any electors whose names have been left off will be unable to cast a vote.

The enumerator in your polling sub-division has posted his list in some prominent place in the district where it can be consulted, but in the event of your not being able to locate this particular list, there are complete lists at the city clerk's office where you can make sure whether or not your name appears.

Those who are anxious to use their franchise on election day—and every citizen should be—are reminded that it is their responsibility to make certain that they have a vote; it is a matter that should not be left to the political organizations, but rather should be looked after by each individual elector.

There is no reason why every eligible voter should not be on the lists; the machinery provided offers ample opportunity for each elector to protect herself or himself.

If there are names missing on election day, therefore, it would be unfair to blame the election officials or the political parties.

THE LONDON LOAN.

The immediate success of the new Canadian loan floated in London yesterday suggests the thought that the people of the United Kingdom have more confidence in Canada than have Canadians themselves.

The rate of interest offered, 3¼ per cent., was lower than that provided in the case of any Canadian loan launched at home, but in spite of that fact the lists were closed in an hour and one-half with the $50,000,000 issue largely oversubscribed.

A contemporary makes the timely suggestion that we should try a little of this low interest rates on ourselves.

If our British kinfolk have confidence enough in Canada to subscribe enthusiastically to a loan issued on such terms, perhaps the people of Canada would show a like response to a similar appeal.

The result of this second borrowing in the British market within recent months is most gratifying to Canadians generally, and must be particularly so to the Canadian Government, which has some right to claim that the rush to subscribe is a recognition of the fact that throughout the depression Canada has maintained her financial reputation untarnished and has shown herself as sound in every respect.

It is a significant answer to those who have been virtually advocating a repudiation by the Dominion of some of her financial obligations, and a vindication of Premier Bennett's insistence that all such obligations must be met in full.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR EMPLOYMENT.

If there are physically fit men among the local unemployed who refuse to accept the highway jobs that are now open to them, they can have no quarrel with the relief authorities if they are summarily cut off the list of those in receipt of assistance from the public funds.

There is not the slightest reason why relief should be continued to men who now have an opportunity of earning wages and who decline to take advantage of the chance to secure regular employment.

The ditch-filling operations along the provincial highways can absorb a large number of the heads of families now on the relief list, and they are being carried out under conditions that do not take the men away from their homes, the working gangs being transported to and from their work each day.

Under those circumstances there is not a valid excuse for an able-bodied man who has been living on relief, perhaps for many months, refusing to accept the present opportunity to secure employment, and those who decline the offer of jobs put themselves entirely out of court so far as the relief authorities are concerned.

Public opinion which has unwaveringly supported relief for victims of the depression who could not secure employment and which has always insisted that men without work and their families should be fed and sheltered and kept warm, will just as steadfastly maintain that when opportunities for work arrive they must be acted upon.

There is every sympathy for genuine cases, but none whatever for slackers and "lead-swingers."

GAS TAX MAY HURT TOURIST TRAFFIC.

A new angle on the tourist situation, much in the limelight recently because of the Senate investigation, is afforded by the Montreal Motorists' League which calls attention to the prediction made by Professor R. R. Aurner, a member of the State Advisory Board of the American Automobile Association, to the effect that there will be "a marked decline in American tourist traffic" to Canada this year because of the "present steep gasoline taxation" in this country.

This information has been brought out in a survey among American motor clubs, executives of which have been asked to what extent repeal will affect Americans visiting Canada this summer. The survey covered a line drawn from New York directly across the country to the mid-western states, and was restricted to the territory from which Canada attracts the bulk of American tourists.

A study of the replies shows the concensus of opinion is that while repeal may have some effect it will not be as great as expected.

On the other hand, members of many clubs have expressed resentment against the gasoline taxes in the different provinces, which are as follows: Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, 8c a gallon; New Brunswick, Manitoba and British Columbia, 7c a gallon, and Quebec, Ontario, Saskatchewan and Alberta, 6c a gallon.

"I do not hesitate to suggest," says Professor Aurner, "that if the present schedule of steep gas taxation is maintained the provinces of Canada will suffer the risk of a marked decline in American tourist traffic. It should be noted that repeal has come to the United States. The great motive for crossing the border no longer exists, and other halcyon and beckoning tourist beauty spots will whisper their call to Americans this year of 1934."

AMBUSHED.

"Legal murder" has been a favorite term used describing an official hanging or electrocution by those who are opposed to capital punishment. But an event down in Louisiana on Wednesday occurred and whether it be described as "legal" or "illegal" it was just a plain double killing or assassination.

Clyde Barrow and his common-law wife, known as "Hell-cat" Bonnie Parker, were riddled with machine gun bullets from an ambush of police officers. The trap had been carefully laid. The officers of the law did not step out and demand that this man and woman surrender. That would have been the Scotland Yard way, and with knowledge after the event it would have been a poor way.

The auto in which these two ruthless killers, robbers and kidnappers rode was a veritable arsenal. The two received credit for killing no less than nine police officers in the last year or two in the south-western states. They were, in the final analysis, treated in the same manner as they had treated their victims. Why waste further good lives in an effort to capture them alive? And suppose they had been captured in any one of a score of states of the Union, their lives would have been spared and their ultimate chances of freedom again fairly good. Public opinion will hardly blame those Louisiana officers in carrying out the law of the jungle. After all, that was all that it was.—St. Catharines Standard.

5,000 AGAINST ONE THUG.

Five thousand armed police and detectives have not yet captured John Dillinger and his gang. Five thousand is indeed a great number to be in pursuit of a handful of men who travel along with the notorious Dillinger.

A week or so ago we had something like it in Ontario. A man named Mactemple shot and killed an officer at St. Thomas who went to his house to make an arrest. The man who did the shooting made his escape. He may not have had the daring of Dillinger, but the fact is he was at large and out to escape. It was not many hours before he was found and placed under arrest, and it is doubtful if he would have been any more successful had he used a motor car. In the St. Thomas case it was apparent that the entire community desired to see Mactemple captured, and even the friend in whose house he sought refuge shared that view. The forces of law and order had all the resources of the community behind them in their search.

It seems to be different in United States, for it is painfully evident that Dillinger and those who travel with him have many friends and many stopping places where they have every reason to believe they are safe from either pursuit or capture. The Dillinger escapade is making the police and detectives, 5,000 of them, look very silly.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

DEFAULTS ON FOREIGN BONDS.

A report in the New York Times of a survey made by the Institute of International Finance makes the surprising statement that foreign dollar bonds with a nominal value of about $3,000,000,000 are at the present time in default, either for principle or interest. When the total of such bonds is placed at $8,000,000,000, this would appear to be a remarkably high percentage. The seriousness of this statement is lessened, however, by the information that while payment is in arrears it does not mean that three-eighths of this huge investment must be written off as dead loss. The survey points out that unusual efforts have been made to meet obligations. Some form of interest payment is being made on about one-half of the defaulted issues. This is true in the case of bonds to the value of $1,304,000,000, the interest of which has been paid in a form of scrip, and on an additional $172,000,000 it has been paid in the form of funds deposited in local currencies. Thus the survey states that there remains only $1,454,000,000 on which no provision has been made for paying interest. This is less than one-fifth of the total amount of foreign dollar bonds outstanding.

Perhaps the default is not as serious as it might appear to be in view of the stringent conditions that have prevailed in industry, commerce and finance for about four years. It is rather gratifying to see that the record of Canada, and other North American countries, is good. Defaults in these countries have occurred on only five per cent. of the bonds issued. In regard to the Far East dollar bonds valued at $800,000,000, issued by public and private agencies, are in default to the extent of only about one per cent. Europe has not such a good record. The figure there, including Germany, is 46 per cent. Excluding the latter country, it would be about 20 per cent. This is due to the fact that Germany used foreign loans to pay reparations. The worst record of all is that of Latin America, with nearly 80 per cent. of its dollar bonds in default as to payment of interest. Even in this latter case it is pointed out that payments can be made only by the export of a limited number of raw materials and, hence, the decline in trade is largely responsible for this. The survey is rather an interesting summary, and shows that on the whole the holders of these bonds, with few exceptions, have made earnest efforts to meet the payments and avoid default. It will be a welcome state of affairs, however, when conditions become normal once more and international commitments are met promptly.—Brantford Expositor.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It will be all over three weeks from to-day. The reference is, of course, to the provincial election campaign.

Strange to say, none of the candidates has thought of promising Peterborough a winning ball club. That might help and at least would be novel.

The campaign platforms of the various parties suggests that Ontario would do well to have an election every year. Apparently all the political groups are in a Santa Claus mood at the present time.

In the midst of the election excitement—if and when it develops—do not forget the annual Rotary Carnival next month. A big event in aid of a big cause—caring for crippled children.

BOAT NOT TO BLAME

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—The Examiner of Friday, May 25th, contained a story on the front page, which was contrary to fact. I refer to the item that a young couple were nearly drowned as the result of being upset from the wash of a motor boat. Mr. H. B. Rye informs me that there was no boat anywhere near the accident, which happened almost directly across from the pavilion, and that Mr. Moore and Mr. Rye arrived in their boat within five minutes, and that the young man was not in the water altogether more than that length of time.

The story is the result of a romantic disposition, and as to motor boats runningwithout lights, at this particular time such would not be necessary, as it was only six o'clock in the evening.

Thanking you for your space, I am,

Yours truly,
S. H. Mitchell.

BEER AND WINE

To The Editor, The Examiner,

Dear Sir:

Since the County Temperance Convention met I have received two private communications from Peterborough, requesting that no C.C.F. candidate be put in the field because it will be sure to split the temperance vote. Mr. Hawthorne, run these strange epistles, is very sound on this burning question and therefore give him a chance to beat the Conservative. One may well ask are there no Conservatives who believe in temperance as well as Mr. Hawthorne?

The point I am making is this, that both communications seem to me to be dragging down the temperance cause to party politics and using it as a kind of camouflage to further their Liberal interests. I am sure that was far from the mind of the convention who wished to deal with this important question in a sincere and straightforward way. Well what party is dealing with it in such a way? Surely not the Conservative nor the Liberal, for both parties have pledged themselves to beer and wine. The C.C.F. on the other hand are dead against this legislation and have the temperance question as an important plank in their program. So have the U.F.O., who are supporting C.C.F. candidates, been strong and consistent advocates of temperance. They know and the C.C.F. know that the election funds of the both old line parties come largely from the liquor vested interests. Hence their desire to further legislation in that direction. Beauharnois is not the only scandal. There are many more like it—the Hydro for example.

The executive of the C.C.F. certainly mean to run a C.C.F. candidate. The reasons are obvious:

(1) There is no fundamental difference between a Conservative and a Liberal: Both are upholders of the capitalistic system, which means among other things the large monbpolies and vested interests. The C.C.F. on the other hand want to smash these things and order them for human use and not grasping and un-Godly profit.

(2) The C.C.F. want to give the farmer a fair deal, and all workers the just fruits of their labor, which means not a mere existent wage, but a real living wage.

(3) Abolition of unemployment through a planned economy.

(4) State insurance, state medicine, etc.

The other benefits are contained in the C.C.F. provincial platform. What have the other two parties to offer? Nothing but beer and wine.

Yours, etc.,
John A. Sutherland.

LLOYDMINISTER SASK.

Lloydminister could be called Greychurch and mean the same thing, for the equivalent of the word Lloyd is "grey", while the word "minster" is of course the old term appertaining to a church.

The origin of the town dates back to the famous Barr colony which played such a prominent part in the colonizing of western Canada. Almost immediately a discussion centred about the choice of a name. Some wanted it called "Barrville" with reference to the head of the colony and his followers and he departed for England, his placed being taken by Rev. George Exton Lloyd, later named bishop of Saskatchewan.

Arthur Still, a member of the colony, suggested the name of the new head be joined with that of "minister" signifying church, and the name "Lloydminister" was coined.

Falls Pole Runs Amok Slashes Wife, Baby

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 28 (C.P.).—Running amok here to-day, Ramon Melesh, 39-year-old Pole, split his wife's head open with a beer stein, and slashed their year-old baby before he was captured by Patrol-Sergeant Tisdale and Constable Pay of the city police.

They removed him to the General Hospital, where he was placed in a straight-jacket while awaiting commital to the Ontario Hospital in Hamilton.

Melesh is recovering from a serious operation performed three weeks ago.

His wife and child will recover.

Foreign Affairs

(By H. W. L. MAHOOD)

THE UNITED STATES

The progress of any nation is in great part dependent on rigid self examination. Every individual, and every kind of public organization, and every political party is held fast by the same necessity. The health of the world depends upon diagnosis and the right remedy. Diagnosis comes first. Without that, remedy is only a guess. There is a body national as real as there is a body personal.

Frank, Unflinching Reasearch into the Inner National Life

Timely diagnosis and the right treatment will save life and lift fear, and brighten hope. In this communication, to the public by way of The Examiner, the first of a series of articles dealing with the health of the body national of the United States will be sent on its 28,870 Ministers have expressed mission.

their convictions about some of the vital issues before the nation. For the most part as goes the minister eventually will go the people. How the citizens will think and act on the war question within a few years is reflected in the present attitude and convictions of 13,000 ministers in the United States who have declared their determination not to sanction nor to participate in any future war; 14,000 are attempting to have the churches they represent go on record as refusing to sanction or support any future war; and the churches are taking the stand; and 14,000 scattered over 48 states will have an antiseptic effect on the war microbe.

In civilized nations the attitude of the people to war will be influenced in the future more by the minister than by the militarist propagandist. At the present it is the church that is standing in the way of war.

THAT LITTLE MEXICAN GIRL

To work, and still to be hungry, and poorly clad, and about to be confined through immorality is sad. But to be only fifteen deepens the shadowed scene.

Poverty, Immorality and Just Fifteen

As she told her story to the newspaperman her conscience spoke more loudly than her guilt. He read her heart. Gently he told her that the President would understand about her being not so moral. Get her picture. She is such a frail little thing and has to work so hard all day in the cotton fields. We all know something about how folks feel when they get through working hard in the broiling sun, and just dont know what to do with themselves, and the soul cries out to forget some moral slip.

This newspaperman had a kindly heart. More than once as the wee woman told her pathetic story he had to brush away the tears. He told her that the President had a daughter of his own. With wide open eyes she listened to him as he related how interested the President was in all the people who work in the fields, and have come from other nations to earn food and clothing. As the afterglow falls upon the earth with benediction thus fell the sweet encouraging words of this newspaperman upon the heart of this little Mexican girl.

"How old were you when you started work in the fields?"

She shrugged her shoulders. "I dunno. Maybe nine. Maybe eight."

"What do you make a day?"

"Thirty-five cents."

Her father, a tall, dark-skinned man, with a face covered with a beard, saw the newspaperman talking with her and came over.

"Some'ting wrong, eh?" he asked.

"No. Nothing wr.ng. Just talking to your daughter. I want to find out how much you people make a week."—(Article 3, and to be continued).

JAPAN

To recognize an opportunity is a gift for an individual and for a nation. Greed and prejudice blind the eyes even of statesmen. Blindness to what the future holds for the Far East is the present affliction of Japanese leaders. Japan has a vision. Considerations of right and wrong make no appeal to her. Japan is bent on controlling all Asia that borders on the Pacific. To her this ambition is not a theory. It is a settled condition in Japanese thinking. On every possible pretext she moves in that direction. She is ever planning or taking the next step in the subjugation of all China. From this standpoint it does look as if Japan will press forward with her plans to the verge of war with the rest of the world. The recent demand for, "White hands off Asia," may be the forerunner of a new move to add another slice of China to her Empire. While the rest of the world is considering her manifesto the step may be taken. In 1909 Japan laid it down as a root principle that Japan must dominate all Asia washed by the Pacific. This root principle has become imbedded in all departments of Japanese life.

Japan Has Missed Her One Opportunity

This principle is the cataract over the nation's eyes. Her's is a great opportunity. More room is not her great need. Never was and never will be. Instead of conquest her occasion is to encourage emigration to China. Instead of preparing for war and greater estrangement her crisis is to build up peaceful attitudes.

Japan's present policy has closed almost tight the Chinese markets. And has stopped the flow of raw materials to her factories. Peace would open wide all that China has to contribute to the industrial welfare of Japan. And the more Japanese to settle in China and become good Chinese subjects the better for Japan and all the Far East. Japan is restive now. The Treaty just made between the United States and Russia is a brake on the policy of the imperialistic Japanese statesmen.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

A GREAT SHIPPING DISASTER

On this date, in 1914, just twenty years ago, Canada was dismayed by a news flash from Rimouski that the then crack steamship Empress of Ireland had been sunk in collision off that pilot station with, it was feared, some loss of life. This was followed by details which added to the public anxiety; newspapers published extras; the passenger lists were checked; and it soon became evident that it had been a disaster of the major sort.

The steamship, with its thousand odd sleeping passengers, had been rammed soon after dawn by a collier, the Storstad, and sank within a few minutes. In all 1,104 lives were lost. Among them were Laurence Irving, an English actor, and his wife, and a number of well known people from all over Canada and about 140 officers, members and bandsmen of the Salvation Army on their way to an international congress in London.

The country was greatly affected by the disaster and the Salvation Army officials left behind were inundated with messages of condolence and sympathy. A long investigation into the disaster was held; the blame was clearly put upon the collier; but this did not bring back the thousand folk who had sailed from Quebec so happily a day or so before.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

WOMAN, WOMAN!

She says I got her into a peck of trouble.

I said, "How did I ever get you into trouble?"

She says, "Well, you said something about when you're feeling out of sorts and nothing is happening that is interesting, and you don't know what to do—to do something foolish. And I did. I went out and got myself a henna rinse—and my husband didn't like it and that's how YOU got me into trouble."

But listen, woman, I didn't tell you to get a henna rinse. I don't even know what a henna rinse is. ....I suspect from reading the advertisements and looking at the cards in street cars, that it has something to do with the hair, something that makes it very alluring and all that....But I'm not sure of that....And, anyway, would I be telling any woman to get a henna rinse? I'd look silly doing that, suggesting that she needs it, wouldn't I? Would I be doing that? You know I wouldn't. Would I be interfering in any domestic affairs, advising women to do anything that would make their husbands blow up? Not a chance—I would NOT. Not me, I know better.

Perhaps I WOULD advise her to do something foolish, something she wouldn't think of doing ordinarily, just to get herself out of the rut of common monotonous living, to make herself feel free for a little while—even though she knows she isn't entirely free....But no henna rinses, I didn't' have them in mind at all.

Besides, specific advice isn't in my line....I wouldn't advise a boy to go to college, I wouldn't advise him to stay away. I wouldn't tell anybody to marry or to get a divorce, either. I wouldn't say, "Plant peach trees" or "Plant potatoes"....I might say "Read Morley Callaghan's latest book." Or "Look in both directions before you cross the street," but I wouldn't tell anybody what automobile to buy....Large general, all-inclusive advise is so much easier to give—and so much safer....So there you are, woman. I shot an arrow into the air, it fell to earth, I know not where, and you went downtown and got yourself a henna rinse and told your husband I advised you to do it....I did NOT.

LIGHT CHANGES INTERLISTEDS

Foods, Oils, Implements and Miscellaneous Shares Retain Gains, However.

IN LOW VOLUME.

TORONTO, May 29 (CP)—Industrial shares displayed a less vigorous tone in the late afternoon today on the Toronto Stock Exchange and some early advances were cancelled. Volume also eased down. Foods, oils, implements and the miscellaneous shares, however, retained a preponderance of gains till the close. Interlisted shares dipped narrowly in the last hour, but stiffened up again to show insignificant price changes at the gong.

In the oils International Pete held all its Monday rise and added ¼ to-day, closing at 28¼.

Imperial; McColl Frontenac, Common and Preferred, finished higher. Nickel closed slightly up, and Brazilian added ⅛, C.P.R. and Ford "A" were unchanged.

Trading in Walkers quieted down and the price sagged about ¼ while the other distillery shares closed unchanged.

WINNIPEG WHEAT AGAIN SHOWS GAIN

Price Closes 1-2 to 3-4 Above Monday's Limit Advance of 5 Cents.

WINNIPEG, May 29. (CP).—Climaxing a busy session of fluctuating prices, wheat closed with net gains of ½-¾ cent to-day above yesterday's advance of almost five cents.

Continuation of hot weather in western Canada, poor crop reports in other countries and export sales of 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat wiped out losses and scored the advance near the close. Only a slight recession in the dying minutes occurred from the day's high mark.

The close was 78½ for the May option, 79¾ for July and 81⅝-¾ cents for the October future. At the opening, gains were recorded. Profit-taking developed and the price declined below yesterday's figure. Prices were steady at the lower mark until the export report was heard and then values shot up for the narrow advance.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, May 29 (AP) — In trading that rivalled the dullest day in several years, the Stock Market displayed slightly easier tendencies to-day. The list, otherwise, was virtually without feature. BROKERS' OPINIONS.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Fenner & Bean: The recovery from recent lows has probably impaired its technical position sufficiently to call for some irregularity pending some definite constructive stimulus.

Harris Upham & Co.: The market technically carried a suggestion of slight rally but there is no deep-set conviction about it.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The test of strength in the stock market continues. Offerings of stock in the vicinity of the highs of two weeks ago look more and more important and the more important the area of supply the more difficult it will be to negotiate this barrier. There is little reason to expect that the thrust to-day that would take prices through the high of May 17th and 18th. Yesterday rails maintained their strength better than the industrials, opening with a small gap on the up-side which was not closed during the day. There is enough encouragement in the picture to warrant a constructive view, allowing for a moderate recession dictated by technical considerations in a dull and listless market.

No Refusing Of Work By Unemployed Men

Reports that some of the men given employment on the job of filling up the highway ditches refused to turn out for work yesterday morning, were denied to-day by the local employment services bureau. Report cards indicating their arrival on the job have been turned in by the project foreman for all of the one hundred men employed from the city and North Monaghan Township, officials said.

Unemployed men have been clamouring for the ditch-filling jobs, and an additional hundred could easily have been secured, it was stated. It is thought that the rumor started through a mere misunderstanding of some of the men as to where they were to be picked up by the trucks carrying them to the job. One group was to be picked up at the Market Square, another at the corner of Reid and McDonnel Streets, and another in North Monaghan.

The Employment Bureau is hoping to receive a further order for men in the next few days, but no more men are required at present. Each morning this week a considerable crowd of men have awaited the opening of the bureau on the chance of getting highway work, it was learned.

Life and Death

GRAZ, Austria, May 29 (AP) — Aviation, railroading, and electric superpower all tangled at once to-day, but a man swam out of the mess and rescued everybody.

That looks mixed up. It was.

An aeroplane took off from the flying school field near here it crashed into high tension wires, spilling the pilot and a student, uninjured, into a lake.

The pilot, a swimmer, saw his student safely ashore. Then he saw that the high tension wires had fallen across railroad tracks.

The Vienna Express was due. He heard it thundering down the tracks in the distance, headed straight for the high voltage lines.

Dripping water, the flier ran up the ties and flagged the express, just before it touched the wires.

PRICE URGES EXTENSION JUVENILE COURT WORK

HAMILTON, May 2 (CP) — An eloquent appeal for the extension of Juvenile Court work, and the upholding of the family court was made by Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney General in the course of an address this afternoon before the Canadian Conference of Social Workers meeting here. Mr. Price stated that it was his desire to see counties divided into Juvenile Court Districts with a court for each area. This was not possible at the present time of restricted revenues.

He sounded a more optimistic note in discussing the care of the incorrigible and feeble-manded. A higher percentage of cures was being effected daily, he declared.

Th

ONTARIO'S NORTHLAND SHOWN IN PICTURES TO ROTARY CLUB

Arthur C. Cole of Cobalt Guest Speaker at Rotary Ladies' Night.

COLORED SLIDES.

A glimpse into the story of Canada's natural resources was vouchsafed the Rotarians and their ladies last evening at the Empress Hotel, when the members of the local club exchanged their regular Monday noonday luncheon for an evening dinner and invited the ladies to be their guests. Fifty-six people enjoyed a splendid repast, served in the Empress' own splendid fashion, and then listened to Arthur C. Cole, B.A., of Cobalt and New Liskeard, Mining Engineer with the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, and watched the lantern slides which illustrated his verbal picture of some of the interesting high lights of the northern land.

The president of the club, Dr. A. Moir, was chairman, and the introduction of the speaker was made by N. J. Wootten.

Asserting that the northern portion of the province has a historical background several centuries in advance of this section, Mr. Cole spoke of the interest in the fur trade taken by both the English and French settlers of long ago, and the manner in which that interest had served to open up trade routes.

"A few devoted souls amongst the French worked to Christianize the natives, but the main body of the French and English were after the furs. The English coaxed the Indians to bring in the furs to North Bay and James Bay, and as the best furs come from the northernmost parts, the French, therefore, received only the second best. They resolved to turn the tables, and so the Chevalier de Troyes opened up a route which was similar to that now covered by the T. & N.O. Railway, two hundred and fifty years later. He went up the Ottawa to Lake Abitibi and down the Anitibi River to Moose Harbor."

Colored Slides

Mr. Cole illustrated his address with a series of beautifully colored slides which showed to much advantage the scenic beauties of the northern section of the province. Cobalt and its silver bullion; the old house at Cobalt in which Dr. Henry Drummond died; the gardens and prize cattle of New Liskeard, all came into the picture of the section which the speaker declared had produced 175 million dollars' worth of silver within the past twenty-five years, and where, in that quarter of a century, two millions dollars for boots alone had been expended in the Cobalt camp.

A birds' eye view of the McIntyre Mine was given, with a view also of men pouring molten gold into bricks which average in value $40,000 apiece. Without this great gold reserve of the north country, declared the speaker, the position of Canada's bond would have sunk in recent years to the depressed level reached by those of New Zealand and Australia. The gold mines of Porcupine, Kirkland Lake and Noranda produce annually, he said, 50 millions of dollars in the year.

The long bridge over Moose River was shown, with the eighteen huge wedge-like, steel-faced concrete piers which were poured in weather often 20 and 30 degrees below zero. A cairn erected to the memory of the men who died during its construction bears two verses of Kipling's hymn to labour, "Sons of Martha."

At Moose Factory, on Moose Island, is the Hudson Bay Post originally erected in 1671, and here is the little English church which floated away on rising spring tides until holes were bored into its floor. Plugs for these holes are withdrawn when the water floods the church, so that the drainage causes the waters to subside and leave the church on its foundations.

One interesting slide pictured the ancient smithy which was built in 1740 and the last group of smaller pictures showed the development of the great Abitibi Power Dam.

The thanks of the assemblage to the speaker was conveyed by Dr. J. A. Bannister.

Operating the slide machine were F. L. Roy and Ross Dobbin.

During dinner, very fine music was played by the Searles Trio, composed of Mrs. Searles at the piano, Cecil Searles playing the violin, and T. Smith, the 'cello. Their attractive music was tuneful and very sweet.

Jack Smith acted as song leader for community singing, also pressing into service, for the rendition of "Down by the Old Mill Stream," a more or less talented quartet composed of J. H. Seels, Jack Gillespie, F. L. Roy and Ross Dobbin, supported by Chris Graham. George Nicholls played piano accompaniments.

Small Boy Injured Hastings Accident

HASTINGS, May 29 (Examiner Correspondence). — Master Billy West, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William West, met with what may prove to be a fatal accident. The little youngster had climbed up on the roof of the summer kitchen of his home and in getting down must have slipped, falling on a rain barrel. When the boy fell, he straddled the barrel suffering serious injuries. Mr. West informed The Examiner on Monday night that his son's condition was serious.

FARMER'S BARN RAZED BY FIRE

Truck Overturns Near Omemee But Driver Escapes Serious Hurt.

HOCKEY PLAYER DIES

LINDSAY, May 29 (Examiner Correspondence).—A fire of unknown origin totally destroyed the barn on the farm of Clifford Hargrave, near Victoria Road, during the week-end. Mr. Hargrave was on his way to the barn when he heard a roaring sound. Entering the barn door he discovered the barn was on fire. He seized the fire extinguisher and attempted to battle the flames, but the fire had gained too much progress. A quantity of grain, hay and farm implements were also burned. The loss will be heavy as very little insurance was carried.

Serious Accident

A rather serious accident occurred Monday afternoon on the Lindsay-Peterborough Highway, just east of Omemee and close to the C.N.R. railway crossing. A large truck belonging to the Henry Auto Service, Lindsay, and loaded with accessories, sustained a broken spring at a dangerous point in the highway. It overturned a couple of times and landed in the ditch, scattering the load on either side of the road. The driver of the truck and another occupant escaped with bruises and a shaking up. The truck was badly wrecked.

HERVE ADAM IS FATALLY HURT

Former Welterweight Wrestling Champion of Canada Dies Suddenly.

INJURED WHILE ON FARM.

BELLEVILLE, May 29.—Herve F. Adam, former welterweight wrestling champion of Canada, died suddenly in the Belleville Hospital yesterday afternoon, from a severe head wound sustained on his farm on the Second Concession of Ameliasburg, Prince Edward County, early yesterday. Mystery surrounds the sudden death, as no one was with him when he suffered the injury, and he was unconscious when his 4-year-old son found him sitting in a democrat in the drive-house His wife rushed to his assistance, but he was unable to speak, and he never regained consciousness in the hospital.

Adam went to the barn to do the chores early yesterday, and nothing was thought of his absence, when he did not arrive at the house, until late.

Found By Son.

Shortly after 7 o'clock his son, playing about the yard, peered in the drive seat of the democrat, and saw the father, his head in a pool of blood. The youngster informed his mother, who quickly went to the scene, and, finding him unconscious and unable to speak, rushed for aid. Dr. VanLuven of Consecon, who was in the neighborhood, was soon at the home, and after rendering first aid, rushed the man to the hospital.

An X-ray of the three-inch gash on his head revealed a slight fracture, and no serious result was expected, but he died late yesterday afternoon. Dr. H. A. Thompson, Coroner of Prince Edward County, viewed the body, and whether an inquest will be held has not been determined. It is believed that some heavy object hit him on the head while he was working about the barn and that he made his way to the driveshed and there lost consciousness.

Born in Switzerland.

Mr. Adam was born in Switzerland forty-two years ago, being the son of Frank Adam and the late Mrs. Adam. He had been a resident of Ameliasburg Township for the past thirteen years, where he carried on extensive farming operations. He was an outstanding athlete, and through his efforts wrestling was introduced and brought to the fore at West End Y., where he was an instructor for some years, and the teams which he placed in the competitions invariably came home with the titles.

Since coming to Belleville he had been interested in wrestling at the "Y," and had personally taken part in several bouts. He was a member of Victoria United Church, and is survived by his widow, three sons, Frank, Robert and David, all at home; two sisters, Mrs. Harold Weese and Mrs. Cecil Smith of Toronto; one half-brother, Ernest Butshi, Atlantic City, and a stepmother, Mrs. Frank Adam. The funeral will be held on Thursday.

On one day recently 25,000 cases of grapes were shipped from Argentina to the United States.

FRENCH AIRMEN AWAIT ORDERS FROM MINISTRY

May Continue Dash to San Diego or Fly Back Across Atlantic.

BOTH PROMOTED.

Mechanics to be Sent From France—New Record Attempt Likely.

(By BENNETT WOLFE)

NEW YORK, May 29. (AP).—Two French air officers whose wings wobbled after carrying them from Paris to North America on a flight that was intended to end at San Diego Calif., were wondering to-day where to go from here.

Their dream of a non-stop record and a 1,000,000 franc prize shattered when vibrating wings caused them to set their plane down at Floyd Bennett airport yesterday afternoon Maurice Rossi and Paul Codos awoke in their hotel suite to-day refreshed and ready for New York's official welcome and acclaim.

The weary airmen had little time for festivities when they climbed from their huge monoplane. They wanted rest—and a bottle of champaigne. And off they were hurried to a Park Avenue Hotel, where they got both, leaving New York's official welcome for another day.

Vibration of the wings and rudder of their silver monoplane—the Joseph LeBbrix—halted their ambitious undertaking, they explained. Their gasoline supply would have been sufficient for the remainder of their essayed 6,100-mile flight.

Their first words after landing were of disappointment.

"I am not at all happy," said Rossi.

"I am very, very sorry," said Codos.

After some reflection, Rossi added:

"But it is better to be here alive than a hero dead."

Later, over a bottle of champagne in their hotel room, they agreed they hadn't done so badly, at that.

Their flight, in addition to being one of the few successful East-West crossing of the North Atlantic, established Rossi and Codos as the first to make the crossing on both directions. They made the eastward flight last August when they set the present non-stop distance record—approximately 5,700 miles from New York to Rayak, Syria.

New honors from their beloved France helped temper their disappointment. An official message from the French Government announced the promotion of Rossi from Lieutenant to Captain in the Air Corps, and the elevation of Codos to Commander of the Legion of Honor.

Whether the two airmen would fly on to San Diego, their original goal, remained to be decided. They announced definitely, however, they would stay in New York eight days or two weeks, until mechanics arrive from France to go over their ship.

There were reports from Paris they might fly back across the Atlantic in quest of a new record, but the birdmen said plans would be governed by orders from the French Government.

May Try For Record Again.

PARIS, May 29.—(A.P.)—Belief that Paul Codos and Maurice Rossi would make another attempt from New York to beat their own non-stop airplane flight record was expressed to-day by Codos' wife.

"Even before they took off from Le Bourget," Mme. Codos said, "some of their flying friends told me that was their intention if they were forced to land in New York.

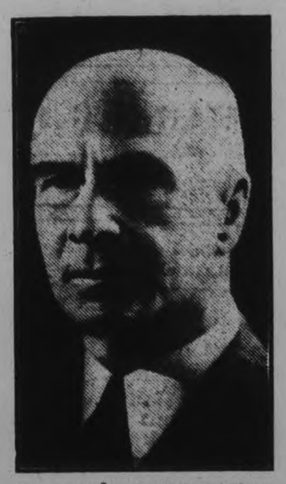
"The plans seem serious for mechanics probably will leave for New York shortly to put the Joseph Lebrix in shape. Another period of anguish appears in store for us."

The Air Ministry is arranging to send mechanics with spare parts to New York to repair the plane and is deliberating what instructions it will send the fliers.

All France rejoiced at the successful Paris-New York hop, forgetting the first pangs of disappointment that the projected journey to California failed.

The simultaneous and successful flight of the mail plane "Arc-en-ciel" from Africa to Natal, Brazil, also was source of gratification to the nation.

Here's Summer



From a photograph of Robt. G. Jackson, M.D., at 75. When 50 years of age Dr. Jackson was given but four months to live by the famous Sir Wm. Osler, but through natural living habits and the use of alkaline foods Dr. Jackson is today in his 77th year the embodiment of youthful vigor and endurance.

HERE'S Summer!—and here's hoping it will be a long and delightful one, as our Canadian Summers usually are.

Of course, our summers are often hot and sultry, and this means discomfort and an "all in" feeling for many, but that is not the fault of summer. The full enjoyment of even the hottest days is all a matter of keeping the blood in proper condition. Take my case! I'm never "all in" even on the hottest days. I'm always full of "pep" and energy. I often sit in the "altogether" on the flat top of our building in the broiling sun, hours at a stretch, without even a head covering, although the "authorities" all say "cover the head while sun bathing." And that's good advice, too, for those who live on the conventional diet of civilization which cannot avoid destroying the normal alkali reserve, "nature's first defense against fatigue, disease and premature death." When the normal alkali reserve is destroyed the blood becomes "viscid" or ropy, circulating with great difficulty through the capillary blood vessels through which all organs, including heart and brain, get their life blood supply. On hot days, sweating depletes the blood of water, making it still more ropy and difficult to circulate through heart and brain. That is what causes the "all in" feeling, heat strokes and collapse on hot days.

But I fear none of these, because I have in my blood a "normal alkali reserve" and my blood is not ropy, but vital and very fluid. That gives vitality and resistance to heart and brain, through both of which it circulates without hindrance, maintaining a free supply of life blood in these vital organs and calling upon the heart for far less labor. Of course, therefore, I am not "all in" on even the hottest day and can safely defy "Old Sol" to do his worst. Anyone who will live my way can safely defy the sun, especially if he will feed himself my way.

And now you may ask "How does the cold affect you?" Well, during the past winter, the coldest in many years, I motored all over Ontario and parts of Quebec and New England, wearing neither overcoat, vest nor underwear. Sometimes, it was 36 degrees below zero, yet I went about lecturing between three and four hours every night, often talking eight hours in one day, but I never suffered and never tired—and I am now in my 77th year. How could I do it? For the very same reason that I can stand excessive heat, because I have a normal alkali reserve in my blood, my "first defense against fatigue, disease and premature death". For blood is life, life is resistance—and blood is made from food.

How did I obtain such a perfect blood condition? By the use of an 80% alkali-forming diet, the most important part of which consists of either Roman Meal, Bekus-Puddy or Lishus, and Kofy-Sub as my only beverage.

On hot days I eat the cereals cold with fruit jelly and cream or honey or maple syrup and cream, and Kofy-Sub cold with lemon juice or cream and sugar. All delicious, cooling, satisfying, healthful.

I suffer from neither heat nor cold and at 76 I safely defy disease, because I obey the Creator's health laws, and a perfect body, with immunity from disease, is the reward of Creative Wisdom for all who thus obey.

You can obtain this same great reward if you will also obey. Proper feeding is not all, but it is a vitally important part and the place to begin. My bulletin on Alkali-Forming Foods will greatly aid you and is free to those who write for it, but I want only those to have it who are sufficiently health-conscious and intelligent to be anxious to have it without being urged. Ladies Plan "Pink Tea"—Parsonage Being Redecorated.

JANETVILLE, May 28 (Examiner Correspondence). — The Women's Association of the United Church gathered at the Sunday School room of the church on Wednesday afternoon for their May rally with a good attendance present.

Mrs. Sam Stinson, the 1st vice-president was in charge of proceedings. The secretary, Mrs. J. R. McGee, submitted an interesting report after which an important business session was held. Plans were formed and detail arrangements made for holding a "Pink Tea" at the parsonage on Tuesday next, when the Mount Horeb friends would be invited to attend. A special program will be arranged for the occasion and a large gathering is expected.

A detailed discussion was carried on regarding the advisability of the association providing home-made cooking again this year for the tourist trade at Lake Scugog, Janetville beach. A definite decision was deferred until the June meeting.

It was reported by a member that several ladies of the association who reside in the village have been working industriously for the past days in re-decorating the parsonage which shows a remarkable improvement in general appearance.

Preliminaries to be Confined to Discussing Revision of London Treaty.

U. S. IS INCLUDED.

TOKYO, May 29 (A.P.).—Japan sent acceptance to Great Britain to-day of an invitation to begin discussions preparatory to the vital 1935 naval conference.

After the Cabinet had approved the proposals, Koki Hirota, Foreign Minister, telegraphed Tsuneo Matsudaira, Ambassador to London, to accept formally.

While Japan realizes London will be the principal point of contact, with the British Foreign Office acting as a clearing house for the views of all concerned powers, a copy of Matsudaira's instructions was sent to Hiroshi Saito, Ambassador to Washington, for his guidance.

Japan understands that Great Britain expects the London preliminaries to be confined to a discussion of revision of the London naval treaty and preparation for the 1935 naval conference.

Farmers Facing Drought Urged To Sell Cows For Beef

ALBANY, N.Y., May 29 (AP) — State Department of Agriculture spokesmen lent their support today to a suggestion from the State college of Agriculture that farmers prepare now to sell some of their cows for beef or other purposes if the unusual drought conditions continue.

C. G. Bradt of the College of Agriculture at Ithaca sent word to farmers to start dairy records at once so they will know which cows to dispose of if culling becomes necessary.

Meanwhile, the Department of Agriculture said the drought was becoming worse. Dry weather has ruined many pastures and killed many fruit trees already injured by the severe winter. One estimate in Central New York was that $10,000,000 damage had been done to farmers.

KAYE DON HURT IN AUTO CRASH MECHANIC DIES

Racing Car Overturns During Practice Midnight Run.

HIT ANOTHER MACHINE.

Pair Discovered Unconscious on Lonely Isle of Man Road.

DOUGLAS, Isle of Man, May 29. (AP)—Kaye Don, whose flashing feats in automobile and speed boat racing have brought him face to face with death many times, has escaped from another close shave—one which cost the life of his mechanic.

His racing car overturned when he decided suddenly to make a practise midnight run for the "Round the Houses" race here Friday.

The mechanic, F. Taylor, died early this morning in a hospital, where Don was also taken, severely shaken up but not badly injured.

Friends discovered Don's absence from his hotel and made a search for him. They found the overturned car, a short way out of town, with an ambulance at hand. A policeman had found the two beside the roadside semi-conscious and telephoned for aid.

"The accident occurred on a lonely road when Don's car collided with an automobile, then jumped a hedge and overturned. Occupants of the other car were unhurt. Don is suffering from shock and abrasions and will not be able to race Friday.

Although he has been an automobile racing enthusiast for years, the English veteran is better known for his speed boat exploits. He has set several world's records in this field and has battled—unsuccessfully—for the Harmsworth trophy with Gar Wood of Detroit.

Rum Runner Vedas Bought As Wrecker

WINDSOR, May 29. — (C.P.)— Mine sweeper, fruit-carrier, sealer and rum-runner, the steamer Vedas will now enter more prosaic activities as a salvage vessel.

After being tied up here for about three years the vessel, which was seized by customs officials as a "mother ship" distributing beer to speed boats in Lake Erie, has been purchased by Captain J. F. McQueen of Amherstburg and will be fitted out as a wrecking ship.

The purchase was made by tender filed with the department, but the price has not been disclosed. Capt. McQueen says the ship has a bit of sentimental attachment for him as she is "practically a sister of the one I served on during the war."

Exports from Brazil in the first two months of this year were 40 per cent in value above those of the same period of 1933.

PHILIP GROVE IS PRESENTED PIERCE MEDAL

Author, Lecturer Brings Honor to Simcoe and Norfolk County.

OUTSTANDING NOVEL.

Has Established Reputation as Breeder of Pure-bred Jerseys.

SIMCOE, Ont., May 29 (C.P.).—Awarded the Lorne Pierce medal for outstanding contribution to Canadian literature during the year 1933, Frederick Philip Grove, author lecturer and teacher, has brought no small honor to Simcoe and Norfolk County.

Mr. Grove published only one book, "Fruits of the Earth," in 1933, but twice before his name has been proposed for the honor, and it was also mentioned by Mr. Pierce himself when he established the fund to provide for the annual award. The recipient of the Pierce gold medal must be the unanimous selection of the judging committee of the Royal Society of Canada.

Formal presetnation of the medal was to have been made at the convention of the Royal Society in Quebec last Tuesday, but illness prevented Mr. Grove's attendance.

Describing himself as a dairy farmer, Mr. Grove has during his two and one-half years' residence in the Simcoe district, established a reputation as a breeder of pure-bred Jersey cattle. Nevertheless, he spends five or six hours every day at his desk working on a new novel which has been bought sight unseen by an English publishing house. On the shelves of Mr. Grove's library are the completed manuscripts for 19 novels, 11 of them ready for press, more than 100 short stories and volumes of essays.

His Leading Work

The most successful of Mr. Grove's publication was "in search of America," written in 1894 but not published until 1927. Second in popularity ranked "Our Daily Bread." His books have been even more popular in Australia and New Zealand than in Canada.

Born at Malmoe, Sweden, in 1872, Mr. Grove soon went to England where most of his childhood was spent. His university education was received at Paris, Rome and Munich as a student of classical archaeology. He came to Canada in 1892 at the age of 20. The greater part of his time he lived in the west.

He taught school for a period in Manitoba, being principal of high schools at Virden, Gladstone and Rapid City. He declined an offer from a Winnipeg school because he would not have the time required for his writing. At the age of 50 he graduated from the University of Manitoba with an honors degree.

In 1931, Mr. Grove purchased a farm a few miles from Simcoe and took up dairy farming. Owing to a fractured spine which he suffered while in Western Canada, Mr. Grove has to hire all the labor for farm tasks. His farming venture has nevertheless succeeded and he now possesses a splendid herd of pure-bred jerseys.

While living in the west Mr. Grove met and married Miss Catherine Wiens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wiens, Swift Current, Sask. They have one son, Arthur Leonard, aged three and one-half years.

The Weather

TORONTO, May 29.—(CP)—Pressure has decreased over the eastern portion of the continent with a moderate disturbance moving eastward across Ungava and a shallow trough of low extending southwestward across the Great Lakes. The weather has been fair and quite warm in the Western provinces and moderately warm from the Great Lakes eastward with a few light scattered showers in Northern districts of Ontario and Quebec.

Georgian Bay—Moderate to fresh southwest to northwest winds; mostly fair and warm; possibly scattered thundershowers. Wednesday: Moderate to fresh winds; fair with stationary or a little lower temperature.

Northern Ontario: Fresh west to northwest winds; fair tonight and Wednesday with stationary or a little lower temperature.

MISS E. M. ROBSON IS GUEST SPEAKER

Large Attendance at Special Women's Institute Meeting at Hastings.

HASTINGS, May 29 (Examiner Correspondence)—A special meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Wednesday afternoon, May 23rd in the town hall, in connection with the summer series of meetings, Mrs. Scott Fife, a vice-president presided. The platform was prettily decorated with ferns, plants and summer blossoms for the occasion, when Miss Ethel M. Robson of Denfield, Ont., the first speaker from the department to give an address for the Hastings Institute, spoke on "The Challenge of Age." Mrs. Gordon Faux and Miss Winnie Huycke gave a delightful duet with accompaniment by Miss Carrie Doxsee; an instrumental duet by Misses Marjorie Scriver and Carrie Doxsee proved most pleasing.

The ladies feel a decisive step in the right direction was taken when they proposed buying the lot to form a park and athletic ground. They have undertaken clearing up a neglected waste of land and turning it into a beauty spot for pleasure. The society wish to express their appreciation for the spirit of co-operation which has been in evidence in connection with the work and feel grateful for the many contributions already received and others that are promised. The purchase price was $300 and already over that amount has been contributed which enables the society to buy the lot. Mr. Ferguson of Guelph gave an estimate of drainage and to help financially with the expense of tillage the society decided to hold a euchre and dance in the town hall next Thursday evening, May 31st, where suitable prizes will be given. Refreshments were served and a social

BANK OFFICIALS MUST QUIT AT 75

Several Amendments Being Made to Bank of Canada Act in Committee.

CONSIDERABLY ALTERED.

OTTAWA, May 29. (CP).—Persons who have passed the 75 year mark will be disqualified by age from holding high office in Canada's new Central Bank. To-day the banking committee of the House of Commons accepted an amendment under which no person may hold the office of Governor, Deputy Governor or assistant Deputy Governor after having reached the age of 75. The same provision was made in respect to directors of the new institution.

Bill Has 43 Clauses

After a long week-end, members of the committee speeded up work on the bill to incorporate the Bank of Canada. The sitting indicated that the new measure will probably be considerably altered when it finally emerges for its final work-over by the House of Commons. A number of members gave notice of amendments which they propose to move to one or more of the Bill's 43 clauses, and several new proposals were accepted at to-day's sitting.

The committee, however, did not favor amendments which would have included bankruptcy as one of the disqualifications for holding the office of Governor, Deputy Governor or assistant Deputy Governor. Like "moral turpitude" which was also brought up, the feeling appeared to be that shareholders of the new institution would be competent to deal with such questions and take necessary action.

An amendment which would have precluded outsiders from accepting office as Governor or Deputy Governor of the new bank, even temporarily, if they were directors, officers or shareholders of other financial institutions was held over.

BY ART MURRAY

THORNCLIFFE GOT away to a flying start on Monday, the weather being ideal and as usual a long shot went over in the third race, Sparky, paying off to the tune of $73.23 which served as a tonic to the odds on players . . . Crofter is certainly in fine form winning again yesterday after taking Horometer into camp on Saturday . . . Happy Hopes is another Canadian Bred that is due to crash the winners' circle. He is coming to hand nicely and it won't be long now.

R. S. McLaughlin led the winning owners at a recent Woodbine meeting by a large margin. His total winnings amounted to $12,165 and fifty guineas, which is a nice week's work for any stable . . . Whitey Abel put over a double at Thorncliffe yesterday when his St. Moritz and Black Target both got down in front. Nat Ray tells us he has his crack sprinter Stealingaway right on edge at the present time and ready for a win no matter how strong the opposition is. . . . The current Detroit meeting is going along in good style. Our old friend Don Verne is over there just waiting for the proper spot, and so is Indiantown. These two will make their presence felt before long.

THE THORNCLIFFE racing strip is like paste board these days and lightning fast, but badly in need of rain . . . The Smallman stable won another purse on Monday with Miss Morocco, which bears out our prediction of a few days ago, when we said this outfit was just starting to click . . . Bylona is getting ready to show some winning form, it is usually about this time of years that this one pops down for two or three winning efforts . . . Paplico went lame his last start and will be on the self for a while. It is too bad as he was going great guns.

Round Table has not reached top form since arriving in Canada but you can bank on him getting his share. Juniam is one who likes the Thorncliffe track, if we remember rightly most of his wins were made at this strip. . . . Candy Pot and Candy Man are a good pair to keep the weather eye on. They are both fast breakers and keyed to concert pitch at present time. And like their names suggest they will both be sweet things in the mutuel payoff.

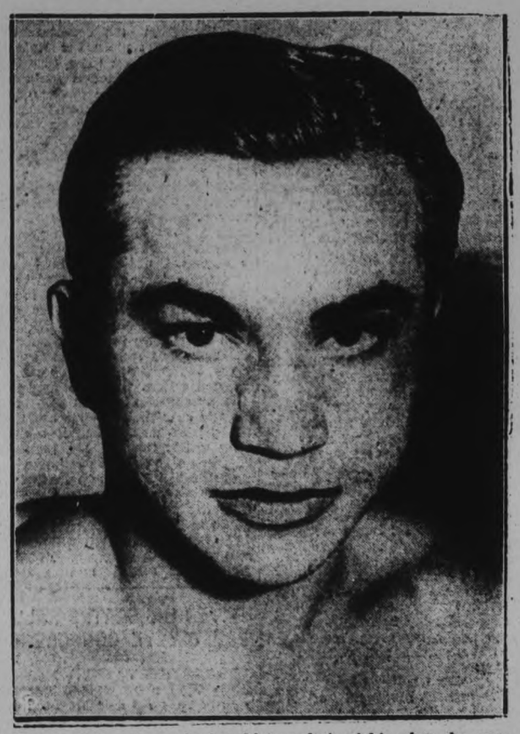
TOMMY AIMERS is riding in grand form this year and on Saturday last he had the leg up on Crofter and experts say he outsmarted the clever Frankie Mann on Horometer . . . Lloyd Gentry has the large string belonging to Harry Hatch at Detroit, but is going to ship half of it over to Long Branch which opens one week from tomorrow and right here now, we say he will saddle a few winners at the Lakeshore plant. Long Branch does not come under the Canadian Racing Association and hence Gentry is free to saddle up.

Ross Wins Welter Crown By Split Decision

Adds McLarnin's Title To His Laurels



Barney Ross set up boxing history last night when he was awarded a split decision over Jimmy McLarnin to become double champion of light and welterweight classes.

LITTLE CHICAGO JEW MAKES RING HISTORY BY BEATING McLARNIN

First Fighting Man Ever To Claim Lightweight And Welterweight Championships As His Own—Ross Awarded Split Decision When Judges Disagree.

NEW CHAMP GIVES COURAGEOUS DISPLAY AGAINST HEAVIER ATTACK OF IRISHMAN.

By SAM ROBERTSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, May 29. (CP). — Barney Ross stood among the immortals of the boxing ring to-day because of a tireless left-hand that might easily claim kinship to class one lightning.

Directed by an agile, cool brain, that left drummed the welterweight crown off the brow of Jimmy McLarnin last night and made the lithe Chicago Hebrew the first fighting man ever to claim the lightweight and welter champions of the world as his own.

Some 65,000 sat under a starry sky in the Madison Square Garden Bowl on Long Island as the crafty hand wrote the ring history other lightweight masters, Benny Leonard one of them, attempted and failed. They sat, almost silently, through 15 slightly blood-spattered rounds as the Canadian's right with the cobra sting and Ross' left that crackles like a machine-gun, turned the flow of battle this way and that.

Then a tumultuous acclaim went up from that living sea of white faces for the boy who had dared and buried the banshee that so long accompanied the Vancouver Irishman in his personal war against Jewish ringmen.

Judges Divided

A sprinkling of hoots and jeers greeted the announcement that McLarnin had swelled to an unbroken line of nine the welterweight rulers deposed in their first title defence. But then the decision of the officials wasn't unanimous.

One judge voted McLarnin the victor; the other spoke just as strongly for Ross. Without hesitation, Referee Eddie Forbes cast the decisive vote in favor of the product of Chicago's west side.

Five low blows, which Ross said did not damage him, automatically cost Jimmy that many rounds, even had his hooking left and heavy right given him the edge in these frames.

Inactivity Costly

Mainly because he was outsped, McLarnin lost the title that took 10 years in the winning. He had held it one inactive year. The inactivity seemed to enter into it too, for Jimmy saw more of his punches miss their mark last night than he had in his last 10 fights rolled into one.

He was shooting, however at a target with the legs of a Percy Williams. Feline like, Ross would attack with a flurry of lefts and rights then either force an entangling clinch or dance out of danger. Jimmy's historic smile of battle was replaced by a look of grim determination as he sought a dancing, elusive chin to crush with his lethal right. But less than a dozen times could he locate it, and all but the once glancing blows followed.

As against the triumphant smile Ross were there were tears in Jimmy's eyes as he hurried silently from the ring shorn of his title. It was unlikely that he wept over the loss of his crown. It seemed more likely Jimmy's heart just overflowed with chagrin because he had been unable to use the heavy ammunition that blasted his earlier path to the pinnacle.

Beaten At Boxing

In short he had been thwarted in a boxing match, and Jimmy is only at his best in a fight.

There were moments of the 15 rounds when a ripping, tearing Ross gave the Vancouver belter a chance to belt. In the ninth round and through the 12th, when the cherubic Canadian blasted ahead like a warship under forced draught in an effort to wipe out the earlier advantage Barney's incessant left had piled up, there were spots that teemed with action.

The hearty lightweight who weighed about 138 stood head to head and traded smash for smash with his 142 pound foe. But as quickly as the storm blew up, it blew itself out, usually with the fast tiring mittmen in each others clinching arms.

In all, the fans who paid some $225,000 to see the bout, found cause to leave their seats less than a dozen times to stand and cheer.

No Real Knockdowns

There were no real knockdowns, although in the ninth both bounced in the resin from the combined effort of being hit and when off balance. Ross, half turned as he took a looping right, lost his footing but bounded up without a count. He immediately let fly a left hook that caused McLarnin, as he ducked, to slip and land on his haunches. Jimmy also leaped up before the knockdown timekeeper could go into action.

The left with which the American whipped his opponent started the blood flowing from Jimmy's nose in the fourth round. A left hook cut a gash near Barney's mouth in the eighth and from then on he bled freely. In the last half of the fight both were frequently red smeared as they stabbed and slashed spasmodically, but never a knockdown blow cracked out in the almost still night air.

WILD BILL HALLIHAN BLANKS PHILLIES FOR 10-0 VICTORY

Jackson's Two Homers Win Pair of Pitching Duels for Giants to Oust Pirates From Top Place—Braves Win Series Against Chicago.

(By Herbert W. Barker—A.P. Sports Writer).

The banner of St. Louis Cardinals waved high over the National League to-day.

Starting from the depths of the second division, Frankie Frisch's Redbirds had climaxed a long winning streak, netting 20 victories in their last 26 games, by pulling into the lead for the first time this season.

To "Wild Bill" Hallahan, crack southpaw, fell the honor of pitching the Cardinals into first place. He shut out the Phillies with seven hits yesterday while his team-mates rattled 15 hits off the fences in Baker Bowl and coasted to a 10-0 decision. Only once was Bill in danger. Bartell's single and John Moore's double put runners on second and third, with none out, but Hallahan turned on the heat and set down the next three men on strikes.

Giants Help Upset.

But to oust Pittsburgh Pirates from the top rung, the Cardinals needed help and they got it from New York Giants, who turned back the Corsairs twice in a pair of epic pitching duels, 3-2 in 11 innings, and 1-0. Travis Jackson punched out home runs for the deciding tally in each game. Larry French and Hal Schumacher allowed no hits for seven innings and only two apiece in the first nine innings of the extra-inning affair. After the Pirates had counted twice in the 10th, the Giants came back to tie the score and then win out on Jackson's homer in the 11th. His second home run in the second inning of the nightcap was the only score of a great duel between Carl Hubbell and Ralph Birkofer.

One-Game Margin.

This combination of results gave the Cardinals first place by a one-game margin over the Pirates. The Giants moved into third position when Chicago Cubs were beaten by Boston Braves, 5-3. Benny Frey's fine pitching gave Cincinnati an 8-1 decision over Brooklyn.

INDIANS HOLD NARROW MARGIN

Cleveland Stays on Top by 6-5 Victory Over Mack's Athletics.

DETROIT WINS 12-6.

(By Canadian Press).

Cleveland maintained its narrow lead over New York Yankees in the American League race with a sensational 6-5 victory over Philadelphia Athletics. Jimmy Foxx's 10th and 11th home runs gave the A's four runs in the first three innings but the Indians kept pace and finally won out in the 10th when Earl Averill's double scored Billy Knickerbocker. Lou Gehrig hit his 11th and 12th homers, and Babe Ruth, Tony Lazzeri and Jack Saltzgaver contributed one apiece as the Yankees slugged St. Louis Browns into submission, 13-9.

Paced by Hank Greenberg, who hit a pair of homers, Detroit Tigers drove Lefty Grove out of the box in six innings and beat Boston's Red Sox 12-6. Chicago's 17 hits gave the White Sox an 11-7 verdict over Washington Senators.

LEAVE 'EM LOUIE MEYER HAS GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY TO TAKE AUTO CLASSIC FOR THIRD TIME

Only Driver Outside of Tommy Milton Who Has Won Two Heats, Latter Will Drive No More— Speed Artists of Great Hoosier Saucer Will Try for New Marks on Wednesday, May 30.

A fellow who looks just like his name is Louie Meyer — which means he doesn't look at all like the popular conception of an auto race driver.

Yet Louie is the top man of the speedway sport—and don't you forget it.

Louie's just a pleasant-looking young man, with tousled hair and premature's crow's feet radiating from narrowed but smiling eyes—the result of squinting down thousands of miles of speedway leaping at him at better than 100 miles an hour.

The broad-shouldered, Gallis figure of a Leon Duray, the handsome features of a Tony Gullota, the laughing look of recklessness of a Phil Shafer—that's your picture and mine of a race driver.

But it's Lap and Leave 'Em Louie who wins the races.

* * *

Try Again Wednesday

Young Mister Meyer is going to try for a third Indianapolis speedway victory come Memorial Day.

When most of us are going to be taking our ease, May 30, in the luxury of a one-day vacation, Louie will be on the job trying to make it three. He's the only man in the world, right now, who by dusk of Decoration Day can have won three races on the huge Hoosier saucer, which is the world series—heavyweight title bout—Army-Navy game of the speedway sport.

Only one other man won two races—Tommy Milton — and he'll never race again. So, if it's anyone whose going to make it three, it's Louie.

Won First in 1928

When Louie cracked through with his first victory in 1928 the speedway folk still failed to take him too seriously. Kids before had come through to run down the old heads of the game to win a race by sheer breath-taking, dare-devilry and then soon vanished into retirement like George Souders, or died under the mangled remains of their racing machine like Frank Lockhart.

But Louie fooled them all. He went on to win the American speedway title three times, the Indianapolis race again last year and is fresh from two important wins on the Pacific coast—at Ascot and Oakland, Cal.

If Louie wins May 30 it will be an extra special joy for him, for this year Two-Mile-a-Minute Meyer will be driving a car of his own small garage behind his home in South Gate, Cal.

* * *

From Vine-Covered Cottage

South Gate—that sounds like a great place to live.

The name makes one think of bright bricks and green shutters and, maybe, ivy with the works overlooking a stretch of sparkling water. And it's a pretty good bet that Mrs. Meyer would have some yellow and red roses growing somewhere not far from that house.

And out of such a pleasant prospect may have come the steel-lunged steed destined to ride through the roar of Memorial Day's big race to victory.

"May?" Maybe the words should read "probably has," for the chap at the wheel of that home-made mile burner will be Lapping Louie, the fellow who doesn't look like a race driver but is one — and, as folks used to say, how!

FIFTH STRAIGHT WIN FOR CHIEFS

Coombs Allows Albany Only Five Hits as Syracuse Triumphs 4-1.

ROYALS-LEAFS IDLE.

(By the Associated Press)

Off on another winning streak, Syracuse Chiefs had jumped into fifth place in the International League standings by virtue of their fifth successive victory.

Given excellent pitching by Bobby Coombs, the Chiefs turned back Albany Senators yesterday, 4-1, although they made only seven hits off Milligan and Porter. Milligan was yanked after he had allowed one run in the second and had forced another run over in the third by walking Max Rosenfeld with the bases loaded. Porter then came in and Taylor greeted him with a single that scored the other two runs. After that Porter held the Chiefs to two hits, but the damage had been done. Coombs, meanwhile, breezed along comfortably. He gave only five hits and was helped by three double plays. Del Bissonette's double in the fourth drove in Albany's lone run.

9-7 Win Over Baltimore.

A three-run rally in the ninth gave Newark a night game decision over Baltimore, 9-7. The Orioles had jumped to the fore with a four-run splurge in the eighth. Vito Tamulis came into the game as a relief pitcher in the ninth and set down Gilbert, Puccinelli and Abernathy on strikes to protect the lead Newark had gained in the first half of the frame. Vince Barton hit his 14th homer for Newark and Alexander also contributed one for the Bears and Puccinelli one for Baltimore.

Johnny Wilson and Lefty Michaels battled through 10 innings in a fine pitching duel before Rochester could earn a 1-0 decision over Buffalo in another night clash. Michaels, pitching for the Red Wings, allowed Buffalo only two hits. Wilson was touched more freely—for nine hits—but was effective in the pinches.

Toronto and Montreal did not play.

BRINTONS WIN BY TEN RUNS

Bill Abbott Holds Fashion-Craft in Tow for 17 to 7 Decision.

CITY SOFTBALL LEAGUE

Brintons pounded out a 17-7 decision over Fashion-Crafts in the City Softball League game at Central last night. They drove Ted Naish out of the box in the fifth frame after five were in to make the count 14-2. Butcher finished in good style. Bill Abbott, on the Brinton slab, kept nine hits well scattered except for four in the eighth and he fanned four and walked six. Naish had struck out one, given a dozen hits and issued five free bases; while Butcher walked four, fanned seven and was nicked for six hits.

Bunched hits in the third and fifth ran up the count for the Carpetmen, while the losers could only get three runs, one an inning, till the eighth when four counted. Both sides showed some smart fielding, catches by Foley and H. Dormer, with a G. Dormer-to-Smith doubleplay featuring. Gainey hit a homer but was out for missing second base. Weir led the hitters with a homer, two doubles and two singles in six times. H. Dormer had four walks, a sacrifice and two singles. Sturgeon began hitting again, getting a homer, double and single in six; while Bradshaw came through with three singles. For Fashion-Crafts, Foley hit two doubles and Clarke a triple.

AT THE CAPITOL

"THE HOUSE OF ROTHSCHILD."

Here is a memorable picture. George Arliss, who has the supreme quality of being able to project himself into the skin of any character he chooses to portray and who, at the same time, never lets you forget that it is Arliss who holds the stage, has the central role of Nathan Rothschild, eldest of a quintette of Jewish brothers who had their genesis in the ghetto of Frankfurt, in Prussia, in the days when the Jews were chained within their bounds by sundown and went in fear and trembling of their lives. Just how the power of money sends them on and up until the Jew with the "Mad Hatter" manner of wearing his tall hat is able to dictate terms to the rich and powerful bankers of Europe, is delineated in this story.

It is a tale of a race that struggles for freedom and fair treatment, that appeals for the right to "walk the earth with dignity and honour." And it is replete with character studies and historical portraits.

At a recent luncheon in Toronto of the Temple Sisterhood of the Holy Blossom Synagogue, Rabbi Maurice Eisendrath and B. K. Sandwell, editor of Toronto's "Saturday Night," discussed this film from the point of view of the Jew and the Gentile. The Rabbi said that the picture, although superbly filmed and acted, was replete with historical errors and he regretted the words of Meyer on his deathbed: "A Jew can find his way to dignity and freedom primarily through the power of gold." He thought it a good time to bring before the people the Jewish ghetto as it existed at that time, so that they would get an insight into conditions and so see the reason for whatever Jewish traits they may dislike to-day. Mr. Sandwell considered the film as not primarily a Jewish film, and said that the Rothschilds used the power of money for the good of mankind at that time.

However, the picture is a memorable and outstanding example of the art of the cinema. Every role is a strong one, with the exception, perhaps, of the "pretty boy," Fitzroy, who does not convey the idea of strength in his romantic role.

The interest of the Napoleonic background; the Hundred Days, Quatre Bras and Waterloo, adds to the lure of this picture, which may well be regarded as one of the major recent triumphs of the screen. The shadow of the conquering Corsican dominates the later scenes. And who could be better in the role of the victorious Wellington than the veteran actor, C. Aubrey Smith, with his fine accent and appropriate manner.

Amschel, Nathan, James, Carl and Solomon Rothschild, the five sons of the old money-lender, Meyer (with Arliss in this role also), control the money markets of Europe, and Nathan, he of the London house, holds the reins. When his English banker enemies supercilliously decline to consider his bid for a portion of a French loan, he manipulates the stock market until they cry for mercy, but later, when Napoleon offers to grant the Rothschilds a higher rate of interest in return for their financial support, Nathan stands by his bargain with England, and, even with rumors of defeat by the French following at his heels, he still refuses to weaken. And he gains the freedom of his people, who had been forbidden the right to own land or to learn a trade. Money-lending was their only source of income.

"The House of Rothschild" will be at the Capitol Theatre for four days, concluding with Thursday evening's performance. It is one of the few pictures that should not be missed.

Central Takes 13-11 Win In Extra Frame

Central had to go an extra inning in their School Softball League game yesterday to pull out a 13-11 win over Queen Mary. Both hurlers went the distance, pitching fair ball and receiving good support. There was some heavy clouting on both sides towards the end of the fray and excitement was high as they went into the overtime frame when the uptowners shoved two markers across.

ROSS FAILED FILL CONTRACT AT FORT WORTH

Refused to Defend Synthetic Junior Welterweight Title Against Tony Herrera.

PROMOTERS SPENT $12,000

NEW YORK, May 29 (C.P.). — Edward C. Foster, of Providence, R.I., president of the National Boxing Association, announced today he had suspended Barney Ross, lightweight and new welterweight champion, for failure to honor a contract in Fort Worth, Texas.

The action was demanded by the Texas Boxing Association aid followed suspension of Ross in Texas, where Charles H. Poe, Texas administrator of boxing and wrestling laws, suspended Ross on Friday.

Ross was matched to defend his synthetic junior welterweight title in Fort Worth against Tony Herrera in Fort Worth last fall. He was charged with having declined to go through with the match after promoters claimed they spent $12,000 preparing for it.

It was pointed out that Ross can be reinstated by going through with the match.

The suspension will have no effect in New York or Illinois, where decisions of the N.B.A. are not recognized, but will be effective in most other States.

KEENE GIRLS WIN FIRST GAME 22-12

Rural Maidens Score Ten Runs in Sixth Frame to Clinch Victory.

Keene stepped out last night on their home diamond in the opening game of the Ladies' City and District Softball League, and after trailing a fighting C.G.E. team for six frames, started a hitting spree that sent ten runs across, and won handily by the rather one-sided count of 22 to 12.

The Electrics played heads up ball in the opening frames and were leading 7 to 6 going into the disastrous sixth, with Marg. Snowden on the rubber dishing up a fast style that had the Rurals handcuffed. The Keene squad hit their old-time stride in their half of this innings. R. Gainor, first batter, walked, and the next four pasted out clean bingles to start the rally, one of these being a triple by Marj. Brown. Fifteen players batted and with the electrics contributing several bad infield errors, the count mounted until ten runs had crossed the plate.

The teams:

C.G.E.— E. Hodson, rf; M. Todd, 1b; M. Byers, 2b; M. Snowden, p,c; E. Gates, 3b; W. Snowden, ss; K. Kearney, c; A. DeCarlo, lf; B. Martin, cf; M. English, lf; H. Newson, p; D. Self, rf.

Keene — D. Cocks, c; M. Brown, 2b; G. McCarthy, cf; H. Nelson, ss; M. McCarthy, p; I. Short, 1b; L. McCarthy, 3b; F. Wedlock, lf; R. Gainor, rf.

By C. J. P.

It comes about tonight, two baseball teams will be whanging the ball around once again down at the Exhibition Grounds. This would scarcely be news if the said teams had been whanging the said ball around with regularity. But it comes about that these teams will be whanging the ball around for the first time this year. In fact, it is what is commonly referred to as the opening of a league—and what sportswriters love to call "the prying off of the lid". And the league that will be opening is the old East Peterborough Intermediate Baseball League. Now, since that name is obviously much too long in this hurry-up age, somebody with a very inventve mind nicknamed it the E.P.L., and so it is the opening of th E.P.L.—of course, if it doesn't rain or come up an earthquake or something.

• • • • • •

No doubt, sundry citizens will heel-and-toe it down to the aforementioned Exhibition Grounds. The E.P.L. has a following of sundry citizens, and then sundry other citizens always like to heel-and-toe it to any league opener. Then, too Fosters and C.G.E.—who will do the opening—have their own followings of sundry citizens, so it is quite likely that citizens, sundry and others, to a large number might be in attendance. The game is supposed to start around six and we imagine it will be good. Dunno the pitchers yet and can't say much about the teams till they're seen in action. But we will be with sundry citizens for this said opening—unless it comes up a broken leg or something.

Up around Central last eve, there was much chuckling on one side and considerable lamenting on the other. And in between, several balls took a bad walloping. When the dust had sort of settled, it was seen by a small number of fans and fanettes that Brintons had lathered Fashion-Crafts and trimmed 'em, 17-7. Ted Naish had too much matrimony on the mind and Brintons made him the recipient of a shower—of bingles. Lefty Sturgeon hadn't hit so far this year and so he ankles up to the plate and pretty nearly bowled over a car 'way up the hill, trotting around the bases—Lefty not the car. Abbott pitched good ball for the winners and got fine support. 'Twas a fair fixture, though one-sided.

The gal softballers pried off the lid—aw, there we go with that lid-prying business again!—yester gloaming down in Keene, with the homesters rallying late in the fracas to slap C.G.E. over, 22-12—if you're morbid that way. It was a nifty contest the first six frames but went wobbly after that. C.G.E. looked promising and should stow a lot of wins in the old bat-bag ere autumn rolls around. Meantime, Keene looks okey-doke with the same lineup as last year except for a smart leftfielder by the name of Florence Wedlock who hits like she meant it. Marg Snowden and Helen Newson twirled for Electrics while Mary McCarthy went the route for the winners. Mrs. Cocks, better known as Dot Gainor to softball fans, is back catching for Keene.

And Sixth Line maidens have an S.O.S.—which might mean, "Slip Out Sometime"—out for a pitcher. They claim they have a good team lined up but could use a good pitcher and any local gals wanting to fling for the Lang lasses should call up Lillian Bowie at Lang or reach ther through President Russ Kitchen. Action is required now as Maple Leafs play at Sixth Line this Friday.

Kingston paper says: "In the departure of Alex McBride for Peterborough, where he has accepted a position, the Kingston and District Football League in general and the Kingston City soccer team in particular has lost a valuable man. McBride was a dependable, hard working and effective player and should be a valuable addition to any Peterborough team which gets him. McBride played for ten years in Kingston and was captain for two years, and since that time has been secretary of the Kingston Football Assoc. He played senior soccer in 1914 when he was but eighteen years of age, and four years in France. During his long career on the field, McBride has been classed as one of the cleanest players in the game." We understand this player will be with Caledonians here.

Belleville Nats play in Kingston tomorrow, while the Petes are idle—though practising nightly—till they entertain the Quinte crew here Saturday. Knotty Lee is having the hollows in centre and left fields filled in, telling us yesterday that it was bumpy ground out in the garden Saturday that caused outfield errors and several extra-base hits by both Kingston and the Petes. A good baseball outfield should be almost as level as the infield.

The Church Softball League that—owing to so many teams—must play before and after meals and twice before retiring, like the prescriptions on some medicines, has only five games booked for this evening. Mark St. Seniors meet St. Paul's at King Edward Park with umps from Knox and George St.; St. John Juveniles play St. Paul's at Queen Mary School, umps from Murray and St. James; George St. Bantams tangle with St. James at King Edward School; St. Paul and Mark St. Bantams clash on the Quaker diamond; and All Saints go to the mat with Knox Bantams at Queen Mary School. Outside of these tilts, all is quiet on the Church Loop front.

BARNEY ROSS IS ACCLAIMED CHICAGO GHETTO

Jubilant Friends and Neighbors Celebrate His Victory Over McLarnin.

FAMILY AT RINGSIDE.

(By Charles Dunkley, Associated Press Sports Writer.)

CHICAGO, May 29 (AP)—There was great rejoicing in Barney Ross' neighborhood to-day as jubilant friends and neighbors celebrated his victory over Jimmy McLarnin in New York last night.

"Barney, such a boy; such a boxfighter," was the comment of residents of the district, a strictly Jewish neighborhood. In delicatessen windows, pictures of the new worlds' welterweight champion suddenly popped out to-day with signs over them bearing the inscription "Our Barney."

Family at Ringside

There was no celebration in Ross' home, because all the family was in New York, except Sammy, Barney's older brother. Mamy Rosofsky, which is Barney's real name, his three brothers and a married sister all saw the fight from the ringside Sammy remained at home, and because there was no broadcast, he was at the Associated Press office to get a blow by blow account of the battle.

When it was all over, and the word was flashed that Ross had won, Sammy let out a yell.

"Oh, Barney licked that Irisher," he screamed, jumping in the air.

"He is in the gelt now," was the comment of Solomon Ginsburg, delicatessen owner. "Such a champion, such a boy, such a boxfighter."

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

By ALEX. J. MORRISON

There's only one way I can account for a player gripping with his left hand touching the very end of the shaft and that is this: The long hold on the club gives some feeling of greater action and speed in the clubhead. But the played shouldn't be fooled by this feeling.

Such a grip finds the hands losing their hold on the club during the swing as evidenced by letting go with the left little finger.

A good firm hold on the club with the third and fourth fingers of the left hand is more important than all the rest of the grip.

This hold cannot be maintained unless the left little finger is at least a couple of inches down from the top of the shaft.

LAKEFIELD NINE WINS FROM ST. JOHN'S 27-14

In a somewhat hilarious and highly-enjoyable Church Loop softball game to the players last evening, Lakefield United slapped St. John's over, 27 to 14. It was a wild and woolly fixture, with some heavy slugging and fair fielding, especially on the winners' part. Elliott and Chittick were the leading hitters. Graham of Lakefield was wild in the sixth and the Saints threatened, and Garbutt fanned the three batters who faced him in the seventh. Young, Patterson and Thirnbeck pitched for the losers, with the former going best. The teams:

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

READ THIS FIRST

John Tait, stepson of wealthy Lady Tait, is engaged to marry Lucy Burnham, a widow. This is resented by Alysia Naylor, John's cousin, who has been making her home with her sister, Etta, and her brother, Claud, at Tait's abode in England. Alysia tries to spoil the romance by using her own fiance, Reggie Claridge, to win Mrs. Burnham's affections. Lady Tait sees her stepson talking to a beautiful young girl, whom she dislikes at once, in a hotel lobby at Vichy where she and her new friend, Mrs. Burnham, are stopping. The girl, revealed as Gillian Dundas who has been blackmailing Tait through a past indiscretion, talks of Tait to a strange-looking young man in another hotel. Meanwhile Claridge arrives from England, introduces himself to Lady Tait, and is immediately taken by Miss Dundas' beauty. The hotel manager arranges a sitting with a Moroccan sorcerer for Lady Tait, John Tait, Mrs. Burnham, Claridge, Claud Naylor, Miss Dundas, and a Mrs. de Souza who employs Gillian as a companion. Suddenly the Arab vanishes. (NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 9

Lady Tait found the idea of an Arab Moslem necromancer using a telegram with which to summon his magic working charms distinctly funny.

The manager escorted them to the lounge and finally left them with many apologies. Then he returned to his office. The Arab rose from a chair at a table. In his hand was an envelope.

"I have written and sealed this. If you open it this time next year you will know why I refused to tell the fortunes of those ladies and gentlemen." Ibrahim ben Mahmoud ben Jussuf, head sorcerer of Abd-el-Krim, would have glided softly from the room, but the manager stopped him.

"You can't give any show tonight. It would be an insult to those other ladies and gentlemen. As it is, I had to invent some absurd story to excuse you. . . ."

"They are leaving shortly," the Arab said in his thick guttural French.

"Tomorrow."

"Then I will give my show tomorrow night. I do not care to be in the presence of those about to die."

The manager was impressed and uneasy against his will.

"Voyons, if a calamity is coming, say a railway accident or another motor smash, the elder lady has already been in one—a word of caution, perhaps ——"

"No word can stop what is coming," the Arab said indifferently. "It is not evil of the kind that can be avoided. Mektub—it is written," and this time Ibrahim did not pause again, but passed on out, like some figure of fate.

Lady Tait went early to bed that night, her last night. She had an idea when she woke next morning that she had been dreaming badly. Something about John Tait and that Dundas girl. . . . She shared Claridge's certainty about her character, or lack of it, and, like him, could find nothing on which to hang her conviction. Not that it would seem to matter.

She watched her maid collect a few last trifles of books and cushions from the sitting room.

"There's a very lovely young girl staying at the hotel, Rainer, Miss Dundas by name. I suppose my nephew has been quite aware of the fact?"

Rainer looked at her mistress over her spectacles. She coughed a little coyly.

"Well, my lady, I didn't like to worry you about it, and, after all, why shouldn't the young gentleman see a good deal of her? Lovely she is, and they seem to have plenty of money. Not that I think he lost his head if you take my meaning."

"Mr. Claud wouldn't do that easily," Lady Tait spoke dryly. In common with most women, caution in a man was not a trait she prized.

"And that's a blessing, my lady," Rainer said fervently. "As for Mr. John, he hasn't eyes for any one except for Mrs. Burnham."

"Who is Miss Dundas, do you know?"

Rainer did not. "The ladies seem quite all right, respectable I mean, and that. But not in the swim. Not at all in the swim. Mrs. de Souza's English herself, her husband was the foreigner, but I got it out of the maid that she had applied for tickets for the Royal Enclosure but didn't get them. Which shows ——"

"Very little," was Lady Tait's private comment. Aloud she said: "You'll be late for your dinner, Rainer." She was not interested in Mrs. de Souza nor in anything, beyond hearing that John had not been seen about with Miss Dundas.

Rainer tossed her head.

"And a funny time to have it," she plumped up a cushion afresh, "and the meals themselves! I didn't want to worry you, my lady, but they really are the limit!"

"The management wrote that they were very careful of the food served at the housekeeper's table. It's a bit late in the day for complaints, in any case." Lady Tait disliked grumbles.

"It's not the food, it's the way it's served. Oh, they're quite mad. They serve the meat by itself and the vegetables separately. Would you believe it, my lady?" And with this specimen of foreign insanity Rainer vanished.

Lady Tait should have felt entirely at ease. But a memory would not be dismissed. A memory of words without any sound. As for Claud, her nephew, she was profoundly indifferent as to whether he was interested in Gillian Dundas or not. He would never do anything foolish. Catch Naylor marrying a nobody! But those soundless, moving lips. . . . Lady Tait could not shake that burr out of her mind, try as she would.

Claridge left Vichy on the same day, and by the same train that carried Mrs. de Souza and Gillian Dundas to Paris. They stopped there for a while. So did Claridge, but he dropped a line to Alysia. She read his note twice, the first time with a pleased smile, the second with a hard frown.

"He couldn't do it!" She announced briefly. "So I'm £15 out. But it seemed worth trying. And had he really put his heart into it, he ought to've turned the trick."

"Put what into it?" Etta asked in a tone of stupor. Alysia flushed. "Tried harder!" she snapped. "Well," she drummed her fingers on the table. "I'm not beaten yet. Not till the marriage actually takes place. But I see you have a letter from John. What does he say? More gush about the Silly Widow?" This was Alysia's latest name for Mrs. Burnham.

"What an unkind way to talk of her. He writes me just what he wrote you."

"A second notice to quit, eh?" Alysia bit her thin, flexible lips.

"He repeats what he wrote you, that we might like to stay at Tor Cottage until we have time to make our plans."

"What plans? The only plans I want to make would be how to separate him from that designing woman."

"You haven't been gambling on the Stock Exchange, have you?" Etta asked suddenly.

"I have, and with the very damnedest kind of damned bad luck."

"I do wish you wouldn't swear," Etta said plaintively.

"Nothing to the language you used to use," her sister retorted, around a cigaret holder. "I've done awfully well, you know—as a bear, of course. And that made me reckless. It seemed so safe. I ought to've got from under a fortnight ago. . . . But I had a direct inside tip. It was Mayer, Card and Tully and instead of the negotiations falling through, they've been ratified soared. Soared!" She steadied her voice with an effort to level calm. "Of course I told them to buy at the lowest possible and they did so. And—well, it's the end for me. But perhaps by selling everything I have in the world I can just about clear myself."

"When is settlement day?"

"It's a three weeks' account. In a fortnight's time. Why?"

"What about John helping you out? As a loan, of course."

"John won't help now. Nor have I anything on which to borrow. The bank is selling the shares it holds of mine, and of course they're down. They would be. I knew from old experience that it's no use coming to you."

"I haven't a farthing." Etta said promptly. "I never can make ends meet. I could spend double my income and still leave any amount of deserving cases unhelped."

"You and your charities that no one knows anything about!" Alysia bit her lip. This was becoming a vulgar squabble, and Alysia was not vulgar as a rule. "At any rate," she went on more quietly, "you're interested too in stopping this wretched marriage of John's. Something must be done."

"If it is to be stopped it will be, and if not, it's no use trying to do anything," Etta said to that.

"You used to be good at thinking out ways and means in the old days and little you cared as to the means you used!"

"Just so. In the old days," Etta repeated with a sigh that sounded regretful.

"I notice you always get what you want," her sister said tartly.

For a second Etta's eyes seemed to double in size and glow with fire. Then they fell. "That must be because nowadays I only want what's right," she said sweetly, "and as I only want what's best for John here, it's rather difficult. Let's hope it's best for him not to marry." She rose with an air of closing the conversation. "Where's Claud?"

"Not up yet, I fancy."

Their brother had arrived back from Vichy the previous night. John was not with him. He had stopped on the way up from Dover to meet some of Mrs. Burnham's relatives.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, May 30

The astrological forecast for this day holds testimony of important events, and this of a quite unforseen and unexpected nature. Indeed this day may have the power to change the tides of destiny, opening gateways to notable progress amidst strange environs, new associations and activities. The private life is also involved in this radical change, with auguries of much success and pleasure. There may be much spirited social correspondence, but sign all writings with precaution, guarding against deception and fraud.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by very important events with unexpected change, new contacts and much progress. This also has definite bearing on the private affairs, but in all sign papers carefully, safeguarding against fraud and deception.

A child born on this day should be original, independent, adventurous and progressive and should be endowed with high social qualities and cultural talents as well.

Automobile production in Germany in a recent month was 80 per cent higher than in the corresponding period of last year.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO.—In whirlwind buying rushes yesterday, wheat, corn, barley and oats each overtopped the season's high-price records, wheat jumping 5 cents and almost hitting $1 a bushel.

Temperatures that soared to 106 in the Dakotas and 100 in Western Canada, with nearly complete absence of moisture throughout domestic spring wheat territory, came as a surprise to most traders, indications over the week-end having pointed to possible general break-up of drought this week. On the contrary, yesterday's forecasts pointed to little or no relief for drought conditions that for extent and severity were declared by some authorities to be without precedent in the United States.

Wheat closed excited at the maximum five-cent advance allowed for a single day, with oats and barley both also at the maximum permitted.

The close in wheat was 4⅞ to 5c up, compared with Saturday's finish, corn 3⅛c to 3⅝c advanced, oats at 2⅝c to 3⅛c gain, and provisions showing a rise of 7c to 17c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL.—Prices advanced on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market yesterday.

Fresh No. 1 butter gained ¼c to 20¾c to 21c a pound for carlots or less. To retailers solids were 22c and prints 23c a pound. Receipts were 270 boxes.

Ontario colored cheese, after remaining steady for several days, moved up ⅛c at 9⅜c to 9⅝c a pound. A total of 342 boxes arrived.

Graded shipments of eggs were steady to ½c higher, A-large being quoted at 20½c to 21c, A-medium at 19½c to 20c, B at 18½c to 19c, and C at 17c to 17½c a dozen. Arrivals were 1,562 cases.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 29. — The old-fashioned bull market returned to the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday. Wheat prices were run up more than 5c for the largest advance in ten months, as a scorching sun blazed over the wilting crops of North America. Net gains were 4⅝c to 5¾c.

At the close May wheat sold for 78c, July at 79c to 79¼c, and October at 80⅞c to 81c.

Temperatures over Western Canada rose well over the 90 mark, and practically no rain fell at any point. Winter wheat conditions in United States went back further, while the weather outlook spelt disaster for spring wheat crops in the South. European crop conditiois were also bullish.

With these conditions prevailing there was a scarcity of wheat for sale in the pit and the rush to buy had prices on the jump right from the opening bell. Commission houses and Eastern and Southern interests were the best purchasers.

Cash grains spreads eased, due to the sharp advance in futures prices, but coarse grains showed sharp gains, with flax bounding nearly 10¢ up.

JOHNSON ACT BEING X-RAYED

Washington Sends Reminder of War Debts Due to 13 Nations.

CHECK SOVIET BONDS.

WASHINGTON, May 29 (C.P.).—Diplomatic wires hummed between Washington and European war debtors, the administration sought to-day an X-ray of the teeth in the Johnson Act, the measure banning debt defaulters from dealings in the United States money market.

Attorney-General Homer Cummings acting on an administration request, was preparing a ruling on an offer in this country of "Soviet Union 7 per cent. gold bonds." He previously had listed the U.S.S.R. as a defaulter under the Johnson Act.

The State Department caused diplomatic wires to hum with a direct call upon all war debtors to pay up not only their coming instalments, but also past non-payments. This was a departure from previous practice and was believed directly connected with the Johnson Act.

The usual reminder was handed to the envoys of 13 debtor nations, notifying them of instalments due on June 15. The total including amounts in arrear is close to $500,000,000.

This action was held to have added significance in view of the virtual completion by President Roosevelt of his war debt message. Its content closely guarded, the document may go forward to Capitol Hill to-day. ... ...

The Attorney-General's study of the Soviet bond offer was precipitated by an advertisement appearing in a New York newspaper which listed the securities as a "direct obligation of this nation (Soviet Union)."

DROUGHT THREATENS CROPS MIDDLE WEST UNITED STATES

Wheat and Other Crops Already Beyond Redemption in Many Sections.

PRICE AGAIN ADVANCES.

CHICAGO, May 29.— (A.P.) — Drought and mounting temperatures threatened damage in the United States' Middle West to-day to late crops which had escaped previous ravages.

Wheat and other early crops already were beyond redemption in many sections and now the heat and continued lack of rainfall are reported to be perilling all crops.

Reflecting conditions, grain prices yesterday soared wildly on the Board of Trade and livestock prices declined. Wheat moved up the limit allowed in one day, five cents a bushel, with May wheat halting at 98¼ cents. Corn swung up 3½ cents, and oats also advanced the daily limit, up three cents. Rye was up nearly four cents and barley more than three.

Receipts of cattle were the largest since February. The run was swelled with large numbers of cattle from drought districts where pastures have dried up.

No substantial rains were reported in the Middle West, except in a few spots in the Dakotas and Northern Minnesota.

Forest fires, abetted by the drought, blazed over thousands of acres of Minnesota woodlands yesterday with temperatures ranging around 100 degrees. One man perished in the flames.

are huddled in one now and this morning I found one crowded into a small space in one corner of their improvised bed."

Dr. Dafoe was called at 5 o'clock this morning by a representative of the American Medical Association, Chicago. He was asked if all five babes were still alive, and the questioner was amazed when told that they are strengthening hourly.

History Against Babes

Dr. Dafoe stated that while history of such cases is against the babes surviving, he is greatly encouraged to-day by reason of the children taking nourishment, all their organs functioning normally and showing gain in strength and vitality hourly. Asked if he told an interviewer that he believed the children would die, Dr. Dafoe stated that he said they may die. This opinion he based on history and the fact that the children were premature by one month.

This morning, however he is encouraged by the condition of the children and mother. All six are gaining and brightening hourly.

"What would you say will happen in the next three or four days?" he was asked.

"Oh, give me two weeks or the time necessary to bring them to their normal birth time" he answered. "They are doing much better than I expected" Dr. Dafoe explained.

Feared They Would Die

"I really thought they would die yesterday morning, within a few hours after birth. This morning, however, I am impressed by the strength they show and the fact that the organs are functioning normally. At this time I will say that there is a probability that the children may die. We can do a lot, however, if we have the proper assistance," he stated.

"Are the children taking nourishment?" the doctor was asked.

"Yes, very satisfactorily considering everything," he replied.

"How and what are they being fed?" the interviewer pressed.

"We are using an ordinary eye dropper and feeding a mixture of milk, corn syrup and water."

He added that the bowels and kidneys are functioning normally. Miss Yvonne Leroux, graduate nurse; Mrs. Ben Lebel, neighbor; Mrs. Leo Dionne and a housemaid are attending the mother and babies.

Help From Red Cross.

TORONTO, May 29 (C.P.).—Red Cross Society officials will do everything they can to assist Dr. A. R. Dafoe, who is attending Mrs. Ovila Dionne, mother of quantuplets born yesterday at Corbell, Ont., they said to-day.

No request has been received at the Toronto office of the society for assistance, but Dr. Fred Routley, director of the Ontario division, wrote Dr. Dafoe to-day, offering the society's facilities. Dr. Routley also has instructed the Red Cross outpost nurse at Bonfield, Ont., to render any assistance she can.

Dr. Dafoe said at Corbell to-day he had written the society for aid.

Troops In Toledo Prepare For Trouble

TOLEDO, O., May 29.—(C.P.)—National Guard troops prepared to meet new threats of violence today as Federal mediators divided their forces in attempts to break the deadlock in the automotive strike and to avert a walkout of electrical workers called for Thursday.

A crowd of 100 assembled at the Bingham Stamping & Tool Company early to-day with piles of rocks and jeered the 260 employees entering the factory.

Threats were hurled that "you'll be able to get in, but it won't be so easy to get out."

Brigadier General L. S. Connelly, in charge of soldiers guarding the Electric Auto-Lite plant said he appreciated the possibility that strike sympathizers might attempt a siege of Bingham workers such as occurred at the Auto-Lite plant a week ago, but expressed the belief that his troops could handle the situation.

By placing a small coin in slot-machine wells being installed by the Government of the Provinces of India, farmers will cause electric pumps to force water on their land for an hour.

COMMUNISM UNDERMINING WORLD PEACE, SECURITY SAYS DR. LYONS

Challenge Can Only Be Met by Giving Men Something Better.

AT ANGLICAN SYNOD.

KINGSTON, Ont., May 29 (CP) —Neither persecution, legislation nor declamation alone can successfully meet the menacing challenge of Communism, declared Rt. Rev. John Lyons, in delivering his charge to the 67th annual Synod of the Anglican Diocese of Ontario here to-day.

"The very institutions, which have ever stood for the world's peace and security, are being steadily undermined by certain subtle and disintegrating forces to-day," said Dr. Lyons.

Propagandists were giving themselves "even unto death" and penetrating every part of the habitable globe, he added. They were living missionaries for the cause which they believed.

"They believe in their creed sufficiently, be it right or wrong, to spend themselves so that their religion may become the religion of the world. This accounts for the comparatively rapid growth of Communism which presents a menacing challenge to the Christian Church."

"This challenge," he said, "can only be met by a constructive message, by giving men something better to take its place." The message of the Christian Church proclaimed by men and women who believed in it so completely as to become missionaries for its cause could take the place of the message of Communism and other new beliefs, he asserted.

"The present and urgent need of the church, then, is a fuller enrichment of the spiritual life of her members through worship,' Dr. Lyons urged co-operation with lay officers of churches and said that failure of laymen to respond to the call for service in the church was disastrous alike to the church and themselves.

Dr. Lyons deplored the use of games of chance, lotteries and dances as means of raising money for the church.

"As public opinion within and without the church is growing more critical of devious methods adopted to raise money for church support," he explained, "the subject is one which must arrest our most earnest attention."

The opinion of the church, he said, was not unanimous in its disfavor of the methods in question. They might not be adjudged illegal or inherently wrong, but their use might lead "we know not where," he declared.

BUDS ARE KILLED BY LATE FROSTS

Spy Apple Blossoms Are Hard Hit in Durham County.

COWS BEING SOLD.

Frost during the nights and high winds retarded the growth and development of clovers and spring crops in Peterborough County last week according to the weekly crop reports issued by the Department of Agriculture. Although the frosts were not severe, the temperature sank to the frost point during several nights of the week over the greater part of the county.

In Ontario, spring grains are reported to be coming along nicely although some meadows are still being plowed up and sown to annual hay crops. The severe winter killed practically all the fruit buds on spy trees in Durham County. A report from the spray supervisor in that County is that he has not yet seen an indication of a crop of spy apples in an orchard he has visited to date. Strawberries in Durham have been more than 50 percent winter killed.

More cows than usual at this time of the are being shipped out of Hastings County due to the feed situation and a need for ready cash. Five hundred and sixteen white and 215 coloured cheese were boarded on the Belleville Board on Saturday and all sold at 9¾ cents, an advance of ¾ over last week.

Despite recent frosts, spring grains are looking well in Victoria County. Seeding is practically finished. Farmers are now sowing turnips.

Herr Huettner, an engineer in Germany, has invented a steam-driven airplane, in which oil gas will be used as fuel, and he expects its cruising speed will be 238 miles an hour.

Seeding Nearly Done Over Saskatchewan

REGINA, May 29 (C.P.).—Wheat seeding is nearly completed in Saskatchewan and a general need for rain is expressed in the weekly survey of conditions issued to-day by the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture. More than 70 per cent. of the grain is showing green. Seeding of coarse grains, retarded by dry weather, is from 60 to 65 per cent. completed.

Favorable growing conditions are reported in the northern and east central portions of the province, but a general need of moisture is felt in the southern and west central areas. Dry weather and high winds have caused considerable drifting and damage severe in the south central and south-western districts.

HUMAN MIND, ROTARY THEME

Owen Herity of Belleville Gives Delightful Talk to Campbellford Rotary Club.

MOST PRECIOUS GIFT.

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, May 29. — A delightful talk on 'The mind, the measure of a man' was given the Campbellford Rotary Club yesterday when it had as the guest speaker, Rotarian Owen Herity of Belleville, a Rotarian who is closely connected with the local organization through his activity in the formation of the Campbellford club some years ago. Although the address was a short one, the speaker substituting for another held his audience with a very splendid talk, delivered in a manner gracious and interesting. He was accompanied by Rotarian Tom Ruskin of Belleville.

There was something, Mr. Herity stated, that no man had ever seen or heard, that had no size, colour or weight, yet that exists. It was wrapped up in mystery and obscurity, so much so that scientists knew very little about about it, yet it was the most precious possession of the human race. And this was the human mind.

Dr. Watts, the great hymn writer, had said that the measure of a man was the mind and this was so he declared. We are on a journey and one that is but a very short one compared with the ages past and present. This was the journey of life, from the cradle to the grave, and when we commence on this journey, we were handed two priceless possessions, time and mind.

Mind, the speaker said, could be likened to electricity. As the brain was like a power station and the nerves like the distributing wires running from it, the mind was the power that is carried through those wires from the station. There were two kinds of mind, he stated, the conscious and the sub-conscious. The conscious mind was that which wills one to do what they do, that controls all the actions one makes. But the sub-conscious was far more important, for it retains all those characteristics inherited from past generations and, he declared, "running down through the ages the divine plan results in this masterpiece—man."

The mind travels at a terrific rate, he said, for one no sooner thinks of an object thousands of miles away, that the mind is there visioning it. It was a million times more capable that the human body, though it was like it.

Like the body it has its youth, decline, and decay. Physical youth was mature at twenty-five years, the speaker, but mind was mature many years earlier than this, and this was why, he declared, he had a standing quarrel with the present system of education.

It was not trying to make of youth individuals, but seeks to make of it a rubber stamp and phonagraph record. This system was pursued in the social structure, in politics, and in theology, and in the latter respect he said that there was no encouragement for a man of independant conviction.

A vote of thanks to the guest speaker was voiced by Rotarian Charles Calver, being conveyed to him by the president, Rotarian Clarence Williams.

three months ago." Then Mr. Henry asked if Mr. Hepburn was "making a lot of promises that Mr. Euler as Liberal Leader ultimately will have to repudiate."

Constant interruptions failed to bother the Premier, who said, "Those who came here in hope of interrupting this meeting" could not be heard by those on the platform and said their voices were lost "like those in the wilderness."

The stand of the Conservative Party was made known on every issue, the Premier said, and on the eve of election every candidate would be backing their party's stand.

THREE LEADERS GO INTO ACTION

G. Martin, Minister of Public Welfare, and Hon. Leopold Macaulay, Minister of Highways.

No Perth Dry Entry

Perth Temperance Federation last night decided at Stratford against entering a candidate in the elections after members had indulged in a dispute because the Liberal candidate, W. Angus Dickson, addressed the meeting. One member walked out after asking whether the meeting was a Liberal caucus and why the Conservative candidate was not asked to appear also.

The situation in North Essex Liberal ranks was cleared when the two candidates who had disputed the right to represent the Liberals withdrew. They are Dr. P. N. Gardner and A. A. Marentette. Dr. A. H. C. Trottier, former Belle River reeve, was the executive's choice as candidate if Mitchel F. Hepburn approves. Dr. Gardner last fall was named candidate and then this spring, when a rift appeared in the executive, Mr. Marentette was named candidate.

Yesterday they both withdrew and gave their support to Dr. Trottier. The Minister of Mines spoke at Coniston last night and described Ontario's Mining regulations as the most advanced in the world. Mr. McCrea said the government had backed the mining industry to the utmost and was responsible for its advance.

At Galt Hon. Leopold Macaulay, the highways minister, charged the Liberals had attempted to make "a deal" with the C.C.F. in regard to placing candidates in the field but that in Hamilton the offer had been spurned by a C.C.F. candidate.

Nixon in Agincourt

Mr. Martin, Public Welfare Minister, also took the platform in defence of the Government's record. He spoke at Fenelon Falls, and Mr. Nixon, the Progressive Chieftain, addressed an Agincourt meeting by declaring charges that his friendship with the Liberal Leader was of late occurrence were untrue. He said in the early days of the United Farmers of Ontario when that body was flourishing, Mr. Hepburn was secretary of the U.F.O. in Elgin and he was secretary in Brant County. They both had the same views then as now.

Mayor M. M. McBride of Brantford stepped into the campaign as an Independent candidate who will have the support of the Liberal executive. Mayor MacBride accepted the nomination at an open meeting when F. E. D. Wallace, president of the Brantford Liberal Association, declared the executive would cooperate and that its one aim was to defeat Mr. Martin, Conservative candidate. The executive, he said would do "everything in its power" to defeat the Minister of Public Welfare.

AFTER ACCIDENT SHE PUT ON WEIGHT

Kruschen Took It Off Again!

A woman sends the following account of the consequences of an auto accident in which she was involved:

"A year ago I had a very bad automobile accident, which left me more or less a cripple. Having to lie in bed so long, and being unable to move, I began to put on flesh. When I was able to walk a little again, I found I was 144 lbs., and being just under 5 feet you may guess how I was placed. So I thought I would try Kruschen Salts, and I must say they have done me a lot of good in every way—but chiefly in keeping my weight down. In three months I lost 6 lbs. Then I left off taking the Kruschen, and I soon went up to 142 lbs. again. So at once I got more Kruschen, and am again steadily reducing. My weight last month was 134 lbs."—(Mrs) W.H.M.

Kruschen combats the cause of fat by assisting the internal organs to perform their functions properly—to throw off each day those waste products and poisons which, if allowed to accumulate, will be converted by the body's chemistry into fatty tissue.

THIRD CANDIDATE IN FIELD TO STAY

After Mr. Sutherland had been approved, however, he was endorsed and ratified by the local club without coercion in any form.

Two Letters

The chairman paid a tribute to Mr. Sutherland referring to him as an honorable gentleman of the ministry and a man well fitted to represent the voters of the riding in the government. "He is a gentleman who believes in humanity before dollars and cents," he said.

"I have received two letters from Liberals asking me to use all my influence to keep a C.C.F. candidate out of the field," Mr. Sutherland revealed. "I replied that I would do nothing of the kind. I intend to stand."

"The Liberals," he continued, "are trying to use the temperance question as a means of gaining an advantage over us in this riding. They are seeking the dry vote but the C.C.F. is the only party which has a dry plank. I have every respect for Mr. Hawthorne as a temperance gentleman personally but he must not forget that the leader of his party has pledged the party to beer and wine.

"His idea is to have the C.C.F. drop out of the picture so that the Liberals can beat the Conservatives but the C.C.F. party has a prior claim to the Liberals. The C.C.F. is out of the temperance question. The other two parties are not out. They are receiving funds from the brewers and distillers for this election campaign. I certainly refuse to withdraw."

Clean Politics

Mr. Sutherland did not attempt to make a speech on his own behalf, saving his ammunition for future contacts with the voters in the county and city. He confined himself to generalizations. "We are out for clean politics," he said. "We see no difference beween he Liberals and Conservatives. They are both representatives of the capitalistic system. Those two parties have alternated in power so long that they think they can run the show forever. When a new party like the C.C.F. shows up, they say, 'Keep out! You are going to upset things!' But we are not going to keep out. We are going into power."

Dr. Lorna Cotton took the floor with a reply to those who have suggested that the C.C.F. is an atheistic movement. She pointed to Rev. Sutherland and the fact that other ministers of the Christian gospel are standing as candidates for the party. Gradually such misconceptions will fade away as the public wakes up and studies the true objects and policies of the party, she said.

"First the C.C.F. is a social movement and secondly it is a political party. As a social movement it will win. Social movements always win. As a political party it may meet defeat at first but ultimately it will win if it adheres to its social ideals."

Fault of System

Asking her audience if they were going to continue forever to starve under the rule of the Liberals and Conservatives, she said that present conditions are not the fault of the Liberals or Conservatives. The fault is in the fundamental system—the capitalistic system, she declared. The system has its roots in the old belief in "laissez faire." The adherents to the laissez faire policy maintained that business and commerce should be allowed to develop without the restraint of human control leaving the process of evolution responsible. That policy worked while the world was unable to produce enough goods to meet the demands of the consumers, she said. But now, each nation is producing so much that it is trying to get rid of its surplus by peddling to each other nation. The laissez faire profit system has failed.

"Mr. Stevens doesn't know it but he is teaching the Conservatives that they are crazy. They cannot hang onto profits with the right hand and control with the left. Still it is not the Conservative or Liberal parties which are crushing the farmers who are getting only fourteen cents a pound for their tobacco. It is the capitalistic system."

Long Research

Turning to a brief review of the C.C.F. Ontario platform, Dr. Cotton said that opponents have charged the C.C.F. with making promises such as the plank for control of the distribution of prime necessities of life without planning how the promises can be carried out. "The C.C.F. promises have been announced only after long research. Every clause in our program was studied intensively and plans for putting it into effective operation actually arrived at before it was accepted. We can put our program into effect if you will give us the power to do it. But we are fettered until you people wake up."

Regarding the plank for the elimination of direct relief, he said, "We propose to provide work for the unemployed at prevailing trade union wages. We intend to restore to the Canadian adult the dignity of manhood. The Canadian adult must not be dependent on his neighbor's charity. Bennett talks about the great future of Canada. There is no future for the Dominion of Canada apart from the well-being of her people. That is why we say that direct relief must be eliminated.

"Where are these red-blooded Canadians we hear so much about? Why do you lie down and accept the system under which our present social structure is groaning? There are enough of you here to set Peterborough afire if you in your own souls really want to better your lot. The C.C.F. party is the only solution."

James Buckley

Mr. Buckley declared, "The capitalistic system performed a function. It solved the problem of high-speed production. But it did not and will never solve the problem of distribution therefore it is doomed by the natural law of evolution. There are four million people out of a population of nine million in Canada directly or indirectly dependent on relief. For this situation there can be no remedy until that problem of distribution is solved.

"It has been said that we stand for confiscation. May I ask if capitalism stands for anything but confiscation? It confiscates all for the sake of profit. You don't get a pay envelope unless there is a profit behind it for someone. The primary policy of the C.C.F. is to eliminate profits from production and produce for use, not for profit."

Proponents of the C.C.F. are not seeking personal agrandisement or glory, he continued. They are bent on planning a state in the interests of its people rather than the existing state which operates in the interests of those who govern it. The C.C.F. recognizes that the interests of the middle classes and the farm and labour classes are identical and have laid out their program accordingly.

Unemployment

"Have you heard that prosperity is just around the corner?" he asked. "To know the truth of that you must realize that fifty-five per cent of those who are out of work now are permanently unemployed. The machinery of mass production has been so improved that not more than half the present army of unemployed will ever have work. It has been calculated that to put every man to work in the United States a general twenty-five hour week would have to be adopted and the same figures probably apply to Canada. How are we going to solve unemployment? We are going to socialize industry so that it will be in the interest of the working men and consumers in the state as a whole rather than in the interest of profiteering individuals.

"The country is labouring under a worn out system administered by governments which have outgrown their use. Yet you have not realised the power of the ballot box and sit idly by while the Liberal and Conservatives fight between themselves for power. So far as we are concerned, there is no political difference between the two parties and we have no intention of compromising with either party. Our intention is to force the Liberals where they belong—into the ranks of the Tories."

Mr. Buckley declared that he had a deep mistrust of Ferguson. If the intimate facts of his administration were revealed they would be no credit to the Government, he said. He scorned Henry for appealing to the public on the grounds of the public sale of brew—brew made in breweries which are not even paying living wages. Hepburn, he said, claims that the Tories stole his manifesto thus there now can be no choice between the two parties.

"Do you realize the imbecility of the old line parties?" he concluded

HENRY OPPOSES WIDE OPEN SALE BEER IN ONTARIO

Warns Northumberland Electors of Policy Advocated by Windsor Mayor.

WELCOMED TO TOWN.

Campbellford Rally is Well Attended—Liberal Whisperings Attacked.

CAMPBELLFORD, Ont., May 30 (C.P. and Staff Reporter). — Ontario electors had the assurance to-day that as long as Premier George S. Henry remained head of the Conservative Government there never would be adopted the liquor policy which he said was being advocated by Mayor David Croll of Windsor, described as "lieutenant" to Mitchell F. Hepburn, leader of the Ontario Liberal Party.

Premier Henry, addressing some 2,000 electors from Northumberland constituency here last night, traced development of the system of control over sale of liquor and upheld the Government bill for freer sale of beer as a lead from the drinking of "hard" liquor to beer.

Lack of unison in the stand by the Liberal party on the liquor question was recalled by Premier Henry and he repeated his oft-asked question of where were the men who disagreed with their party leaders and voted against the Government measure.

About Mayor Croll

"Then we have another gentleman who has just come into the picture, a man who has never been a member of the legislature," the Premier continued. "This Mayor Croll of Windsor. I have been trying to find out this past few days about how far Mr. Hepburn follows his lieutenant.

"Because he goes much further than anyone else ever has thought of going on the public platforms of this province. Mayor Croll is quite definitely and candidly advocating the American system of wide-open sale here, there and everwhere in the province, and who would abolish local option. He would have beer in every little roadside stand.

"That never has been the policy of the Conservative Party and as long as I'm leader of the party it never will. So I say to Mr. Hepburn: 'Find out what Mr. Croll is saying and check him if you do not agree with his statements.'

Review of what he termed the greater accomplishments of the various governmental departments was made by the Premier who suggested the government was deserving of praise for its system of economy and being able to balance its budget in such difficult times.

The Premier was met at the limits of the town by the town

SMART SHOWING MADE BY LOCAL REGIMENT

Headed by the regimental band, The Peterborough Rangers under command of Lieut.-Colonel G. G. Winterbottom, M.C., D.C.M., last evening paraded the business section of the city, for the first route march of the present training season.

The unit about 150 strong presented a creditable appearance, the soldierly bearing of each individual reflecting the thoroughness of the training that has so far been completed at the Armouries.

The turnout for the parade was particularly gratifying, when it is considered that a number of the members of the unit were prevented from being present on account of the fact that they are working on the highway construction job in the northern part of the county.

To lively march tunes, the unit swung out of the Armouries shortly after eight o'clock and proceeded south on George street as far as the C.P.R. station and back again for dismissal at the Armouries.

MAYOR LYONS INVITED JOIN FERGUSON CABINET

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., May 30 (C.P.).—Mayor James Lyons, Conservative candidate in the Provincial election in Sault Ste. Marie riding, to-day claims he was invited to rejoin the Ferguson Cabinet after his resignation following the public accounts investigation of 1924.

Letters which had passed between Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, then Premier of Ontario, and himself, were read by Mr. Lyons in support of his claim which he made at a meeting here last night.

26-Year-Old Woman is Mother of Quintuple Girls

At Callander, Ontario, near North Bay, history was made when quintuple children all girls, were born to Mrs. Ovila Dionne, 26-year-old mother of six other children. Mrs. Dionne was married at the age of 16. She is here seen with the five new children, whose average weight at birth was 2½ pounds. The father, when asked if he felt proud, is reported to have replied: "I ought to be ashamed of myself," The doctor who was in attendance at the births, believes the children will probably die.

POWER RATES SURE TO GO UP LIBERALS TOLD

Mismanagement of Hydro Under Tory Rule Assailed by Dr. McQuibban.

AT DOWNEYVILLE.

Hydro Had Deficit of $4,500,000 in Operations—Dipped Into Reserves.

A deficit of $4,500,000 this year in the operations of the Hydro-Electric Commission, following a deficit of $2,500,000 last year, was cited as evidence of Hydro mismanagement in an address by Dr. G. A. McQuibban, representative of Northeast Wellington in the last Legislature, at a meeting in the interest of William Newman, Liberal candidate in Victoria and Haliburton, at Downeyville last night.

"They didn't raise the rates last year," Dr. McQuibban said: "but they dipped into their reserves to meet the deficit. If things go on much longer like that the power rates are bound to go up."

Dr. McQuibban devoted most of his criticism of the Government to affairs of the Hydro-Electric Commission, declaring that this province had been committed to heavy and expensive purchases of power from Quebec private corporations contrary to the policy of the late Sir Adam Beck.

About one hundred and eighty men and women attended the meeting, at which James Carroll was chairman, and the speakers were Mr. Newman, Dr. McQuibban and J. J. Duffus.

"Premier Henry has announced a reduction in the contract periods for Hydro power supplied to farmers from twenty to five years.

The farmers of this province use only 1 per cent of the total supply of Hydro power; and only 2 per cent of the farmers have the advantage of the great public utility of Hydro. If it is properly handled it can be supplied to farmers to light their homes and barns, and

Two Boys Perish As Boat Capsizes

VANCOUVER, May 30 (C.P.). — Harbor police to-day dragged the waters of Burrard Inlet for the bodies of William, aged eight, and Nelson, aged nine, sons of W. S. Bailey, of Medicine Hat. The boys were drowned when their fishing boat capsized inside the first narrows when returning from a fishing cruise.

Morris Zlotnik, 51, who was rowing the 12-foot skiff, was rescued in a semi-conscious condition by a Japanese fishing boat. Zlotnik said the boat was caught in a rip tide and filled rapidly. A wave capsized the craft, throwing them all in the water.

He last saw the boys struggling some distance from the drifting boat. The boys, with a 13-year-old sister, arrived here from the prairies with their mother some months ago.

For nearly a week recently a telephone operator in Melbourne, Australia, rang up a suburban home at two, three an. four o'clock in the morning to arouse a father so that he would give medicine to his sick

STEWARD HELD AT GEORGETOWN

Taken Off Liner, Suspected in Murder of Attractive Texas Widow.

TRAILED 6 MONTHS.

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, May 30. (AP).—Police to-day detained Robert Jones, steward on the Canadian liner Lady Nelson, saying they were satisfied he answered the description of Arthur C. Wilson of Cleveland, charged with the murder of Mrs. Irene Dobolt of Cleveland, whose nude body was found Nov. 5, 1933, on the desert near Van Horn, Texas.

Jones was taken into custody while the police await further information.

Body Left in Desert

EL PASO, Tex., May 30. (AP)—Arthur C. Wilson, 28, believed to have been the man detained in Georgetown, British Guiana, today, has been charged with the brutal slaying of Mrs. Irene Debolt, 31, attractive Cleveland widow slain near Van Horn, Tex., last November 7.

He will be returned to El Paso for trial. His detention climaxed six months of intensive investigation by Chris P. Fox, sheriff, and police of more than 100 cities in the United States and Canada, started when the widow's nude body was found on the desert.

"My informant made a trip to Georgetown with Wilson, Fox said.

The Cleveland widow's body was found Nov 7 on the desert, nine miles from Van Horn, 126 miles east of El Paso. A piece of heavy cord was knotted tightly about her neck. Her face and head had been battered and bruised by a blunt instrument. Clothes had been torn from her body.

Presbyterian Pastor Ousted By Presbytery

MARKHAM, Ont., May 30 (CP)—Rev. Andrew Hood of Toronto has been suspended from the ministry of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, Rev. J. B. Skene, Clerk of the Toronto Presbytery, said today.

The suspension was made at a meeting held yesterday. "Dr. Hood was suspended for disobedience to his Presbytery in conducting clandestine services when forbidden to do so," Mr. Skene said. The action means that he no longer has any connection with the Prysbyterian Church and we will have nothing more to do with him. He is no longer a Presbyterian minister and is cut off from all contact with the church in Canada."

Dr. Hood has conducted services in Danforth Masonic Temple, Toronto, under the title of "Danforth Presbyterian Church."

Dr. Hood said he was unable to give any definite reason for his suspension. "There was never anything charged against my theology or ecclesiastical views," he stated.

ENGLISH GUNMAN TAKES OWN LIFE TO CLIMAX HUNT

Shoots Self After Wounding Officer Rather Than Face Capture.

HOUNDS, PLANES ON TRAIL.

Had Fired When Stopped for Questioning on Burglary—Countryside Aroused.

WORTHING, England, May 30 (CP-AP)—Rather than face trial for one of the rarest crimes in England—shooting an officer—Leonard Hill killed himself to-day when his capture was imminent.

Bloodhounds trailed him to a woods after one of the most intensive manhunts of recent years, in which aroused citizens joined. Seeing escape was impossible, Hill shot himself in the head.

He was taken to a hospital and died a few hours later without having regained consciousness.

Stopped by officers for questioning about a burglary Sunday night, Hill shot one of them, Arthur Jex, 24, and fled. Jex was not dangerously wounded.

Because criminals in England so rarely use guns, the case attracted widespread attention, and authorities pressed every effort to trap the fugitive.

Bloodhounds and aeroplanes were brought into use. Hundreds of citizens joined the search.

Laws in this country against carrying firearms are so severe that few criminals dare fall back on them. Police carry guns only in unusual circumstances.

Dramatic Climax

The last hours of the two-day intensive manhunt were dramatic. During the night Hall crept from the Downs, slipped through the police cordon in the cover of darkness and broke into a lonely house in Dowland Hollow.

Only a 69-year-old invalid, his wife and daughter were there, but a terrier raised such an uproar that Hill fled. Police at Storrington were close after him, dashing into the streets while putting their tunics on at 4 a.m.

As the police streamed out of Storrington calling for cars and motorcycles, Hill managed to get back on the Downs. A huntswoman with two bloodhouns was taken to the scene where he was last sighted and they soon picked up the scent.

The hounds tore through a small woods and began to strain at the leash. A few yards further on Hill was found lying under a tree, a coat o ver him, exhausted.

The noise woke him, and before the searchers could do anything he snatched out his gun and shot himself. He was rushed to Worthing Hospital and put in the same ward as his victim, but died without regaining consciousness.

WENATCHEE, Wash., May 30 (C.P.).— Mayor John S. Mooney wonders if the $85,000 city jail is not a little too sumptuous.

SMALL CHILD IS FATALLY BURNED WHILE AT PLAY

Playing With Matches Hastings Girl is Badly Burned.

DIES IN HOSPITAL.

Six Year Old Boy Dies From Injuries Received in Fall.

HASTINGS, May 30 (Examiner Correspondence)—Vallory Sherwin, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Sherwin, of this village, died early last evening in Nicholls Hospital of burns received ten hours before.

The child was playing with a companion, Carol Thompson, aged four, near the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Smullen, next door neighbors of the Sherwins. In some manner, yet unexplained, the children had secured some matches and in lighting them the little girl's clothing became ignited.

Screams Brought Mother

The first warning Mrs. Sherwin received was when she heard the child's piteous screams. The mother rushed out of her home to see the child's clothes a mass of flames. Mrs. Sherwin grasped the child and rolled her on the ground, smothering the flames. The little tot's clothes were almost burned off her body, however, before the fire was extinguished.

Dr. W. N. Campbell was summoned immediately. He ordered the childs removal to hospital at Peterborough. She was borne there with all speed, but despite every treatment at the hospital she died about nine o'clock last evening.

The tragedy has proved a shock to the whole village. Vallory was Mr. and Mrs. Sherwin's only child and was a granddaughter of W. A. Killingbeck, constable of the village.

The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock from the family residence, Clyde street, with interment in Trent Valley Cemetery, Hastings.

Another Fatality

Death came to another Hastings' home yesterday and claimed one more young life, that of William Albert West, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William West, who died at his home as result of injuries he suffered a week ago in a fall.

The little lad, while playing about his home climbed upon the roof of the summer kitchen and in getting down, slipped and fell so that he straddled a rain barrel with a sharp edge. His condition was considered almost hopeless from the first.

He is survived by his parents and four brothers and seven sisters. The funeral will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday from the family residence, Front street, to the Trent Valley Cemetery, Hastings. Rev S. H. Hill of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, will officate at the service

BALKS FLATLY AT AGREMENT ON DISARMING

Never Cooperate if Pact Permits Immediate Re-arming of Germany.

FEAR PARLEY DOOMED.

Simon Demands Nations Get Down to Realities, Cease Pious Optimism.

BY GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GENEVA, May 30.—(C.P. Cable)—Delegates to World Disarmament conference late today openly predicted the chances of success were remote following a speech by Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, which had the effect of a bombshell.

Barthou's speech was interpreted as meaning that under no circumstances will the French government ever make any agreement, despite its contents, if it permits the immediate rearmament of Germany in any degree. This goes further than France has ever gone before.

GENEVA, May 30.—(C. P. Cable)—"Get down to realities" that, in plain words, was the British message which Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, delivered to the World Disarmament Conference this afternoon.

"I sum up the position of His Majesty's government by declaring that while there can be no justification for going on in a spirit of pious and undefined optimism, there is a most urgent need for deciding now what we can do—and doing it without delay," declared Sir John.

But Louis Barthou, the French Foreign Minister who followed him, was ironical in his references to the British spokesman. With an outstretched hand he defended the position of France throughout.

In a tone which set some of the delegates laughing the Frenchman declared Sir John's speech reminded him of his own ardent youth. He was willing to follow Sir John over the "British bridge" but he wanted first to be sure that all the planks

Memphis Tarzans

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 30.—(C.P.)—School will be out soon at Southwestern College, and Superintendent N. J. Melroy of the municipal zoo will be glad—he can keep his animals quieter.

"It seems that some of the undergraduates at Southwestern College have mastered a 'Tarzan' yell and the residents of the zoo feel called upon to answer it," explained Melroy. "The wolves and the coyotes start. The hyenas then begin and before you know it the roar of lions is enough to disturb anyone's sleep."

FRENCH LANGUAGE OVER RADIO OBJECTED TO BY WESTERN TORY

People of Saskatchewan Objecting to Use of French. Committee is Told.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

OTTAWA, May 30 (C.P.).—Objections of the people of Saskatchewan to the use of the French language over the radio were voiced by F. W. Turnbull, K.C. (Cons. Regina) to the House of Commons Committee on Radio here to-day. Mr. Turnbull, declaring he was voicing the views of the people of that province, asserted that the commission was allowing itself to be made an instrument in promoting the view that French was the official language of the whole of Canada.

A feeling existed in many quarters in his province, Mr. Turnbul, declared, that the French people were insisting on rights and privileges to which they were not entitled. The objection in Saskatchewan was that in using French in the broadcasts there an effort was being launched to make Canada a bilingual country.

Bad For Canadian Unity.

It was bad for Canadian unity and bad for the French language if such a belief continued. The Radio Commission should not allow itself to be made the instrument by doing anything which should cause such suspicions to grow.

He had no hostility to French, nor did any hostility prevail in Saskatchewan, where, said Mr. Turnbull, there was every desire for those who wished to use and learn

Auburn Mills Show Some Improvement

Although a slack period has been experienced during the past week, the outlook for the summer is very good, G. T. Sanderson in charge of the Auburn mills of the Dominion Woollens and Worsteds said today. The plant is now awaiting specifications in order to begin on several large orders.

On the whole, the situation shows a considerable improvement over last year, Mr. Sanderson said. Within the next couple of weeks when work on the present orders gets under way it is expected that employment figures will be well above those for the corresponding period in 1933.

A few additional hands have been employed at the Quaker Oats in the last few days and the general plant activity is continuing at a favorable level according to reports from the company office. The package division is particularly active.

DIONNE FAMILY CHOOSE NAMES OF QUINTUPLETS

Cecile, Yvonne, Marie, Emily, and Annette All Doing Well.

STAFF OF 5 ON HAND.

Chicago Paper Locates, Forwards Old Fashioned Hot Water Baby Incubator.

NORTH BAY, Ont., May 30.—(CP). — The Dionne quintuplets, still alive after more than 50 hours in the world, have been named Cecile, Yvonne, Marie, Emily and Annette. Unlike parents who find it hard to name one child, Mr. and Mrs. Ovila Dionne lost no time selecting them.

Dr. A. R. Dafoe said after visiting the children and their 24-year-old mother this morning that they are "as well as can be expected." The had just been washed and fed before his visit and were quite active.

Mrs. Alex Legros aunt of Mrs. Dionne, has joined the staff of a graduate nurse, a practical nurse and two friends who are helping the Dionnes take care of their family of children, now numbering 10. The other children are named Pauline, Danie, Ernest, therese and Rose.

The large staff of attendants is necessary because of the time taken to feed the children with an eye-dropper. A mixture of milk, corn srup and water is dropped in their tiny mouths and it takes so long that when the last has been fed the fist is hungry again.

Eldest Not Known

The baby called Yvonne was named after Miss Yvonne Leroux, the graduate nurse in attendance. They were tagged so they can be told apart. The eldest of the tiny infants is not known as in the excitement Monday they were all placed in a basket together without being marked.

Mrs. Dionne comes of a family that never aspired to record births. She was formerly Miss Elzire Legris and was the only girl in a family of six.

Reporters who visited the mother today found her lying on a simple wooden bed in a small room with her five small daughters crying in a covered clothes basket on a new low bureau near the bed. Mrs. Dionne, an attractive, bright-eyed brunette, evidently subscribes to the modern belief that children should be allowed to exercise their lungs for she paid little attention to their cries.

One of the first gifts she has received, a blanket from Dr. J. R. Hurtubise, Sudbury, was lying across the bed and Mrs. Dionne proudly showed it to the newsmen.

Incubator On Way

TORONTO, May 30.—(CP)— An old-fashioned hot-water baby incubator may be used to help keep the Dionne quintuplets, born in Corbell Ont., Monday, alive.

The incubator, furnished by a Chicago newspaper, passed through Toronto today on its way to the little Northern Ontario settlement. A Royal Canadian Mounted Police corporal and Red Cross Society officials accompanied it north.

An electric incubator would have been useless in the Dionne home as there is no power connection. The hot water type is headed from a tank into which the water is poured after it has been heated. The model is 30 years old.

ARCHBISHOP IMPROVES.

OTTAWA, May 30 (C.P.).—Archbishop M. J. O'Brien passed a restful night and hospital authorities reported his condition as somewhat improved to-day.

HEPBURN HOLDS NOW NOT TIME FOR WATERWAY

Not Feasible to Launch Such an Undertaking During Depression.

DENIES EULER RUMOR.

Refutes Charges of Lack of Unity Among Liberal Ranks.

COBALT, Ont., May 30. (CP).—The viewpoint of Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader, on the St. Lawrence waterway scheme to-day was before Ontario citizens as he continued his campaign tour for the Ontario general elections. He was on his way to Sault Ste. Marie to deliver an address, leaving the opinion in Cobalt that the present was not the time to build the waterway.

It was not feasible to launch such an undertaking during the depression he told a meeting here last night. The Dominion government's Marketing Act he said, caled for a reduction in wheat acreage, so he asked why build new transportation routes for wheat exports in the face of such conditions.

At the moment Canada's two railway systems were struggling along, he added. There was the Hudson Bay route for grain shipments beside the railways and therefore, he believed, the St. Lawrence project should await the future when he thought it would be required.

Nothing to Euler Rumor

Mr. Hepburn denied the statement of Premier George S. Henry that Hon. W. D. Euler, former Liberal Minister of National Revenue, had been offered the leadership of the Liberal party in Ontario. He said such a statement was a deliberate misrepresentation on the Premier's part.

The Liberal leader also denied Conservative charges of lack of unity in Liberal ranks. He referred to the letter written two years ago by Mayor James Lyons of Sault Ste. Marie and then Conservative member in the legislation. This letter, Mr. Hepburn informed Premier Henry that Mayor Lyons could no longer follow his policies.

"I would like to ask Premier Henry if Hon. James Lyons is supporting him in this campaign" Mr. Hepburn concluded. "I would call to Mr. Henry's attention that five of his candidates have announced themselves as Independent Conservatives, rejecting his leadership."

26-Year-Old Blaze To Be Blasted Out

MATHESON, Colo., May 30 (CP).—A fire started 26 years ago when a tramp chose to cook his supper on a huge coal deposit may soon be extinguished.

Representatives of the United States geological survey recently became interested in the marathon blaze and have completed preparations for snuffing it out with dynamite. Half a ton of the explosive will be touched off Monday and another half a ton to-morrow if necessary.

For the past five weeks 14 men have been busy digging a trench 30 feet deep and 30 feet wide around the burning coal, an area of about four acres.

The dynamite will be set off in the trench and then loose dirt will be piled on the smouldering deposit blown loose from the main coal vein.

JUST AMONG US GIRLS

MADAME FAHEY GIVES RECITAL

Program Presented Under Auspices of George Street W.M.S.

CANADIAN OPERAS.

Madame Luhgrin-Fahey, dramatic soprano singer of Toronto, and composer of several light operas, gave a very entertaining song recital in George Street United Church last evening, before a small but appreciative audience. The program was presented under auspices of the W.M.S. of the church.

Possessed of a splendidly-trained strong soprano voice of a very wide range and much power and flexibility, Madame Fahey, who gave a song recital in Peterborough seven or eight years ago, held the attention of her listeners with many notable renditions. She has, in a pre-eminent degree, the ability to create the atmosphere of the song as she sings it, and this quality, coupled with a very fine grasp of the histrionic aspects of the various numbers, made her program versatile in the extreme.

The great power and wide range of her voice were demonstrated most notably, perhaps, in the number which received the most applause. This was the old favorite, "Caller Herrin'", that dramatic cry of the old fishwife who sells her wares on the marketplace. There was a very effective slurring treatment of the long-sustained lines that contain the "lives of men" phrase. To the aplause that followed this gripping rendition, the singer responded with another dialect song, "Comin' Thru the Rye."

Giving every atom of her wide resources to the rounding out of the performance, Madame Fahey varied her program in an attractive way. Her opening group included a peaceful 'home' number by Johann Sebastian Bach: "Be thou contented and rest quiet," also Purcell's charming song of spring, "Nymphs and Shepherds," and Handel's aria, "Wher'er You Walk."

The 'foreign language' songs, each with an apropriate explanation, in which the singer followed out a suggestion by the chairman, Dr. J. E. Middleton, were a powerful, thrilling aria in Italian, from Ponchielli's opera, "La Gioconda," sung with impressive emphasis and interpretation; two of Schumann's compositions, in German, and two delightful French songs, "I went while I was dreaming," and "Carnivale," the gay bit of Gallic imagery that pictures a queen riding in a carnival, while a clown flouts her efforts to entertain. This was a brilliant piece of tonal acting.

Canadian Operas

Highlights of the evening were three excerpts from Madame Fahey's own compositions: "I Will Love You Always," from the "Bride Ship," in which the young girl, betrothed by her parents to a strange swain, falls in love with the handsome young captain of the ship that brings brides from the Old Land to the New World; a pathetic lullaby sung by the old nurse in the opera, "The Spirit of the Nile," when she learns that her foster daughter is to be sacrificed to the mighty river; and a brief bit of powerful singing, in "A Song to Sing," from "When Dreams Come True," an opera presented in Toronto six weeks ago.

The singer concluded her program with the gay brightness of "The Question" and a little 'cuckoo' song, and surprised her listeners immediately thereafter by breaking at once into the National Anthem, so that, as they stood silent, she sang it through as a solo.

A little detail that added to the effect of the presentation of the songs was the use of the singer's hands. For the minor-noted selections, she stood with hands straight at her sides, in an unusual pose, resorting to the 'clasped hands 'effect in vogue at present only for the more dramatic compositions.

Madame Fahey was in poudre blue, with a knot of violets at her waist, and her accompanist, Miss McNeill, also of Toronto, who provided a sympathetic instrumental background for the vocal numbers, was in green.

Miss McNeill played in solo, with much expressive ease and charm, two piano numbers, a Greig Nocturne and a gay Gavotte.

FILLING DITCHES TERMED INSULT TO ELECTORATE

Successful Liberal Rally Held By Hawthorne at Stewart's Hall.

PEOPLE'S MONEY SPENT.

Government is Assailed as Being Spendthrift Administration.

Terming it "an insult to the intelligence of the electorate," J. A. Dewart last evening offered criticism of the Government's expenditure on road work and ditch filling, at a meeting at Stewart's Hall, Otonabee, in support of James Hawthorne, Liberal candidate.

"I have no quarrel with Mr. Lancaster, only as a member of a spendthrift administration,' Mr. Dewart stated. "It is going to be continually shouted into your ears that Mr. Lancaster was responsible for the spending of lots of money in this riding for the giving of employment to men on road construction work. Certainly he was, but it was not his own money that he was advocating should be spent. It was yours and mine."

The meeting held under auspices of Peterborough Liberal Association with Bruce Savigny in the chair, included as speakers, not only the candidate, but Mr. Dewart and T. J. Carley.

Each of the three speakers assailed the Henry Government, as a "spendthrift administration." Mr. Carley as the first to take the floor, reviewed the political history of the province, going back to draw comparisons between the last term of Liberal administration from 1871 to 1905, with the successive governments since that time.

"Genial Howard"

He contended that under Conservative administration was shown an almost total disregard for economy in expenditure of public moneys, a situation that was climaxed during the time of "genial Howard Ferguson's" premiership, and which was still being pursued under the present administration.

Mr. Carley spoke of the Provin-

STATE MEDICINE IS NOT WANTED

Dr. G. Stewart Cameron Addresses Ontario Medical Association.

POLITICAL PURPOSES.

TORONTO, May 29 (CP)—"If medicine is the servant of the State, it may fall into the inertia of a subsidized profession with indifference to those chiefly concerned—the people, Dr. G. Stewart Cameron, Peterborough, told the Ontario Medical Association to-day.

Dr. Cameron doubted whether the medical profession in this province or in Canada wishes to become a State-directed service. He believed that the doctors would rather retain their present status as "partners" of the province, with provincial health authorities concentrating chiefly on preventative measures.

The "shelter of state medicine" was often mooted more for political than medical reasons, he declared. Amendment of the B.N.A. Act might be required, Dr. Cameron, believed, to permit State control of medicine here, but he warned against holus-bolus adoption of other countries' ideas.

"MR. H. B.," the noted Dr. Latzel reports, "was a civil engineer. He had become chronically tired out, with boils, a very poor appetite and the usual distressing stomach symptoms ... he had gas pains.

"I examined him. His abdomen was flabby and large. His intestines were weak, clogged. The man was nearly always constipated.

"I put him on a yeast diet—asked him to report back in a week. By that time one of his boils was gone, another had started to dry up.

"In 3 weeks his skin was entirely clear, he had good color, healthy appetite and no more gas. Constipation stopped. He showed every sign of improved energy.

"Run-down health, poor complexion, indigestion, heartburn, and many other troubles usually come from poisons carried through the blood from the intestines," states Dr. Latzel. "Yeast tones up bowel action and increases the flow of digestive juices." Also, it softens the clogging waste in the body so you can clear it out easily—regularly.

Then you have new energy. Your blood is cleaner, healthier. Naturally, boils and pimples heal. Your digestion and your skin improve immensely, too.

FIVE-CENT BEER SEEN IN OFFING AS TAX REDUCED

House Breaks Speed Records Passing Tariff, Taxation Changes.

New Nursery Stock Rates.

Second Attempt to Legalize Lotteries Fails—Companies Bill Advances.

OTTAWA, May 30 (C.P.).—Most of the provisions of the year's budget to-day bear the approval of the House of Commons, including a few changes, one of them designed to provide thirsty Canadians with a five-cent glass of beer.

Law-making machinery moved in high gear yesterday and last night and speed records were broken as the tariff and taxation changes of the budget wisked through committee of ways and means, with only a word or two of explanation from Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance here and there.

Besides the budget the House passed the 200-section new companies bill through committee, except for a few sections reserved for possible amendment, turned down a second attempt to legalize lotteries and saw the grasshopper debate between Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, and his predecessor, Hon. W. R. Motherwell, resumed.

When the budget was brought down it involved a reduction in the taxation on beer by consolidating the former malt tax and the per gallon tax on beer in a single levy on malt which amounted to less than the two former taxes together. This malt tax was 7½ cents a pound and the change announced last night reduced it to six cents.

Five Cents a Glass.

Mr. Rhodes said he had been informed the reduction would make it possible to sell beer at five cents a glass. Corresponding reductions were made in levies on imported beer and on beer manufactured from other substances than malt.

Notice of a complete new schedule of tariff rates on nursery stocks was given by Mr. Rhodes. The new rates are based on findings of the Tariff Board and generally speaking are lower.

Pierre Casgrain (Lib., Charlevoix Saguenay) was the sponsor of the Lotteries Bill, and it was rejected without a recorded vote, sharing the fate of the Senate Bill defeated last week.

Meighen Backs League

Senator Meighen believed the League had done good work and should receive all possible support but Senator Casgrain held it had been a complete failure.

The League had effectively intervened in a number of disputes, said Senator Meighen, and, it could be made a more useful instrument if the nations would fully live up to their obligations. The withdrawal of Germany and Japan had been serious blows but the withdrawal of Canada and its influence on the other nations of the Empire would be more serious. He would feel badly, he said, if there was any general feeling in this country favoring such a step.

Despite the League all the nations were increasing their arms, said Senator Casgrain. The League had failed to pass its great test, disarmament. It was commonly asked, he said, what would replace the league if it were done away with. The answer was another question: "If you had a public nuisance what would you put in its place?"

McARTHUR BARN LOST BY FIRE

Campbellford Blaze Yesterday Afternoon Does Approximately $2,000 Damage.

Spontanous Combustion.

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, May 30.—Believed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion, fire that broke out yesterday afternoon completely destroyed a large barn, the property of J. H. McArthur, Campbellford meat merchant, causing a loss of approximately $2,000. Insurance is carried. The barn, which is situated at the rear of the residence on Sebastopol street, was first noticed in flames by a neighbor, Jack Smith who was working in the garden adjacent to the property. Quickly giving the alarm, neighbors gathered at the scene of the blaze and under the direction of Hylton Coxwell, formed a fire-fighting force, using buckets and the garden hose, until the local fire brigade arrived on the scene.

The fire however seemed to have gained terrific headway, and despite frantic efforts by the fire fighters, the barn was destroyed, although their prompt action in responding, headed by Fire Chief C. H. Davidson, saved the McArthur home, from which the barn was ony located but a few yards.

A quantity of chickens were lost in the blaze, but through the prompt action of Mr. McArthur and his son, Don, a calf was rescued from the flames. Fortunately no other stock was in the barn, which is a large structure 80 feet by 40 feet. The hay, feed, and a few implements were destroyed.

NEW LINE SOON OF McLAUGHLIN-BUICK

Report Confirmed at Oshawa —Cars in a Lower Price Bracket.

OSHAWA, Ont., May 30.—Reports that McLaughlin-Buick would soon introduce a new line of cars in a lower price bracket were confirmed to-day by R. S. McLaughlin, president of General Motors of Canada, Limited. The car's new series he said, would invade a price field hitherto untouched by McLaughlin-Buick.

The new lower priced McLaughlin-Buicks, Mr. McLaughlin said, are to be identical in design and construction with present three series, featuring straight eight valve-in-head motor of nearly 100 horsepower, and McLaughlin-Buick's floating ride with knee-action front wheels. The reported wheelbase is 117 inches as compared with 119 inches for the present series 50 McLaughlin-Buicks.

27 Years' Experience

"In manufacturing McLaughlin-Buicks" explained Mr. McLaughlin, "it is our policy to draw upon our 27 years' experience in making the best car it is possible to build in Canada. This has been done in our 1934 line of cars, and it has been done with the lower priced series we are about to announce. McLaughlin-Buick has an enviable reputation for "repeat orders" and thousands of traditional McLaughlin Buick owners have changed cars only when it became impossible for them to purchase McLaughlin-Buicks in the price class of the past few years. The forthcoming line of McLaughlin-Buicks will enable our dealers to reach many new customers hitherto unavailable to them, and to carry McLaughlin-Buick back to the motoring public which acclaimed these cars when they were financialy able to purchase them."

HENRY OPPOSES WIDE OPEN SALE BEER IN ONTARIO

band under Bandmaster W. Pearson, and a large convoy of waiting cars, and was escorted through the main streets to the Arena, where his entry was greeted by enthusiastic cheering and hand-clapping, as he walked through the standing throng to his place on the platform, with the local member, F. J. McArthur, M.L.A., and other members of his party.

R. J. Allan, president of the Northumberland Conservative Association, was the chairman for the evening.

MacColl Welcomes Henry.

Representing the town of Campbellford, and substituting for Mayor H. N. Carr, who was unavoidably absent, Reeve N. Alex. MacColl welcomed Premier Henry on behalf of the municipality, saying that it was less than fair to neglect to take such an opportunity to assure him that they realized the difficulty the government was having at this time to administer the affairs of office, but he felt that better times were ahead. It had been difficult for municipalities to carry on, even with the severe reductions, which had been swallowed up by the increased deficit, and he could easily realize the same difficulties on a larger scale were being faced by the Provincial Government.

He was glad, he said, that the province had taken over the system of direct relief, for it had brought the municipalities in closer touch with the province, which had shown splendid co-operation. The speaker also made a plea of both parties, not to frighten the old folks who are on the Old Age Pension by telling them that their vote, one way or the other, would mean the deprivation of this allowance. Such cases had come to his notice, he stated, and were entirely wrong. And to the Hon. Mr. Henry, Reeve MacColl said, "When this election has gone by, and you are again in office, you will think of us in this town as individuals, where you were received as the first citizen of the province."

F. J. McArthur, Conservative candidate in the riding followed the premier and he critized Mayor H. N. Carr, Liberal nominee, for some of his public statements and actions.

Whole Summer's Work

And in connection with the present provincial road work, which he declared Mr. Carr's followers were saying was just until election time. Mr. McArthur pointed out that the majority of this was for the whole summer, some being however only for two months. And in connection with this issue, he declared, "Farmer Curtiss of Percy Township is knocking at the doors of the farmer's homes saying that this work that is going on is going to raise the taxes ten percent."

Speaking of the personal element in voting the speaker pointed out that there was a tendency for some people who knew Mr. Carr, to support him, but he asserted, "we must lose sight of the personality in the campaign, forget the candidates, they are insignificent, it is whether you are supporting the Henry policy or Hepburn. "I know Mr. Carr well, said Mr. McArthur, he is a gentleman, but he does not belong to the party that will bring this Province out of the depression," and continuing to comment on the rumour through a press statement some weeks ago, that there was the possibility of Reeve Curtis entering the field as an independent candidate, and that now he and Mayor Carr were going round together, he thought, he said that "it was a friendship by financial agreement."

And speaking of municipal affairs, the speaker also stated that in Campbellford this year, "the tax rate set by Mr. Carr was the highest it had ever been."

George A. Kingston, chairman of the Board of Education, welcomed the Premier on their behalf, briefly outlining the strides and progress made in the educational system of the Province over the past thirty years, something the Conservative Government had done and for which they could receive credit, some of which must go to the Premier, who was also Minister of Education.

Mrs. Sanford Henderson, vice-president of the Northumberland Coiservative Association, briefly addressed the gathering, outlining some of the work of the Conservative Party, especially in connection with the health nurses, which had been resposible for a large decrease in the death rate.

A short oration was delivered by Sandy MacDonald of Hastings, Milton Maybee, ex-M.P., W. H. Ireland Trenton, and T. P. Lancaster, of Havelock, although present, did not address the meeting owing to the lateness of the hour.

Following the meteing, the Premier and his party were entertained to light refreshmeit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Allan prior to their return to Toronto.

The gathering was an exceptionally good one. Order was perfect, and the absence of any heckling made the program run smoothly and well. Loud speakers conveyed the voices of the speakers to all parts of the Arena, and the interest and enthrustasm of the audience was evidenced by their attentiveness and the bursts of applause. A wire from W. B. Horkins, K.C., of Toronto, was read by the chairman, expressing his regrets at his inability to attend the meeting.

TORY OFFICIALS PLAN 50 RALLIES BEFORE JUNE 19

Premier Raps Windsor Mayor —Hepburn Gives Seaway Stand.

ALL MINISTERS ACTIVE.

York County Election Board Criticizes Work of Enumerators.

TORONTO, May 30. (CP)—More than 50 meetings are arranged for Conservative stalwarts in the Ontario general elections campaign which comes to an end June 19 when the citizens cast their ballots. Other meetings will be arranged later.

Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader, to-day was in Sault Ste. Marie to start his plea for election before the Algoma residents. To-morrow he will deliver addresses at Blind River and Thessalon.

Both Premier George S. Henry and Mr. Hepburn took part in the political wars last night, the Premier charging Mayor David Croll of Windsor was advocating wide-open sale of beer in the province, while Mr. Hepburn announced his stand on the St. Lawrence waterways by maintaining the time was inopportune for such a great undertaking.

Premier Henry spoke at Campbellford and Mr. Hepburn at North Bay and Cobalt. The Premier declared he would never support wide-open beer sale and he asked how Mr. Hepburn felt about Mayor Croll's policies.

Henry to Muskoka

Premier Henry will visit the Muskoka and Parry Sound districts this week. On June 4 he speaks at Brockville and on June 6 at Kingston. He will be in Lindsay on June 7.

Other engagements planned for cabinet ministers are at Belleville May 31 where Attorney General W. H. Price speaks; on June 4 at Dundas; June 5 at Wallaceburg and June 6 in Toronto, all meetings to be addressed by Col. Price.

Hon. Charles McCrea, Minister of Mines, speaks at Walkerton June 7; at Port Colborne June 9, and Hon. W. G. Martin, Mininster of Public Welfare, appears at Mitchell June 13.

Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests, will carry the Conservative banner into the lake-head country. He will appear at Fort Frances June 4; at Kenora June 5; at Fort William June 6 and at Port Arthur June 7.

Enumerators Scored

The work of enumerators in the elections has met with criticism from the law information committee of the Ontario Liberal Association and the York County election board. It is claimed a number of names have been left off the lists and that the fact candidates had conducted their canvass before the enumerators appeared led to people refusing to give information twice, thereby finding themselves off the voting lists.

The York county election board has decided to extend the period the revising officers usually spend in the ridings and the force of revising officers will be doubled.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 30, 1934

MAKE SURE YOU ARE THERE.

The most important duty for Ontario electors at the present time is to make sure that on June 19 they will have a voice in deciding the composition of the Government that is to have charge of affairs in this province for the next five years.

That is why The Examiner is stressing the individual responsibility of every voter to take the trouble to make certain that she or he will be eligible to vote when the time comes.

It is a simple matter to do this, and no citizen worthy of the name will neglect to look after this duty while there is yet time.

As we announced yesterday, enumerators' lists have been posted in each sub-division in the city, there are complete copies at the office of Sheriff Hall and in the city clerk's office, and the headquarters of the political parties also have the information, so there is no reason why electors should not ascertain whether or not they are listed.

If they should find their names left off the lists they then have an opportunity to appear before the revising officer and have them added.

If in doubt the headquarters of the political organizations would no doubt be glad to advise you.

CANADIAN BUSINESS IMPROVEMENT.

That the index of business conditions in Canada now stands at a point higher than any since November, 1931, is the encouraging announcement of the Bank of Nova Scotia in its current sizing up of the state of business in the Dominion.

While in the United States a very rapid improvement of business conditions from April to July, 1933, was followed by a ronounced slump from which that country has not yet fully recovered, one of the most heartening features in the movement of the Canadian index is the fact that it showed no corresponding reaction from the peak of last July.

The gains recorded from April to July, 1933, says the bank statement, have, instead, on the whole been well maintained. There have been small and unimportant recessions on several occasions, but these have been more than made up subsequently.

In March, the last month for which complete statistics are available, four out of the five constituents of the index rose. Wholesale prices declined, but the reduction was infinitesimal, from 72.1 to 72. On the other hand, employment registered another increase. Industrial production climbed sharply. Railway car loadings were somewhat larger than in the previous month. The rate of turnover of bank deposits moved sharply upward, indicating, according to the bank economists, an increased readiness to spend on the part of the Canadian people.

A large part of the current improvement is attributed to the revival of our export markets for certain products, more particularly for lumber, base metals, newsprint and automobiles.

A SPENDING DECADE.

By and large, Canadian governments, federal, provincial and municipal, Conservative, Liberal and Progressive, have succeeded in making the past decade a record debt accumulation period.

According to a compilation made by the Citizens' Research Institute, in the ten-year period 1923-1933 the net debenture debt of all the governments in the Dominion, that is the gross debenture debt, including Dominion guaranteed debt for railways, etc., less sinking funds, increased $1,716,106,539, or at the rate of $171,610,654 per annum.

In other words, during that period the combined governmental authorities of Canada were spending on the average on capital and current account over one hundred and seventy millions of dollars annually more than they were collecting through taxation, license fees, revenues from public domain and sundry sources.

This means that governments in this ten-year period added to their debts, which must be repaid in the future out of taxation, general revenue and public utility rates, if any, an average of over $800 for every family in Canada.

It is admitted that in a young country borrowing is necessary for rapid development.

When government borrowings become too heavy, however, the resulting burden of carrying charges, coupled with annual expenditures for ordinary governmental services, creates a burden of taxation which consumes an undue proportion of the country's annual production. This tends to retard development, eats up rather than creates capital, and makes the repayment of the borrowed capital more difficult.

Well may the Institute want to know whether or not we have reached the stage where a contraction rather than an expansion of governmental debts would be beneficial.

LIFE INSURANCE.

With 3,000,000 policyholders, with new insurance issued last year of over $578,000,000, and with a total of $6,250,000,000 in force, life insurance holds an enviable position amongst Canadian institutions.

Meeting all its obligations promptly and in full, paying 100 cents on the dollar in bad times as in good, it administers a tremendous estate in Canada of $1,800,000,000—administers it on behalf of its policyholders and administers it not only in their interests but to the national advantage.

In the four distress years—1930-31-32-33—it stimulated employment and national development by investing hundreds of millions in federal, provincial, municipal and public and corporate undertakings. In these same years it paid out over $700,000,000 to its policyholders, pouring out money to meet individual needs and emergencies at the rate of $500,000 a day for every working day—week in and week out—during the whole of this period of financial stress and strain.

This week, as the public knows, has been selected by the life insurance companies operating in Canada to emphasize "financial independence through life insurance." It is to be hoped that individuals in all walks of life—women as well as men—will at this time give serious thought to their financial future. Life insurance not only encourages the habit of saving, but provides unique facilities for the immediate creation of estates and for the replacement of losses involved in unfortunate investments inevitable through unemployment.

It may be safely said that Canada is life insurance "conscious." Its people, per capita, are among the highest holders of life insurance in the world. But there are still hundreds of thousands of men and women who lack individual or family protection, and there are other hundreds of thousands whose first business, with returning good times, should be to repair the financial losses of recent years and provide a safe and secure refuge against future emergencies.

WHAT HONEST MEN CAN DO.

The manager of a manufacturing concern in Detroit said his office was in need of a better system than had yet been brought out. He made that remark after one of his executives had been found guilty of having taken funds from the company over a period of three years. He had been doing it in such a way that the auditors never found it out until within recent weeks. The manager is quoted as saying:

"We thought our system was about perfect. We have had a good many experts in at different times, and any time a man came with a new idea which would make for safety and efficiency in our accounting department I was always ready to give him a hearing. But there you are. After all that effort toward obtaining what we considered the perfect system we find it was being wrecked right before us and in such a way that it was not detected for almost three years. Am I giving up? No. I am going ahead until I find the system which cannot be beaten."

Probably he is right according to his own view, but it would be interesting to remind him that there have been firms in existence for years where the books and records have been faithfully and well kept. To go back a few years there have been fine old men sitting on high stools in counting rooms year after year, using a plain old system which would not pass muster in the up-to-date school of methods. And yet each dollar as it came and went was properly traced and each transaction was duly recorded. The plain truth is that honest men can make almost any kind of a system work properly, while schemers and dishonest men can make up-to-date systems turn sharp corners to serve their selfish purposes. If the manager in Detroit had been surrounded by honest men his system would have been considered very good indeed.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

"MASTER OF THE KING'S MUSICK."

The appointment of Sir Walford Davies, organist of St. George's chapel, Windsor Castle, to be "Master of the King's Musick" in succession to the late Sir Edward Elgar, continues an ancient office. It dates from 1660, when Charles II. set up a band of 24 performers on violins, tenors and basses, whom His Majesty's merry subjects dubbed the "four and twenty fiddlers."

But long before the time of Charles it was the custom of the Kings of England to retain as part of their household a band of musicians, more or less numerous. Edward IV. had 13, "whereof some be trompets, some with shalmes and small pypes." Henry VIII. expanded to 44 players, and among the instruments included were rebecks, taborets, sackbuts, drumslades and virginals; while Edward VI. went two better and included a bagpiper and a Welsh minstrel, the latter probably out of compliment to his grandfather.

Queen Elizabeth, too, favored the bagpipe, and made much use of the whole band. She was perhaps the most musical of all the Tudor monarchs, and no mean player on the virginals, although, it is said, she performed only when she was "solitary, and to shun melancholy."

King James retained the royal band, diminished in numbers and force, it is true, and, if tradition be accepted, he took a royal blow at the bagpipes himself, reminding him, as they did, of the "land of brown heath and shaggy wood" which he had left to occupy the English throne.

The title, Master of the King's Musick, was conferred by King Charles II, on Davis Mell, the first bandmaster of his "four and twenty fiddlers." Mell had a great reputation as a violinist, "having a sweete stroke," and when he was entertained by the men of All Souls at Oxford he amazed them by his "prodigious hand on the violin."

The Master, like the Poet Laureate in his line, has to produce a suitable work on occasions of state ceremonial. Sir Edward Elgar's fame will largely rest on the magnificent "Pomp and Circumstance" march in D which he composed for King George's coronation.

Modern music lovers may well wonder what manner of music was given out on "shalmes," "rebecks," "taborets," "sackbuts," "drumslades" and the rest.

It is interesting to learn, too, that Queen Elizabeth could play the bagpipes. Probably that is more than her hated rival, Mary, Queen of Scots, could do. —St. Thomas Times-Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

If political speeches are to be broadcast, the heckling section should also be provided with microphones in order that the radio audience may get the correct atmosphere.

It is estimated that 800,000 Ontario people are eligible to vote at the approaching election. At least 200,000 will let other electors decide the personnel of the next Government.

The C.C.F. organization expects to have candidates in at least 50 ridings. The new party is putting on a sprint at the last moment.

Every now and then there comes along a film that to see is an inspiration and an education. Such a picture is "The House of Rothschild" with the great artist, George Arliss, starring, which is being shown here at the present time.

That story of a nudist colony for Peterborough County suggests the thought that the promoters would be well advised to wait until the mosquito season has been left behind.

Pictures of mob violence in United States cities recalls the fact that Great Britain went through a general strike a few years ago without a shot being fired. The difference is significant.

Writing down the C.N.R.'s debt might put the railway on a sound financial footing, but it wouldn't do the same thing for the country.—Financial Post.

To the Editor of The Examiner

Dear Sir:

Mr. Lancaster is evidently still taking his obligations to his constituents seriously. He insisted he says on work for the unemployed. Though the increase in power-rates by 12 per cent at this time is enough to discourage any candidate and any people, Mr. Lancaster did a lot for this county and the least we can do is to acknowledge it. But will someone explain how it is that Mr. R. R. Hall, K.C., gave us all the power we could use on a flat rate and a low one while now in spite of the great cheapening of material the cost of power has increased so much more?

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterborough's Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Anne Jones,
R.R. No. 11, Peterborough.

Your writing shows that you have a sweet lovable disposition. You do not often lose your temper or your patience. You are gifted with brains above the average in intelligence. You seem to know just what people are going to say before they say it. You are honest, straightforward, loving and forgiving. You would far rather have your own feelings hurt than to unwittingly hurt some other persons. In the business world you would make a success in any undertaking you care to choose, because you are methodical and look into even the most minute detail. People like you make this world a better place in which to live. You never say anything unkind about a person behind his or her back, and if you feel that you cannot in honest truthfulness say anything kind, you keep silent. You are not over ambitious, because you are pretty well satisfied as you are. Your number is 9. Your birthsign is Leo the Lion. You are ruled by the Sun. January and October are your most forunate months and Sunday is your lucky day.

Freda Kerr,
Reaboro, Ont.

Your handwriting for analysis represents you as one who has a 'knack' of appreciating distinguished products. You desire elegance and expressive refinement. You are perhaps rather too apt to hurry and lose the real benefit of some of the joys of life. You are a quick thinker. Sometimes it would be much better for your well being, if you could see fit to 'slow down,' and do your thinking quietly and deliberately. There is no doubt whatever that you are progressive and have the ability to command any situation which you consider necessary. You are reticent in speech and feel nervous and shy when you have to meet new people. But your type would benefit greatly from more frequent contact with the public in general. You are fastidious regarding personal appointments and from my viewpoint would find a soft tone of red, either as foundation color for a dress or trimming, inspirational to you. You represent modesty and circumspectness. Your number is 6. Your birthsign is Cancer the Crab. You are ruled by the Moon. February and September are your best months. Monday your lucky day.

Hourtounse Bolster,
Bailieboro, Ont.

Your handwriting indicates a delicate constitution and great care should be exercised in reserving your strength and nervous energy. You are too kind to others and many times expend more than your strength will allow in doing favors for them. You are talented in several lines but seem unable to decide definitely upon a life work. You are neat and dress in good taste and harmony. You prefer quiet to the noise and fluster of town life, though you enjoy a good 'play' once in a while. You are most impressionable and should refrain from listening to, or reading, exciting mystery stories. They have a propensity to keep you awake at night or cause bad dreams. Your aspirations are aimed high, but I think you will find true love and home life your vocation. Happiness will ensue as a natural sequence.

Carmelitia Carrol,
Roseneath, Ont.

Your handwriting is indicative of a most versatile nature. It might almost be termed a dual nature, for sometimes you are reserved, observing, genteel, refined and essentially critical. Then you change and appear to hear nothing, see nothing and care for practically nothing. This is because your mental powers have been whipped to exhaustion and you have no reserve strength. You are too generous to prosper in material ways, though you have the capability of a splendid organizer and ingenuous designer. You also possess buying and selling power and could manage a business of your own. In society, you would excel, due to your ability to meet and mingle with the public. You are at your best among those whom you trust and especially friends who will listen to your words of wisdom. The strokes of your upward letters are descriptive of a finality of purpose demonstrated by one of excellent driving force and will-power. Your number is 3. Capricorn the Goat is your birthsign. You are ruled by Saturn. March and November are your best months. Tuesday and Saturday your lucky days.

McKIM'S DIRECTORY IS JUST OFF PRESS

Most Complete Directory of Its Kind In Canada.

MONTREAL, May 30.—The 1934 McKim's Directory of Canadian Publications is just off the press. This edition is the twenty-seventh, the first having been published in 1892, several years after A. McKim Limited, Canada's premier Advertising Agency was established.

The most complete directory of its kind in Canada, the book contains exhaustive information on advertising media throughout the Dominion. Newspapers, magazines, trade papers and miscellaneous publications are all listed, together with information on provinces, cities and towns where publications operate; showing populations, industries and essential features of each market.

An innovation of the current issue is that, in place of the charts formerly included to show the wealth of provinces, analytical summaries of the provinces have been provided.

The McKim Directory, due to its reputation for authenticity, is a part of the standard equipment of manufacturers, publishers and all firms dealing in advertising in Canada. Enquiries concerning the publication should be addressed to any one of the McKim Advertising Agency offices at Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Halifax or London, England.

The Dunsford Dramatic Troupe put on a play here in the hall on Friday evening and was attended by a large crowd. It was entitled "Yimmie Yonson's Yob," and the members of the cast are to be congratulated on the way they all acted his or her part. The hall was crowded, and between the acts Thomas Abraham sang, also Johnny O'Leary and the Costello orchestra furnished music. After the play lunch was served by the ladies of the C.W.L., and the remainder of the evening spent in social intercourse.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Perdue of Peterborough spent Sunday the guests of friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Herlihy, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. Angus Twomey, Mrs. Patrick Perdue and Alvin attended the play in Lindsay Tuesday evening.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

BILL JOHNSON'S BIG STROKE

On this date, in 1838 Bill Johnson, "the Pirate of the Thousand Islands", played the biggest coup in his career. I have already told in one of these articles the remarkable career of this son of Loyalist parents who turned traitor, after good service in the war of 1812-14, owing to some trumpery quarrel in his home district in the Bay of Quinte. He became the ruthless enemy of everything British and, despite seeming surveillance by the American authorities, managed to keep the border district in a state of ferment for years.

His master stroke took place on May 30, 1838 when he with the aid of a few renegade Canadians and a number of rowdies from Watertown, N.Y., seized the steamer Sir Robert Peel as she lay at her dock at Alexandria Bay on a trip from Kingston to Toronto. Not only were her passengers made prisoners, but the ship was looted, the mails taken and destroyed. After some delay the passengers were permitted to go on their way on another steamer, but the Sir Robert Peel was burned, "as a lesson to Queen Victoria and Her Canadian slaves." Perhaps some day a Canadian author will tell the whole story of this and many other desperate adventures of Bill the Pirate. It is a bit of our history which has been concealed for some reason.

Of course a hue and cry for Johnson was raised. Sir George Arthur, the lieutenant governor of Upper Canada, put a price on his head and called upon the United States government to punish the perpetrators of the outrage. Some were arrested and tried, but so far as I have been able to learn Bill was not interfered with. He had a way of his own, and police officers in those days were not immune to a little palm grease when the alternative might have been a bullet or two. Long negotiations took place with Washington but the tragedy of the Sir Robert Peel was never officially avenged.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

MONTREAL PRODUCE

A price advance in butter and potatoes was recorded on the Montreal Produce Market yesterday.

Fresh No. 1 butter rose ¼c to ½c, being generally quoted at 21¼c a pound. Receipts were 279 boxes. Small lots to the retail trade were quoted by jobbers at 22c for solids and 23c for prints. At the first Board of Trade auction 744 boxes of butter were offered. No. 1 grade sold at 21¼c a pound, and No. 2 at 20⅝c.

There was an advance of 5c in Quebec Whites and Prince Edward Mountain potatoes, and the price of the former being 75c to 80c per 80-bag, and the latter 95c to $1 per 90-lb bag. New Brunswick Mountains were generally 80c to 90c per 80-pound bag.

The cheese market held firm generally, being 9¾c a pound for Ontario colored. Receipts totalled 1,549 boxes.

The egg market held steady, graded shipments in carlots or less, being quoted at 20½c to 21c for A-large, 19½c to 20c for A-medium, 18½c to 19c for "B", and 17c to 17½c a dozen for "C." Receipts were 7,007 cases.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Aroused by reports that Russia was purchasing Southern Hemisphere breadstuffs, the Chicago wheat market jumped nearly 3c late yesterday, outdoing season top price records. For a brief period, excitement in the wheat pit surpassed anything witnessed for months.

The Russian purchases which included three cargoes of Argentine wheat and one cargo of Australian wheat and flour, acted as more than a counterbalance for fears of wheat imports into the United States from Argentina and other foreign countries. These fears had temporarily pulled wheat down about 1½c before the late flurried rally.

Rapid upturns of wheat values just preceding the close were accelerated by assertions of some trade leaders that drought in this country, if much longer unrelieved, might assume proportions of a national calamity.

Wheat closed irregular at some reaction from the day's maximum, ¼c lower to 1½c higher, compared with Monday's finish; corn, ¼c off to ⅝c up; oats, ⅝c to 1¼c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 7c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 30. — By purchasing 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat, importers yesterday gave futures prices the necessary support to weather a storm of profit-taking and stop-loss selling on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. After sustaining losses of nearly 2c, quotations executed an about-face, and finished on the upside, with gains of ½c to ⅝c.

Quotations travelled quickly in both directions during the session. Gains of nearly 1c showed at the opening, then losses of 3c from the high points were marked up before the late rally.

Slightly below peak levels, May option wound up at 78¼c, July at 79⅝c, and October at 71⅝c to 81⅝c. The market had to gulp down heavy offerings from longs taking profits and from other sources, before the export sales were uncovered, but in the late rush of buying prices easily advanced.

Demand for cash grains continued indifferent. Barley led the parade to higher ground in coarse grains commodities, all of which finished well in advance of the previous close.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

GANANOQUE, ONTARIO

The name of this beautifully situated town, at the entrance to the Thousand Islands, is of Indian origin and is pronounced Gan-an-Ock-We, with the on the third syllable. The English translation is "a place of health."

The first white man to arrive there was Col. Joel Stone, who landed in that locality in 1792. The Indians already had given a name to the place, and, since it was all that could be desired, he saw no reason for making a change.

PRICES OF CHEESE ARE ENCOURAGING

Three New Cheese Factories Opened in This District.

The supply of milk to the cheese factories of the district has been steadily increasing, W. J. Moore, dairy instructor, informed the Examiner to-day, but with a few exceptions the quantity is less than at the end of May last year.

"All the patrons are not yet sending," Mr. Moore said, "but I expect that in another week or so the industry will be settled down for the summer's business. Cheese prices are encouraging, and pasturage is now at its best, although the country generally needs rain.

We have three additional factories in production this season, Buckhorn, Ennismore and Silverwood's. William Hodkinson, who was at South Burleigh last year is making at Buckhorn, A. Fitzgerald of Ashburnham is at Myrtle factory, Ennismore, and R. G. Allan is in charge of the cheese-making at Silverwood's who have returned to cheese after several years' absence form this branch of dairying. They put in a new vat and other facilities, and are already on a production basis.

From the general outlook there is every reason to believe that the cheese industry in this district will have a good year."

Mr. Moore is engaged this week in milk testing at the factories.

CANADIAN PACIFIC BONDS ARE OFFERED

Early Inquiries Show Market Interest in the Current Issue.

Announcement was made yesterday of a new offering of $12,000,000 Canadian Pacific Railway Company Convertible Fifteen-year 4 per cent Collateral Trust Bonds. The new bonds will be offered by a wide syndicate of banks and bond dealers throughout Canada.

The Collateral Trust Bonds will be a direct obligation of the company and will be specifically secured by pledge under a Trust Agreement, of the Company's Consolidated Debenture Stock in the ratio of not less than $125 principal amount of such Debenture Stock for each $100 principal amount of new Bonds. The new Bonds will be convertible, at the option of the holder, into the Company's common shares at any time within seven years, on the basis of four common shares for each $100 Bond.

As the progress of the Canadian Pacific Railway closely parallels that of Canada, considerable interest will surround the fact that for the four months ended April 30th of the present year, net earning of the Railway Company (exclusive of special income) amounted to $4,496,904, compared with $1,835,944 for the corresponding four months in 1933, representing an increase of 144 per cent. For the six years ended December 31st, 1933, net earnings and special income equalled over 2.23 times average annual fixed charges. Even in 1932, the most unsatisfactory year for the Company in the present century, the Company earned all fixed charges, with a slight margin, this margin having been fractionally increased during 1933. Based on results for the first four months of the present year, the outlook for 1934 is considerably improved, earnings moving in conjunction with the general increase in Canadian trade and commerce.

The only convertible issue of Canadian Pacific Railway bonds now outstanding is the 6 per cent bonds, due in 1942, upon which the conversion privilege expires on April 4th, 1937. The convertible feature on the new issue runs until July 2nd, 1941. Although the length of the convertible feature on the presently outstanding 6 per cent bonds is less than one-half the conversion period of the new Bonds, the present 6 per cent have ranged from about 111 to 115 during the last two weeks, at the latter price the yield being about 3.80 per cent. be offered at 97.75 and interest, to quiries regarding the new Bonds indicate a keen interest on the part of investors. The new Bonds will be offered at 97.75 and interest to yield over 4.20 per cent.

BRITISH MANUFACTURERS WATCH SEDGEWICK'S VISIT

LONDON, May 30 (C.P. Cable).—The Daily Telegraph said to-day the extent to which British manufacturers can hope to profit from the Anglo-Canadian trade pact signed at Ottawa in 1932 will be affected vitally by the forthcoming visit of Mr. Justice Joseph Sedgewick, chairman of the Canadian Tariff Board.

The ostensible reason for Mr. Justice Sedgewick's visit, the newspaper said, is to make a personal study of operating conditions in the British woollen and worsted industries, but that if it was possible, he might discuss with the Dominion's office and the Board of Trade means of simplifying procedure of the Canadian Tariff Board.

Auditors Have Examined the Books of Large Packing Companies.

SPREAD $1.68 PER HOG.

OTTAWA, May 29.—(C.P.)—Over a five year period the packing firm of Wilsil Limited of Montreal averaged 15.42 per cent. net income on its capital, the Parliamentary Mass Buying committee was told to-day by A. B. Shepherd, its investigating auditor.

Spread of $1.68 Per Hog.

Profits on sales was 1.47 per cent and the estimated spread on a 135-pound hog, between what the farmer was paid and what the company received for processed meat, was $1.68 or $1.24 a hundredweight.

Three executives received total salaries of $36,500 a year without bonuses. The average hourly wage paid 257 employees was 31½ cents while 113 employees received a weekly wage averaging between $18 and $30.

Gaynor's Limited, Edmonton, paid cash and stock dividends over the past five years, the cash totalling $98,562 or 30 per cent and the stock, $86,290 or 29 per cent. The average earnings in capital over the past five year period was 9.96 per cent.

Five executives of the western firm received total salaries and bonuses $23,100 in 1933.

44.22 Per Cent. Spread.

Gaynor's Limited paid $856,170 to farmers in 1933 for hogs and cattle, selling the processed meat for $1,534,776. This represented a spread of 44.22 per cent., out of which costs should be deducted.

The committee to-day swung into consideration of the financial set-up of packing companies. Auditors have examined the books of the Swift Canadian plants at Toronto and Edmonton, Canada Packers at Toronto and Hull, in addition to the Wilsil and Gaynor firms.

MAY DIVIDEND PAYMENTS SHOW HEALTHY INCREASE

Though Money Unusually Light, Distribution by Canadian Corporations Show Top Figure for May Since 1931 —Reflects Improving Conditions.

THE TOTAL DISBURSEMENT IS $4,806,138.

By A. D. O'HALLORAN
(Copyright, 1934, by Central Press Canadian and The Examiner).

Dividend payments by Canadian corporations in the month of May show a substantial increase over the corresponding period of the previous year and the total is the largest for any similar month since 1931. Distributions, estimated from official declarations by Financial Counsel approximated $4,806,138 as against $3,453,890 for May, 1933, and $4,445,585 for May, 1932. The month is one of the lightest of the year as most companies end their fiscal period with the calendar year and pay dividends at the end of each calendar quarter.

The increase in May payments again reflects improving conditions and better earnings for Canadian industry and it is notable that all changes in dividends paid during the month were favorable. The Ford Motor Co. of Canada contributed largely to the increase with an interim payment of 50 cents a share calling for $829,480. Acme Gas and Oil Co. made its first distribution of two cents a share on the outstanding stock and Buffalo-Ankerite Gold Mines added a bonus of two cents to the regular payment of five cents a share. Resumption of dividends and payments on account of arrears on preferred stocks, noted in distributions for each month of 1934 to date, continued during May. Langley's Ltd. paid a dividend of $1.75 on preferred, the first since May, 1932, and Lowe's London Theatres 35 cents on preferred shares of $10 par, the first since December, 1932.

Information from a letter dated May 28th, 1934 from Mr. E. W. Beatty, K.C., Chairman and President of Canadian Pacific Railway Company, has been summarized as follows:

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company was incorporated in 1881. Directly or through its subsidiaries, it now operates a transcontinental railway system in Canada, together with hotels and commercial telegraph and express services. In addition, it operates passenger and freight steamship services from Canada to Great Britain and the European Continent and to Asiatic ports, as well as services along the Pacific Coast between Canadian and United States ports and on Canadian inland waters. The railway lines total about 17,000 miles, the main line extending from Saint John, N.B., to Vancouver, B.C. The gross tonnage of ocean, coastal and inland fleets exceeds 460,000 tons.

The new issue of Canadian Pacific Railway Company, Convertible Fifteen-year 4% Collateral Trust Bonds will be a direct obligation of the Company and will be specifically secured by pledge under a Trust Agreement to the Royal Trust Company of Consolidated Debenture Stock of Canadian Pacific Railway Company in the ratio of not less than $125 principal amount of Consolidated Debenture Stock to $100 principal amount of the Bonds from time to time outstanding.

The Consolidated Debenture Stock of the Company is a perpetual obligation authorized by Act of Parliament passed in 1889 and subsequent Acts. By these Acts the Consolidated Debenture Stock is a first charge on the whole of the undertaking, railways, works, rolling stock, plant, property and effects of the Company, including the rights of the Company in the several railways held by it under lease (except lands received by way of subsidy under the terms of the Act authorizing the incorporation of the Company), subject to the payment of working expenses of the railway as defined by law, and to the priorities created by charges existing at the time of the issue of Consolidated Debenture Stock.

The priorities consisting of First Mortgage Bonds of the Company aggregate in principal $3,650,000, on which the annual interest charge is $182,500, and the annual rentals, to which the Company's rights in railways held under lease are subject, amount to $3,689,835. Such of these obligations as are payable in other than Canadian currency are calculated at par of exchange.

Net earnings and special income of the Company in 1933 amounted to $27,084,587 available for fixed charges of $24,388,615. For the four months ended April 30th, 1934, net earnings (exclusive of special income) amounted to $4,496,904, compared with $1,835,944 for the corresponding four months in 1933—or an increase of 144%.

The Convertible Fifteen-year 4% Collateral Trust Bonds will have priority over $137,256,921 par value of Preference Stock and $335,000,000 par value of Ordinary Stock. The Assets of the Company exceed in value its total liabilities, including Preference and Ordinary stocks, by more than $335,000,000, and excluding Preference and Ordinary stocks by more than $807,000,000.

NOT DOLLAR LOST TO POLICYHOLDERS

Minister of Finance Pays Striking Tribute to Life Insurance.

During the eighty-years that life insurance has been in force in Canada under government supervision there has never been a dollar lost to a policyholder. Furthermore, during the past fifty years in which there has been government supervision of foreign companies doing business in this country, and deposits have been required as security for the fulfilment of insurance contracts, there has never been a dollar lost to a policyholder through effecting insurance in any foreign company. Our records are complete with respect to insurance companies back to the year 1875, a period of fifty-eight years. During that time the total income of Canadian insurance companies was $4,235,746,206. This is composed as follows:

Hon. E. N. Rhodes

Insurance premiums and consideration for annuities	$3,153,611,819
Interest, dividends and rents	876,143,383
Other receipts	205,991,004

During those fifty-eight years the total dividends paid to shoreholders of insurance companies was $29,092,923,—seven-tenths of one per cent of the income. On the other hand, during the same period there was paid in dividends to policyholders the sum of $413,347,725.

I think that, by and large, we have reason to feel proud of the stupendous insurance business which has been built up in Canada, and, on the whole, of the character of that business and the manner in which it has been conducted. I think it compares favorably with any similar business to be found in any country in the world. While I am not suggesting for a moment that it is not capable of improvement—no human institution is perfect—I do say that on the whole it has served the people of this country extremely well, and I deprecate any suggestion that we have not full confidence in and reason to be proud of the manner in which insurance has been conducted in Canada.

FILLING DITCHES TERMED INSULT TO ELECTORATE

cial debt of $592,000,000 as a bonded indebtedness that had increased to alarming proportions. It was nonsense, he claimed, for Mr. Henry to state that there was no need to worry about the debt. That it would not have to be paid in taxes.

It was, Mr. Carley stated, a debt that had to be paid by the primary producer. It was going to be paid by the sweat of the brow of the labouring man.

The Henry policy, Mr. Carley contended was a negative policy, and he was of the opinion that the Henry Government did not truly represent the Conservatives of the province.

Mr. Carley said that while the genial Howard" was commonly remembered as a great spender, he was not to be compared in that respect with Mr. Henry.

The net burden of debt, Mr. Carley said was about $12,000,000 when Mr. Henry assumed the reins of office, and in a period of three years it had increased by over $4,000,000.

Such increases, he felt needed explaining. While it might commonly be believed that relief expenditures had been heavy and burdensome, Mr. Carley claimed they had been comparatively light, when compared to the enormous road indebtedness which would remain as a mortgage on future generations.

The Candidate

After having apologized for the absence of J. J. Duffus, whom he stated was speaking in support of Mr. Newman at Downeyville, Mr. Hawthorne referred to the mounting taxation as being "the burden of our lives."

The municipalities of the county, he pointed out had conducted their business in a sane manner, and had little or no indebtedness. The county he said, had a debt of $94,000, of which amount $49,000 was due to the provincial highway expenditures over which the county council had no control.

He contended that enough taxation had been raised by the Government through motor licences and gasoline taxes, to more than pay for the roads of the province, and he failed to see why the municipalities should be called upon to bear any share in the cost of provincial highway construction.

An "Obvious Reason"

Mr. Hawthorne criticising the present Government expenditure on highway construction and ditch filling, which was being carried on all over the province, said the work was being done for an obvious reason. Last year, he exclaimed, the Government would not subsidize any road work in the municipalities, although the need for work had been just as great.

He supposed that the ditches that were now being filled-in on the highways would be the cause of floods next Spring and would then have to be dug out again.

Mr. Dewart in the course of a characteristically thoughtful review of the economic situation said, "election time is a shareholder's meeting from the time the election proclamation is issued until polling day."

He urged that it was the duty of every elector to meet the problem that presented itself and to grapple with it. Otherwise, he remarked, "we will be neglecting our duty and shelving the responsibility on our children."

Proper Management

It did not matter, he felt whether a man called himself a Conservative or a Liberal or anything else. What really was essential, he said, was to get proper management. The record of the Henry Government, he felt had been one of mismanagement and reckless expenditure, which had jeopardized the equity of the property owner throughout Ontario.

Speaking of Mr. Mitchell Hepburn's qualifications for leadership of the Government, the speaker stated, that Mr. Hepburn, one of the youngest heads of a major political party in the history of the province, was one of the best debaters in the Federal House.

He spoke of Mr. Hepburn as being a man with a wide viewpoint, embracing a Federal outlook. "In season and out of season Mr. Hepburn has advocated the lowering of tariffs," Mr. Dewart said, in claiming that artificial trade barriers were largely responsible for the low price of agricultural commodities at the present time.

POWER RATES SURE TO GO UP

what a boon it would be to them."

Dr. McQuibban said that the Abitibi canyon power development project conceived by the Ontario Power Service Corporation contemplated the production of 300,000 horse power. Total consumption and requirement of power by mines and pulp and paper companies in that section of northern Ontario was only 80,000 horse power. There was an abundance of other power in the district, Dr. McQuibban stated.

The Power Corporation floated bonds for $20,000,000, but the important question was where they were to find purchasers of their power. The only contract they had secured was for 15,000 horse power.

"So they approached Hon. Howard Ferguson, and he agreed to buy 100,000 h.p. if the Abitibi Power and Paper Company would buy it back. The Abitibi undertook to take 65,000 h.p. When the Abitibi needed $5,000,000 to complete the plant and couldn't raise the money they went into bankruptcy. If you or I go into bankruptcy they sell us out. Rarely is any bankrupt business able to pay its creditors 100 per cent of its obligations."

As a result of the Abitibi's difficulties in the completion of the power development, its subsidiary, the Ontario Power Service Company reported its troubles to the Government, whose bonds had dropped in market value to around $20 to $25. Dr. McQuibban said that Premier Henry had $25,000 of these bonds.

"What Premier Henry did was to put the Power Company's bonds through a political transformer and raise them back to their $90 value. The bonds owned by Hon. Arthur Meighen's companies went up in the same way."

Dr. McQuibban said he believed that the general details of the Ontario Power Service Corporation deal was known to the electors. He briefly sketched the purchases of other blocks of power including 260,000 horse power from the Gatineau; 250,000 from the Beauharnois; 125,000 horse power from the Maclaren Development and about 100,000 from Chats Falls. This power was bought at the Ontario boundary for $15 a horse power. The Hydro had to build costly transmission lines to Toronto, erect the big transformer plant at Leaside, with the result that Toronto was lighted by power produced in Quebec.

"The same power is used in my own village of Alma," Dr. McQuibban said. "In the meantime Ontario's own development at Queenstown with ten big units of from 55,000 to 60,000 horse power each is using only five or six of its units. What are they doing with the surplus power they have from these heavy purchases from Quebec. They are selling one huge block to United States consumers at one-third of what it cost; there is another block going to a plant at Thorold for the production of steam. They are getting for that power about one-third of what it costs, and we are sending some of it back to Quebec at one-half of what it cost us. How can we avoid deficits by such methods as that?"

"Last year the Government added $20,000,000 to the public debt but they announced that they had a surplus of nearly $500,000. That sounded all right, but on enquiry we found that the Liquor Control Board had issued a cheque to the Provincial treasury for $1,250,000, and on the day the cheque was issued, drawn on the Bank of Commerce, the Board's balance was only $19,000. The overdraft of the Liquor Control Board was around one million dollars. It was just an effort to make it appear to the people of Ontario that the Government had a surplus. But, look behind their back and you see a towering debt."

ARCHBISHOP WORRELL TO RESIGN AS PRIMATE, '37 GENERAL SYNOD

Seriously Considering Vacating Archbishropic of Nova Scotia as Well.

AGE BEGINNING TO TELL.

HALIFAX, May 30.—(C.).)—His resignation as Primate of the Church of England in Canada would be tendered to the next General Synod meeting in 1937, Most Rev. C. L. Worrell told the Synod of the Dioceses of Nova Scotia in annual session here yesterday.

The Venerable Archbishop, who is in his 80th year, said he was seriously considering vacating the Archbishopric of Nova Scotia as well, for he was under strain of advancing years.

The aged and beloved church leader was made Archbishop of Nova Scotia in 1915. For a time he was Bishop of Bermuda. He became Primate of Canada three years ago. He has carried on systematic visitations over his extensive terrritories. The Archbishop's greatest achievement on the material side was the building of All Saints' Cathedral at Halifax.

Yesterday in charging the Synod he vigorously condemned lotteries as a means of obtaining church monies and gave an able review of ecclesiastical and secular affairs.

"The chaotic condition of the world," he said, "which has resulted from a persistent and ever-increasing effort to progress by the secular methods provided by a machine age has more or less demonstrated to thoughtful minds the imperfection of anything in which the hand of a supernatural power is overlooked."

Speaking on the employment of gambling devices to "filch money from people" for the service of Christ, the Archbishop declared: "Sweepstakes, which it is sought from time to time to legalize, I hope will never be allowed in Canada."

Archbishop Worrell was born at Smith's Falls, Ontario, and had distinguished scholastic careers at Trinity College School at Port Hope, Ont., and at Trinity University, Toronto.

Previous to his consecration, the Archbishop was Professor of English at Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont.; Archdeacon of Ontario, and Principal of the Collegiate Institute, Brockvile, Ont. Among his parishes were Holy Trinity, Brockville; St. James', Morrisburg, Ont.; St. Mark's, Barriefield, Ont., and St. Luke's, Kingston, Ont.

PACKERS PAYING SOME EMPLOYES $7.20 PER WEEK

ing March, 1931, paid off bank loan of $5,536,527, the committee was told. Donald Kennedy, United Farm member for Peace River, insisted this money came from the pockets of the farmers throufh lower hog and cattle prices, but the committee auditor did not agree.

The company was able to deduct the money from its working capital, Mr. Shepherd said, because prices were lower and it took less capital to buy the goods.

"Had there not been this serious drop in prices, would it have been possible for the company to pay off this loan by reducing its working capital?" asked Chairman H. H. Stevens.

"No, sir," responded Mr. Shepherd.

"And the farmer would have received that much more money for his stock?" asked Mr. Kennedy.

"Yes, sir."

Holdings Listed in Chicago

The charge was made that Canada Packers and the Swift Canadian Company owned control of the Toronto Livestock Market, but the committee auditor did not know. Both companies owned shares in the market, he said, but it was impossible to tell the percentage because the Swift Company's holdings were listed at its head office in Chicago.

Net profits of Canada Packers last year were $1,881,100 after every charge had been made with the exception of income tax deductions. The Hull plant was credited with profit of $9,300 after being assessed six per cent on its capital and various other charges which totalled about $10,000.

In the Toronto plant for the year ending March, 1933, $15,836,000 was paid for livestock and the processed meats $3,631,000 in excess of that figure or 18 per cent.

ELIMINATE SCARLET FEVER FROM WARDS IN HOSPITALS

TORONTO, May 30.— (C.P.)— Scarlet fever has been eliminated in the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children through immunization measures, Dr. Beverley Hannah, of the hospital staff, reported to the Ontario Medical Association convention to-day.

Results of prevention and control had been under investigation in the hospital for nine years, he said, and it had been shown that the disease could be eliminated not only from the wards but from the nursing staff, physicians and attendants.

Dr. Hannah contended immunization measures should not be carried on by private practitioners unless they were thoroughly trained in the various details of its technique.

WINDSOR MAYOR DENIES PREMIER HENRY'S CHARGE

Brands "Opposed to Local Option" Statement "Deliberate Mirepresentation."

TACTICS UNBECOMING.

Claims Tory Chief is Dry in One Riding and Wet in Another.

WINDSOR, May 30 (CP)—"Deliberate misrepresentation," was Mayor David A. Croll's reply to-day to Premier Henry's statement last night at Campbellford in the Dry riding of Northumberland, that the Liberal candidate for Windsor-Walkerville is opposed to local option and is preaching the sale of beer and wine in every roadside stand.

"There is no question about my stand on the freer sale of beer and wine," Mayor Croll said. "I do not agreed with Premier Henry that it should be sold only in hotels for the dress suit trade. I maintain that beer and wine should be obtainable in legitimate restaurants who are in the business of selling food first. I am absolutely opposed to the beer-and-rubber-sandwich type of place.

"I have been an advocate of local option for years, and I still am.

Unbecoming Action

"I think it unbecoming of the Premier of this great province to stoop so low as to misquote and misrepresent me. And I would like to ask him where he stands. His utterances and actions in the past have revealed him as a sort of wobbling Dry. He tries to be all things to all men; when he is in a Wet constituency he is Wet; when he is in a Dry constituency such as Northumberland he tries to appear to be Dry.

"Where does the Conservative Party stand on this beer and wine measure, anyway? The Premier, apparently by nature is a Dry; is Wet to-day only for political purposes. His attitude on the beer and wine question is as sincere as his attitude on unemployment insurance and the minimum wage for men, both of which he is willing to discuss by the yard and enact by the inch.

"My own position is clear, and always has been. I am for temperance in all things; for in excess there is danger."

FRENCH LANGUAGE BEING OBJECTED TO

that language so to do. However, underlying the whole matter were some fundamental questions. One centred on the belief that, he declared, prevailed largely in Quebec that French was the official language of the entire Dominion. On the other hand, the people of Saskatchewan and in other parts of the country were largely of the opinion that the French language was not the official language of Canada, but was confined in its application to the terms of the British North America Act.

Many people in the Prairie Province resented the use of radio to emphasize what was claimed to be a legal right to the employment of French in Saskatchewan. Oats liked milk, Mr. Turnbull said, but when one took a feline by the neck and tried to make it drink that milk, the feat could not be done without a great deal of spitting and scratching. That represented the attitude of the Saskatchewan people on the French language question.

"When the Radio Commission does anything that appears to be forcing the Quebec view on the rest of the country, these people resent it; and instead of building up unity and promoting friendliness to that language, it is building up a wall of hostility against it which the proponents of the French language themselves would not desire."

Such objections lay behind the resolutions and other protests from many bodies in Western Canada.

Sault Mayor Again Conservative Backer

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., May 30 (CP)—"I am following the Conservative Party and platform as I always have," declared Mayor James Lyons this morning, when interviewed on the statement of Mitchell Hepburn, Ontario Liberal Leader, made in Cobalt last night, asking if Lyons was still a Government supporter.

"The objections I raised in my letter one year ago have all been wiped out.

The Government has done the things I asked. It has balanced its budget. It is providing employment instead of direct relief wherever possible, it has adopteid the beer and wine policy, and the Dominion Government has adopted the gold tax. There are other things, but those are the most important.

FAIR TURNOVER IN OIL ISSUES

Moderately Lower Prices Seen in Distillery Shares in Toronto Trading.

NO CHANGE IN BREWERY.

TORONTO, May 30. (CP).—Interest was at low ebb to-day on the industrial section of the Toronto exchange, due mainly to the New York market holiday and prices were barely steady. Some of the distillery and oil issues had fair turnover at moderately lower prices.

Brewery shares made no response to the announcement of a beer tax reduction, the issues of that group showing nothing greater than variations of ¼.

All the interlisted shares closed lower with the single exception of Imperial Oil which held a gain of ⅛ at 14⅜. Canadian Oils pfd. moved up 2 points and Supertest and British American Oil eased down small fractions. International Nickel, selling ex-dividend 10 cents, sagged about the amount of the payment and minor losses were boarded for Ford A, Brazilian and C.P.R.

Live Stock Markets

TORONTO, May 30 (C.P.). — A rising British bacon market which has been steadily moving upward during the past weeks reflected itself on the Toronto live stock market to-day as the hog division rose and another five cents to sell 35 cents higher for the three days' trading. The division, as usual, had opened unsettled, but salesmen held their supplies and the gain was registered in early afternoon trading.

Trading on the cattle division continued very slow and less than half the supply of 430 fresh cattle and 600 holdovers had been sold by two o'clock. Bids on weighty steers slumped 50 cents, but salesmen refused to let go their supplies and no sales were made. Prires on others held barely steady. Calves, sheep and lambs were selling unchanged.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion Livestock branch were: Cattle, 430; calves, 1,040; hogs, 1,360; sheep and lambs, 970.

A few lots of butcher cattle sold about steady at $3.50 to $5.25 while good cows ranged from $3.50 to $3.75 and a few fed calves sold up from $5. The calf division was steady at $3 to $5.30 for common to medium vealers with a few choice at $6 to $7.

Hogs were within sight of the $10-mark as they registered another five-cent gain to sell at $8.35 f.o.b. for bacons, $8.70 off truck and $9.10 off car. Choice lambs were steady at $11.50 to $12 cwt. while a few mediums brought $7 cwt. Sheep were mostly at $1 to $3 cwt.

LIVESTOCK QUOTATIONS

Cattle, calf, sheep and lamb quotations remained unchanged.

Hogs, off car basis, selects $1.00 premium; bacons $9.10; butchers $1.00 discount; hghvies $1.50 discount; lights and feeders—$1.00 discount; sows $6.10.

3,488 NAMES MISSED?

WINDSOR, Ont., May 30 (C.P.)—Enumerators missed 3,488 names in Windsor-Walkerville riding, Mayor A. Croll, Liberal candidate, charged from the platform at a rally meeting. Immediate action to have the names placed on the voters' list was promised by the candidate

The omission was "unfair and wicked to put it mildly."

FARMER FATALLY HURT.

CHATHAM. — John Robinson, Chatham township farmer, died last night from injuries received when he was hurled from a land roller last Monday.

The tonge if the roller fell to the ground throwing Mr. Robinson in front of it. The horses ran away, pulling the heavy roller over him.

FIRES, HEAT HIT CROPS, FORESTS

N. S. Woodlands Burn as Drought Dries Country—Grain Curls Up.

WHEAT MAY BE IMPORTED.

CHICAGO, May 30 (AP)—The traditional verdancy of the United States Memorial Day was dimmed today by the smoke of forest fires and the drabness of withered grain crops.

Scattered fires burned over woodlands dried to tinder by a parching sun, and whole fields of growing grains curled in the heat, which ranged from 90 degrees to a searing 108.

One of the fires swept more than 10,000 acres of valuable timber lands near Sanarac Lake in New York, with flames on a 10-mile front menacing two villages. Other fires were blazing in Minnesota and Idaho. A huge marsh in the vicinity of Norwalk, O., was burning.

Wheat soared to more than a dollar a bushel in Minneapolis, the first time that the dollar mark there had been reached since last July. The upward surge of grain values on Chicago's Board of Trade was halted by talk of possible imports of Argentine wheat.

Unrelenting heat beat down on all crops in the Middle West, as officials received messages beseeching them to release signers of the corn-hog program from all crop reduction obligations.

Final Tribute Paid Archbishop McNeil

TORONTO, May 30 (C.P.).—Dignatories of the Roman Catholic Church from many points in Canada and the United States joined with prominent local citizens in attendance at the funeral to-day of Archbishop Neil McNeil, whose death occurred at midnight on Friday.

His body, which had lain in state in St. Michael's Cathedral since last Sunday afternoon, while thousands of his own people and people of other communions paid honor to his memory, was laid to rest in the mausoleum in the centre of the little cemetery at St. Augustine's Seminary on the Kingston Road.

While clergy and laymen of the Church joined in deep mourning for his passing, his remains were sealed in a crypt near those of his predecessor in office, Archbishop McEvay.

BRITISH SMYPATHY

LONDON, May 30 (CP Cable).—A message of deepest sympathy in Japans "irreparable loss' by the death of the veteran Admiral Heihachiro Togo was forwarded to the Japanese Minister of Marine today by Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell, First Lord of the Admiralty, on behalf of the British Admiralty and the Navy.

The British Navy recalled with pride that Admiral Togo carried out some of his early sea training in British ships.

MINE TRADING FAIRLY STEADY

Interlisted Gold and Base Metals Restrained by New York Market Holiday.

SOME SILVERS SOFT.

TORONTO, May 30 (C.P.).—The tone was generally firm in the mining listings of the Toronto Exchange to-day, with volume around the low record for the year so far. Interlisted gold and base metals were restrained by the New York market holiday, but some of the secondary gold shares maintained a strong appearance on fair turnover. Base metals and silvers had some soft spots but no reactions of importance.

Traders were in the market for Gunnar Gold and McKenzie Red Lake, heavy buying in these issues taking prices up 8 to 10 cents each. In the senior gold list several issues were dormant, while Hollinger closed 5 down, and Teck Hughes, Hargreaves and Bladorne closed unchanged. Business in Noranda was confined to a few sales, mainly odd-lots, with the price down about 10 cents.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

MONTREAL EXCHANGE.

MONTREAL, May 30 (C.P.). — Montreal stock exchange listings finished to-day's session with the irregular trend still prevailing. The market as a whole had a better tone.

Highlight of the session was the eight-point gain of Dominion Coal Preferred at 80. It estimated a new high for the year at 81 but later receded. Royal Bank was up three points and Canadian Celanese Preferred a point. Dominion Bridge, Canadian Car, National Breweries and Steel of Canada gained fractions.

International Nickel lost 20 cents at 26.30, while Brazilian Traction was off ¼ at 9¼, and Canadian Pacific Railway ⅜ at 15⅝. Montreal Power was down ⅝ at 36¼.

Increases In Wages Announced By Victor

Of considerable interest in business and manufacturing circles is the announcement by Victor Talking Machine Company of Canada Limited, Montreal, of certain increases in its wage scale. Effective June 1, 1934, there will be an increase of 15 per cent in hourly and piece-work rates to all female employees of the Radio Division, while toolmakers' rates have also been adjusted upwards from 5 to 20 per cent.

Martin was one of a trio convicted of murder and sentenced to death in connection with the death of an aged woman, found asphyxiated after her home had been robbed. The two other death sentences had previously been commuted to penal servitude.

BALKS FLATLY AT AGREEMENT ON DISARMING

of the bridge were sound—that he would not be flung into the stream beneath, he declared.

Sir John suggested, while not limiting himself to accomplishment in a narrowed field, that protocols should be put into effective shape for signature on the most important matters on which decisions had already been reached in general terms.

Three Main Points

He mentioned three points among these: Chemical warfare's abolition; publicity to budgetary expenditures on arms, and establishment of a permanent disarmament commission.

His Majesty's Government, the British Foreign Secretary told the big assemblage of delegates, was still of the opinion that the British draft of a disarmament convention adopted by the conference last summer as the basis for discussion, still afforded the best solution of the problem.

Britain still felt that draft convention, as modified by the British memorandum of January which suggested a compromise between the German demand for an army of 300,000 and the army of 200,000 listed in the draft, was more likely to produce an agreement than any other concrete proposal, he added.

"Indeed," declared Sir John, "I will go further; unless it is possible for the conference to agree upon suggestions such as those in the memorandum, or something very like them, then I do not myself believe that a disarmament convention can be realized."

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES HELD WARSAW CHURCH

Rev. G. K. Tyler of Park St. Church, Peterborough, Speaks at Evening Service.

REV. MR. BAKER ASSISTS.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARSAW, May 30. — The Baptist congregation held its anniversary services on Sunday, May 27. The pretty little church was well filled for the morning service, of which Rev. W. B. Walker, pastor of Lakefield and Warsaw congregations, took charge. His subject was "The Life of Christ." Walter Walker sang a sacred solo, accompanying himself on the guitar, and the Presbyterian choir, which assisted in the service of praise, gave "Sweet Peace, the Gift of God's Love."

In the evening at which the church was filled to capacity, Rev. G. K. Tyler, of the Park St. Baptist church, Peterborough, assisted by a male voice quartette, conducted the service. Rev. Mr. Barker of Norwood, read the lesson. Mr. Tyler's subject was "Inside out, and "Upside Down." The Quartette Messrs. George Granter, Clarence Corbett, Maurice Dunkley and George Batley, added to the service greatly in the congregational singing and in the selections they rendered.

Rev. J. W. Wilkisson is attending the conference which is being held in Brockville this week. He will remain over Sunday, June 3rd, as the Warsaw service is to be withdrawn for the Presbyterian anniversary.

Rev. Mr. Barker of Norwood is expected to preach anniversary sermons at the Presbyterian church, morning and evening.

Miss Valetta Drain is visiting her parents for a few days, and will return to Toronto on Thursday, May 31.

There was ice on four successive mornings, Wednesday to Saturday, May 26, on a watering trough in Allan U. Payne's yard.

Step out into the SUNSHINE

How many days of your life are lost in feeling under par? How many hours which might be bright are dull and dispirited?

Half-hearted days are frequently due to common constipation. It clouds your waking hours, takes the sunshine out of living. Yet it can be overcome so easily by eating a delicious cereal.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid elimination. ALL-BRAN is also a fine source of iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Isn't this "cereal way" pleasanter than risking patent medicines?

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. With each meal, in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal or use in muffins, breads, omelets, etc. In the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

JAPANESE HERO DIES IN TOKYO

Admiral Togo, Victor in Russo-Jap Naval Battle, Succumbs to Cancer.

NATION IN MOURNING.

TOKYO, May 30 (A.P.).—Admiral Marquis Heihachiro Togo, "the Nelson of Japan," whose humble home in Tokyo became a national shrine, died to-day.

Death came to the valiant old warrior at the age of 86 after a slow but losing fight against cancer of the throat. The empire was plunged into mourning.

Admiral Togo was the last of the heroes of the Russo-Japanese War. It was he, standing on the deck of his flagship, who directed the fleet to a decisive victory over the Tsar's navy and from that triumph Japan emerged as a world power.

Only yesterday Admiral Togo was elevated by his devoted friend and one-time pupil, Emperor Hirohito, to the rank of Marquis.

Emperor Hirohito decreed a great state funeral, the first in this decade and the 10th in Japan's modern history, to be held June 5.

Distinguished persons went to the home to-day, while tens of thousands stood outside sorrowfully. Many wept and prayed.

Typical headlines in newspapers were: Asahi, "Nation's Protector, War-God Togo, Dead" and the Nichi Nichi, "Spirit of Giant Seafighter has ascended to Heaven."

Byrd Given Facts About Vitamin C

MIAMI, Fla., May 30.—(C.P.) — Admiral Byrd in his lonely post at Bolling Weather Station of Little America, to-day had a greater knowledge of the characteristics of Vitamin C.

Through Sea Scout Paul Siple, he radioed Dr. John Harvey Kellogg here asking the effect of heat and intense cold on the vitamin.

The Little Americans needed the information for guidance in preparing trail rations.

Dr. Kellogg replied Vitamin C is destroyed by heat, but freezing does no harm, although it deteriorates rapidly if not immediately used after thawing.

VOTERS' NAMES LEFT OFF LISTS

Enumerator Failed to Get Names of Residents on South side of Parnell.

MISUNDERSTANDING.

Although complaints against the work of the enumerators here have not been numerous, one serious omission was detected this morning when it was discovered that the south side of Parnell street in Polling sub division No. 3 had been completely overlooked by the enumerator who should have convassed that street.

As a result some 50 or 60 persons will have to appear before the revising officers next week if they wish to have a voice in the coming election. The municipal voters' lists show 35 voters on the south side of the street and it is probable that the number entitled to vote in the provincial election at least 15 to 20 more.

The omission was apparently due to a misunderstanding on the part of the two enumerators assigned to this sub division, as to which was responsible for canvassing the south side of Parnell Street.

Another street was was overlooked was a short street on which there are two families.

JONES CHARGED ON FOUR COUNTS

Charges Follow Accident on Highway Early May 24.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Joseph Jones was charged formally before Police Magistrate today on four counts as a result of the accident early on the morning of May 24 in which Thelma Hollingsworth and Bruce Spence were severely injured when a car, allegedly driven by Jones, failed to make a turn on Highway 28 and crashed in the ditch.

Jones pleaded not guilty to the charges which were: Criminal negligence, drunk in charge of a car, driving a car without a permit, and having liquor illegally in his possession. The hearing was adjourned until next Friday, the accured being released on $2,000 bail.

Miss Hollingsworth and Spence are still confined to hospital where The Examiner learned to-day they are considerably improved.

In traffic court William Shearer, Harwood, pleaded guilty to driving a car with faulty brakes and was fined $10 and $6. For the same offence Delill Transport, Toronto, was fined a similar amount. H. Lapp, Chatham, pleaded guilty to speding and was fined $10 and $3.68

Mother Near Death Cost Of Saving Son

KENTVILLE, N.S., May 30.—(C.P.)—A mother died in hospital here to-day because she gambled with death that her son might live.

Although she saved nine-year-old Roy D'Ell's life, Mrs. Edith D'Ell may die. She lies unconscious.

She was walking along a street with the boy and her daughter, Marjorie 8. An automobile approached and Roy was in its path.

Helpless passersby saw the woman spring toward her son and hurl him clear. Then she tried to leap to safety but she was struck and dragged 20 feet.

Arthur McGregor, of Kentville, driving the automobile, took the unconscious woman to hospital.

BAPTIST WORK SHOWS RESULTS AMONG HINDOOS

Work Has Never Shown Such Results as in the Past 10 Years.

REV. McLARIN SPEAKS.

Hinduism is Staggering — Caste System is Being Broken.

A large audience listened on Monday night with intense interest to the address of the evening given by the guest speaker, Rev. John B. McLarin, president of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec, and here on furlough from India. Rev. McLarin is the son of the late Rev. John McLarin, co-founder of the Canadian Baptist work in Locoanada, India.

The Baptist work in India has never known such results as they have within the last ten years. So great have been the number of conversions and baptisms, that the Christian population is estimated at approximately six and a half millions. Thousands are being baptized every year. New doors are being opened continually to the missionaries. Ancient, orthodox caste systems are being broken down steadily. And Hinduism is staggering. Well might Ghandi and his followers fear at what the results of the Christian religion, for nothing can stem the tide of the love of God which is being spread abroad in the hearts of the people. Surely, it is "the acceptable year of the Lord" spoken of in Isaiah 61. Distinctive caste people, formerly unmoved and bitterly prejudiced against the Christian faith, are becoming reconciled to the Gospel, and there is a great ingathering of all classes, both rich and poor, into the Christian churches. One wonders why the same thing does not happen in Canada. Over there the churches are packed with people hungry for the Gospel and willing to accept it. New churches are being erected by the converts themselves and the work of God goes on and on. The schools are filled with devout students, many of them obtaining their theological course in preparation for the ministry. Is God turning aside from our western countries—privileged with the Gospel for centuries back and smiling upon our eastern lands, who, in many cases, receive it with open minds and hearts. And not only are sinners being converted but the professing churches are examining their own hearts to see if anything in their lives will hinder the spread of the Gospel. Long-lived prejudices, jealousy, selfishness and other sins in their lives are being confessed to the person wronged, with the result that God is blessing everywhere. Perhaps if we followed their example in this respect, souls would be won into the kingdom here too.

The Weather

The heat wave of the past few days has so far failed to produce a temperature to eclipse the 82 degrees record chalked up during the first week of the present month.

Yesterday the maximum official thermometer reading was 81 degrees, while at noon to-day the mercury had steadied at 79 degrees, with the promise of continued fine weather, according to Walter Peters.

Present high temperatures are interesting as contrasted with the weather of the last four days of the past week, when on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday the average night thermometer readings were around 35 degrees.

TORONTO, May 30 (Synopsis).—An area of low pressure covers the Western provinces and north-west states, with high pressure and cool weather over the north-western portion of the continent. A trough of low pressure extends from the Gulf of St. Lawrence south-westward along the Atlantic coast, with relatively high pressure over the Great Lakes. Light showers have occurred in some sections of Alberta and western showers have occurred in some sections of Alberta and Western Saskatchewan, also in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. Elsewhere the weather has been fine and warm.

Lower Lake Region and Georgian Bay—Light to moderate winds; fair and warm to-day and most of Thursday; probably followed by local thundershowers.

Northern Ontario — South-west winds; fair and warm. Thursday—Moderate to fresh winds; partly cloudy with a few scattered thundershowers.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence Valley—Fair and warm to-day and Thursday.

JAIL BREAKERS ARE CAPTURED

Taken in Home Town After Theft Led to Series of Car Thefts.

BEAT UP TURNKEY.

BRANTFORD, May 30 (CP) — Brantford police authorities were notified this morning that Donat Lemieux, Salvadore Grayco, and Georges Laframbois, Montreal, had been picked up at Valleyfield, Quebec, where, it is alleged, they committed a store robbery that sent them on a devious trip through Ontario and led to a wide hunt for them.

Picked up by Provincial Officer Ben Milligan and city police in Burford Township, near here, they were placed over Sunday in the Brant County Jail, but escaped when they jumped Turnkey C. C. Slemin, stole his keys and walked out. It was suspected that they made their way to Jerseyville, a village northeast of Brantford.

At Jerseyville they stole a car and made their way to Brighton, abandoning it there and stealing another car which they abandoned at Belleville, the getting another to take them to Valleyfield, where they were arrested. Turnkey C. C. Slemin suffered considerably from shook, and from rough handling, but has been doing well in hospital to which he was taken as soon as he was able to give the alarm.

It is expected that the trio will be tried at Valleyfield for store robbery before they are released for Brantford, where they are wanted for escaping from jail and for assaulting a jail officer.

FIVE PROVINCES BUSY BATTLING FOREST FIRES

300 Homeless as Flames Sweep Restigouche Hamlet in New Brunswick.

SPREADS TO NOVA SCOTIA.

Thousands of Acres Burning, Rangers Fight Day, Night in Ontario, Quebec.

(By the Canadian Press.)

Bush fires—yearly blight of colonists and fire rangers—are still being fought in outlying sections of Northern Quebec and Ontario, in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Manitoba.

While in Quebec and Ontario the situation was reported as vastly improved, alarming blazes broke out in New Brunswick and 300 persons were homeless at Oliver Settlement, their quarters licked by flames of forest fires raging through Restigouche county.

The situation was held dangerous enough to warrant a government edict forbidding passage through the province's timberlands.

Backed by a near-gale wind, flames menaced huge timber resources in Cumberland county, Nova Scotia, with destruction of a seven-mile stretch of forest behind them. Damage of several thousand dollars was caused and the end not yet in sight. Here as in other parts of Canada, rain was badly needed.

Still Burns In Quebec

While heaven-sent rain in Quebec did much to alleviate the the fears of mining settlements and those of trappers and colonists and acted as a damper on blazes that threatened life and caused damages estimated at $200,000, the fresh outbreaks in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia and along the Ontario-Manitoba boundary revealed the scourge by no means wholly under control.

Severity of two blazes in Falconbridge and Moffatt townships, Ontario, was lessened due also to a long-anticipated rainfall. The fires are still raging, however, and hundreds of fire-fighters are working night and day. Over 10,000 acres of wooded land were burned in Moffatt township.

Along the Ontario - Manitoba boundary fires were reported to be raging in and about the Little Red Lake settlement. High winds at this point hampered the fire fighters but the latter were reported as able to prevent the fires from spreading.

With improvements noted in the situation in Abitibi and Temiskaming, 2500 government forest rangers in Quebec concentrated their efforts in more easterly sections notably Matane and Riviere Du Loup where several fires of smaller but none the less fierce category are in progress.

Numerous homes were destroyed in these districts and families evacuated threatened hamlets.

At Gaspe, and particularly in Chandler Township, fires were menacing as they were along the shores of Lake Temiscouata.

Fires On 15 Points.

In New Brunswick many fires broke out, and at one time in no less than 15 different places were being fought by an army of volunteer firemen. The most serious situation was in Northern Kedgwick district of Restigouche County, where three fires converged over a four-mile sector.

The homes of 16 settlers were destroyed in the new Alcida settlement in Gloucester County, N.B., with Queen's, Madawaska, York and Victoria Counties all reporting outbreaks also.

In the Rouyn district of Quebec, home of the Malrobic, Arntfield and Aldermac mines, the gravity of the situation had lessened considerably and Henri Kieffer, chief of the Quebec Forest Protection Service, said that none but fires now smouldering in Matane County, Riviere Du Loup and Gaspe were causing any anxiety.

Over 5,000 persons are estimated to have worked in fighting the fires in the affected areas throughout Canada.

Total deposits for 474 schools in the province were $1,397,796.31 at the end of April.

Cuba Rejoices as U.S. About To Cut Bonds

HAVANA, May 30 (A.P.).—Cuba's young republic, harassed for months by violence and dissention, rejoiced to-day that the Platt amendment is headed for the scrapheap.

A three-day celebration will be held when the United States Senate ratifies the new treaty which removes the shadow of American intervention.

For 33 years many Cubans have considered the amendment, written into the constitution when freedom was wrested from Spain with the aid of the United States, "a blot on our liberty."

Authorities hoped for a subsidence of anti-American outbreaks which have embarrased them of late. But while Cubans were happy, some members of the American colony expressed apprehension over effects of the step.

RUSSIAN IDEA REAL SURPRISE

Would Turn Disarmament Meet Into Permanent Peace Conference.

NO CONCRETE PLAN.

(By George Hambleton, C.P. Staff Writer.)

GENEVA, May 30 (C.P. Cable) —The Russian proposal to convert the Disarmament Conference into a permanent conference of peace has taken the delegates by surprise.

Over the breakfast tables and in quiet corners diplomats to-day were talking over its implications, as suggested before the Conference yesterday by Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet Foreign Commissar.

Surprise was expressed that on so important a proposal M. Litvinoff should content himself with a statement of a general idea rather vaguely expressed. Had he submitted a definite plan, it could have been referred to a special committee for detailed examination. But as the proposal stands there is no scheme to examine.

Litvinoff would have the Conference meeting regularly for prevention of war and furnishing aid to threatened nations. The Russian proposal provides no permanent organization, however, such as the Council of the League, or the secretariat of the permanent Disarmament Commission under the British Draft Convention.

Were a separate peace organization created, confusion with the League Council would be almost inevitable, it was argued.

Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary, was expected to speak at 3.30 this afternoon. The British, French, and Polish statements will be presented to-day, following the American and Russian yesterday.

As Mob Seized And Stripped Toledo Strikebreaker

This remarkable photo was snapped in the streets of Toledo, O., as striking workers of the Electric Auto-Lite company seized one of their number who they contended had remained on the job, stripped him of clothing, except for a necktie, and marched him through the streets. The man was rescued by a policeman. The action was one of the incidents of a day marked by clashes between guardsmen and strikers, in which many were injured when the troops several times charged the mob of strikers.

No Quarter Given As Rioters And Militia Clash In Toledo Strike Area

Top photo shows part of the crowd of 7,000 strikers and sympathizers at the Electric Auto-Lite company's plant in Toledo, O., running for cover after Ohio national guardsmen had tossed a barrage of tear gas bombs into the mob. Several were killed and many injured when the state militia tossed bombs and opened fire after the crowd had pelted them with bricks. Lower left shows a guardsman tossing a trick back into the mob of strikers and sympathizers; lower right, George Hubay, striker, shown just after he had been shot in the battle with the guardsmen. He later died of the bullet wounds and loss of blood.

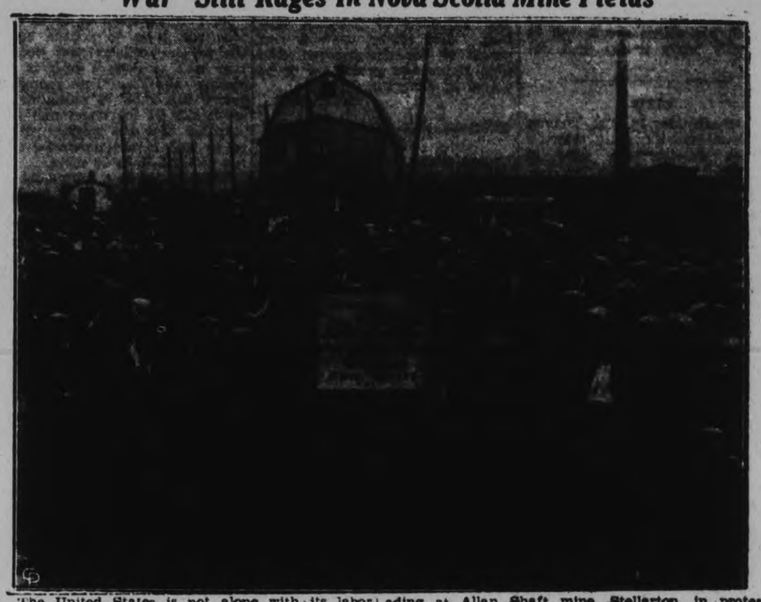
Winnipeg and R.C.M.P. police are mystified over the apparent kidnapping of three and a half-year-old Betty Wolfrum of Moosehorn, Manitoba, who disappeared from her home for 6 days and was later found in the woods in good physical condition. The child is reported to have said a man took her away. She was the subject of a province-wide search.

The selection of Ugaki as premier would prove very popular with the masses, it is believed.

"War" Still Rages In Nova Scotia Mine Fields



The United States is not alone with its labor troubles. In Nova Scotia, the long "war" between two factions of mine workers continues unabated. This photo from Stellarton, N.S., shows a part of a crowd of 600 Amalgamated Mine Workers' sympathisers parading at Allan Shaft mine, Stellarton, in protest against United Mine Workers' attempt to bar A.M.W. men from work. U.M.W. later in the day reversed policy after several days of A.M.W. picketing and exhortation. But the battle continues on all fronts.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

With modern equipments cleaning day is far from the kind it used to be. Today we go into a room with a vacuum cleaner and its various appliances and raising but the very slightest dust, we clean floors, chairs and draperies. With radiator brushes, and others suited to their various purposes, we get between metal parts of radiators, and in corners of rooms which are difficult to reach. Then there are specially treated dust cloths which gather instead of scatter dust. Without removing furniture from a room and without covering upholstery and ornaments we make the room spic and span.

* * * * * * *

All but the most youthful of homemakers will remember when cleaning day was an ordeal. Sweeping meant raising small or large clouds of dust according to the condition of a room. Whatever was the case, furniture and bed coverings were essential for articles not easily removed to another room or the hall, and which were lugged back after the dust had settled and been wiped away. Th immaculate house-wife had covers for pictures, so that they were protected during the cleaning process.

* * * * * * *

While there is no comparison in the efficiency of old-time and new-time methods there used to be more satisfaction in the feeling of the room after the former thorough cleaning than is apt to be experienced in the home after cleaning by the modern methods. This is by no means the fault of the method, nor the equipments. It is because since so little dust is raised, it is easy to slight the work.

* * * * * * *

As a matter of fact rooms respond to treatment. It is not enough to run the vacuum cleaner about the furniture. The articles need to be moved, and set back just as much as feathers in a pillow need to be shaken to be at their best. The ornaments may not have to be protected against dust, but they require dusting and repositioning to keep them from seeming to settle down into themselves. We speak about inanimate things but in the light of modern science this is questioned, as atoms and electric currents may exist and play about within seeming stable articles. It may do them actual good to be cared for and moved about as they seem to take on new vitality after cleaning and repositioning.

* * * * * * *

So it behooves the homemaker having all modern equipments to exercise the same sort of care in cleaning as previously, and to be appreciative of her equipments which simplifies the task so decidedly.

DOLORES IS SUN TANNING WITH MAKE-UP THIS YEAR

By GLADYS GLAD

The charming Dolores Del Rio whose creamy skin contrasts so beautifully with her dark eyes and dusky hair, is acquiring a number of those new "coolie" hats to use while at the beach this summer Dolores has decided to protect her face as much as possible from the sun's rays this season. And when she wishes to look healthily suntanned, she intends to use a suntan make-up.

Personally, I think that for some folks, that's a pretty good idea. As I told you the other day, there are some girls who just won't tan becomingly. They either acquire a crop of dark freckles, or become red and blistery when exposed to the sun.

Of course, when the fad for suntans first began a few years ago suntan cosmetics were pretty awful. They were more inclined to make a girl look jaundiced than healthily tanned. But since that time, there's been a vast improvement in make-up.

Suntan make-up really is a boon for the girl who desires to appear a golden-brown hue, yet who cannot acquire an attractive tan naturally However, moderation is most important in the application of such make-up. Don't try to make yourself look too dark, else the artificiality of your tan will become immediately apparent. At present there are three forms of suntan make-up—the liquid, the powder and the cream And you'll have to experiment to discover which appears most natural and becoming on your own particular skin.

In applying a suntan make-up

Dolores Del Rio

the first thing is to cleanse your face well. Then apply a suntan powder base of as dark a hue as you wish your skin to appear. Over this pat a layer of a light-toned powder to absorb any moisture, so that when you apply your suntan powder it will not gather in brown spots.

Next, blend a bit of rouge—reddish with orangey tones, on each cheek, like the natural flush on a sun-tanned face, and tint your lips with lipstick of a harmonious hue After this, apply your suntan powder, and smooth it evenly over your face so that it doesn't seem blotchy or darker in spots. A bit of brown eye-shadow on each lid, a bit of brown mascara on the lashes and presto;—you're suntanned.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

The question of the advisability of giving roughage to help elimination has been hotly debated during the last few years. When roughage in the form of bran or other fibrousy vegetables, or in the more artificial form of agaragar, mineral oil or psyllium seed—when the idea of the value of these materials first became known, there was nothing but praise for them. Then there came some mildly expressed doubts as to whether they did any good or not. Agar-agar, for instance, was reinforced by active cathartics like cascara, and phenolphthalein, in order to make it effective. Finally reports came out from clinics and physicians specializing in stomach and intestinal work, that the use of roughage was actually harmful that they had seen many patient who had so irritated their intestinal surfaces with continued onslaughts of roughage that they were sicker from the treatment than from the disease.

This was not allowed to go without some objection, and the repercussion showed that bran, etc., was not as bad as the indictment read.

The truth probably lies somewhere between the two extreme points of view. The type of person who uses roughage must be considered. People with naturally sensitive intestines, who feel that they must have one or two evacuations a day, are liable to make themselves extremely uncomfortable. Too much dosage and regular daily dosing is always bad—and is a very distinct danger when anyone starts in the habit of self-dosing, regulating the amount and time by their own judgment. Certainly the more you have of these substances, the more you feel you need.

But that roughage has real value in more ways than one is undoubted and has been well shown in a recent study on the use of regenerated cellulose. Regenerated cellulose is as nearly pure cellulose as can be obtained, is free of calcium, phosphorus and nitrogen, and looks something like chopped up cellophane. Being treated to remove all chemicals but the fibre, its action is due purely to its bulk.

Measured amounts of this substance were found to be definitely laxative, increased the weight, water content and number of the evacuations. Another result was that there was an increase in the loss of nitrogen, calcium, phosphorus and other minerals from the body, so that the wisdom of giving a high roughage diet to children is questionable.

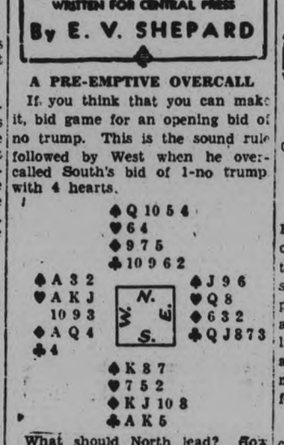
A PRE-EMPTIVE OVERCALL

If you think that you can make it, bid game for an opening bid of no trump. This is the sound rule followed by West when he overcalled South's bid of 1-no trump with 4 hearts.



What should North lead? How many tricks can West win against the best opposing play?

The best rule for making an opening lead, when partner has made an opening bid of no trump, is to lead your longest and strongest suit, regardless of its tops. North's club sequence doubtless makes the best opening lead, with the Q of spades as possible re-entry to again lead clubs, is desirable. North led his fourth-best club, when he should have led the supporting 10, as his partner had bid no trumps. Dummy's 7 forced South's K of clubs South led back a heart. Declarer's 3 was overtaken with dummy's 8, and the Q of clubs forced South's ace. West ruffed. Dummy's Q of hearts allowed East to enter. The J of clubs was led. The declarer discarded his lowest diamond. A diamond was led. The Q won on a finesse. Trumps were pulled. The deefnders had won a single club trick. At the end West had to surrender 2 spade tricks, but he went game. This was due to the bad opening lead.

Another opening lead which would have allowed West to go game is the fourth best spade, provided dummy's 9 is finessed ,as that will force South to play his K, and declarer's ace will win. Dummy may be entered with a heart, and a diamond led from dummy will give the declarer 2 tricks in that suit. Having pulled trumps, the declarer can win another spade trick, by allowing North to win with his Q. The next spade lead will belong to dummy. The fourth-best spade lead will cause the declarer to lose a single trick in each of 3 suits—spades, diamonds and clubs.

While they cannot be commended as good in general, either an opening lead of a heart or a diamond will prevent West from going game. The best opening lead is the 10 of clubs—which will prevent game. The only 2 opening leads assuring game to West are the fourth-best card of either spades or clubs. Despite their popularity fourth-best leads are very poor openings.

Today's Recipes

Macaroni With Liver, Tomatoes—Boil one pound of macaroni with one teaspoon salt. Drain and add two cups canned tomatoes and one small onion chopped fine. Put one pound pork liver into boiling water and boil three minutes. Remove liver and grind. Add to tomatoes and macaroni and cook or bake 15 minutes. Serves three children and four adults.

Vegetable Salad—One cup raw carrots, one cup raw cauliflower, one teaspoon onion, salad dressing, lettuce. Grate carrots, shred cauliflower quite fine, put enough onion through the food grinder for the amount required. Mix all well together, add enough well-seasoned salad dressing to hold together. Arrange on beds of crisp lettuce, sprinkle with paprika.

Chocolate Cup Cakes—Two cups cake flour, one teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half cup butter, two cups brown sugar, two eggs, unbeaten; four squares bitter chocolate, melted; one and one-fourth cups sweet milk, one teaspoon vanilla. Sift flour, measure and sift several times with soda and salt. Cream butter, add sugar slowly, creaming the while. Beat until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each one is added. Add melted chocolate, blending it in well. Add flour mixture and milk alternately, beating after each addition. Add vanilla and turn into greased pans. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees Fahrenheit. Frost with a seven-minute frosting flavored with a few drops of oil of peppermint, and colored a delicate pink. FACTS AND FANCIES

Scissors Help

Scissors are an important accessory to the home, and each home should boast of several pairs. The kitchen alone might boast two pair; one for cutting fruits, nuts, vegetables, etc., and another for general household clipping, cutting string, etc.

The sewing room will, of course, have its one or two pair of long dressmaking scissors, and be sure to supply the guest room with a sewing basket containing various colored threads, needles, thimbles and scissors.

Softer Butter

When butter is too hard for satisfactory spreading, turn a heated bowl over the butter dish for a few minutes.

VOTE TO STRIKE

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 30, (AP) Firemen and linemen of dredging tugs voted last night to strike Friday morning unless their demand for a return to the 1929 wage scale is met by the Dredge Owners' Association.

The strike vote was taken despite Owen J. Kavanaugh, grand president of their organization, requesting the men not to act until he returns from Cleveland where he is taking part in a conference with the Great Lakes Towing Company officials and tugmen regarding the strike of the latter.

LYCEUM CLUB HAD GOOD YEAR REPORTS SHOW

Eleven Regular Studio Meetings Were Held During Season.

ART CONTEST.

Interesting reports of the past year's endeavors were presented at the thirtieth annual meeting of the Lyceum Club and Women's Art Association, held at the Conservatory of Music on Monday afternoon.

The report of the Nominating committee, as presented by the convenor, Mrs. R. J. Kidd, was as follows: Mrs. T. A. S. Hay and Miss F. Hatton, honorary presidents; Mrs. W. Blackwell, president; Mrs. C. M. Scott, first vice president; Mrs. T. Cruikshank, second vice president; Mrs. R. J. Kidd, third vice president; Miss T. Mathers, recording secretary; Miss Laura Belleghem, corresponding secretary; Miss Mary Stratton, press secretary; Madam Masson, treasurer; Mrs. H. W. Morphet, assistant treasurer; Miss Leone Walsh, archivist;; members of program committee: Mrs. D. R. Howat, Mrs. R. F. Downey and Miss A. Goring; Exhibition committee: Mrs. F. E. Hooper; Social committee, Mrs. H. E. Connelly and Mrs. B. V. Moore.

The annual report by the secretary, Miss Mathers, showed a balance of $69.70 remaining after expenses of the year had been paid.

"Notwithstanding the continued depression," said the report, "the Peterborough branch of the Lyceum Club and Women's Art Association of Canada has maintained the former high level in its programs and in the interest shown by the members."

At the eleven regular studio meetings held during the season, a varied program was presented. The exhibitions were of figurines, barbola, painted tiles and table decorations. The addresses included one on Hungarian Art, by Nicolas Hornyansky, with an exhibition of the artist's etchings; on "The Art of Poetry," by the Rev. Dean O'Sullivan; on the Vimy Ridge War Memorial, by Mrs. John Garvin; on "Drama in Canada," by Captain R. W. G. Card; on Interior Decoration, by Pieter C. Jan Heck, N.A.A.; on Pewter, Wood Carving and Batiks, by Rudy Renzius; on "English Humor," by Professor H. J. Davis; on "Art and the Prairie," by A. R. Piper, on "The Romance of the Tea Caddy," by Mrs. J. E. R. Munro, with an exhibition of fancy boxes. There was also an exhibition and sale of work by the Guild of Arts and Crafts.

Art Contest

Small prizes were presented in the second year of the Art contest sponsored by the Association and participated in by fourth-class pupils of the Public and Separate Schools of the city.

The society had five affiliated clubs; Art Study, Guild of Arts and Crafts, Literary Study, Causerie Francaise and Music Club.

The Art Study Club took up Van Dyke's book, "Art for Art's Sake." The Guild of Arts and Crafts studied Design in its many phases. The Literart Study Club considered Women Authors, old and modern, also current events, closing the year with a dinner open to the whole association and a program of scenes from "Cranford." The Causerie Francaise continued its French Conversation classes on one afternoon each week. Although the Music Club found progress difficult this year, they assisted by providing musical numbers at each studio meeting of the Art Association.

Mrs. C. S. Thompson reported for the Guild of Arts and Crafts; Mrs. F. E. Hooper for the Exhibition committee; Madam Goulet for the Causerie Francaise.

During the report of the Nominating committee, Mrs. Hooper took the chair. Later, Mrs. Blackwell thanked the ladies for re-electing her as president and spoke of her enjoyment of the work of the Association.

Many complimentary references were made to the valuable assistance given the society by Mrs. R. Gliddon, who, as convenor of the Program committee, has for the past thirty years, since the inception here of the W.A.A., been preparing the programs of studio meetings which have added so much to the interest and prestige of the organization. A vote of thanks was moved to Mrs. Gliddon by Mrs. G. E. Porter, and the members united in declaring that the one responsible for such successful programs could hardly be thanked sufficiently.

At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Gliddon surprised the members by entertaining them at a pleasant social hour, when tea was served.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

THORNCLIFFE PARK as usual is attracting large crowds and having a real successful meeting and as we told you last week the prices are away above Woodbine. A peculiar incident occurred on Monday when not a single ticket was sold on Sparky, the winner of the third race and last half of the daily double. This meant that those holding double ducats on Protractor who finished second in the heat cashed in . . . We are looking for Wacket to earn a set of brackets real soon. This one is fast rounding into shape and from now on will be a dangerous factor every time he faces the barrier.

A big feature of the Thorncliffe meeting is Buck Dryden's description of each race during the running over the loud speakers on the grounds. He keeps everybody informed as to the position of each horse at all times, and this is making a big hit with the patrons, as on a large track not one out of a hundred can tell a thing about a race until the nags near the finishing line . . . Spey Crest finished a rapid going third on Monday and on his next trip postward should see him in the winner's circle.

THE FAMOUS Equipoise is expected to be seen under silks again in the near future. It is to be hoped that he meets with better racing luck than in his last start when he won the Metropolitan stakes only to be later disqualified because his jockey did not steer him straight in the stretch. It is our opinion that before the 1934 season is over, that Eky will have passed Sun Beau's money winning record and go on and establish a mark that they will still be shooting at fifty years hence. He is easily the best horse in training today in America and it is doubtful if any in Europe are capable of his measure.

Here and there—Over at Detroit, Lloyd Gentry has Dark Mission all pepped up. This one is better than an ordinary plater and will hold his own with any of them. In the same barn is Lady Heckberger, a familiar figure on our Canadian tracks will also pop from the clouds when least expected. And at Thorncliffe. Reflecting from the stable of George Foley is due to pop down in front any day now.

Jim Badame, the well known owner of Khorasan, has a three-year-old in his barn that he acquired down south which he rates very high. The name is Muckledo and the date is not far distant when he will make them all sit up and take notice . . . Musing is another that should grab a heat before the week is over and the same also goes for Butter Beans who is right in proverbial pink. Over at Detroit is our old friend Salisbury and the wise ones tell us he is a sure thing. This grey coated half-brother of Springsteel can sure turn on the power when necessary and at the same track is Fort Dearborn just waiting for the proper spot.

THIRD PLACE 2 GAMES AWAY FOR MONTREAL

Losg Distance Hitting Counts as Toronto Goes Down to Fnal Defeat.

BISONS ONE UP.

Herd Pounds Rochester Pitching Hard for 18 Hits and 10 to 1 Victory.

(By The Associated Press)

Their new-found batting power rapidly is carrying Montreal Royals in the general direction of third place in the International League, much to dismay of their Canadian rivals, Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Royals have averaged better than 14 hits per game in their last seven contests of which they have won five and to-day was only two games away.

Charley Lucas and Earl Cook felt the sting in Montreal's bats yesterday and the Royals plastered a 15-8 defeat on third place Toronto. The Leafs likewise collected 16 safeties off Ray Fritz and Clarence Fisher but doubles by Murray Howell and Jack Crough were the only extra base hits in their collection. Montreal's string, on the other hand included doubles by Ripple, King, Sankey and Roettger, a triple by Thompson and home runs by King and Walker. Against that long distance pounding, Toronto had no chance after the Royals had taken the lead in the fifth inning.

Pound Liska For Win

Meanwhile Buffalo Bisons made it two out of three from Rochester's pace-setting Redwings, pounding Ad Liska. Dykes Potter and Virgil Brown for 18 hits and an easy 10-1 victory. Gregory Mulleavy, Frank McGowan and Ollie Tucker each contributed three hits to the Bisons' attack. Ken Ash blanked the Redwings until the ninth when Rochester scored its lone run on two hits and a pass. He allowed ony seven hits all told.

Senators Win Slug Fest

Albany and Syracuse engaged in 18-11. Albany grabbed 23 hits all 1811. Albany grabbed 23 hits all told of which Fred Sington kicked in with five, including two doubles and a home run. Bill Brubaker hit safely four times in as many chances and every other man in the lineup, aside from the pitchers, got at least one hit. Syracuse collected 14 hits, bunching many of them in the fourth and sixth frames when nine of the Chiefs' 11 runs were scored.

Newark and Baltimore had an off day.

100,000 Spectators Likely Witness Auto Speed Classic At Indianapolis

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

INDIANAPOLIS, May 30. — (AP). Upwards of 100,000 spectators began streaming into the Indianapolis motor speedway to-day to witness the start of the 22nd annual 500-mile automobile race with 33 drivers competing for prizes totalling $100,000.

The race, regarded as the United States greatest sports spectacle was scheduled to get under way at 10 o'clock (Central Standard Time).

Kelly Petillo of Los Angeles, who qualified at 119.329 miles an hour drew the pole position because of his achievement in making the highest speed in the trials. Along with him in the first row will be Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis, who finished second in the 1933 race, and Frank Brisko of Milwaukee. In winning the coveted number one position Petillo broke four track records. He made one turn of the 2½ mile brick oval at more than 122 miles an hour.

Maudsley Connects for Two Doubles Out of Four for Foster Camp.

C.G.E. opened the E.P.L. schedule at the Exhibition Grounds last night by slaughtering Fosters to the tune of 23 to 6 in a game that was called at the start of the seventh because of darkness. It was a poor exhibition of baseball to usher in the schedule, both sides booting the ball around, but Fosters being the chief offender. The Electrics hit hard and often and took advantage of the frequent misplays to pile up the total, while two of their three hurlers pitched fine ball.

The C.G.E. crew set to work early and ran in three on a walk, error, three stolen bases and Mowry's single. Seven more trotted across in the second and brought about Joe Bailey's replacement by Scotty Maudsley on the Foster mound. There were two misplays, a wild pitch, two walks, singles by Hatton, Corbett and Hetherington and Corbett's triple figuring in this batch of markers. Another five counted in the third on a walk, three miscues and hits by Young, Huggins, Weir and Hatton. Young singled in the fourth, took second on an error and scored on another boot. They were blanked in the fifth but got seven more in the sixth on two errors, three walks, five steals, singles by Weir and Saunders and two-baggers by Young and Corbett. Fosters got their sixth off Field in the third, an error, two walks, singles by Smith, Clark and

Trouble On Mound

C.G.E. pitchers each went two innings, Field running into trouble all through the third. Hetherington pitched good ball to give no hits and fan two; and McGillen gave but one hit and fanned four, three in a row in the fifth. Joe Bailey proved no mystery to C.G.E. and left in the second with the score 10-0 for C. G. E. He was the losing pitcher. Maudsley went fair a couple of frames but was hit hard the other two.

Young and Hatton had three hits each in three times, while Corbett hit a triple, double and single in five. Weir got two clouts. For Fosters, Maudsley was the main sticker, knocking two doubles in four. Mowry was the only Foster player to show any defensive strength, while none of the C.G.E. infielders or outfielders had much to do.

Now that the first bowling competition is over, everybody is turning to the schedule, beginning to-night.

After last night's games were over it was found that Benny Chesler's hired help were just 6 shots up on J. T. Beamd. This entitles Benny to hold the cup for one year and with it also goes the honor of having won the first main event of the season.

The total scores was: President 277, Vice-President 283.

Now to night the schedule gets under way and it is to be hoped that the skips themselves will set a good example by being out on time and seeing that their rink is also on the job.

An ddon't forget that this Friday night will also be the beginning of those popular weekend tournaments.

PEPPER-CLIFT SCORE 8 RUNS ST. LOUIS WIN

Browns Slam Out 12-7 Victory Over Tigers to Regain .500 Place in Standings.

INDIANS INCREASE LEAD.

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

A good crop of rookies can be an asset to the best baseball team and the success of a couple of St. Louis Browns' newcomers, Raymond Watson Pepper and Harland Benton Clift, is one good reason why Rogers Hornsby's club is up at the head of the American League's second division and threatening daily to go higher instead of bobbing along, as expected, near the bottom.

Neither was a .300 hitter in the minor leagues last year Pepper batting .295 with Rochester and Clift .273 with San Antonio, but both have been well above that level against American League pitching so far as the 1934 season has gone.

Between them, this pair of recruits accounted for eight runs yesterday as the Browns slammed out a 12-7 decision over Detroit Tigers yesterday to retain their .500 place in the standings. Pepper had a perfect day at the plate, hitting his fourth and fifth homers of the season and three singles to knock in three runs.

Seven other hits added to this collection brought a decisive victory although the Tigers joined in the swatting to the extent of 11 blows, including homers by Charley Gehringer, Goose Goslin and Gerald Walker.

Indians Increase Lead

The other American League contests were marked by nifty pitching as Cleveland increased its lead over the idle Yankees by shutting out Chicago 5-0 and Boston broke a sixth place tie with Philadelphia by taking a 2-1 decision over the Athletics in a game shortened to seven innings by rain. Mel Harder blanked the pale hose with five blows for his first victory of the season while Johnny Welch held the A's to two—a homer by Bob Johnson and a single by Lou Finney. A pair of Boston circuit swats by Dick Porter and Ferrell were wiped out when proceedings were halted in the eighth.

GIANTS, POINT BEHIND PIRATES

Terry Clan Registers Important 4-3 Victory Over Brooklyn Neighbors.

FOUR CLUBS IDLE.

(By Canadian Press).

The idleness of the four western clubs enabled New York Giants to register an important gain in the National League as they defeated their Brooklyn neighbors 4-3. The triumph left them only one percentage point behind Pittsburgh. Piling on Ray Benge for five hits and three runs in the second, the Giants looked to have an easy victory until a drizzle dampened the ball and Fred Fitzsimmons was unable to throw his knucklers in the seventh.

Then the Dodgers got three runs back before Dolfo Luque halted them.

The other National League contest saw Boston Braves down the Phillies 6-4 with the aid of a four-run outburst started by Pinky Whitney's homer in the seventh and some snappy fielding that kept Frankhouse out of trouble. The hurler started the best feat himself when he nailed Irvine Jeffries' liner in the second and started a triple play with Buck Jordan and Bill Urbanski.

Crary's Catch Nips C.G.E. Late Comeback

Capped by a hair-raising catch on the part of W. Crary in the ninth inning, Johnston's Tire defeated C.G.E., 8-6, in a close men's softball battle at Central last night. Going into the ninth trailing by two runs, C.G.E. got runners on second and third with two out. Then, Freddy Jones stepped up and lined one over short for what looked to be a sure double, but Crary leaped high in the air to spear it with one hand and end the rally.

Don Massey started on the Tiremen's mound but was continually in hot weather through streaks of wildness and was finally removed in favor of Price in the eighth. He had walked nine and fanned five. Martin on the other slab was hit hard the first two frames but settled down then and pitched good ball. Both teams' defensive work was good, only two errors being chalked up. Long Tom Montgomery, with three out of four, led the winners in hitting, while Creighton had two for three one a triple. Miller was the only C.G.E. clouter to hit more than one safety.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse, Soccer Softball, Bowling, etc.

By C. J. P.

There were no box-cars down around the Exhibition Grounds last night, but the boys had a swell big box-car number all ready in case they found one. It was the 23-6 score that C.G.E. shoved down the throats of Fosters. They opened the E.P.L. baseball season and 'twas very wide open indeed. In fact, there were more openings in both infields than the local unemployed could fill. Now, 23 runs against 6 is quite a sizeable score for any semi-respectable nine-inning game, but when you run up a count like that in six frames—well, who says cricket is a slow game!

• • • • • • •

Fosters' pitching was certainly ineffective and the whole team fell down badly, too. They didn't have the full squad they expect out next game on hand, and some of those booting the ball around will have to be shifted. Then, when the score mounted too rapidly, they didn't bother tossing in all their twirlers, but kept 'em for another time. They have a couple of other good ones in Dinesen and Detlor, besides Ralph Clark, who didn't go so hot in the field. A real shakeup is necessary for this team against the opposition they'll meet.

• • • • • • •

C.G.E. looks promising, both in pitching and hitting. They can stand improvement in fielding, though. Of the three twirlers used, Lefty Field was the only one not going right—and he'll win his share of games this summer. Hetherington looked okay, and Clair McGillen—who was catching in the City League last time we saw him play ball—stepped in and fanned four in two innings and gave but one hit, his fast ball being as surprising to the batters as the fact that he was out there at all was to us. The big righthander may make a good hurler yet. Joe Bailey of Fosters will cop victories, too, before the schedule is over. He just got off to a bad start. And Scotty Maudsley would ordinarily go better in a relief role.

• • • • • • •

But that man-sized walloping by the Electrics is enough to discourage any flinger. They got fifteen safe bingles three of them of the extra-base type. Manager Doug Hatton showed he can still hit with three for three, the same as Young who also had a double. Big Jerry Corbett smeared the spalding for a triple, double and single. Yeah, this team is liable to make its opponents whistle "Stormy Weather"—and experience it—before the bunting is passed out!

• • • • • • •

When Walter Crary rocketed high into the air and frose one mitt onto the big ball in the ninth canto last eve at Central, C.G.E. had to admit they were licked. It was the best men's softball game of the year and Johnston's Tires nosed out an 8-6 verdict. Suspense in the ninth was heavier than the soft soap given away by politicians, and both teams deserved a win the way they played softball. Massey went good, except for wildness, for the Deck lads but Price finished for them. The entire C.G.E. pitching staff of Fred Martin settled down after two bad innings, and tossed a beautiful game. The fielding was of the best and even the fans who were looking the other way when the money-box passed had no fault to find.

Some of the Men's City Softball League and the Southend League officers got together last night and talked over their recent dispute. Sam Fox of Brantford, oldtime member of the O.A.S.A. was present and helped clear up the tangle by showing how similar disputes had been smoothed over in Western Ontario. When the Southend Loop officers realized that the City League wasn't trying to put anything over on them, they agreed to place eight or ten chosen Southend League players on a "selected list", which would entitle these players to take part in games in borth circuits—making them available therefore to play in the City League, too. The time-limit tentatively named was July 10th. Of course, the matter has to be approved by the S.E.L. executive yet, but it looks like a satisfactory arrangement for all concerned.

A couple of our office girls have decided to become golfers, and are now taking lessons in the ancient and royal game. We have never had the time, nor indeed much inclination, to join the plus-four brigade, but nevertheless asked the lasses all about it just in case. "How long," we queried, "do you think it will take you to master this game?" One replied promptly, "Oh, we might be good in ten years." Whereas the other maiden modestly stated, "Well, a couple more lessons and I should have a good idea of it." There is obviously quite a spread there, and naturally their answers weren't very helpful. A little further conversation indicated that they regarded the importance of their lessons in this order: (1) attire to be worn, (2) learning the names of the clubs, (3) listening to the pro, and (4) practising what he tells them and what they read in those golf-instruction articles that run endlessly in papers.

• • • • • • •

However, the damsels were agreed upon one thing. Asked just what they regarded as most important to good golf, they said as one person, "You must relax," and no amount of cross-examining would shake 'em. It seems you must relax to be a good golfer. If that is so, we should someday put Bobby Jones to shame, as we have been an All-America relaxer for lo, these many years. And the next time you hear of an irate golfer breaking his sticks and tossing 'em into the rough or cuffing the caddie's ears, you can put it down that he forgot the first law of nature—he failed to relax.

Picking 'em off the grapevine: King Edward baseball bantams workout at six Thursday at King Edward School, and all players are welcome . . . . In their school game the previous eve, the K.E. boys took a 20-8 nod over Prince of Wales; standing appears elsewhere today . . . . Jerry Corbett of C.G.E. in the E.P.L. game last p.m. got two hits in one inning, a single and triple in the second . . . . Abbie Rose has been signed by the Petes, and Pat Calladine was catching for them in batting practise last night . . . . Several local lacrosse officers will attend the organization meeting in Cobourg at 8.30 Daylight Saving Time Friday . . . . No men's softball game this e'en but Johnston's Tires play Brintons tomorrow.

GEORGE STREET DROPS FIRST IN FIVE STARTS

It was 11-9 for St. James Bantams over George Street in a Church League softball fixture last night, George Street losing their first in five starts in a classy contest. It was 6-4 for the Saints going into the last and then George Street apparently won the game with five runs, but they came back strong to get five more. The Saints pulled off a smart two-ply killing in the third. J. Stewart, Hoy, Leether and Lawson led the batters. The teams:

BARNEY ROSS HAS DESIGNS VINCE DUNDEE

Double Champion Ready to Meet McLarnin in Return Bout Next Fall.

AFTER MORE GAME.

NEW YORK, May 30 (AP)—Barney Ross is wondering whether the middleweight championship couldn't be added to his list of titles.

The young Chicagoan, lightweight title-holder for the past year, set one ring precedent when he outpointed Jimmy McLarnin on Monday night and captured the Vancouver Irishman's welterweight crown. The next bigger game would be Vince Dundee, ruler of the 160-pound class.

"I think Dundee would be easier than McLarnin was," Ross says. "If the fans would like to see me fight him, I'm ready. Wouldn't that be something — lightweight, welterweight and middleweight champion?"

It sounded impossible to most of the experts. There would be many stumbling blocks to overcome. It is open to considerable question, for instance, whether any State Boxing Commission would sanction a match between two men showing such disparity in weight.

But Ross' managers might be persuaded to toy with the idea.

Although preliminary negotiations already have been started toward a return bout between Ross and McLarnin, they havent' got very far yet. Ross apparently is willing to give the Irishman a chance to regain the welterweight championship, but McLarnin was too heartbroken over his defeat to want to talk fight. There have been indications he might hang up his gloves for good, but the concensus was he would forget all about that once the bitter disappointment engendered by his defeat passes away.

SEYMOUR LOOP RE-ORGANIZED

Barney Eagleson and Irvin Russell on 1934 Softball Directorate.

SCHEDULE NOT RELEASED.

BURNBRAE, May 30 (Examiner Correspondence).—"Barney" Eagleson, popular pitcher of the Menie softball team, was elected president of the Seymour Township League at Saturday evening's reorganization, and Irvin Russell, of the West Seymour aggregation will act as secretary-treasurer.

With the infusion of new blood into the directorate of the league and a good deal of enthusiasm shown in the game, a record season is expected. The complete schedule cannot be announced at present until Hoard's team makes a definite entry. This outfit formerly played in the Rawdon League, but have dropped out this year, and their entry into the Seymour circuit would make for a well-balanced four-team league.

Petherick's, last year's winners, open the season at the Campbellford grounds on Saturday evening, June 2nd, opposing the fast West Seymour aggregation, last year's runners-up.

Manager Chadwick of the Westerners promises a winning outfit this year, while the Petherick's management will rely on last year's line-up with the addition of Harry Ewing, formerly of Dartford. The latter will take a turn in the box as required, and a regular position in the infield.

The Menie squad will field much the same line-up as formerly, while Hoard's will present many new faces to the league, with a combination of veterans and youngsters. Their inclusion in the league may see "Ab" Jones, classy outfielder, back in the game. Hume, veteran first-sacked, with Hoard and Smith as pitchers. Jeffs, their regular catcher, is counted one of the best softball players in either Rawdon or Seymour Leagues, and would be an asset to any team.

All Saints' Clinch Berth In Play-offs

All Saints practically cinched a berth in the bantam Church League playoffs last night by knocking off Knox, 31 to 8. The losers fell down in the field and only Dick and Gauntlett hit well. McDougall, Abraham, R. Ackford and Csumerick poured the pine in hearty style for the victors. The teams:

All Saints: McDougall p, cf, Hotrum 3b, p, L. Ackford lf, Tillcock 2b, Abraham c, Morley 1b, P. Ackford ss, Boddison rf, Csumrick cf, 3b.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES

By ALEX. J. MORRISON

Too many caddies have the habit of swinging a player's clubs. Some players don't seem to mind this, in fact they encourage it. It's wrong to allow it.

At most courses caddies are given ample time to play. I've yet to see a caddy who swings clubs do a good job at carrying. And they very often hit the ground or rocks with your clubs, in some way damaging them.

Naturally, they won't call your attention to the damaged club.

Help the boy do his work properly and prolong the life of your clubs by telling him at the first tee to leave your clubs in the bag until you call for them.

When the Jew Beat the Fighting Irishman

Barney Ross of Chicago was just too much for Jimmy McLarnin in their welterweight championship fight in New York, and Jimmy had his welterweight crown knocked from his classic brow by the boy from the Windy City. Here Barney is seen in the crouching position that kept Jimmy guessing all evening, and that enabled Barney to put over his own left almost at will, and with telling effect. The bout went 15 rounds, and Barney took the split decision.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

READ THIS FIRST:

John Tait, stepson of wealthy Lady Tait, is engaged to marry Lucy Burnham, a widow. This is resented by Alysia Naylor, John's cousin who has been making her home with her sister Etta, and her brother, Claud, at Tait's abode in England. Alysia tries to spoil the romance by using her own fiance, Reggie Claridge, to win Mrs. Burnham's affections. Lady Tait sees her stepson talking to a beautiful young girl, whom she dislikes at once, in a hote lobby at Vichy where she and her new friend, Mrs. Burnham, are stopping. The girl, revealed as Gillian Dundas who has been blackmailing Tait through a past indiscretion, talks of Tait to a strange-looking young man in another hotel. Meanwhile Claridge arrives from England, introduces himself to Lady Tait and is immediately taken by Miss Dundas' beauty. The hotel manager arranges a sitting with a Moroccan sorcerer for Lady Tait. John Tait, Mrs. Burnham, Claridge, Claud Naylor, Miss Dundas and a Mrs. de Souza who employs Gillian as a companion. Suddenly the Arab vanishes. Claridge writes Alysia that he has failed in his quest to separate her Cousin John and Lucy Burnham. Claud Naylor and some of the others return to London from Vichy.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 10

But Claud was not in bed. He was walking briskly towards a one-man picture show in Bond street. Claud was not particularly fond of painting but as a rising young barrister he considered that it behooved him to know something about everything that was on in town, and he was lunching with one of the show's patrons. He was thinking, as he walked, of the flat which he would take in the Temple, if he could get one that suited him and his purse. If only his aunt would make him an allowance one-tenth as generous as she made her stepson. True, the bulk of her money had belonged to her late husband. Naylor wondered how John liked being under her thumb to such an extent, having to take an allowance, for instance, when usually the money would have been his and the allowance would have been Lady Tait's. His stepmother had been generous. But for that John could not have taken the post of unpaid private secretary to Lord Parkington, and that selflessness was now about to be rewarded by the consul generalship of Rangura. One of those consular appointments which are diplomatic, and are only given the lesser title to avoid offending the vanity of some neighboring state. And events were shaping Rangura into a milestone on the road to the embassy of Paris.

Yes, it had paid John well to keep in with his stepmother, Claud reflected. A most promising future was vaguely outlining itself, and as a wedding present a sum of £30,000 was to be paid into his banking account. The necessary papers were to be signed at the wedding breakfast. Thirty thousand pounds . . . a very pleasant outlook for John. Yet John had had to pay for the gift. He used to like a good time on the quiet as much as any man, and Aunt Norah, well, Aunt Norah's idea of a good time would have seemed dull even on board the Ark. Five years ago there had been a dreadful rumpus between the two. She had threatened to cut down John's allowance. And she was the kind to have done it too. Claud had thrown himself into the breach. He and John had always been pals, and things had been glossed over, and soothed out, and tucked neatly away, and John had had the lesson of his life, at any rate as to handing over the wrong letter to be read. And doubtless as to the folly of folly. Lady Tait had told Claud only last week that John had never given her a second's worry since. Which was just as well, seeing that she had assured John that if ever anything of that kind happened again, his allowance would be halved. A most unfair threat, Claud considered, seeing that his cousin had never had a chance to be self-supporting, and seeing that it was his father's money.

Aunt Norah—John—it was but a step to Gillian Dundas, or had she been in his mind all along? Claud told himself that it was not fair. He had definitely parted from Miss Dundas "over there" and here she was walking down Bond street with him, thrusting herself into his mind again.

At this point, Claud pushed open the door of the show with such violence that he almost flattened out the commissionaire, who looked surprised. As a rule, smartly turned out young men did not burst in to see the paintings with such an air of determination.

Claud soothed his feelings, took a catalog, and walked on. He spent an informative half hour memorising pictures which would probably have the most success, then he turned to go. But he saw Lady Ida Westmacott also looking at some of the paintings. Poor Lady Ida, she must be feeling her nose most awfully out of joint. And it was such an imperious high-bridged nose, too. It would have been a splendid match for her. Obviously. Poor as a church mouse. Married to a man who had died after losing all his money. Nothing but a brother-in-law's generosity to depend on until her son should some day inherit from him. And she must be . . . Claud did some ungallant arithmetic. Close on 40. Well, Mrs. Burnham was as old as that. But the difference! Where Lady Ida was coldly handsome, Mrs Burnham looked both kind and gentle. Gentle. . . . Claud lingered on the word.

He too, meant to marry that kind. Good family, of course, plenty of money of course, but gentle too. Gentleness, he reflected, with one of those streaks of acumen which made him a rising young man, was the one thing in a woman that never let you down.

Lady Ida was not gentle. The blue of her eyes told you that. The cut of her cheek bones. She was clever, very, intellectual and witty, but a first-class fighter had been lost when Lady Ida was born a girl. And she was reputed to have the determination of a mule. Certainly if that quality could do it, her son would be prime minister in time.

Yet, with all her determination, she had lost her hold on John. Claud had been puzzled by his cousin's relinquishing of the lady who so plainly cared for him and for whom he had appeared to have a genuine attachment. Three years ago or a little less, their engagement was as good as announced, then John had cooled off steadily . . . unmistakably.

Turning suddenly, Lady Ida caught sight of Claud and came forward. As always, she was beautifully turned out. Her fine eyes were bright as polished agates.

"Back already? I thought Lady Tait was keeping you to draft her last will and testament in Vichy?"

He replied on the same bantering note, and they discussed the accident.

"And so you've had the chance of getting to know John's fiancee," she said finally. "I hear she is quite charming."

Claud murmured an assent. "And he's certainly devoted to her judging from the letter he wrote me," she went on. "I'm so glad. For really poor John is one of those men that some woman or other would marry out of pity and that is a pity, isn't it?" She flashed a brilliant smile at him. "By the way, how do your sisters feel about this marriage of John's?"

"Charmed, I suppose," he said indifferently, stopping before another picture. "That's rather good!"

"Not bad," she agreed without a glance. "But do tell me what Etta says about this engagement."

"Etta?" Naylor looked at her coldly. "Of all the infernal cheek," was his unspoken thought. But then, Lady Ida had the cheek of the devil. "She's delighted," he said. "That's a nice bit of color," and apparently lost in artistic appreciation he drifted away, turned a corner and passed into another room. Ida Westmacott had a sharp tongue, and a sharp tongue in this world invariably cuts its owner's throat, besides gashing other people.

BREWERY HEADS ARE SKEPTICAL OF 5-CENT BEER

Point Out Reduction in Tax Very Small When Spread Over Gallon.

DEPENDS SIZE OF GLASS.

Will Mean Lower Prices on Case and Gallon Lots.

LONDON, Ont., May 30 (CP) — Cutting of 1½ cents a pound from the Malt Tax is unlikely to result in 5 cents a glass beer, when the "beer - by - the - glass" legislation comes into effect, local brewers believe.

The reduction is so small, when figured over a gallon or a case of beer that it is almost negligible on a glass of beer, they state.

"We are certainly glad to get the reduction," said D. C. Betts, of Carling Breweries, Ltd., "we will be only too glad to pass the benefits along to the consumers. But I don't think it will be possible to sell a glass of beef for 5 cents unless the glass be a small one."

Mr. Betts said the reduction in excise would result, however, in lower prices on case and gallon lots.

Similar Opinions

E. M. Buke, of John Labatt, Limited, was out of the city, and Hugh Labatt was unable to be reached; but Hugh A. Mackenzie, a comptroller of this firm was of a similar opinion to Mr. Betts.

"I can't say as to 5 cent beer unless a lot depends on the size of the glass, and other department regulations have not been made public as yet," he said. "In Hull, they sell a "small glass" at 5 cents and a large glass at 10 cents."

Mr. Mackenzie said the reduction in malt tax would work out very small when figured down to a glass.

"You can work it out for yourself," he said, pointing out that there were about 2.2 pounds of malt to a gallon of beer, and about 1.7 gallons of beer to a dozen quarts. "The reduction of 1½ cents a pound tax on malt works out to about 3.3 cents a gallon. With 1.7 gallons of beer to the dozen quarts, the total reduction on the case of 1.7 multiplied by 4.3 cents or somewhere in the neighborhood of 5.6 cents per dozen quarts. You can see for yourself that that will result in a negligible reduction when figured down to a glass."

Small "Schooner"

KITCHENER, Ont., May 30 (CP) —The five-cent glass of beer which Hon. E. N. Rhodes says will become available as a result of the decreased excise tax on malt is going to be a very, very small "schooner" if at all, local brewers agreed to-day.

W. P. Renaud, manager of the Huether Brewing Co., said: "I can't see enough difference in the tax to make a five-cent class of beer possible, unless of course, it is the 'pony' size glass. The seven and one-half cent tax really amounted to so little in one case of beer that the small reduction won't make any appreciable difference."

The sentiment was concurred in by Leo Schmidt, manager of the Kunts Brewery, Waterloo.

SOCIAL SERVICE DEVELOPMENT AS SCIENTIFIC FIELD DEBATED

Specialist Stresses Need of Diagnosis Dealing With Delinquent Children.

RALLY IN HAMILTON.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 30 (C.P.)—The development of social service work as a scientific field, its advance from charitable and corrective pursuits into a highly specialized study and its future possibilities, formed the broad topics of discussion at the opening sessions of the fourth biennial Canadian conference on social work which opened here yesterday. A large registration of delegates showed that persons from all sections of the dominion had gathered to exchange ideas and mutually benefit by the experience of others.

The opening session was divided into two sections, the one dealing with child work and the other with work among the family. M. A. Sorsoleil, Deputy Minister of Public Welfare was chairman of the first group and F. N. Stapleford, general secretary of the Neighborhood Workers Association, Toronto, presided at the second group.

Observation Homes

Leading with a paper on detention and observation homes, K. H. Rogers, P.H.D., Toronto, stressed the need of diagnosis in dealing with delinquent children. He quoted a statement published in 1925 which said that the doctor who prescribed paregoric for a dying child and made no attempt to diagnose its ailment would be considered either grossly negligent or lacking in common sense, while the criminals were treated in just such a manner as this doctor dealt with the patient.

"That is not the case to-day," the speaker declared. He remarked how detention homes permitted the study of the patients so that delinquents could be diagnosed as if they were physically ill. By proper treatment, the stability of the adult was insured by inculcating this quality into the child.

Juvenile detention places were a comparatively new idea, made necessary by the establishment of the juvenile court, he said. Their function was to establish a refuge, exact a penalty in some instances, and to observe the child. The last function was the most important, Dr. Rogers believed.

Delinquent Behavior

Medical and phychiatrical services for delinquents was a topic discussed by Dr. W. T. B. Mitchell, Montreal, Dr. George Anderson, Toronto and Dr. Roy Brillinger, Hamilton. They classified various types of behavior found in delinquents, one the aggressive type and the other the withdrawal type. The necessity for getting down to the cause of failure was stressed. It was useless to hope for success in treatment if there was no opportunity for prolonged observation of the child.

"The juvenile court must be a part of the community," said Dr. Mitchell. "It can have no hope of success if it works in an isolated manner."

Dr. Anderson also stressed the advantages of the detention home for observation purposes. But it would be even better if the social worker could carry this observation right into the daily life of the delinquent, he felt.

In the short time at his disposal, Dr. Brillinger gave an outline of the function of the eight mental health clinics of the Ontario Department of Health. He explained how they were organized to include a director, a social worker to bring cases for treatment to light, a psychologist and a psychiatrist. Dr. Brillinger is head of the clinic in Hamilton.

Field Worker's Tasks

Short talks on the duties of the field worker were given by B. Beaumont, Hamilton, Miss Helen Robertson, Toronto, and Frank T. Sharpe, Toronto. Mr. Beaumont stated that field work was the backbone of social service, with efficiency in direct relationship to it. Miss Robertson told of work among the adolescent boys and girls, especially the latter. It was a difficult period of life, she said. Many girls tried their new wings and met with trouble through immature judgment. Their resentment of authority made them all the more difficult with which to deal. There was need for highly trained capable workers among them.

Plan Big Broadcast For Night Of June 13

June 13th promises to be a gala night on the Canadian networks. Plans call for a full-fledged variety program, including music, humor, and a unique dramatic presentation. Another unusual feature will be a double broadcast, making it possible for every section of the Dominion to hear this program at a suitable hour.
